Cards 13, Pirates 10

PITTSBURGH, April 19—(AP)—The National league baseball champions bowed before the St. Louis Cardinals in the Pirates' first home game of the season today. St. Louis pounded seven Buccaneer pitchers to win 13 to 10 in a badly played game that was witnessed by a crowd of 30,000.

After Carmen Hill was forced to leave the mound in the fourth inning, when he was struck on the leg by a batted ball, the Cardinals fell gally upon the succeeding Pirate hurlers.

Douthit, Holm, Bottomley and Hafey were the principals of the St. Louis attack. Traynor and Grantham scored eight of the Pirate runs. One of Grantham's blows was a home run. Score:

NEKOLA HURLS HOLY CROSS TO WIN IN LOOSE CONTEST

WORCESTER, Mass., April 19—Holy Cross defeated Brown 18 to 7 in a weird game marked by loose fielding and heavy hitting this afternoon. Frequent showers did not halt the game but made good play impossible. The Purple hit harder than Brown and bunched its hits with effectiveness but there was little choice between the two in the field. The score by innings:

Three Academy Veterans Who Open Their Last Season For the Red and White Against Deep River Today At the Campus

STIFF PITCHING DUEL EXPECTED AT ACADEMY OPENING GAME TODAY

Walter Linder, who mowed down Bulkeley and Chapman Tech just for practice much to their disgust, is expected to face either Lloyd Jarvis or Johnny Greene, Academy pitching aces, this afternoon at the campus in the Academy's opening game of the season and their first appearance in defense of the state title.

Linder a Sensation

Linder, the pitching sensation of the state just at the present time, is most certain to draw either of the Red and White mound artists even though this be the Wildcats first start. In two games with the New London teams to date, Linder has not allowed the semblance of a run in eighteen innings, blank ing Chapman Tech 10 to 0 and Bulkeley 8 to 0. He fanned twenty of the Tech batsmen and allowed them but three singles while 14 of the Bulkeley players were retired via the strikeout route and only two hits, a double and single, allowed. Last year Linder hurled a no-hit no-run game for Deep River and afterwards pitched well in the Middlesex county league. What he will do against the champs today will be seen.

The Academy is making a late opening this year because of two previous postponements due to the bad weather. Usually the season is opened with the Alumni but that game was rained out so that the hustling Deep River outfit is the first to be faced. It is the stiffest opening game that the locals have had in many years, probably the stiffest ever.

Coach Brigham has been drilling his men now for nearly a month outdoors after a couple of weeks inside. The team looks good but as yet has not been tested. A brand new infield will take the field and upon their doings hinges much of the success or failure.

Batting Order Shifted

The batting order was changed the middle of the week and it is expected that the one announced above will take the field today. Jarvis or Greene are not in mid-season form as yet but because of the stiff opposition expected, Coach Brigham will, in all probability send them to the barrier with Capt. Mace Goldblatt behind the bat. This battery is rated as one of the best in the state but today they get a big test. The game will start at 2:30 and a large crowd is expected.

JURY FOR DEMPSEY-KEARNS CASE CHOSEN

NEW YORK, April 19—(AP)—The legal extravaganza of Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns, featuring an argument over $701,026.66, opened a dress rehearsal today before Judge John C. Knox in United States district court. Adjournment was taken until tomorrow after a half hour session during which the jury was chosen.

Fistic luminaries thronged the court room for the opening of Kearns' effort to "blast the bankroll" of the man he piloted to the heavyweight championship. Kearns charges breach of his contract with Dempsey and seeks to recover one-third of the former title holder's earnings from 1923 through Dempsey's losing title fray with Gene Tunney in 1926.

The judge busy on another case, kept the contestants fidgeting in their corners alost three hours. Dempsey autographed countless cards, talked with reporters, chatted with Tex Rickard, and swapped surreptitious glares, during the wait, with Kearns, once his inseparable pal. With the Madison Square Garden promoter, many others prominent in the "fight racket" were called as witnesses.

MITCHELL IN FINE FORM IN ROEHAMPTON OPENING

LONDON, April 19—(AP)—Abe Mitchell, who won the Roehampton golf tournament last year, was invincible today as match play started in the first big professional test of the season.

Mitchell defeated W. G. Oke, 6 up and 5 to play, this afternoon, after he had disposed of J. G. Sherlock in the morning, 3 and 2. He will meet F. G. Holden in the semi-finals tomorrow.

Holden, who is the assistant professional at Roehampton, was too good for Charley Johns. Holden defeated Arthur Havers, former open champion, in the morning to remain in the competition.

Fred Robson and Willie Robertson will fight it out in the other semi-final match. Robson won his second round match from Walton Bingham after beating George Gadd in the first round. Robertson went to the third round with a victory over Reg Wilson.

Phillies 9, Robins 5

PHILADELPHIA, April 19—(AP)—The Philadelphia Nationals opened their home season with a 9 to 5 victory over the Brooklyn Robins here today. Jim Elliott was routed in a sixth inning rally which netted the Phillies seven runs on six hits and a pass. One of the blows was a home run by Leach with Thompson on base.

Jimmy Ring, who started for the Phils gave way to a pinch hitter in the sixth, and Sweetland finished. Elliott, Bressler and Herman hit home runs for the Robins. Score:

Y COACH TO ATTEND ILLINOIS SUMMER SCHOOL

Famous coaches of championship teams and a number of leaders in physical education will be the teachers in the summer course for coaches at the University of Illinois which Coach P. Leslie Conklin of the Y. M. C. A. expects to attend.

Basketball, track and baseball will be taught by the head coaches, and football by the assistant coach, of the teams which are the present western conference (Big Ten) champions; Harry Gill, coach of Illinois' track team, indoor and outdoor champions; Ward Lambert, coach of Purdue, which tied for the basketball leadership; Carl Lundgrem, coach of Illinois' baseball team, which shares the championship and Milton M. Olander, assistant coach and chief scout of the championship Illinois football team.

Craig Ruby, Illinois' basketball coach, Carl M. Voyles, Illinois head freshman football coach and D. M. Bullock, trainer, complete the competitive sports roster.

There will also be a comprehensive programme in physical education subjects, such as calisthenics, mass physical activities, miscellaneous games, gymnastic games and stunts, medical gymnastics and physical diagnosis and health education, taught by the members of the Illinois staff.

This will be the 15th annual session of the course which, founded in 1914, is the oldest of its type in the United States. It will occupy six weeks, June 18 to July 28.

Mr. Conklin coached the Emps basketball teams the past season. The three teams of the class won 37 and lost seven games while the first team, which was runner-up in the eastern Connecticut Intermediate tournament won 16 and lost four games.

Braves 9, Giants 8

NEW YORK, April 19—(AP)—Rogers Hornsby's single in the tenth scoring Brandt, gave the Boston Braves a 9 to 8 decision over New York as the Giants closed their home stand here today. The visitors came from behind in the ninth when Farrell's single scored Hornsby with the tieing run. Reese for the Giants and Farrell for the Braves hit home runs. Cantwell blew an early lead, and Faulkner was unable to stem the Boston rallies. Score:

PENDLETON HILL

The society dinner Wednesday was the usual jolly good time. Ten, including two gentlemen, sat down to a dinner of macaroni and tomato, escalloped potato, peas and carrots, deviled eggs, and apple sauce, apple pie, cake, coffee, cheese and candy.

Among visitors Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cooke and Charlotte Cook, of Jewett City, and Mr. and Mrs Merton Cook and family, of Stonington, at the home of Mrs. Annie Cook; Mr. and Mrs. James Brooks, of Glasgo, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown and Betty, of Ashaway, at the home of Miss Carrie Ryder.

Edward Ryder, of Stonington, was the guest of his sisters, Mrs. Ryder and Mrs. Cook, Sunday.

Schools in this vicinity opened Monday, Mrs. Clifton Thomson and Catherine going back to Westerly. Miss Cecile Palmer to Chippiwinosset, and Miss Lucy Lester returning to the Hill from her home in Ledyard.

The Grange entertainment Friday evening was furnished by the gentlemen, the sisters of the grange won in a recent contest. The contest for the coming Grange meeting is between married and single members.

Continued cold weather is a contrast to the lovely days in December, January and February. The frogs now have been frozen in the water three times.

One of our most beautiful stretches of highway is the state road from Westerly to Norwich. In spite of cold weather, it is now brilliant with buds of maple, elm and other trees.

Rev. Mr. Mathewson took his text Sunday morning from the last chapter of Luke, a part of the thirty-second verse, "Did not our hearts burn within us while he talked with us by the way." The sermon was an able one. It is to be regretted that so small an audience was in attendance.

It is the early bird that catches trout and two of young local anglers were among the number, Masters Birdsey G. Palmer, Jr., and John Wilyer. As the result of their efforts, certain of their friends have dined on trout.

MERROW

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rhodes were visitors at Edgewood last week.

Mrs. Ivan F. Wilcox and Mrs. Ellen Dimock spent Monday with Mrs. Lucy Usher in Tolland.

Mrs. Mervyn Royce and Mrs. Stanley Zemec, delegates of the older girls' club, Mrs. Clara G. Potter and Mrs W. H. Hall, members of the board of directors of Hartford Y. W. C. A., attended the supper at the Y. W. C. A last week at which time a council at Hartford and Tolland counties was formed.

Mrs. James G. Service attended the 10th reunion and banquet of the class of 1916 Windham high school at the Nathan Hale hotel, Willimantic, Friday evening. Mrs. Service was elected one of the committee for the next two years.

Mrs. William Cisan has returned from a two weeks' trip to New York, where she was visiting relatives.

Miss Sarah Mathews is ill with mumps.

Miss Isabelle Service, who has been spending the spring vacation with her parents, has returned to resume her studies at Boston university.

Mrs. Stephen Aitenberger and infant son will be home from Johnson Memorial hospital by Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bushnell have purchased the Fuller farm, at Tolland

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jacobs and family, of Willimantic, have moved to the house formerly occupied by Mr. R. F. Birdsall. Mr. Jacobs is employed by the G. Hall Jr., Co.

W. Roy McBee has been elected a director of the Willimantic Trust company to succeed Robert T. Jones.

Elmer J. Mathews was the guest last Saturday of his cousins, Miss Mary Wright and Mrs. William Pease, of Hartford.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wondrasik announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marion, to William Pardus, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Pardus.

The annual speaking and spelling contest was held in Hall Memorial school last week Monday night. In the speaking contest, Group one (below the sixth grade) Berth Novotiny, Hall Memorial school, won first prize. Group two (above sixth grade) Mary Kopytk of Daleville, first prize. Hazel Sundt Hall Memorial school, second prize. Spelling: First, Cecilia Zigmond, eighth grade, Hall Memorial school; second, Caroline Eldredge, seventh grade, Willington Hill. The winners are to compete on May 2nd with other schools in Tollyand county at Hall Memorial school, the winner to go at the state contest.

William H. Hall, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner Hall, is a patient at the St. Joseph's hospital, Willimantic.

Madam See how Dishes Gleam and Glisten
when washed this quick new way

This frankly written advertisement tells about a wonderful new soap that makes dishes sparkle and yet cannot harm your hands.

CHINA and glass that sparkle like diamonds : : : drained dry without towels.

Never a trace of soapy film : : : dishes shine spick and span in far less time.

Your precious hands kept white and smooth : : : in spite of three dishwashings a day!

Madam, that's what Super Suds offers you : : : a new way to wash dishes that's faster, easier, safer than any you've ever tried before.

It's a new type of soap made in tiny, thin-walled "beads," that dissolves instantly : : : whisks away all grease and grime : : : rinses quickly : : : leaves dishes glistening clean : : : without a trace of soapy film!

Already thousands have adopted this new way to sparkling dishes and softer daintier hands.

Now we urge you earnestly and sincerely to follow their example. It's too wonderful a household help for any intelligent woman to overlook.

This is why it's so good

No other type of soap is like Super Suds. No other type of soap can give you such remarkable results.

It's the thinnest type of soap ever created. Four times as thin as chip soap.

That's why it dissolves so quickly : : : why it rinses instantly . : : why it saves so much time and energy too.

Super Suds is not made just for dishwashing alone. You can use it for laundry work, too.

There's no need to use your washboard now. No need to scrub and rub until your back just aches from the strain.

And with Super Suds you'll save much time in rinsing. It dissolves so completely that you get along with one less rinsing.

Your wash dries out a wonderful snowy white. There's never a trace of soap stain : : : no grimy, yellow look.

Women marvel when they see these beads of soap magnified. This is how they look.

SUPER SUDS is great for clothes washing. Gets them snowy in no time. No rubbing . . . scrubbing, or extra rinsing. Better try it, Madam.

Hands get red when you wash the dishes? They won't when you use Super Suds, Madam. Three dishwashings a day will leave them dainty.

Please make this simple test

Madam, don't take our word for all this. Test Super Suds out for yourself. Just buy one box and compare it with the soap you're using now.

If you don't feel it's as good as we say, then go back to your old soap : : : and you're only out ten cents.

Put it down on your grocery list today.

An Octagon Soap Product. Every box of Super Suds carries a valuable coupon. Cut it out and redeem it with coupons from other Octagon Soap products for desirable premiums.

A PATENTED PROCESS. Super Suds is made by a process covered by exclusive patents. (Products, process and apparatus covered by U. S. Letters Patent Nos. 1,051,441; 1,090,740; 1,606,595; 1,654,640, and Reissue No. 16,746.)*

NORWICH DOINGS 75 YEARS AGO

The starting of work for the new hotel in Norwich and the first talk of a high school in Norwich Town were the chief topics 75 years ago. The following articles are taken from the files of The Norwich Evening Courier:

Tuesday, April 12, 1853—The work of demolishing commenced yesterday on the site of the prospective new hotel. The ancient wooden building which has, through so many successive generations, stood sentinel on the corner of Main and Union streets, witnessing unmoved the changes which have come, not exactly to its next door neighbors, but to coevals and contemporaries, "over the way," deliberately commenced coming down yesterday morning, piecemeal, and traveling off in cart and wagon-load installments to some other part of the town, to us unknown.

The infall completion of the hotel proper we can hardly expect within a period much short of a year from the present time.

The value of the coral taken last year on the coast of Algeria was $400,000; 150 vessels were engaged in the business; most of the coral was sold at Naples.

The votes for president in Mexico stand 18 for Santa Anna and 5 for all others.

Thursday, April 14, 1853—Messrs. D. and J. Ames, paper makers, of Springfield, Mass., failed on Monday for a large amount.

The steamship Franklin sailed from New York on Saturday for Southampton and Havre, with 123 passengers and $190,000 in specie.

At the annual meeting of the New London County Medical society held at Norwich on the 14th of April, 1853, Dr. Joseph Durfey of Groton was chosen chairman and Dr. Alfred Hobron of New London clerk for the year ensuing.

An advertisement of the Norwich Town high school appears in another column of today's paper and will attract attention. We are not sufficiently informed as to the details of the plan under which the Norwich Town high school is henceforth to be conducted to enable us to speak definitely. We were some time since promised such an account of the enterprise—by a gentleman who has taken a deep interest in it from the first—as would put the public in possession of these features of the new institution, which parents and guardians are most concerned to know. Meanwhile we may state that it is already known to our readers that the spacious brick building standing at the west end of the Norwich Town green, and erected originally for a hotel, has been purchased and fitted up by the Rev. T. D. P. Stone for the purpose of the school soon to go into operation.

The general plan of Mr. Stone is one, it seems, which will combine the greatest advantages to the institution of an academic and normal seminary, each department being made subservient to the interests and prosperity of the other.

Saturday, April 16, 1853—The large carpet factory of Eliphalet Baker & company in Roxbury, Mass., known as the "American Carpet Manufactory," was entirely destroyed by fire on Thursday morning, with its contents.

The various railroad companies which constitute the through line from Albany to Buffalo have just been consolidated into a new central railway company.

Governor Seymour has appointed John C. Palmer, Esq., commissioner of the school. Mr. P. filled this office for a short time a year or two since

The Ladies' Aid society of the East Thompson Baptist church plans to serve a chicken pie supper at their Community house. After the supper a quilt which the members have made is to be sold at auction.

The next meeting of the Thimble club will be at the home of Mrs. Ronald Bernklow when the Woman's club of North Grosvenordale, will be their guests. Rev. Everett S. Lyon is to be the speaker.

The Howe Marot school is on daylight saving time this term.

There was a meeting of young people at the parsonage last Friday afternoon, preparatory to a class joining the church.

A white deer joined the elks and thereupon was seized for the zoo. The first of its kind ever seen among the 4,000 wild ones of the Palisade park system in New York wandered into an elk corral. Park policemen recovered from their astonishment quickly enough to snap down the gate and hold the deer, which will be taken to the Bear Mountain park zoo where thousands of visitors will be coming soon.

FARM POSSIBILITIES

(Written Specially for The Bulletin.)

Has any discouraged farmer in this bishopric ever thought of turning the old farm into a goat pasture and raising kids for the Passover and Easter dinners of the ghettos?

Now don't all rise up at once to ask me how many kinds of dumphool I am to put such a question. For it isn't really so silly as you may think.

It seems that there are certain foreigners gathered in considerable numbers in our big cities to whom a seethed kid is almost as necessary to a proper Easter celebration as a turkey to a New England Thanksgiving. Chicken may be forced to serve, and young lamb is often accepted as the nearest thing attainable. But the hearts and stomachs of these expatriates yearn for the kids which graced their ancestral feasts. A young kid at Easter means almost as much as a trip back to the old home among Greek or Armenian hills. Economical not to say miserly at other times, they are willing, once a year, to pay well for the kid that tastes of the fatherland.

And—here's the point—a few American farmers, mostly in Georgia, at present, have discovered this fact and are making quite a little something out of it.

It is a comparatively new industry, but the returns are so prompt and so liberal and the profits so good that numerous farmers in half a dozen counties near Savannah have gone into it rather heavily.

It seems that the old goats prefer to live out winters, certainly such winters as they have in Georgia. They live in the open fields and brushlands and sleep under any old shelter during storms. They're browsers, par excellence, much fonder of rubbish than even sheep. While it is probably not strictly accurate to say that they will live on a diet of discarded tin cans and rusty fence wire, it is a fact that they prefer brush and weeds and such waste to ordinary cattle forage. They practically lodge and board themselves, and raise families of greedy kids early every spring or late every winter. The kids attack the first standing herbage almost as soon as they're born and grow fat on it. As soon as they get big enough buyers from the city markets begin to appear, picking up the kids. In some places so many goats are kept that regular auction sales are held at which buyer competition waxes keen.

The young kids bring the farmers from $1.50 to $1.75 each and as it costs only about 10 per cent. of nothing to raise them, the money is pretty nearly all "velvet." The most conservative reckon the profit at over 100 per cent.

New York city alone takes an average of 500 carloads of kids each season, and Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago, Washington and other large towns take proportional quantities.

Really, I don't suppose that climatic conditions in Connecticut, which are quite different from those in Georgia, would permit the Nutmeg state to enter into active competition in kid production. I certainly would not advise any Connecticut farmer to go in for goat and kid raising on a big scale without first finding out a good deal more about it than I know.

But this Georgia kid farming sideissue seems a pretty good peg on which to hang a short discussion of general farming opportunities. Goats and kids aren't the only things that the market calls for and pays for. A big city's market is almost omnivorous. That is, there's scarcely anything in the range of possible eatables which some people don't want.

Those of you who, like myself, have passed your grand climacteric, can remember when at hog killing time the porker's ears and tails and snouts and practically all his internal organs were thrown away as unfit for food. Now there is demand from certain quarters for not only the pig's ears and tail but for his liver, his "lights" and pretty nearly every other part. In fact, it is the boast of the big western packing houses that they utilize all of the hog "except the squeal"—and I'm not so sure about that last. An unkind fate once compelled me to attend an "entertainment," so-called, of mostly jazz music. I came away convinced that most of the squeals from a sizable abattoir had somehow been turned over to the alleged musicians!

The point is that there's almost nothing we farmers can raise, no matter what, which somebody doesn't want and isn't willing to pay for. We aren't restricted to corn and potatoes and oats and cabbages, or even to beef and pork and mutton.

I have heard of skunk farmers who are making more than a good living by raising these much maligned pets for their furs. And of fox farmers who are breeding silver foxes and getting sometimes $1,000 or $1,200 for a single pelt. And of frog farmers who ship frogs' "saddles" to the exclusive markets at fancy prices. Of course, it isn't necessary to refer to turkey farmers within hearing distance of Preston and North Stonington and Westerly. Now comes the tale of these Georgia kid farmers.

I wish somebody, with the fondness for travel and the scent for statistics essential to such a job, would travel up and down and crossways of this big country of ours, observing its farms and noting its markets and taking a sort of census of the sellable things the farms could produce and the markets would absorb. Such a census would, I think, be worth more to the real farmers of the country than 17 acts of congress. It would give them much needed information about what they could do and what they might get for doing it. It might show a good many outlets right at their doors, yet hitherto wholly unsuspected.

One active reason for the failure of many farmers to make good is that they insist upon continuing to produce the same old things over and over again. They grow wheat year after year, or corn, or potatoes, or some other routine crop that they got into the habit of raising, or perhaps like to raise. Of course, these are all "staples" which the world must have. But they're all grown by millions upon millions of farmers, here, there and everywhere, and competition keeps the prices down and the growers on tenterhooks of anxiety.

The farmer who is fortunate enough to find a market, even though a restricted one, for some side product, and to get the fancy prices which people who can afford to pay big for the gratification of their whims or fads will give for such side products, is going to get a lot of easy money before his success draws competitors into rivalry with him. It's the early bird which catches the fattest worms. It's the sheep that first sees the hole in the fence that gets into the forbidden clover field and fills its belly before the others wriggle through. Or, in the old roadhouse lingo, "First come, first served."

Everybody, except the farmer, when he wants to sell goods, finds out, if he can, what goods people want to buy, and stocks up with them. He doesn't fill his store with the things he happens to like or want, but those which outside buyers are likely to call for. He doesn't even stock up with the lines he thinks people ought to want, but with those they actually ask for.

But altogether too many farmers keep right on raising the same crops in the same way, and seem to expect the buyers to take what they have grown, instead of growing what they find the buyers want. This is truly putting the cart before the horse.

I happen to know a farm which grows good corn and whose owner likes to raise corn. For years he did just that thing, one season after another. And he got nowhere. Competition from the western cornfields kept the price so low that, with the high costs of labor and fertilizer, he was lucky to come out even. He hardly ever made a dollar. So what does he do but give up his beloved crop, turn the cornfields into black-cap, blackberry and raspberry rows and, for six or eight years, make more clean profit each season than he had made all his previous life from corn. In fact he made enough, before cutthroat competition set in, to retire with a competence.

As I think I have said a good many times, there isn't any one single, big "farm problem." There are ten or fifteen million separate farm problems, each one confronting the individual farmer and demanding solution at his hands—not at the hands of political economists or vote-seeking congressmen.

And one of those is the problem how to get wages and profit from what his farm will produce. His particular, individual farm, under his direct management.

He can usually grow on it the so-called "staple" crops. When he's grown them he has to sell them in competition with all the rest of the world, and take whatever he can get.

On the other hand, he can usually find out what his handiest and best-paying customers would like and would be eager to buy of him, if he had it.

Just why any farmer should spend his whole life growing the crops he likes to or has been accustomed to, rather than those which he can sell readiest and with most profit, is hard to explain reasonably.

There are scarcely two farms in all Connecticut which have the same aptitudes and the same possibilities. There are scarcely two markets which demand exactly the same supplies.

No one except the farmer himself knows or can find out so well as he himself can, what he can raise on his particular farm which he can sell to the best advantage.

It's no "come-down" for even the best farmer to stop growing corn and potatoes and oats and hay, if they won't pay, and go to producing either raspberries or asparagus or frogs' legs—if any of these latter will pay.

HANOVER

Mrs. Norman Standish and sons Richard and Brett of Baldwin, L. I., spent part of the Easter vacation with relatives here.

Miss Anna Peck spent a part of her vacation in New York.

Mrs. Arthur Lucy and Howard Lucy were in New York for a part of last week.

Mrs. Ella Bennett, Mrs. Irene Maan and Mrs. Webster Standish were in Willimantic Sunday afternoon to listen to an address on the prohibition amendment by Congressman Updyke.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allen of Willimantic spent the week-end at the home of Mr. Allen's brother, Myron Allen in Hanover.

Two more cases of mumps are reported, the patients being Masters Harold Crowder and Wesley House.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilbur and daughter Anna were recent callers at the Parsonage-by-the-Pines.

The 4-H Club is to hold its next meeting this Friday evening at the home of the leader, Raymond Allen.

For all those at all interested in woodcraft, a climb up Potash Hill just at present would mean a sight full of interest. William Babbitt has a fine display of mammoth logs taken from the lordly ash, chestnut and maple trees rown on his farm which are awaiting the introduction of a saw mill shortly.

The children of the parish have been invited to the parsonage as usual this Friday afternoon. The meeting of the Daughters of the Covenant will be omitted this week.

Mr. and Mrs. S N. Frink and son S. N. Frink with Miss Ethel Boye and Miss Margaret Lampshire, of East Hartford were visitors Sunday with Mr. Frink's daughter, Mrs. Frank Still of Hanover at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Still.

UNION

Paul Rizner, Fairman Howard, Zamon Eaton and Lawrence Moore attended the republican state convention in Hartford.

One needs to look sharply at the calendar this week to be sure that one is living in April and not in March. Monday morning, April 16, the thermometer registered 21 degrees two hours after sunrise. The mercury had climbed to 32 degrees at 11 a. m. On the 17th and 18th the mercury stood at 23 degrees and 24 degrees and now the wind has roared!

The spelling and spelling contest are held in the various schools this week. The town contest comes Apr 30.

Supervisor Martin R. Robertson held a teachers' meeting at the East school Friday afternoon.

Mrs Ralph Bradway and four children were the guests of Mrs. Jennie Bradway in Stafford, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rizner and two children of Middletown, were guests of Mrs. Mary Rizner and family Sunday last.

Miss Evangeline Lawson of New York has spent a ten-days' vacation with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. H M. Lawson.

Miss Julia Heck, a nurse in Springfield hospital, was at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Heck last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Gaudette and little daughter, Catherine, of South Willington, were at Myron Heck's Sunday.

SALEM

Lloyd Daniels and family spent Sunday at Willimantic.

Mrs. Edward Mitchell was a recent caller in New London.

Louis Chapman and family were in Niantic Sunday.

Mrs. Elsie Avery of Lakes Pond spent Tuesday at Mrs. Julia Spencer's.

Mrs. Carl Rogers of Ellington visited friends here Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. Bates of New London were at their summer home here Sunday.

The American child received a larger cents' worth in buying candy in 1926 than during the preceding year, a government survey shows.

Arrival

She always set another place than hers,
Although she lived alone,
Too far from town for any guest to come.
Her napery always shone,
And always she would use her Sandwich glass
An I ancient Willow ware,
And old flat silver, and she always cooked
More than enough to share.
And, in the spring, she tied the curtains back,
So that the greening hills
Might well be visioned from that extra place,
These and her daffodils.

So, when I came, a stranger to her door,
That bud-fringed April day,
She welcomed me as if she welcomed one
Who had been long away.
And sitting in that cozy place, I knew,
Out of my lonely past,
I had come home unto the hills and flowers
And one dear friend at last!

PLACING a Stromberg-Carlson in your home is the most economical form of advertising we can do. It is the simplest method of really acquainting the public with Stromberg-Carlson superiorities, whereas other advertising methods can only claim them.

The obligation is all ours, if you consent to be entertained in your own home for one week. Invite your friends and relatives to hear and see it.

Test your radio as you would test a car!

You would not think of buying a fine car without being allowed to drive it yourself, to test its pick-up, its speed, its brakes.

Why should you buy a fine radio set without being allowed to test how it will operate from your light socket, how it will tune out the strong local stations nearest you, and—how it will sound in the particular room where you will have to place it?

We are the first Stromberg-Carlson dealer to offer you this opportunity.

It is generally acknowledged that, "There is nothing finer than a Stromberg-Carlson." No matter what make of radio you eventually buy this offer leaves you no excuse for not being able to use radio's admitted best as your standard of comparison.

How soon you start enjoying this one week's free trial offer depends on how quickly you act, as our delivery facilities will be severely taxed by the demand.

Mail the coupon with as little delay as possible so we can make arrangements for you.

Important Notice to Stromberg-Carlson Owners:

1 We are pleased to announce that we are now prepared to rebuild all battery model Treasure Chests and Consoles to operate direct from the A.C. house light circuit, making such equivalent to current electric models. This procedure is standard Stromberg-Carlson policy.

2 We are pleased to announce that we are prepared to supply new speakerettes for No. 4 and No. 7 type Cone Speakers at nominal cost, making such equivalent to latest models No. 10 and No. 11 Speakers.

BLISTER BEETLE ON SOY BEANS KILLED BY POISON DUST

Striped blister beetles appear in large numbers on soy beans during May and June after passing the winter in the larval stage. These insects are slender and from a half inch to an inch in length, with tan bodies and three black stripes running lengthwise on each wing. They have a habit of huddling together so closely on the leaves that they resemble a swarm of bees. If not controlled, they will strip the leaves from the plants and these become stunted. A very effective remedy is sodium fluosilicate applied in the form of dust. If used immediately after the beetles appear in the field, the application of five pound to an acre is sufficient, but if they have scattered to any extent, 15 pounds will be needed. The sodium fluosilicate can be applied with a hand duster at any time of the day. The beetles get the material on their feet and are poisoned as they rake their feet through their mouths in an effort to get the stuff off. Most of them die within 24 hours after dusting and in 48 hours practically every one will be dead.

KEEPING UP THE GREENS SUPPLY

"Greens" furnished an old-fashioned dish because they were good for what ailed you whether you liked them or not along with the old-fashioned spring tonics, sulphur and molasses, and other hygienic horrors of a bygone age. Their health-giving value is now recognized, but on a sounder scientific basis, and they are popular because it is not a duty to eat them as it was formerly. There is opportunity to appreciate their flavor without prejudice on the ground of medicinal diet.

Spinach, the earliest of all greens, is a brief crop in the home garden. Other greens are needed to take its place. The standby is the beet, both the root types and the swiss chard, which doesn't form a large root but runs heavily to foliage and produces greens all summer. To some the chard is a rather insipid vegetable. For these mustard greens are a real treat. Mustard greens are also old-fashioned, when it was customary to cut down the mustard crop of weeds in the fields and gardens by pulling the young plants for greens. The garden varieties are so superior as hardly to be recognized in the same class with the weeds, although the latter has excellent flavor when cooked.

The garden mustards are used both as salads, green, and as cooked greens. There are two types, the large leaved, useful for cooking, and the small leaved, useful for salads. The Chinese and Southern Giant are large-leaved sorts excellent for cooking and giving liberal crops of leaves. The White London is a small, smooth-leaved sort which grows quickly and gives pungency to salads. The Fordhook Fancy has become the most desirable of the salad types because of its curled and fringed leaves, being as ornamental as parsley and attractive for garnishing as well as for salads.

The mustards will grow in any ordinary good garden soil. A packet will furnish an ample supply. It is best to plant one short row of each type. Thin the plants to three inches to give them a chance to develop. The fancy curled should have six inches to reach their best development. Mustards are seldom grown in the home garden, but they are well worth a try, and once tried, they are likely to become fixtures.

SPRING MOVING OF PLANTS

The annual spring moving of plants from quarters in the hotbed, cold frame or seed boxes or from seedbeds in the open is the most important phase of the garden after digging. The success of the garden will depend upon how successful a job of transplanting has been done. Cabbages, celery, tomatoes, peppers, eggplants, onions for big Spanish exhibition types, cauliflowers, and a few other vegetables that need an early start for an early crop must be transferred.

If possible, select a cloudy day for transplanting, and one in which there is a threat of showers. The weather forecast now offers a good guide in this respect. Get as much of the root system of the baby plant as possible and as much dirt as can be made to cling to it in moving. Often it will not be possible to take any soil with the root, but watering it in thoroughly will make up in part for this disturbance.

Set the seedlings fairly deep, making a hole ample to permit the spreading out of the roots in a natural manner and no wadding them up. Firm the soil around them gently until the plant is in place and then apply more pressure to firm it into position and water it thoroughly so that the moisture will soak down about the roots and settle the soil in close contact with them. Establishing contact between soil and roots is the main factor of transplanting successfully.

Make arrangements to shade freshly transplanted plants if the work has to be done on a sunny day. A light board supported on flower pots or boxes over the row of transplanted seedlings is one of the most convenient and efficient means. Strawberry boxes or flower pots or pieces of newspaper or building paper held in place by a handful of earth will serve. Shade for two or three days until the plants resume a fresh and sturdy look. If well firmed in and watered some of them will not wilt, but the majority of them are likely to droop a bit for a day or two.

A shower is the best stimulant for transplanted plants and if they can be put in in time to get the benefit of a rain there will not be much need to worry about them.

Plants should have the leaf growth snipped back about half when transplanted.

TWO SYSTEMS OF SECURING MORE FOOD FROM THE ACRE

Farmers have two general ways of increasing the yields of crops on their lands, according to Dr. R. O. E. Davis of the United States department of agriculture, who makes the division on methods according to whether they do or do not increase the cost per acre of raising crops. An example of a cropping method that tends to increase yields without increasing costs of production is the planting of crops better adapted to the type of soil on the farm, for example, the seeding of alsike clover on lands which have not produced good crops of alfalfa or red clover because of acid soil. Rotation of crops with frequent planting of legumes is another method of increasing yields without increasing costs per acre. Still another is the use of varieties of the crops which have been improved by plant breeding. These, Doctor Davis points out, are naturally the first aids to which the farmer is likely to turn in an effort to get more production from his farm. Any increase in production is to a large extent net profit.

The methods of the other class involve increased costs per acre of crop. For example, better weed control gives commercial plants a better chance in competition with the weeds, but it costs money or effort. The same applies to more thorough preparation of the seed bed and more thorough cultivation. A third and increasingly important method is the use of commercial fertilizer, which means a direct expenditure of money. In this class of improved farming methods the increased yield is not net profit. Before a farmer will turn to such methods he must be convinced or convince himself that the increased yield as the result of better cultivation or use of fertilizer will return the added expense and leave a profit over and above the added expense of growing the crop.

That farmers in following one or another or several of such methods have increased yields per acre seems to be evident from figures of the number of acres of improved land per capita, which in the decade from 1880 to 1890 was 5.7, and which declined to 4.8 acres per capita in 1920.

HINTS FOR THE FARM

Low carrying capacity of permanent pastures often is the weak link in an otherwise proficient farm business. The nearest state experimental station will have information on how to improve the situation. Frequently a top dressing of commercial fertilizer will stimulate the pasture and provide cheap board for several animals.

Biting lice and sucking lice affect sheep and goats. The only practical way to dispose of lice is to dip the animals. Arsenical, coal-tar creosote, and nicotine dips are effective, but are dangerous if not used properly and according to directions. Community or public shearing places often are the means of spreading lice to clean herds. Animals shorn in such places should be dipped sometime between shearing and cold weather.

Good size and clear quality in lumber means greatly enhanced value. It frequently pays the largest financial return to defer cutting the timber crop on a farm woodland until the trees are 40 to 50 years old. The returns from the thinnings in the meantime should add up to one-quarter or one-third as much as the value of the final crop.

All nails or broken boards by which an animal might cripple itself should be removed from cars before livestock are loaded for market. While each car should be filled, there should be no overcrowding. Last year more than 30,000 crippled hogs weighing nearly 7,000,000 pounds, were sold at one market, most of them being injured before they arrived. The discount on cripples usually is from $2 to $2.50 per hundredweight.

The best way to pick strawberries is to use the thumb and forefinger, pinching off the berry with about one-half inch of stem and placing it carefully in the container. To keep the fruit from being bruised or crushed, avoid holding too many in the hand at a time of throwing them into the box.

GROUNDHOG IS MENACE

WASHINGTON, (AP)--Woodchucks or groundhogs, the federal biological survey says, have become a serious menace to crops in many parts of the eastern and mid-western states. April and May are the best months to exterminate them by the gas method. Fumes may be forced into the burrows now without damage to other animals that wintered in them.

WINDHAM

Rev. George H Ewing, of Boston, formerly of Norwich Town, preached for the second time in the Congregational church Sunday morning. At the close of the service, a business meeting of the members was held at which it was unanimously voted to extend a call to Mr. Ewing to become the pastor of the church. It was also ordered to close the church Sunday that the members may attend the anniversary exercises of the daughter church in Willimantic. During the pageant Monday evening, the mother church is to be represented in an episcale of Rev Whiting's ministry in 1724, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Brown.

Prof. and Mrs. Johnson, from Princeton university, have been spending a few days at the Inn.

The Ladies' Aid society supper Friday was in charge of Mrs. W. B. Dean assisted by Mrs. John Webster, Mrs Donald Masdonald, Mrs. DeWitt Lathrop, Mrs. H. C. Lathrop, Mrs. Guy Richmond, Mrs. David Light, Mrs. Alfred Harvey. A program of entertainment followed the supper in which the following young people made their first appearance in public: Piano solos, Helen Wood; mandolin solo, Frank Macdonald; violin solo, Richard Macdonald; recitation, John Dean.

The meeting of the Ecclesiastical league of the Congregational church is to be held Saturday evening.

The Men's Community club minstrel show which was so well given here has been repeated in Mansfield and Scotland

The Woman's Guild of St. Paul's church is to hold a food sale with Mrs H C Hatch and Miss Sarah Johnson.

The service at St Paul's Episcopal church last Sunday was held at 9 A M., instead of in the afternoon on account of the Prohibition rally at the Town hall at Willimantic.

Mr. and Mrs M. R. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Pierce, of Hartford, were at Mr. and Mrs. Homer F. Woods' Sunday.

CHAPLIN

Mr and Mrs Lindley Cook, of Long Island, spent a week at their home, formerly the Frank Upton place, which they have greatly improved.

At the speaking and spelling contest the past week at the vestry, Ruth Perry from the Center school won in speaking and Ethel Hall of South Chaplin school was second. In the spelling contest Arvo Nukala won out and Lindley Phillips was second. Pupils of the Center school.

The C. E. society gave a supper at the vestry Friday evening which was followed by two acts by the minstrels of Natchaug grange, consisting of songs, exercises, instrumental music, local hits, jokes and stunts that were cleverly acted and received frequent applause. The vestry was filled and a number attended from out of town. The proceeds were equally divided between the Y. P. S. C. E. and the grange.

Mrs. E. Jessie Hunt and Miss Florence I. Hunt have returned to their home after spending the winter in Hartford.

Rev. Charles W. Remington, of Ivoryton, occupied the pulpit as a candidate Sunday and gave a thoughtful and inspiring discourse from the text The Doubting Thomas.

Recent callers at Mr. and Mrs W B Gallup's were Miss Marjorie Segar, of Hartford, Miss Esther Tabor, of Willimantic, Mrs. Arthur Mathewson, Mr and Mrs. Sidney Mathewson and son Morgan, of Plainfield, Mrs. Martha Bradford and Miss Marjorie Bradford of Putnam.

Next Sunday a postponed Easter concert will be given by the Sunday school in place of the usual morning service at 11 o'clock.

Miss Ada Lanphear, who spent the winter in Warrenville caring for Delia Gifford, an invalid, is at home. Miss Gertrude Martin is taking her place.

50 Thousand Skinny Men

The Kind That Will Take Pride In A Manly Figure

How much better a man feels when his weight is normal.

He nearly always has plenty of energy; seldom gets tired and always looks like a real honest to goodness man.

There was an exceedingly thin man in Atlantic City—he was all in, run-down and needed a lot of flesh. He took McCoy's Tablets and within two months wrote that he had gained 28 pounds and felt like a new man.

If you are underweight McCoy's offer ought to interest you.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at Lee & Osgood Co. or any drug store in America.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Black Howler at Home

To know a person you must be Where something of his home you see.
—Scrapper the Kingbird.

Peter Rabbit was very meek. Yes, sir, Peter was very meek. "If you please, Scrapper," said he, "I am ready to believe anything you tell me. If you should say that Black Howler looks exactly like Farmer Brown's Boy, I'd believe it."

Scrapper laughed right out. "Well, he doesn't," said he. "He doesn't look a bit like Farmer Brown's Boy, and yet he does, if you know what I mean."

Peter shook his head. "No," said he, "I don't know what you mean."

"Well, what I mean is," said Scrapper, trying to explain, "that Black Howler is shaped a whole lot like one of these two-legged creatures we call men."

"Is he two-legged?" inquired Bobby Coon.

"I told you before that he has four legs. Yes, he is two-legged, too."

"You're getting me all mixed up," declared Peter Rabbit. "How can he be four-legged and two-legged at the same time?"

"Well, it's this way," replied Scrapper. "His front legs are more like arms. When he is on the ground, which isn't very often, he travels on four legs, but he sits up on two legs and stands up that way, too. And when he is in the trees, which is where he is most of the time, those front legs are really arms, and his front feet are like hands."

"Huh!" exclaimed Peter. "He must be a queer looking fellow. Do I understand that he lives in the trees, like Happy Jack Squirrel?"

Scrapper nodded. "Yes," said he, only more so. It isn't often he comes down on the ground. He travels in the treetops, and you ought to see him travel. He gets most of his food in the trees. He sleeps in the trees. I don't believe he is really at home anywhere else."

"Does he have a hole in a tree the way I do?" demanded Bobby Coon.

"I don't think so," replied Scrapper. "He's a big fellow and it would take a big hole. I've seen him sleeping in the crotch of a tree, so I don't think he has a hole for a home. My, you should hear him when the sun comes up in the morning! Or when it thunders!"

"You're getting me all mixed up," declared Peter Rabbit

Peter looked up quickly. "What has thunder got to do with it?" asked he.

"I don't know," replied Scrapper. "I could never make out whether he is jealous or scared. But when it thunders Black Howler certainly does make the Jungle ring with the sound of his voice. I don't call it a howl myself. It's more half roar and half bark and ends up with a whole lot of grunts. I don't blame anybody who has the cold shivers when they hear it for the first time. Almost every morning when he wakes up Black Howler starts in to wake up everybody else. The rest of his family join in with him and for a little while it certainly is a noisy place in the Jungle. Sometimes one of those man-made birds goes roaring over, and that starts Black Howler off."

Of course, Scrapper meant an aeroplane.

"I think, myself," continued Scrapper, "that he makes all that noise just to try to make other people think he is very fierce and dreadful."

COLCHESTER

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Chapman, of New London, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Dowsett, of Norwich, were guests of Mrs. Sarah J. Bingham Tuesday.

Two Sisters from St. Mary's convent, Norwich, were at St. Andrew's church Sunday, giving instruction to the First Communion class that will receive the sacrament at the 9 o'clock mass Sunday, April 22. A breakfast will be served the children in the rectory after mass.

A group of leaders of all the boys' and girls' clubs of Colchester, Westchester and Marlboro gathered at a supper Wednesday, provided by several local leaders, with Mrs. Earle R. Holmes in charge. After supper plans were laid and an organization was formed for the purpose of presenting from time to time the work of the various clubs to the combined communities and to assist all club leaders in facing their many problems through co-operation. This movement is headed by an executive committee of which Mr. Thomas, of Marlboro, was elected chairman, Mrs. E. R. Holmes, of Colchester, secretary, and Miss Margaret Brown, of Westchester, treasurer. An exhibition demonstration and field day will be the first features of the series of programs which this group plans to carry out. Saturday, June 2, the first inter-community club get-together will be held in Marlboro. It is expected that the clubs and leaders from Gilead, Hebron and Columbia will also join in this and other feature events.

Arthur B. Holmes, of New London, was a caller here Wednesday.

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur O'Connor, of Lee, Mass., were guests of Mr. O'Connor's parents over Sunday.

ROAD SOCIETY

Sylvia Palmer has returned to Willimantic Normal school.

Charles, Lenis, Ray and Doris Wheeler have been recent visitors in Holyoke, Mass.

Easter greetings have been received by friends from Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sinclair, who were at Zaragoza, Mex.

The grange meeting was held in the church parlors Friday evening.

Mrs. Seth N. Williams and Miss Grace D. Wheeler attended the funeral of Miss Mary Hall at Westerly Wednesday.

Seth N. Williams has been at George Wheeler's for several days, grafting fruit trees.

Mrs. George Scott, of Mystic, has left to attend the congress of the D. A. R., held in Washington, D. C., this week.

Mrs. Agnes Lathrop, of Norwich, is the guest of her brothers this week.

Mrs. Henry Barnes and son have returned to New York, after spending several weeks at their home here.

Horace Frink, formerly of this place, now of North Stonington, was married on Sunday at Old Mystic by the Rev. Lowrie McLennan to Mrs. Frances Richmond, of North Stonington, where they will reside.

Frank Medbury, of Old Mystic, has been shoeing horses here the past week, preparatory to the spring work.

The Taugwonk school began the term Monday, but its ranks were somewhat depleted on account of mumps.

Miss Dorothy Wheeler has returned to Trenton, N. J., after a vacation spent at her home here.

George Richmond and son, Hyland, and Denison Miner from Mystic, were at A. T. Wheeler's on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. William Billings and daughter, Bertha, have been guests of Mrs. Arthur Linderson, of Taftville, recently.

FRANKLIN

A meeting of Franklin Grange, No. 184, P. of H., was held at the town hall on April 13 with L. L. Stark-weather master, in the chair. An application for membership was read and referred to a special committee. State Deputy John Hollowell was present to inspect the grange. He reported that all was in good condition. The lecturer's program was as follows: Community sing, reading, Brother Arnold; solo, Nelson Robinson; piano solo, Anna Janosack; solo, Brother Arnold; community sing. State Deputy Hollowell then addressed the meeting. At the close a lunch of sandwiches, cake, and coffee was served by the feast committee.

An entertainment consisting of a play, musical numbers and other features is to be given at the town hall by the young people.

Tuesday evening there was a small forest fire at Ravine park. The quick action of men in fighting this blaze prevented serious damage. The fire, so far as known, was caused by the dropping of a lighted match by someone waiting for a trolley car. Fires in this locality from the above cause have been an almost annual occurrence.

T. L. Crandall, Frank Date, Mrs. Mabelle Crandall and Mrs. Emily Date were recent Hartford visitors.

The schools are making plans for a speaking and spelling contest.

An auction of farm machinery, real estate and household goods owned by the late Pelitiah Maxrey was held Monday. The auction was necessary to settle up the estate. Witter Bros. were auctioneers.

PULLING DOWN WALL OF BURNED R. I. HOTEL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 19—Workmen in the employ of the Swift-McKutt Wrecking company, of Providence, which began to take down the crumbling walls of the Rhode Island Hotel block, made unsafe by the fire Monday morning, continued to make progress Thursday. Late Wednesday afternoon it was deemed advisable to secure the west wall of the all and this was braced with guy wires to the south wall of the main building to prevent its buckling as it was swayed by the wind. Three of the brick chimneys on the east wall were pulled down Wednesday. Thursday morning, two more chimneys nearer Broad street were toppled into the interior of the building when ropes were thrown over them and then pulled down by three men stationed on the veranda roof on the opposite or courtyard side of the hotel building.

Friday morning it is expected that the high brick five-story east wall adjoining the First Baptist church will be toppled into the interior. Thursday afternoon the jet and gutter on the top of this wall was removed. Heavy wire cables were carried across the top of the wall and into the window openings of the third story and, being cross-tied together on the outside of the brick wall, will be the means for pulling the wall down at one time, when all the cables leading through the building to the opposite side are tightened. In this way, many tons of brick, cement and stone will be toppled into the interior and avert danger of its falling upon the church building across the driveway. Building Inspector Thomas Wills, of Westerly, has notified the congregation not to enter the church and services the coming Sunday will be held at Pawcatuck Seventh-Day Baptist church.

THE H. N. GIRARD ARSON CASE ON TRIAL AT WEST KINGSTON

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 19—In Washington county superior court at West Kingston, today, before Judge Charles A. Walsh, the trial was continued, state vs. Henry N. Girard, for alleged setting fire to a house owned by him in North Kingstown, off the West Allenton road. Witnesses testifying were Frederick H. Franklin, of Providence, Superintendent of the R. I. State Bureau of Criminal Identification Herbert B. Caffrey, Providence, Samuel A. Stone, a neighbor near the unoccupied house in question and others, with the case to go to the jury today (Friday).

Following this case, that of the state, Thomas E. Brown, chief of police of Westerly, vs. John Malagrino, will be taken up. Malagrino is the proprietor of a barber shop on Canal street, charged with assaulting a woman customer, Nellie M. Russell, wife of John Russell, of White Rock, when she was in his place of business on March 3. The accused took an appeal to the superior court after his hearing in the Third district court March 15, when he was adjudged guilty and was sentenced to serve 90 days in Providence county jail and to pay a fine of $250.

The cases of State, Thomas E. Brown vs. Cyrus Brown, and State, Thomas E. Brown vs. Richard Wilcox, also appealed from the Third district court, are to follow the Malagrino trial. Both defendants are charged with driving while intoxicated. They are Westerly residents.

The case of State, Thomas E. Brown vs. Pasquale Salimeno, was called and continued until Monday, when Salimeno will plead to a charge of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquors. This case is the outgrowth of a raid on the Salimeno store, corner of Pleasant and Canal streets.

CLARK THREAD MILL CLOSES UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 19—Notice posted at the William Clark mill of the American Thread company, Clarkville, effective Thursday, announced that the plant, Andrew W. Bell, superintendent, would be closed until further notice.

Harold Brown, ten-year-old son of John Brown, of Liberty street, Pawcatuck, was knocked from his velocipede on Coggswell street about 3:45 p. m. Thursday by a Ford coupe driven by Arthur York. He was picked up and carried to the office of Dr. Michael H. Scanlon where it was found that he had only sustained scratches on his left knee.

Miss Catherine Cottrell, daughter of Arthur M. Cottrell, sailed from New York Thursday for several weeks' visit in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Champlin returned home Thursday from a winter's visit at Daytona Beach, Florida.

The annual opening of Wequetequock Casino is to be featured by the annual May dance of the Westerly Cycle club when music will be furnished by the Shepard-Swanson orchestra of New London, with unique specialties. The committee in charge consists of Earl E. Saunders, chairman; Alfred H. Havens, Leslie Nowell, Henry Harvey and William Barker.

Fifteen years of development —but an overnight popularity

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

Wherever you go you hear people praising the General Electric Refrigerator. Almost overnight it has taken a prominent place in the thoughts of homemakers.

One hears of its remarkable simplicity. That it hasn't a single belt, fan or drain-pipe. That it hasn't a bit of machinery under the cabinet—or in the basement. That it never needs oiling. There are many, many comments on the quietness with which it operates. There is much enthusiasm for the extreme roominess and the splendid strength of its gleaming, up-on-legs cabinet.

Overnight, it seems . . . . but for more than fifteen years the vast laboratories of General Electric have been busy with the development of this truly revolutionary refrigerator. Will you not come in and see the various models? Time payments can be arranged, if you prefer.

Why Pay Extra for First Year Insurance on Tires that Need It

It's the SECOND Year that Makes the Big Hit

Not only the second 10,000 miles, but the uninterrupted service that carries through to the last mile.

The kind of protection you get only when it is built into the tire—protection that cannot be duplicated by any other line.

Not the protection that dodges the question of natural wear and insures against accidents by promising free repairs.

Not the sort of protection that you collect on only by having trouble—But the "top quality" protection that means avoidance of delay, of dirt, of soiled and sometimes spoiled clothing, of ruined tubes through going flat. These are the real protections that car owners want today.

Freedom from trouble and longest uninterrupted tire wear — two in one.

With the present low rubber prices, what's the use of worrying along with the ordinary tire. Take advantage of this Trade-in Sale to still further reduce the first cost. Run this year and next year on Generals for less than you formerly paid for tires of half the mileage.

AN ADVANCE IN REDISCOUNT RATES CURBED SPECULATION IN STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 19—(AP)—Regulators for the advance maintained control of the price movement in the stock market, but they received an unexpected shocks after the close of advance from 4 to 4 1-2 per cent in rediscount rates of the Roston and Chicago Federal Reserve banks and a gain of $134,521,000 in brokers' loans reported by the New York Federal Reserve bank.

An inkline of the higher Boston and Chicago rates came a few minutes before the close in the report that the Federal Reserve board would have an important statement to make at 7 p. m. This brought a flood of selling by nervous traders which cut down many of the early gains of 2 to 24 points and sent a few issues below last night's final quotations. No change was announced in the 4 per cent rediscount rate of the New York Federal Reserve bank, although an increase here may come later.

The increase in brokers' loans brings the total to another new high record at $4,129,001,000, as compared with $3,878,123,000 a year ago. A decrease had been expected in some quarters. A recent compilation of stock exchange authorities showed that loans on April 1 were less than 9 per cent. of the total value of securities listed.

Rumors of an increase in rediscount rates have been current since last Saturday and accounted for much of the liquidation earlier in the week. The subsequent lowering of call money rates and the easing of some other monetary accommodations helped to revive bullish confidence, and prices resumed their upward movement under the impetus of pool operations and outside buying.

Buying operations today were distributed over a fairly broad list of stocks, but were most effective in the eastern railroad, cooper, steel, food, merchandising, chemical and public utility shares. Motors, rubbers and oils were mixed, forty issues broke through to new high levels.

Delaware & Hudson was the outstanding individual feature, soaring 17 points to a new high record at 194 on buying influenced by reports of a difference between L. F. Loree of that road and President Atterbury of the Pennsylvania, presumably in an effort to arrive at some agreement on pending eastern consolidation plans.

Other eastern rails advanced in sympathy, Lehigh Valley, Chesapeake & Ohio and Pittsburgh & West Virginia each moving up 3 points or more while New York Central, Canadian Pacific, Wabash, and several others advanced a point or so. St. Paul common moved into new high ground at 37 5-8 and the preferred at 48 1-2.

National Tea scored the largest individual gain by soaring 24 points to a new peak at 248 on a turn-over of less than 3500 shares. Radio jumped more than 15 points to 181 7-8 and then eased to 182 1-2. Amalgamated Leather preferred, American Machine & Foundry, Hudson & Manhattan, Johns Manville, Ludlum Steel, Market Street Railway prior preferred, National Supply, Otis Elevator, Purity Baking B, United Fruit and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe all showed net gains of 4 points or more.

Call money renewed at 4 3-4 per cent, and then dropped to 4 1-2. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged but an easier undertone was reported in the time money market.

A further advance of 1 to 2 cents a bushel in grain prices, based on reports of unfavorable weather, was the only development of consequence in the commodity markets. Cotton, coffee and sugar quotations showed little change.

Foreign exchanges moved within narrow and irregular limits, Sterling Cables holding fairly steady around $4.83 3-8.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Franklin Hardware Store Opening

The Franklin Hardware store at 246 Main street, George J. and Philip Leven, proprietors, announces its formal opening on Saturday, April 23, and invites the trading public of New London and Windham counties to visit the store and see the up-to-date display of goods and the facilities for supplying the wants of its customers. The finest line of hardware is to be carried, the store arrangement is attractive and convenient for its patrons, and every effort is to be made to please by quality of goods and service. Special display counters and window displays in which all goods have the prices marked are features which are emphasized and the proprietors invite the public to inspect their stock and store appointments on the opening day.

The Norwich store is an extension of the growing business of the company, which already has two well established stores in Rhode Island, one in Pawtucket and the other at Central Falls.

Norwich Players

In keeping with the efforts of so many associations and organizations to boost Norwich and not to be out done in the march of progress, a group of young people have organized a dramatic club here that will be known as The Norwich Players.

Believing that aside from the real pleasure and constructive training that they will themselves receive, they will by their efforts bring real pleasure and enjoyment to all by the production of clean well played drama.

They feel that they are indeed fortunate in securing the services of a professional director of long experience who will direct and manage them.

Those interested in this work may write the secretary, Delmas C. Hinrichs, 5 Harland Road, Norwich, Conn.

Minstrel Tonight

The Central Fellowship club of the Central Baptist church is presenting its first annual minstrel show Friday evening at the Assembly hall of the church. Much time and effort has been put into this production and a program of unusual merit has been arranged. The musical numbers both by the chorus and by the soloists will prove a delight to all who attend, and the repartee on the part of the endmen has been arranged with the thought of its including only wholesome fun. Among the specialties will be pyramids by the Pioneer boys, a club swing, an Indian dance by Reginald Laubin and Miss Gladys Tortoiseshell, and a novelty surprise number. Mr. Lloyd Neil has been directing the minstrel, assisted by Dwight Richardson at the piano.

NORWICH TOWN

REV. H. P. WOODIN SPEAKS ON CONDITIONS IN CHINA

Under the auspices of the woman's department of the League of Service, a very interesting meeting was held Thursday afternoon in the Norwich Town Congregational chapel, with a good attendance. Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey presided. Rev. Charles E. Reeves offered prayer. Rev. Herbert P. Woodin, of Saybrook gave an address on China, where for a number of years he served in the missionary field. He was accompanied by Mrs. Woodin who told a story of a Chinese girl. During the meeting Mrs. Charles Schwenk sang "My Task," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. F. Donald Brigham. A letter on China was read by Mrs. James F. Connolly who represented the league committee in assisting in the arrangements. In the course of his address, Rev. Mr. Woodin considered many viewpoints in Chinese life, how they looked at things and their relations with other countries. He laid stress on the habits of this race, also told how very much they would like to understand us better, that they in turn, might be better understood. Reference was made to the history of China, in contact with other nations.

Rev. Mr. Woodin emphasized the fact that the Chinese wanted Christ; yet did not want our Christianity, our mode of living, etc. They prefer to work Christianity into their own life, and while they do not feel that they yet know it, they fully realize the genuineness of it, in connection with missionaries, but still choose to work the problem out in their own way.

During the hour of fellowship which followed, the luncheon served consisted of salad, rolls, fancy cakes, coffee, with after dinner mints. The color scheme was blue and yellow.

The tables were attractively decorated with numerous Chinese articles such as spreads, etc. Mrs. Connolly was assisted by Miss Louise P. Bailey and Mrs. Charles P. Learned. Miss Margaret Connolly and Miss Eleanor Smith were the waitresses who served with the committee.

Sunday morning, April 22, at the 10:30 o'clock worship, Rev. George H. Strouse, pastor of Bozrah Congregational church, will preach at the Norwich Town Congregational church, in exchange with the pastor, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey.

When R. Huntington Woodman, organist and choirmaster of the First Presbyterian church, Brooklyn, N. Y., comes to Norwich Town to give his recital, he will be a guest during his stay, at the home of Organist and Mrs. Herbert L. Yerrington, of Pecks Corner. It was by invitation of Mr. Yerrington that this famous artist, a former organist at Christ Episcopal church, Norwich, consented to come to Norwich Town.

At the Sunday afternoon meeting at 3:30 of the Junior C. E. society of the First Congregational church, the chairmen of the four committees in the society acted as leaders, Robert Hastings, Nelson Webster, Edna Pierce, and Betty Browning. Although the last named was unable to be present, she contributed the part she had prepared. The subject of the meeting was, "Using God's Gifts to Us." Miss Sadie J. Dawson told the children a story, relating to the subject. During the meeting, Mildred Carter played a piano solo.

At the Junior C. E. meeting Sunday afternoon next in the chapel, James F. Connolly is to speak about the Boys and Girls of the Philippine Islands, where for several years Mr. Connolly was a teacher.

Robert Stott was the leader of the Young People's C. E. society of the Congregational church Sunday evening, when the topic was "The Dangers of Slang and Cheap Talk," Matthew 12:33-37. At the meeting Sunday evening, April 22, in the chapel, the topic will be "Why and How Should Christians Support the 18th Amendment?" Exodus 21:28, 29; Proverbs 23:29-32. Rev. Myron E. Genter, district superintendent, an ardent worker for the temperance cause, has been invited to give an address at this meeting. This will be an open meeting, all who are interested being privileged to attend.

The G. O. A. L. class of the First Congregational Sunday school held a business meeting Monday evening at the home of Crosby Peck. It was reported that the supper served by this class Friday evening had proved most successful.

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Ledyard, within and for the District of Ledyard, on the 19th day of April, A. D., 1928.

Present BILLINGS F. S. CRANDALL, Judge.

Estate of Luris H. Main, late of Ledyard, in said District, deceased.

Joseph E. Holbridge of Gales Ferry and William L. Main of Mystic, Conn., appeared in court and filed a petition praying for the reasons therein set forth, that administration be granted on the estate of said deceased.

Whereupon, It is Ordered, That said petition be heard and determined at the Probate Court Room in Ledyard, in said District, on the 25th day of April, A. D., 1928, at two o'clock in the afternoon, and that notice of the pendency of said petition, and of said hearing thereon, be given by the publication of this order one time in the Norwich Bulletin, a newspaper having a circulation in said District at least five days prior to the date of said hearing, and that return be made to this court.

BILLINGS F. S. CRANDALL, Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.
Attest, BILLINGS F. S. CRANDALL, Judge.

DISTRICT OF KILLINGLY, ss. Court of Probate, April 14, 1928.

Estate of Patrick McBride and Mary McBride, late of Killingly, in said District, deceased.

The executors having applied for an order authorizing and empowering them to sell certain real estate belonging to said estate, as per application on file more fully appears;

Ordered, That the 23rd day of April, 1928, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the Court of Probate in Killingly be and the same is assigned for a hearing on the foregoing application, and this Court directs the Executors to cite all persons interested therein to appear at said time and place, by publishing this order of notice once in some newspaper having a circulation in said District, and by posting a copy on the public sign-post in the Town of Killingly where the deceased last dwelt, at least seven days before said day of hearing and return make to this Court of the notice given.

SABIN S. RUSSELL, Judge.

BROOKLINE AUCTIONEER'S CASE CONTINUED IN NEW LONDON COURT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 19—John H. Gorton, 194 Clinton road, Brookline, Mass., one of two auctioneers, refused to be disposing of the stock by auction of William M. Jones, State street jeweler, was in the police court today on charges of breach of the peace and fraud. A continuance of one week was granted and Gorton furnished a cash bond of $300 for his appearance. Several weeks ago Jones decided to discontinue business and engaged Gorton and his partner to auction the stock. During yesterday's sale, George H. Hyson of New Britain, president of the Connecticut Retail Jewelers' association came to New London for the purpose of ascertaining the methods employed by the auctioneers in selling the stock. Dyson went to the store about 1 o'clock and mingled with the crowd. When Gorton in addressing the assemblage made utterances derogatory to the Connecticut Retail Jewelers' association, Dyson took exception to the remarks and a heated verbal tilt resulted. Dyson left the store and conferred with Lieut. Roy Strauman of Groton state police. About 4:40 o'clock, Dyson, accompanied by Officer Peter Bush, went to the store, entered and listened to the remarks made by Gorton in his effort to dispose of mesh bags. When it was explained that the mesh bags were set with sapphires and the price for which they were to be sold was disclosed, Dyson again engaged in a heated debate with Gorton, the former claiming that the bags could not be sold at the quoted price, provided the stones were such as represented. The controversy resulted in Gorton ejecting Dyson from the store and in doing so, Officer Busch was at hand and arrested Gorton on the double charge when Dyson made complaint against the auctioneer. In court today no testimony was taken. Dyson was recently in attendance at a similar sale in Putnam and encountered similar experiences with the auctioneers there, alleging that the auctioneers in disposing of the stock of jewelry made repeated misrepresentations.

WOMEN VOTERS PREPARE FOR NORWICH CONVENTION

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 19—When the annual meeting of the League of Women Voters was held yesterday afternoon at the studio of Miss Edna L. Tyler in the Plant building, plans were made for the convention which will be held in Park church parish house Norwich, May 16. The convention will open at 11 a. m. and the morning will be spent in a business session. At 1 p. m. luncheon will be served after which the status of women voters of the country will be discussed. Miss Effie Haynes of Niantic presided at yesterday's meeting.

SULLIVAN FORFEITS BOND—SHORT-CHANGE ARTIST SKIPS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 19—Charles Sullivan, 24, arrested Saturday on a charge of working the old fraud game of short-changing stores, failed to present himself in court this morning when his case was called, and his bond of $1000 was forfeited. The failure of Sullivan to appear was not a great surprise, as the charge under which he was held is a serious one and he undoubtedly was aware of the fact that he could not expect anything but severe punishment. It is also known that he has a past record in different police courts of the country.

Sullivan last Saturday successfully worked the game, commonly known as "laying the note," on the Economy store, 199 Bank street. He asked for a fifteen cent package of cigarettes, tendering a ten dollar note in payment. After he received the correct change Sullivan stated that he had found that he possessed the correct change and that he would like to have the $10 bill returned. In the subsequent return of the money Sullivan succeeded by a clever line of talk and dexterious juggling of the change in palming off a $5 bill. The transaction was completed so rapidly that Joseph Mengel, the clerk did not notice the shortage until after Sullivan had left. After the police were notified the man was arrested near Union station. He confessed later. The man is known to have court records in Hartford, Worcester, Poughkeepsie and New York city.

TWO CARS STOLEN, OTHER BREAKS REPORTED

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 19—When David G. Tourtelott of 888 Bank street went to his garage this morning he found his automobile a 1925 Maxwell sedan gone. He reported his loss to the police but no trace of the car has been found. The state police and police of nearby cities have been notified. A window was discovered smashed this morning in the store of M. Lubchansky, corner of North Bank and Douglas streets, by Patrolman Henry Sylvia. The window was broken so that a person could easily have entered the store. However, when the proprietor examined his stock he could not find that anything had been stolen. Another entry was made to the extent of $16 at Buck's pool room, Broad street, Saturday night. Upon examination by Patrolman Dennis Murphy it was found that a Pontiac car had been stolen. Later the car was found abandoned near the Nameaug school, just across the street from the station. An extension ladder was reported stolen from the home of Peter Dugas, Waterford.

Patients discharged from the Lawrence-Memorial hospital today were: Mrs. Stanley Wronskey and daughter, 64 Broad street, Alfred Pelletier of Elizabeth street, Mrs. Auburn Valentine and daughter of Montville and Ray Leete of 16 Pacific street.

A drive has been inaugurated by Groton barracks to enforce the law regarding outdoor advertising. Three East Lyme gasoline filling station owners were arrested for permitting signs to be erected within 200 feet of their property.

Fifty-six children in this city have joined to form a junior branch of the Loyal Order of Moose. Organization took place Sunday under the direction of members of the parent order. The children will be instructed in their work by Mrs. Margaret Dahl of Waterbury. Mrs. Jeannette of the local Moosehart legion will act as governess for the juniors. The degree work will be performed by members of Moosehart Legion. City officials have been invited to attend the ceremonies.

At a meeting of the Merchants Bureau of New London chamber of commerce, last night Louis Kaplan was elected president. Other officers elected are: First Vice President Fred G. Smith; second, David A. Connors; treasurer, Harold Starr. Wednesday night of next week a meeting of the body is to be held for the purpose of discussing the advisability of keeping stores of the city open Saturday nights.

The 78th annual banquet of the Nameaug Engine Co. No. 2 held last night at the fire house on Masonic street, proved a highly successful and entertaining affair. More than 50 members were present. Guests were welcomed by Foreman Charles W. Harvey. A roast beef dinner was served. Speakers from other companies of the city were present.

John M. Beverly of 888 Bank street was reappointed yesterday dog warden for this city. This makes the sixth consecutive year. He was also reappointed as agent for the Connecticut Humane society for the same number of consecutive times. The appointment was made by City Manager Holt upon recommendation of Captain of Police Charles A. Finnerty.

Officers and members of Brainard lodge No. 103 A. F. & A. M. gave a surprise party Tuesday night to William H. Greene, the oldest living past master of the lodge. The party was held in the lodge temple. After a short lodge session all went to the banquet hall where a repast of salads, coffee and ice cream awaited them.

A second fire occurred while the firemen were combatting the blaze at the Williams street house. A large accumulation of refuse on the property corner of Neptune and Pequot avenues became ablaze and because of a strong southwest wind it was feared that the flames would communicate to a nearby cottage. A still alarm was sent to fire headquarters and Seaford Hose company responded. The fire was subdued with chemicals.

A fight between a man and woman at 42 Eastern avenue tonight occurred shortly after 8 o'clock, but no arrests were made.

Two prisoners, a man and woman are locked up at police headquarters tonight. They were arrested at 140 Main street by Patrolmen William Riordan and Elwood Bailey charged with intoxication and will be in the police court tomorrow.

The funeral of Thomas C. Birmingham, was held from his residence, 111 Vauxhall street this morning. At 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church and was attended by a large gathering of mourners including a delegation of members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The solemn mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Michael Reagan with Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley deacon and Rev. Raymond O'Callahan sub-deacon. At the offertory, Miss Julia Murphy sang "Ave Marie" and as a waiting hymn Miss Murphy gave "Nearer My God to Thee." The bearers were Michael Reidy, Martin O'Keefe, Stephen Conlon, James Kiely, Willis F. Barrows and John McLaughlin. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today ordered the return of the driver's license of Morris Luchansky, 427 Bank street, suspended two weeks ago.

CELLAR FIRE DOES DAMAGE AT WILLIAMS STREET HOUSE

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 19—Fire was discovered shortly before 8 o'clock tonight in the two family residence, 251 Williams street, owned by Frederick Zepp and occupied by the Zepp family on the second floor and on the first by Arthur M. Bridges and family. Both the Zepp and Bridges families were absent from the house when the fire originated and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bridges entering the house detected the odor of smoke. Investigating, the youth was confronted with a cloud of smoke and flame issuing from the cellar. The boy ran to the corner of Williams and Fremont streets and rang in an alarm from Box 172, summoning three hose companies and the aerial ladder. The firemen were directed in their work by Deputy Chief Calvin Edmunds and the flames were attacked with chemicals being confined to the cellar, but before they were extinguished damage of from $1,000 to $1,500 was caused. In order to make sure that the fire had been extinguished, two or three holes were cut through the floor for the flames had made their way into the cellar ceiling, although they did not penetrate it. The fire, it is believed originated from hot ashes put in a barrel, for the fire was fiercest around the barrel when the firemen entered the cellar.

C. W. Carson, a submarine base sailor, was a passenger on the trolley car that arrived in New London from Norwich last night at 10:45 and enroute Carson used the car for a vaporatory, in spite of the remonstrance of the conductor. When the car arrived in New London complaint was made to the police and Patrolmen Frank Philopena, Henry Sylvia and Louis Wheeler arrested Carson. He was not in the police court today, however, because neither the conductor nor a woman passenger on the car desired the notoriety of being a witness against the sailor. He was turned over to a patrol and taken back to the base for discipline.

The many friends of Patrick Brennan will be pleased to learn that there is a slight improvement in his condition. He is a patient at the W. W. Backus hospital with pneumonia.

FUNERAL
Mrs. William Neibert

The funeral of Mrs. William Neibert was held from her late residence, No. 32 Prospect street Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock followed by a solemn requiem mass at St. Mary's Memorial church at 9 o'clock. Rev. William A. Keefe, pastor, was celebrant of the mass. Rev. John J. Reilly, deacon, and Rev. M. Coholan, sub-deacon, Mrs. Michael J. Farrell, at the organ sang Pie Jesu at the offertory and Jesus Savior of My Soul as a waiting hymn. Chopins Funeral March was played at the recessional. Among the large attendance of mourners were people from Springfield, Hartford and Norwich. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the Rev. Fr. Coholan conducted the committal service. The bearers were William Malone, Thomas Ratigan, Bernard Meehan, John Meehan, Louis Bessette and William M. Savage. The floral tributes were both numerous and beautiful, a mute testimony of the high esteem in which Mrs. Neibert was held by her many friends. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Cummings and Ring.

TAFTVILLE

Mrs. Adam Leupold entertained the Thimble club Tuesday evening at her home in Lisbon. After the usual hour of sewing, the members enjoyed a delicious repast served by the hostess.

George H. Young of Boston, a former resident of North Third avenue has been a visitor in town this week.

The members of the Basketry club met Thursday evening in the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah building for work an dinstruction. Mrs. Albert J. Aberg was in charge.

Work has begun on the repair of the road in Blissville running from the Newent highway to the Jewett City road, in accordance with the vote at a special town meeting held some time ago. Several trucks and a steam shovel are working and the road will soon be in very good condition.

TROLLEY BARN FOREMAN BRINGS SUIT FOR $4,000

William Mitchell, night foreman at the Norwich car barn of the Connecticut Co., has brought suit in the superior court against Zigmond Sajkowicz, of this city claiming damages of $4,000.

On Nov. 14, 1927, it is alleged, Mitchell received a fractured skull and other injuries when struck by an automobile owned and operated by the defendant. He claims that he left the car barn and crossed the street to fix the fuse which was then out of order from the car barn. In doing so he passed between two trolleys that were at that time stationary at the car barn, which trolleys were bound for Taftville and headed in a northerly direction.

It is alleged that Sajkowicz was operating his automobile along Central avenue in a northerly direction and as he approached the trolley cars he turned fro mthe easterly side of Central avenue to the westerly side and attempted to pass the trolley cars on the easterly side of the street and ran into the plaintiff.

Mitchell received a fracture at the base of the skull, was confined to the hospital and has been prevented from following his usual occupation as foreman, from which he received a salary of $60 a week.

MUSICAL PROGRAMME FOR MEETING OF LIONS CLUB

The weekly meeting of the Norwich Lions club was held at the Wauregan hotel Thursday noon with President William R. Frisbie in the chair. Dr. K. K. Markoff was in charge of the musical programme, which was featured by solos rendered by Mrs. Joseph Stewart. A contribution was voted to the Y. M. C. A. A report was made that Lion Rudolph Henschel is convalescing at the W. W. Backus hospital. The meeting closed in the usual manner with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

SCHOOL BOY FATALLY INJURED ON BROADWAY WHEN HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Reported to have been chasing a baseball which had rolled away from him across Broadway, Harold Raucher, 11, of 35 Sturtevant avenue received fatal injuries Thursday afternoon about 3:30 when he was struck by an automobile driven by its owner Robert McNeely of 508 Boswell avenue, a member of the town school board and agent for the building trades council. The little boy died with a severely fractured skull as he was being carried into Backus hospital to which he was hurried as soon as possible in another machine whose driver volunteered his services. The accident happened just north of the corner of Broad street as Mr. McNeely was driving northerly on Broadway. With him in his car at the time were Gilbert S. Raymond and Jacob Slosberg.

Harold was the oldest of the four children of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Raucher of 35 Sturtevant avenue and was in the sixth grade at Broad street school from which he was on his way home at the time of the fatal accident. According to what the police learned, the little boy had come over Broad street from school on his way home and had crossed Broadway onto the sidewalk in front of the residence of John Porteous, when he turned and ran back diagonally across Broadway towards the sidewalk of the Williams property and in the path of the approaching automobile. Although Mr. McNeely tried to avoid the boy he was knocked down by the car which had one headlight broken in the crash. Mr. McNeely brought his car to a stop within a few feet and the little boy was picked up and carried onto the lawn of the Williams residence. He was bleeding profusely from the injuries to his head and it was seen that he was seriously injured so that he was rushed to the hospital as soon as another machine could be secured. Mr. McNeely was too much shaken by the accident to attempt to drive his car.

Attorney John H. Barnes, who is acting coroner while Coroner J. J. Desmond is ill, will take up the investigation today (Friday) securing a statement from Mr. Raymond and Mr. Slosberg.

Sergeant Myron O. Morgan and Officer William Ryan learned Thursday afternoon that Miss H. E. Haley, residing at 249 Broadway, was an eye witness of the accident, having been watching from her window at the time, and she gave it as her opinion that the accident was unavoidable, according to the police.

Besides his parents, the little boy is survived by his three younger brothers and sisters, Beatrice, Nathan and Rivy. He was a bright, attractive child, a promising scholar in his school work, and his sudden death will bring heartfelt sympathy to his parents from their many friends.

Struck Near Taft's Station

Moses Labrecque of 147 Central avenue was struck near Taft's station Thursday night by an automobile driven by Michael Lack of R. F. D. No. 3. His injuries were of a minor character, it was believed.

MISSIONARY FROM INDIA SPOKE AT BIBLE CLASS

Wednesday evening at the weekly session of the Men's Bible class at the Y. M. C. A. instead of the regular Bible study, the group were much interested and instructed by the talk given by Rev. Wheler Boggess who has spent some thirty years in India as a missionary. Mr. Boggess told of the population, its languages, its peculiarities, etc.

He told of the large and flourishing Young Men's Christian associations in several of the large cities of India; one at Bombay which was largely given by the late John Wanamaker. The speaker told of illiteracy of the country, only about eight per cent. can read and write, though the percentage of the Christians in India is about twenty six.

About twenty per cent. of the people dislike English rule, while the large majority are perfectly satisfied with it. England has been responsible for practically all of the improvement in education in recent years and has taken steps for the moral improvement as well.

Time was given at the close of the interesting talk for questions and several of the men asked about various things pertaining to the country and people. All present were greatly interested and impressed with the information given by the speaker.

BRINGS SUIT AGAINST TWO FOR DAMAGES OF $3,500

Jacob Munz of this city and his chauffeur, John D. Andrews, are made defendants in a $3,500 damage suit brought in the superior court by Joseph Ladyka of Norwich, according to papers filed with the clerk of the superiod court Thursday.

Ladyka claims he was severely injured on the night of Jan. 16 last, when struck by an automobile owned by Munz and operated by Andrews. He claims he was wiping the windshield of his own car when struck, the accident taking place on Norwich-New London highway near the Norwich city line.

Ladyka claims that about 3.30 p. m. on Jan. 16, 1928, he was operating his automobile in a northerly driection on the highway leading from New London to Norwich and reached a point on the highway near the city line, where he directed the machine to the extreme easterly side, brought the car to a stop, got out of the machine, and was standing on the running board, wiping the windshield of his auto, when an automobile owned by Mr. Munz and operated by Andrews, being driven in a northerly direction, collided with the rear of the Ladyka machine, hitting it at the tire carrier and left rear mudguard.

Ladyka sustained a dislocated fracture of the left ankle, the hearing in the left ear was affected and he was otherwise injured.

NEW CLUE TO PROFITS OF CONTINENTAL TRADING CO.

Senator Nye States That It Was Picked Up in Examination of the Personal Account of Robert W. Stewart, Chairman of the Board of Standard Oil Company of Indiana—Declares That the Discovery Indicates That Stewart Profited With Sinclair, Blackmer and O'Neil—Stewart Now is Under Indictment For Contempt of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—A new clue came to light today which Chairman Nye of the senate Teapot Dome committee expects to determine whether some of the profits of the Continental Trading company of Canada went to Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of Standard Oil company of Indiana.

Senator Nye disclosed today that the trail was picked up in examination of the personal account of Stewart in the Continental and Commercial National bank of Chicago. Nye said present indications were that Stewart shared a fourth of the Continental company's $2,080,000 profits and added that committee investigators now are seeking additional information.

Stewart had testified before the Teapot committee that he "never personally profited one dollar by this deal," but when pressed as to whether he knew anything about the purchase of the first liberty loan bonds representing the profits of the Continental Trading company, he refused to answer. He is now under indictment for contempt of the senate on that action and his trial is expected to be held during the next few weeks.

Senator Nye in disclosing the committee's discovery today said that its search for the disposition of the Continental profits would be materially aided as it indicated that Stewart was the holder of the missing one fourth of the profits. He named Harry Sinclair, Harry M. Blackmer, of the Midwest Refining company, and James E. O'Neil, of the Prairie Gas and Oil company, as those who shared the other three fourths.

The more than $200,000 paid by Sinclair to Albert Fall former secretary of the interior from whom he leased Teapot Dome naval oil reserve, has been identified as liberty bonds like those of the Continental company.

The government has charged that the payment was a bribe but that is denied by Sinclair and Fall.

The Canadian company was formed about the time of the Teapot Dome lease to Sinclair. It purchased oil and resold it at a profit of 25 cents a barrel and went out of existence a few years ago.

Evidence in the hands of the senate committee, Senator Nye explained today, is that a deposit slip has been found in Stewart's personal account in the Chicago bank showing that on December 15, 1923, he deposited $13,302.75. On the deposit slip Senator Nye said, was a notation that the money was the residue of 'coupons first liberty loan, deducting two days." A similar deposit was discovered in December of 1922, Nye said.

'It is significant," the senator declared, "that if this deposit represented the semi-annual payment of interest on bonds of the first liberty loan issue the amount of bonds was in excess of $750,000. This represents one fourth share of the profits of $3,080,000, of the Continental Trading company."

Nye said that investigators are now seeking to determine through the Federal Reserve bank whether the first liberty bond coupons deposited by Stewart were of those known to have been in the Continental fund. If this is established he said the committee would recall Mr. Stewart. While the interest payments were found only in December, and it is calculated they were semi-annual payments, Nye said that the committee had not been able to get deposit slips for the other months.

MRS. KNAPP'S RELATIVES IN SERIOUS NERVOUS CONDITION

ALBANY, N. Y., April 20.—(AP)—The serious nervous condition of two sisters of former Secretary of State Florence E. S. Knapp may defeat attempts of the prosecution to have all of her relatives testify before the grand jury investigating her conduct of the 1925 state census, although careful inquiry is to be made into the accuracy of reports regarding their illness.

Julia A. Smith and Mrs. Mary L. Bodkin, both of Bedford, Mass., who were to have taken the witness stand next Monday, have broken down under the strain incident to the excitement of the case Special Prosecutor George Z. Medalie was informed tonight. nd probably will be unable to appear. Both were wanted for questioning in connection with the amount of work which they did on the census and for which they received a total of $8,018 in salaries. With one exception, seven of Mrs. Knapp's relatives, including the two sisters, who were on the census payroll, were alleged to have done no work.

Despite the hurried departure of Miss Smith from Albany yesterday because of a nervous attack, arrangements were completed tonight to serve her tomorrow with a subpoena. It will require her appearance next Monday, and in the meantime representatives of the prosecution are said to be undertaking an inquiry into the exact nature of her illness. She was at a high pitch of excitement when she reached this city Wednesday night. friends of Mrs. Knapp informed reporters and just before the time came for her to take the witness stand yesterday, she became so ill that it was necessary for her to return to her home.

DENIED THAT RECORDS HAD BEEN FALSIFIED

COBURG, Ont., April 20.—(AP)—W. T. R. Preston, confederate with F. W. Wilson in the $50,000 libel action brought by General Sir Arthur Currie, wartime commander of the Canadian army forces, on the witness stand today failed to support his counsel's charges that records had been deliberately falsified to hide needless loss of life in the Canadian ranks during the World war

Colonel R. F. Orde judge advocate general, as a witness today produced records that showed only one Canadian soldier had been killed on Armistice day. A number, however, died of wounds, but all had been wounded prior to November 11, the records indicated.

SINCLAIR CASE READY FOR COURT'S CHARGE

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—Six hours of attack and defense of Harry F. Sinclair today brought his trial for conspiracy up to a point where only the court's charge remained to be given before the jury could retire to decide upon its verdict. Justice Jennings Bailey, presiding planned to read his charge when court opens tomorrow and the case should be in the hands of the jury before noon.

It was a day of divided emotion in the small crowded court room and as Martin W. Littleton concluded his closing argument he made an impassioned plea that the jury find Sinclair not guilty, not only for himself, but for his family, who sat in the front row of the spectators' section.

79 PAINTINGS WERE SOLD FOR A TOTAL OF $1,154,650

NEW YORK, April 20.—(AP)—Thirty-nine paintings from the collection of the late Elbert H. Gary were sold at auction tonight for a total of $1,154,650, said to be the largest amount ever brought at a one-session sale of paintings.

"The Harvest Wagon," by Thomas Gainsborough, was sold to Sir Joseph Duveen, a London dealer, for $360,000, described as the highest price ever paid for a picture at auction in America.

A portrait of "Mary Ann, Lady Dashwood," by John Hoppner, brought $99,000.

FIRST PICTURES TAKEN OF THE STRANDED BREMEN

HARTFORD, April 20—(AP)—Bringing practically the first pictures taken of the stranded trans-Atlantic plane the Bremen, at Greenly Island Lieut. Carl A. Dixon, of Hartford flew a Fairchild cabin monoplane of the L. and H. Aircraft company from Lake St. Agnes, Murray Bay, Quebec, to Hartford today in exactly five hours.

Changing to a Challenger plane, he then flew to New York and landed at Governor's island, making the entire trip in a few minutes more than six hours, including the stop at Brainard field. By taking the lighter ship from Hartford, he was able to land on the small field on Governors island, where a taxi waited for the New York newspaper reporter and photographer, who returned from Murray Bay with Dixon, and by taxi and speed boat the pictures were taken to the newspaper office.

Another plane left Lake St. Agnes five minutes before the Hartford ship, but because it was forced to land at Curtiss field, the motion picture film taken by Ray Fernstrom which was carried in the plane did not reach the New York offices until after the pictures brought by Lieut. Dixon. Fernstrom was brought as far as Hartford by the local flyer, while his films were sent by the other plane to leave Lake St. Agnes. Lieut. Osmond M. Mather, of the L. and H. Aircraft company, piloting the Fairchild monoplane, took the Paramount-Associated Press photographer to Curtiss field later in the day.

STATE RESTS CASE IN THE GUILFOYLE MURDER TRIAL

HARTFORD, April 20—(AP)—The final chapter in the case of the state versus Dr. Harold N. Guilfoyle will be written next Tuesday when three judges of the superior court decide whether or not the veterinarian has been shown as the person who on January 18, murdered Mrs. Maximin Gaudet in the building where the Guilfoyles lived.

The state rested its case early today and the defense after producing several character witnesses, a surgeon who qualified as a gunshot wound expert, and a ballistic expert, did likewise.

Court then adjourned until Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock when arguments will be heard. Each side will be allowed two arguments and two hours in which to present them.

In the closing moments of today's session the judges vetoed a motion of John T. Robinson chief defense attorney, that they visit the scene of the crime. Earlier in the case, State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn presented a similar motion which was not acted on.

MEXICAN BANDIT CHIEFTAIN HANGED BY THE ROADSIDE

MEXICO CITY, April 20—(AP)—Angel Otiz Gallarza, recently captured bandit chieftain, was hanged by the roadside near Tres Maris today, scene of a holdup in which he was accused of participating.

His body was left hanging from a tree with the following placard: "Foe highway robbery".

Gallarza was accused of being second in command of a gang which held up many automobiles on Sunday, April 8 on the Mexico City-Cuernavaca highway after disarming a squad of soldiers guarding the road. The order that he be hanged at the scene of the holdup was issued by the military authorities.

POPE PIUS NAMES NEW NATIVE CHINESE BISHOP

ROME, April 20—(AP)—Pope Pius today named a new native Chinese bishop, the Rev. Peter Cheng for the vicariat of Swanhaufu to succeed the late Monsignor Chao consecrated at Rome two years ago with five other native bishops.

Today's appointment follows the consecration by the pontiff last fall of Monsignor Hayasaka, the first native Japanese bishop whose see is at Nagasaki.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

HAVRE, France, April 20—(AP)—The liners France and De Grasse, continuing the steady stream of gold which has been coming from the United States to France, landed $23,000,000 in gold today. Since Jan. 1 a total of $100,000,000 in gold has been sent to France.

MADRID, April 20—(AP)—Ramon Tortajada, famous a generation ago as a composer, died here yesterday, poor and lonely. He was the husband of Consuelo Tortajada, a rival of Carolina Otero in the Spanish dancing which became the rage 75 years ago when Lola Montes reigned in court and stage circles alike. It was Montes who had to flee from Munich to save the tottering throne of her patron, King Ludwig.

FOREST FIRES TOOK AT LEAST FOUR LIVES

(By the Associated Press)

The gaunt, charred frames of scores of homesteads and hundreds of miles of smouldering woodlands were left today in the wake of forest fires which took at least four lives and caused heavy property damage in four eastern states.

An unseasonable gale that fanned hundreds of fires for almost two days in parts of New York, Delaware, New Jersey and Pennsylvania shifted or died yesterday and helped save many villages and towns in parched, countryside areas where it had spread the flames.

A shift in the wind saved the town of Barnegat, N. J., around which 5,000 acres were burned over and where three lives were lost indirectly through the fires. Unconfirmed reports said another man was burned to death at Manahawkin, N. J., where at least six homes were lost.

One hundred and seventeen fires were extinguished or brought under control on Pennsylvania after many homes and other buildings in mountainous woodland areas were destroyed, and a schoolhouse, containing 100 children, and an insane asylum were endangered. One man was fatally burned in Burrell Township, Pa.

Two homes were destroyed at Elmira, N. Y., and 30 square miles of pine forest was burned over on long island as 3,200 acres were swept by the flames in New York state.

Delaware woodlands were damaged, although the loss there was not as severe as in other states.

MATTERS BEFORE THE Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 20—(AP)—Delegates to the international Y. M. C. A. convention here today considered the bequests of eight cities for the 1930 session and urged upon congress a temporary immigration measure design to reunite families of foreigners

The plan of the Y. M. C. A. workers, designed to re-unite all families within a two year period, contemplates division of quotas for all countries into two equal parts. One part will be handled as at present. For the other part, quota numbers will be given only to families of alien residents who were in the United States before July 1 1924, numbers to be given according to priority of application and only upon petition of the relative here.

A resolution before the convention today, if approved, will carry to Secretary Kellogg "a message of appreciation of the advanced position which he has taken in the cause of peace" and assure him support in his efforts "to conclude a multilateral treaty with the great powers for the renunciation of war as an instrument of national policy."

The cities seeking the 1930 meeting are Chicago, Detroit, Indianapolis, Columbus, Minneapolis, Omaha, Des Maines and Philadelphia. The selection will be made by the national board within a year.

CHARGES REFUTED BY REV. JOHN DUDIKOFF

NEW HAVEN, April 20—(AP)—The Very Rev. John Dudikoff, Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic priest today took the witness stand, garbed in his clerical robes and refuted the charge that he had obtained money from two men on the false statement that he needed it to pay duty on Russian crown and church jewels which were being held by the United States customs officials.

The priest said the money given him formerly was only $350 but that he was compelled to sign a $3,000 note to obtain it. He told the court that his accusers, Isadore Wandroff and Peter Olatka, told him they could do nothing more for him unless he took out his second naturalization papers. This they said, usually cost $20,000 but they could obtain the papers for the priest for $10,000 which he said he agreed to pay them.

FORD PLANE TO TAKE OFF TODAY FOR GREENLY ISLAND

MURRAY BAY, Que., April 20—(AP)—The Ford air liner which flew here today from Detroit, Mich., will take off at 6 a. m. tomorrow to fly to Greenly Island with fuel for the trans-Atlantic airplane Bremen. The Detroit plane is piloted by Bernt Balchen and Floyd Bennett. The time of the take-off was announced tonight subject to weather conditions.

The rescue plane will carry 650 gallons of fuel which will enable it to make the return trip to New York. In addition it is carrying 60 gallons of benzol for the Bremen, which will be sufficient for that plane to make the trip to Murray Bay, the only place it will stop before proceeding to New York.

CHARGED WITH DEFAMING CHARACTER OF PRINCESS

NEW YORK, April 20—(AP)—Charged with defaming the character of a Rumanian princess by calling her a spy, Clarence W. Barron, president of the Wall Street Journal, is being sued for $100,000, it became public today when decision was reserved on a motion to dismiss the suit.

Princess Margaret Chika, now a resident of New York, charges that Barron told friends at a dinner in August 1927, that she was a spy and was unable to return either to France or England.

NEW SPEED RECORD MADE BY LINER LEVIATHAN

CHERBOURG, France, April 20—(AP)—The American liner Leviathan established a new speed record of thirty knots an hour during yesterday's sailing, it was announced when the ship arrived here this morning. The pace was maintained for several hours. The ship had a following wind.

(Available records show the British liner Olympic in July 1922 made a speed of 27.81 knots an hour for several hours).

A Concerted Drive is Being Made on Peking

Combined Forces of Chiang and Feng Ar[redacted]dvancing on the No[redacted]pital.

SHANG[redacted] April 20—(AP)—Smashi[redacted] through the Northe[redacted] southern Shantung, [redacted] Chiang Kai-Shek, Na[redacted] commander-in-chief, and [redacted]-Hsiang, his ally, have been m[redacted]g their way steadily through the province of Shantung in a concerted drive on Peking, the historic Northern capital.

Advices from Pekins state that 550 Japanese marines have been landed at Tsingtao to protect the lives and property of Japanese in Shantung. The reappearance of the Japanese force already has brought a protest from the Northern government against the sending of troops to Shantung.

Recording an advance beyond Yenchowfu, the headquarters of Chiang Kai-Shek, today announced the capture of Kufowhsien, birthplace of Confucius and a strategic center at which Chiang Kai-Shek and Feng Yu-Hsiang have formed a junction for a combined drive on Peking.

Nationalist headquarters claim the capture of 32,000 prisoners, 32 field guns, 18,000 rifles and 6,000 machine guns.

Advices from Tsintao say that martial law has been proclaimed there and ships have been forbidden to enter or leave the port at night. There are now five American destroyers at Tsingtao, the Hulbert, Noa, Sicard, Pruitt and Preble.

While Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, the Northern dictator, is reported from Peking to have refrained from sending reinforcements into Shantung, he is said to be massing his troops on the Shantung-Chihli border on both sides of the Tientsin-Pukow railway.

COOLIDGE NOT SATISFIED WITH FLOOD CONTROL BILL

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—The prospect of smoothing over differences between President Coolidge and house supporters of the senate-Jones flood control bill remained problematical tonight after a White House conference attended by the house republican leaders.

Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the house majority leader, and Chairman Madden of the appropriations committee, admitted that the tentative agreement reached with proponents of the senate bill had failed to satisfy the objections of the chief executive. Madden, however, expressed hope that counter-proposals outlined by Mr. Coolidge ultimately would prove the basis for an agreement.

In addition to Tilson and Madden, Attorney General Sargent and Major General Jadwin, chief of army engineers, attended the conference which lasted only about 15 minutes.

The White House meeting climaxed a day in which various aspects of the Mississippi river flood control problem were discussed at the capitol between representatives of the two opposing camps in the house. In the meanwhile, Mr. Coolidge discussed the question with both Sargent, Jadwin and several senators and representatives from the Mississippi valley states.

The house, in order that these conferences might progress unhampered, took the usual procedure of suspending consideration of a major piece of legislation—the flood control bill—so that nothing which might be said on the floor would complicate the situation.

Both Tilson and Madden said that further negotiations would be necessary with house supporters of the senate bill and in view of this there was considerable doubt tonight as to whether the house tomorrow would take up the senate measure under procedure permitting amendment.

Seven Persons Were Burned to Death

Three Terrific Explosions at Alexander Plant at Englewood, Colo.

DENVER, Colo., April 20—(AP)—At least seven persons were burned to death and 19 others were injured, several probably fatally, when three terrific explosions rocked the Alexander Industries plant at Englewood, a suburb, and set fire to the properties today.

None of the 26 men and women who were working in the paint shop of the plant, located a short distance in the rear of the main structure, escaped uninjured.

The company engages in a number of enterprises including the manufacture of airplanes and the fire spread rapidly from the paint shop with its store of highly inflammable materials used in the "doping" of airplane wings.

Flames enveloped the building after the first blast. Persons, their clothes in flames, staggered from the burning structure while rescuers rushed in and emerged with the seared bodies of others among the dead or critically injured.

The known dead are: Mrs. Gertrude C. Jarrett, Ross Owen Scott, Carl B. Moseley, Effie Harkins and Ella Taylor, employes, and one unidentified man and an unidentified woman. In quick succession the two blasts followed the first explosion, and flames shot fifty feet out of the building. Almost all the clothing of the victims was burned off Several were in critical condition at the Denver General hospital. A temporary first aid station was established at the scene of the explosion and here the nude and seared bodies of victims were swathed in hastily improvised bandages.

The paint shop, a wooden structure, was rapidly consumed by the fire, which was brought under control this afternoon.

Richard Trenari, 21, an employe who was in the building when the first explosion occurred, said he believed it was caused by a short circuited electric fan which dropped into an open pan of silver nitrate.

Trenari, who escaped with minor bruises, declared the entraped victims who did not happen to be near a door, had no avenue of escape.

"The flames spread rapidly and soon the whole of the west wing was in flames," he said. "It was a terrible inferno. Screams of trapped women and men employes could be heard."

Trenari feared that the bodies of several women workers would be found in the ruins.

An official investigation was undertaken by county officials. The damage from the fire was small, estimated around $7,000.

WAS THE LAST SURVIVING GENERAL OF CONFEDERACY

WACO, Tex., April 20—(AP)—General Felix Huston Robertson, 88, the last surviving general of the confederacy and the youngest man to hold that rank in either the Southern or Northern forces in the Civil war, died at his home here today.

He had been in failing health since he attended the Confederate reunion in Florida last year, being confined to bed for months. He was bright and cheerful to the last, however. The widow and four children survive.

Until his retirement General Robertson practiced law.

At the age of 21, Robertson resigned from West Point to join the Southern cause. He had been appointed to the military academy by General Sam Houston. Before the Civil war ended he was made a major general. His father, Jerome Bonaparte Robertson, who participated in the conflict with Mexico in which Texas won its independence, led Hood's Brigade at one time in the war between the states.

Leaving West Point a few weeks before graduation, Young Robertson went to Richmond, Va., and was commissioned a lieutenant of artillery by President Jefferson Davis. He was assigned to General Beauregard's army. He took part in the battle of Shiloh and was one of Sherman's opponents when Sherman marched to the sea. A few months before the end of the war he was wounded in the left arm.

His surrender was made to General Kirkpatrick at Macon, Ga. He had disbanded his command when he saw defeat and then rode two days alone to General Kirkpatrick's headquarters. As he approached the headquarters a group of young Federal officers stood about. As he dismounted some one shouted "It's Robertson." And there was a rush to him. He was among his classmates.

General Robertson had nothing but his horse and some confederate money. The war was ended, and Federal officers made up a purse for him and sent him home to his bride at Independence, Texas.

COOLIDGE WOULD KEEP HIS NAME OUT OF PRIMARIES

Wish Made Known in a Letter to Francis Prescott, Chairman of the Massachusetts Republican State Committee—The President Writes That It Would "Tend to Compromise Me and Lend Color to the Misrepresentations That Apparently Are Being Made in Other States"—Senator Norbeck Sees Defeat in Nomination of Hoover.

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—Request that his name be not proposed as a candidate for president in state primaries was made by President Coolidge today in a letter to Francis Prescott, chairman of the Massachusetts republican state committee.

Such action, President Coolidge said, would be "embarrassing" to him and would "tend to compromise me and lend color to the misrepresentations that apparently are being made in other states," that President Coolidge is favorable to his name being entered in primaries.

The letter read:

"Reports have come to me that some persons in Massachusetts are proposing to write in my name as a candidate for president at the primaries on April 24. Such action would be most embarrassing to me, and, while appreciating the compliment that is intended, I request that it not be done.

"My name is being used in other states in a way that is contrary to my wishes. I have heard that in New York it has gone so far as to be claimed such use is with my tacit consent. In my own state to give any countenance to such a movement would tend to compromise me and lend color to the misrepresentations that apparently are being made in other states. I am, therefore, sending you this public declaration of my position and requesting that such attempts be discontinued."

NORBECK SEES DEFEAT IF HOOVER IS NOMINATED

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—Defeat of Herbert Hoover as an opponent of Al. Smith in the presidential race was predicted in the senate today by a republican, Senator Norbeck, of South Dakota, after Senator Sackett, republican, of Kentucky, had lauded the commerce secretary in a lengthy address ab a friend of the farmers.

Senator Norbeck, who is supporting the candidacy of Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, for the republican presidential nomination, declared Hoover "should not be elected president because he was not interested in America until he was 43 years old."

Senator Sackett directed his remarks at the recent statement of George N. Peek, spokesman for some farm organizations, criticising the attitude of Secertary Hoover toward farmers, particularly during the war. He said Peek's statement, which was inserted in the Congressional Record by Senator Norbeck, was "a collection of misstatements, misrepresentations and conclusions distinctly libellous."

Only a handful of senators were on hand for the political outburst which came late in the day and after the two republicans had finished their quarrel for the time being, Senator Blease, democrat, of South Carolina, arose to ask Mr. Sackett to reply "at his leisure" to these questions:

"How much was Mr. Hoover worth when he went to England; how much was he worth when he returned to America; how much was he worth when the World war began; how much was he worth when it ended and how much is he worth today?"

Senator Blease also asked for the personal view of Senator Sackett on the recent order which he said Mr. Hoover had issued "forcing an equality between the white and colored races in his department."

Senator Sackett, who had spoken for more than an hour, made no comment on Norbeck's assault. The South Dakotan also declared that "in 1919 Mr. Hoover worked for Woodrow Wilson, a democrat, and in 1920 he was a democratic candidate and carried Michigan."

The Kentuckian who was a member of the food administration representing Mr. Hoover in Kentucky during the war when Hoover served as food administrator presented documents, records and letters to support his contention that "the one dominating consideration of the food administration during the war was the protection of the American farmer."

Senator Norbeck called on Sackett to show where Hoover had done something for the farmers, saying that after listening to the speech he had "failed to get it." Sackett replied that the farmers were in the best condition of history during the administration of Hoover as food administrator.

LOWDEN THE CHOICE OF ILLINOIS' REPUBLICANS

SPRINGFIELD, April 20—(AP)—Frank O. Lowden, Illinois, wartime governor was named as the republican state convention's choice for the presidential nomination here late today. Delegates were instructed "to bring about" his nomination.

The instructions of the delegates was contained in the convention platform adopted at a late overtime session, necessitated by protracted debates over delegates, and a demonstration that first indicated all hopes of harmony might be fruitless. Homer K. Galpin, of Chicago, spokesman for the Robert E. Crowe, Mayor William Hale Thompson and Governor Len Small faction dispelled any bellicerent uprisings when he appealed to obstreperous Cook county delegates. He told the convention that "we will use every effort to support the state ticket. I beseech you to treat most kindly those who beat us in a fair campaign."

The administration of President Coolidge, was endorsed as "progressive and efficient" as was the "constructive work of U. S. senator and republican members of congress from Illinois and the present state officers."

IOWA DELEGATES ARE INSTRUCTED FOR SMITH

DES MOINES, Ia., April 20—(AP)—All of Iowa's 26 delegates to the democratic national convention at Houston, Texas, late today were instructed by the party's state convention to vote under the unit rule for Gov. Smith of New York for the presidential nomination. The vote was by acclamation. Eight delegates at large with one-half votes each were also named to the national convention.

The Smith delegates were in complete control of the convention.

Under the instruction the delegates are to vote for Governor Smith "as long as there is reasonable opportunity of securing his nomination, the majority to determine when, if ever, the delegates shall be released from this vote of instruction."

A resolution adopted declared that charges recently made in the United States senate that the Smith victory in Iowa was accomplished by trickery or the improper use of money "are absolutely devoid of any foundation in fact." The resolution recited that no evidence substantiating these charges had been presented to the convention and denounced the charges as "an attempt to assassinate the moral influence of this convention with the democracy of the nation."

Another resolution referred the convention to the national convention for a platform of party principles.

ILLINOIS DEMOCRATS PLEDGED FOR AL SMITH

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., April 20.—(AP)—Illinois democrats pledged 58 delegates to Gov. Alfred E. Smith in their state convention here today, which was marked with complete harmony. There was a ten minute demonstration when Smith's name was first mentioned as a presidential choice.

A state's right plank was the nearest the democrats came to mentioning the prohibition issue in their platform.

Resolutions expressing "sorrow in recalling the indictments of former member's of the president's cabinet" were adopted.

"A continuation of the republican party in power in the nation or state closes our doors to any hope of the cessation of the thefts and scandals which are holding us up to the ridicule of the world," they added.

The democrats also resolved to petition Gov. Small to appoint Anton J. Cermak, of Chicago, "dripping wet," nominee to the United States senate. A motion was made to draft former U. S. Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Chicago as Gov. Smith's running mate, but Senator Lewis declined to accept, pleading ill health.

INSURGENTS SQUELCHED AT THE D. A. R. CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—Critics of the national officers and policies of the Daughters of the American Revolution met crushing defeat today when three resolutions of protest introduced by Mrs. St. Omer Roy, of Kansas, were turned down by the congress with a rising vote of about 2,000 to 14.

Mrs. Roy's resolutions, which were reported out to the congress "without recommendation" by its resolutions committee, embodied a demand for the consideration of all national policies by the chapters and members before their pronouncement by the national officers; the discontinuance of all "black listing" of speakers; and the submission of the national defense act for approval.

Both Mrs. Roy and Mrs. Helen Tufts Baille, of Boston, leader of the insurgent forces, had appeared in defense of the protest before the resolutions committee. Mrs. Baille submitted as evidence two of the Massachusetts chapters' "black lists" and a letter from President Coolidge indorsing the Ford Hall Forum of Boston, an organization proscribed on one of the lists. President Coolidge's letter, dated March 28, 1928, and addressed to George H. Coleman, director of the Forum, on the occasion of the organization's 20th anniversary, commended it as "a vital influence in Boston and a good example for other communities."

RANDOLPH CLARK GREW TO MARRY AN ART STUDENT

BOSTON, April 20.—(AP)—Randolph Clark Grew, a member of the Boston stock brokerage firm of Weld, Grew and Company, today filed intentions to marry Mrs. Helen Jones Coffin, art student of Boston and Paris. Grew is a brother of Joseph C. Grew, U. S. ambassador to Turkey and is a cousin of J. Pierpont Morgan. He is a widely known banker and real estate operator. He gave his age as 34 years and that of his bride to be as 30 years.

Mrs. Coffin was granted a divorce in 1932 from Milton T. Coffin. She has one daughter.

THIRD DEATH IN STAFFORD SPRINGS AUTO ACCIDENT

STAFFORD SPRINGS, April 20—(AP)—Brendon Cunningham, three months old, died at the Johnson Memorial hospital today from injuries received last Sunday in an automobile collision in which his two brothers, William, five, and Vincent, three, were killed. The children were with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Cunningham and their uncle, James H. Cunningham all of Hartford.

Mrs. Cunningham is still a patient at the hospital with possible internal injuries. James H. Cunningham, who is under $2,000 bonds on a technical charge of reckless driving is also at the hospital with possible internal injuries and a broken nose.

SPECIAL MEETING OF NEW BEDFORD TEXTILE COUNCIL

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., April 20.—(AP)—A special meeting of the textile council tonight discussed whether to recommend or reject State Senator A. M. Bessette's proposed resolve to have Governor Fuller appoint a commission to investigate the New Bedford strike, and finally deferred action for further debate.

The council discussed the report that the state board of conciliation and arbitration is trying to arrange a conference between the mill men and strikers. It was stated the council is already on record as being open for a conference when one can be arranged.

Authorized collectors will be sent to Fall River, Boston, Taunton and other New England mill centers tomorrow.

COMPANY C HOLDS ITS ANNUAL BANQUET

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 20—Company C, 169th infantry, Connecticut National Guard held its annual banquet commemorating the seventh anniversary of the organization of the unit in the state armory Thursday evening with practically the entire personnel of the company in attendance. A special dinner was served in charge of the camp cook, Joseph DeMontigney. The company was formally organized April 19, 1921, with two platoons, the first in this city and the second in South Manchester with Major Joseph R. Morrison in command at that time. A reorganization was effected November 1, 1922, with two companies, C in this city and G in South Manchester. Music for the banquet was furnished by the Italian Citizens' band under direction of Professor P. Puca of Hartford. Captain Ellison S. Smith was toastmaster and in that capacity he introduced several speakers including Major Dr. W. P. S. Keating, Captain Paul Ransom of Storrs, commander of the C. A. C. military student unit, Major Morrison of this city, and Colonel D. Gordon Hunter of Hartford, regimental commander. Colonel Hunter spoke of the summer camp at Niantic where several innovations will be introduced, including a squadron of six airplanes. The banquet was in charge of a committee comprising Sergeant Oscar Keith, chairman; Corporal Thomas Meikle, Cook Joseph DeMontigney, Private Howard Jacobs and Private Spencer.

HARTFORD MAN RUNS AFOUL OF LOCAL POLICE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 20—William G. Goldstein of 90 Westbourne Parkway, Hartford, was driving through Main street, going westerly when his machine climbed the sidewalk and knocked a few bricks out of the corner of the Jordan Buick company garage. Goldstein later said that in driving on to the sidewalk he had escaped a collision with another car. The accident occurred about 7.30 o'clock while Goldstein was driving from Providence to Hartford. The police were notified and it is understood that they have witnesses to the effect that the Hartford man was proceeding at a fast rate of speed. At the time Goldstein failed to make any adjustment of damages and the police resorted to the teletype machine with the result that the man was apprehended in South Manchester. Officer Arthur Hurley went to that town and returned with Goldstein who was placed under bonds of $200 for his appearance in police court Saturday morning on charges of reckless driving and evasion of responsibility. The police learned that after being returned to this city Goldstein paid ten dollars to settle for the damage to the building. Goldstein said that at the time of the accident he had shown his license and registration to a young man whom he believed to be an employe of the garage.

Colorful incidents in the history of Windham county will be unfolded in a pageant that will be the feature of the 100th anniversary of the Congregational church to be noted with a big celebration Sunday and Monday. The pageant is the work of Mrs. Margaret Parsons of Auburn, Mass., and will be presented Monday evening at 8 o'clock. It is in nine episodes and a final procession and about 150 persons take part in the presentation. Careful attention has been paid to the costuming, some of which dates back to pre-Revolutionary days. The episodes are directed by the following: Miss Ethelyn Nichols, chairman; Miss Marion Colman, Mrs. C. C. Case, Mrs. Horace W. Fenton, Mrs. Robert H. Fenton, Mrs. Robert O. Bragg, Mrs. David H. Reid, Miss Virginia Wakeman and Miss Dorothy Brown. In charge of the costuming is Mrs. C. Winfield Noyes and the staging is directed by Mr. A. R. Sharpe, Mr. Curtin H. Reinhardt, Arthur H. Arnold and others. The celebration will start Sunday when Rev. Harry S. McCready of Portland, Me., former pastor and predecessor to Rev. Arthur H. Wheelock, present pastor, will deliver the sermon address.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Doyle was held from the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Herman Colderado of 213 Mansfield avenue, this morning with a requiem high mass in St. Joseph's church at nine o'clock. Rev. Charles M. Kelly was celebrant and Mrs. E. R. Portelance presided at the organ. Mrs. Henry Mathieu was soloist. The bearers were Jeremiah Hagerty, Peter Tracy, James Healy, J. A. Stearns, Patrick Danahey and Bernard Reynolds. Burial was in the family plot at St. Joseph's cemetery where committal prayer was read by Rev. Father Kelly. Killourey Brothers had charge of the arrangements.

Various buildings and sites in this city are to be used as "settings" for a motion picture scenario to be filmed next week under the auspices of St. Paul's Episcopal parish. Rev. Frederick C. Williams, the rector, will play a leading part in the picture. The title of the scenario is "An Ill Wind." Miss Gladys Powell will be Annabelle, Rev. Mr. Williams, Professor Darwin, James Abernethy as Bud Jones, Joseph Bernet as Tod Smith, David Reid as the mysterious stranger and Ben Eisenberg as Morris, the hatter. Some of the scenes will be at the fire department headquarters, the American Thread company mills and the state normal school, where the students will be taken leaving the school. The fire department will assist in a hero scene with Joe Bernet as leading man at St. Paul's rectory. A picture of the headquarters of the chamber of commerce will also be included in the filming.

At a session of the Scotland town court this morning William E. French and Francis W. Hall, 18, of Pleasant street, were charged with illegal fishing on restricted waters controlled by the Indian Hollow Trout company in that town. They pleaded guilty and fines of one dollar and costs amounting to $3.10 in each case were imposed by Justice of the Peace A. H. Gallup. Grand Juror Harry Chesebro prosecuted. James H. Johnson, agent for the trout company, apprehended the young men and was complainant in the cases.

The purchase of 12 additional grave markers and the voting of $10 to the fund for the installation of a radio outfit for the new Memorial hall at the Fitch Soldiers' home at Noroton, that will be dedicated Saturday to the Spanish war veterans, were among several items of business transacted at a regular meeting of A. C. Tyler camp, No. 8, U. S. W. V., held in G. A. R. hall Thursday night. Commander Gallivan was in charge. He appointed the following committee to cooperate with the auxiliary for a joint whist: Michael P. Cronin, Frederick N. Flagg, Louis H. Ashton, John B. Gingras, Michael J. English, Frank P. Fenton, J. A. McCarthy and Robert O. Snow. The social hour was in observance of Muster day, which falls on April 21.

LOCAL BUSINESS MEN HEAR BRIDGEPORT SPEAKER

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 20—Nearly 200 business and professional men of the city gathered at a highly successful get-together banquet in the Nathan Hale hotel tonight to consider the industrial progress of Willimantic. The banquet was termed "Industrial Expansion Night" and was sponsored by the Merchants' association in conjunction with the chamber of commerce. Robert T. Newton, president of the Merchants' association, presided and introduced Secretary Earl J. Arnold of the chamber of commerce. Secretary Arnold introduced as the speaker of the evening John A. Kimper, industrial secretary of Bridgeport, who spoke on "Industry, The Merchants' Ally". His talk was very informing and carried with it a wealth of suggestion for Willimantic in its industrial expansion program. One of the matters which he brought up and which held special attention was that of establishing an air force. Following his talk for which he was given a rising vote of thanks, he was questioned by various members present. John P. Ahern general manager of the Willimantic-Rockville Lighting company spoke on the conditions of the former Quidnick Windham Manufacturing company plant, which the utilities concern now owned, pledged the cooperation of his company to secure new industries, not only in those mills, but in any other location in the city. This was carried by an announcement by Secretary Arnold that national egg week, May 1 to May 7 being sponsored in this section by Connecticut Agricultural college would receive support in Willimantic and that special window displays are being arranged for in observance of the week. The committee arranging for the get together banquet consisted of Jeremiah E. Sullivan, Harold C. Lincoln and Harry Cohen. Chairman Sullivan was in charge of the menu and seating arrangements. Mr. Cohen was in charge of the attendance and Mr. Lincoln in charge of the musical features.

The town has had considerable trouble this spring from nuisances at the Oaks grove on Windham road, a plot of land purchased some time ago by the town for future school purposes, from the American Thread company. A dump in the swampy center of the land has been spread about to cover a considerable part of the grove since the town has owned the property. Workmen are now rearranging the dump and further placing of refuse other than in the section designated will be prosecuted. Another source of trouble has been caused by children setting fire to the dry grass. One of these fires in the grove recently endangered nearby buildings.

With nearly 60 registrations filled out to date, it is expected that about 75 children will take advantage of the free swimming campaign to be conducted at the Y. M. C. A. next week under the joint auspices of the "Y" and the American Red Cross. Each applicant will receive three lessons and those qualifying in the beginners' and swimmers' tests will receive buttons. General Secretary Albert B. Smith stated today that registrations were open to children from towns surrounding Willimantic and he hoped that many new names would be secured within a few days. Physical Instructor Eric H. Lind, a qualified American Red Cross life saver will supervise the instructions.

Emil Bayer, 33, of Thompson, was arraigned on a charge of driving a Massachusetts car with a Connecticut license at the session of police court this morning. The ruling of Commissioner Stoeckel that a Connecticut license qualified a person to drive any automobile of any registration within the time limit in this state, was referred to and Bayer's case nolled without costs. Judah Albert, 19, of Woodstock, was fined ten dollars and costs amounting to $19.15 for driving a car without an operator's license and while not having his registration card with him. The accused were arrested by Officer Leo Piche.

Mrs. Don H. Curtis entertained the Windham Road bridge club of three tables with an extra table Thursday afternoon. Guests were Mrs. Herman C. Little of New Haven, formerly of this city, Mrs. Raymond A. Parker, Mrs. Roland B. Jordan, Mrs. K. N. Hillhouse, Mrs. Harold F. Taylor and Mrs. George W. Hickey. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. G. Everett Harrington and Mrs. Harry W. Standish.

Sheriff Charles A. Gates has received notice from Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin of Hartford that the criminal session of the Windham county superior court scheduled to open in Willimantic, Tuesday, April 24, would be continued until Wednesday, May 2 owing to the Gallotyle murder trial in Hartford, in which Judge Marvin is one of the three jurists.

Miss Harriet M. Stone, teacher of English in the Willimantic state normal school talked on Children's Books from Station WTIC, Hartford, during the educational broadcast form 2.20 to 2.40 o'clock this afternoon.

Representatives of the Southern New England company showed two motion pictures and talked in connection with the showings at a meeting of the Lyceum of Windham High school this morning.

A whist of the Helping Hand society of the First Spiritualist church was held at the home of Mrs. Benjamin Carpenter with Mrs. Forest Ackley acting as hostess Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Mary Patten won first prize, Mrs. Rena Raymond of Westfield, Mass., second.

Mrs. John J. Fahey of Worcester, Mass., formerly of this city has been called to Chicago, Ills., by the illness of her sister, Mrs. John D. McGuiness.

Mrs. George E. Hinman, Mrs. Flora Smith and Frederick J. Williams of this city are among surviving nieces and nephews of Mrs. Ellen C. Roger who died in Abington Thursday.

Members of the Willimantic Rotary club who attended the 30th District Conference in Waterbury were Secretary Gerard E. Loiselle, Louis A. Kingsbury, Eugene W. Latimer and John C. Frazier.

Anne Wood Elderkin chapter, D. A. R., conducted a rummage sale in the Opera house block this afternoon, practically all of the large stock being sold out. The sale was in charge of Mrs. Frank Williams, Mrs. Byron Potter, Mrs. Noah D. Webster and Miss Faith Webster.

Mrs. P. D. Donahue and her father, P. F. Moriarty, have been spending a few days in New York city.

Mrs. Alice D. Stoughton and daughter, Miss Sabra S. Stoughton, and friends from Norwich have returned from Torrington where they attended the 32nd annual meeting of the Rebekah assembly. Miss Stoughton was first delegate of the local lodge.

PUTNAM

JANITOR SAW CAR DRIVE OUT OF ALLEY

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 20—No further clues have been obtained of the burglars who entered the store of Noel Dupre in Main street Thursday morning. Captain William J. Jarvis of the Putnam police Thursday obtained a statement from the janitor of the court house block, where the store is located, saying that he saw a car drive out of the back way at 4:45 in the morning but thought nothing of it and he did not think to notify the police. The janitor, William Gauthier, described the car as of being of a dark blue color and two colored men were driving it. He said that he noticed something in the back seat but could not say what it was. Putnam police although not taking this as a fine clue are working on it, but until late Friday afternoon nothing was definitely found by the officers. Thursday officers of the Rhode Island state police who were assigned to the case found over two dozen of the coat hangers taken from the store, strewn along the road, which indicated that the looters probably had travelled over that course, still, on the other hand police seem to think that this was done only as a blind.

Captain Jarvis and other officers of the Putnam police left town Friday morning to work on a clue that they had received, but no further word was heard late Friday afternoon.

Anglers fishing in waters where the land is posted are again causing trouble to the landowners. It was reported Friday that in many instances land owners had became heated when the fisherman had failed to leave the premises after a personal warning and been given by the owner. Reasons given by the owner are that many are careless in the use of matches and cigarettes and much early season damage has been done to the fences on the property.

An accident was narrowly averted Thursday afternoon when two cars barely hooked bumpers in front of the national bank. As the story goes a lady was driving her car north on Pomfret street, while a gentleman was operating his vehicle southerly on the same thoroughfare, both observing all rules of the highways. The lady started to point her car in onto Main street while the gentleman continued to travel on. The result was that two bumpers were slightly damaged, but the young woman could not see that it was an accident and many hot phrases of the English language ensued between the two operators. Officer Joseph Page on duty at the time of the accident investigated the noise and finding that it could not have been averted, he ordered that both machines proceed at once, to which orders both drivers adhered without further stressing the point.

Patriot's day passed in Putnam with little observance. Flags of the Shenandoah system were not displayed in front of the business houses and one passing through found the city to be the same as on any other day. In the town of Webster, only a few miles from here, the holiday was largely observed by the closing of schools and banks. In the afternoon marathon runners displayed their ability in the annual Oxford to Webster marathon. Three Putnam boys, Joseph Sponcey, Alfred St. Onge and Joe Divenzo, were among those who entered. Sponcey of Putnam was third at the finish, while the other two boys dropped out when they were nearing their goal. Last year St. Onge finished second, but failed to show up this season.

Public schools were closed Friday on account of the annual teachers visiting day. Teachers of the faculty of local schools visited in schools in neighboring towns, while others left for Hartford to attend the Eastern Arts Exhibit that is being held there this week.

No further reports of the recent meeting of the mayor's committee and the board of water commissioners were heard Friday. The members of the two committees are said to have thrashed out the Putnam water problem until not one stone was left unturned. This meeting was the first that had anything to do with the question since the city meeting at which the voters declared themselves to be in favor of the plan of the water commissioners. Both Mayor Richard and Alexander Gilman, chairman of the board of water commissioners, stated that they had nothing to say in regard to the question.

The annual prom of the Junior class of Tourtellotte Memorial high school was held Friday evening at the school auditorium. Elaborate plans and decorations for the event were made by the members of the class and many thought that it exceeded all previous affairs of its nature. The patronesses were Mrs. John F. Reardon, Mrs. Elwell F. Kimball, Miss M. J. Siiro, Miss Elenor F. Quinlev and Miss John F. Combs. Many students of Putnam high school were in attendance.

Dr. K. T. Phillips of Putnam is in Waterbury today attending a conference of county doctors. Dr. Phillips will return to Putnam Sunday.

Stanley O'Clair and John Badnitz, both of Putnam were arrested early yesterday morning by officers of the state police barracks in Danielson and were locked up in the Putnam police station. Later in the day they were returned to North Grosvenordale and were tried before Justice P. P. Tourtellotte. O'Clair pleaded guilty to operating a car while under the influence of liquor and was fined $100 and costs of the court. Bednitz pleaded not guilty to a charge of intoxication, but later was found guilty and was fined $1 and costs of the court.

At the annual meeting of the Windham County Medical association held yesterday in Willimantic Dr. K. T. Phillips of Putnam was reelected secretary and treasurer of the association for another year. The doctors of the county met at the Nathan Hale hotel and enjoyed a dinner before they undertook to discuss their work for the past year.

Members of the dramatic club of the Carsill council K. of C. presented their second annual play Friday evening at the Bradley theatre. "So This is London," to a capacity house. The house was sold out early in the week and the committee stated that the play was a success financially and socially.

Boy Scouts of St. Mary's church met last evening in the new armory on Harris street under the direo on of Rev. Joseph D. Casey. The boys are planning to turn out in uniform for Memorial day and their meeting was confined to military drill tactics. Father Casey is expecting to have the new Boy Scout band organized so they may take part in the parade that is now being planned in observance of the day. Father Casey is being assisted by William F. Rafferty, Francis Murphy and Terence McGarry.

Miss Elizabeth M. Case of Wellesley college and her fiance, Dudley W. Smith of M. I. T., are spending the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Case.

WESTERLY

CASE OF GEO. MOORE, NORWICH, IS CONTINUED A WEEK

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 20—Before Judge Oliver H. Williams in the third district court this morning. Among new writs entered was a complaint brought by Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown vs. George C. Moore of Norwich, in which the defendant is alleged to have gotten into difficulties with the Westerly police department. Attorney Clarence E. Roche appeared for Moore, stating that his client was not present in court by reason of a death in the family. The case was continued one week.

An action in book account for the collection of $176, Antonio Turrisi vs. Sam Salestino was continued two weeks.

The first case tried was that of Frank W. Pierce, State Police vs. P. Krauss, 27 of Arcadia, town of Hopkinton. The complaint alleged the operation of a motor truck on the Noose Neck Hill road when it was not equipped with at least two powerful brakes, working independently. The defendant pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs.

GOOD TO PRES. COOLIDGE, SIOUX CHIEF TREATED WELL

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, April 20—Byron U. Richards, M. D., and secretary of the R. I. state board of health vs. Albert D. Champlain, alias "Chief Big Horn", was an action brought because the chief had held himself as a public practitioner of medicine when he did not hold a certificate from the R. I. state board of public health.

The complaint charged that "Chief Big Horn" on Jan. 1, 1928, had attended Joseph Bramble, 88 Oak street; William Loughborough, 131 Canal street; Antonio Falcone, 2 Marion street and Salvatore Manfred, 77 Oak street, when he was not lawfully registered.

Defendant told the court that he was a full blooded Sioux Indian, 48 years old, and a medicine man of his tribe, that he was not ashamed to put his name, Chief Big Horn on a card and that he has a wife and 4 months old child. He said that on his reservation his people had treated President Coolidge right and besides adopting him into the tribe had given him a $500 suit. Judge Williams said that the court wished to give him as courteous treatment as his tribe had given the president and directed that the case be continued one month and defendant placed on probation. The "chief" who drives an orange colored auto with Indian head on the body panel, declared as he left the court that no more of his medicine would be sold in Rhode Island.

Other court business was disposed of as follows: Harris H. Bunman vs. Clyde Sherman on nisi docket. Benjamin S. Boss vs. Paul Schneller. Continued two weeks.

Tax cases, James M. Pendleton vs. Raymond A. Nye, John Jordon and Anna T. Gilman, all continued one week.

The following transfers have been recorded in the office of the Westerly town clerk: April 20. Max Lahn to Rose Lahn, lot No. 64 Dogwood avenue, Misquamicut park; lot No. 52 on Clarke avenue, Pleasant View; lot No. 66 Misquamicut park and lot No. 69, Atlantic avenue, Pleasant View.

A petition is being circulated among taxable inhabitants of the Westerly fire district for a special fire district meeting in May. The district is to be asked to authorize the expenditure of $18,000 or so much as may be necessary to secure an aerial ladder to be added to the fire department's fire-fighting equipment. In the fire of last Monday morning which razed the Rhode Island hotel block when help was asked for from New London among the equipment sent to Westerly was Combination No. 2, an aerial ladder, known to firemen as a "stick." This truck was stationed in Broad street and for many hours poured a powerful stream of water into the upper windows of the hotel, effectually checking the sweep of flame towards the Washington Trust company building.

Misquamicut Tribe, No. 19, Improved Order of Red Men, Orrin Tarbox sachem, held an open meeting Friday night to which invitation had been extended paleface friends. An entertainment was provided by a committee of which Albert O. Bennett was chairman.

"The Comical Country Cousins," was produced by the Potter Hill Community club ladies' minstrel troup. Following was the cast:

Aunt Ophelia, Mrs. Stella Reese; Cousin Sukey, Miss Mary Brophy; Cousin Mollie, Mrs. Rosalind Donavan; Cousin Delia, Vera Kenyon; Counsin Sarah, Venus Bailey; Cousin Jane, Gladys Pendleton; Cousin Cecelia Lena Broidy; Counsin Smanthy, Mary Naylor; Sis Hopkins, Miss Ruth Church; Cousin Merindy, Elizabeth Barber; May Jennie, Mary Johnson; Topsy, Jessie Coore.

Dancing followed the play.

Officers of the Westerly Players have been nominated as follows: President, Miss Katherine Foster; vice president, George P. Chapman; secretary, Lewis R. Greene; treasurer, Miss Louise Coy. The election comes in May.

George E. Phillips a summer resident at Pleasant View was elected one of the vice-presidents at the annual meeting of the Rhode Island Golf association held at the Agawam Hunt club, Providence, Thursday evening. Mr. Phillips is a mebmer of the Winnapaug Golf club, Shore Road and a number of Westerly people were in attendance.

Alexander C. Thompson has returned from New York.

Eugene Harris returned from New York Friday.

Mrs. Anna Cummings of Brooklyn, and Miss Addie Burdick of Jewett City passed Friday with their cousin, Mrs. L. Ward Alger in Westerly.

Sarah A. Whitworth will be a passenger on the White Star Liner Celtic, sailing from Boston, April 22nd for Liverpool.

William P. Dodge returned to Providence Thursday evening after passing several days in Westerly in connection with adjustments of fire losses.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Prescott Knight, Jr., of Kingston, have returned on the Furness-Bermuda liner Bermuda, sailing from Bermuda April 17th.

Miss Dorothy Larkin of Pawcatuck writing Westerly friends from Lookout Mountain, Tenn., states that the weather has been very cold.

NOANK

FIRE CHIEF PARK APPEALS FOR PROPERTY PROTECTION

The Noank Fire company is up against it for hose and a siren, only 700 feet of hose on the fire truck and the river is the only place to use it in case of a bad fire. Chief Park, who is on the hose and siren committee, sent out to every house letters telling how the fire fighters have tried to keep up the equipment with no money in the tin box since the company was started 35 years ago. If a fireman is all dressed up in his best clothes and the bell rings for a fire he goes and helps put out the blaze and maybe spoils a $40 suit and no one to pay for it but himself. That is the life of a fire-fighter at all times. Why not help the fire company now when 1,000 feet of new hose is wanted and a new fire alarm sysem controlled by the telephone operator which will take around $450? Now the drive is on let's put it over the top and be in it with other places, not 200 years behind the times. A movie will be put on soon to help the siren fund. The chief's letter read—To you as a fair minded person interested in Noank; a little while ago the city of Quebec, in Canada, lost more than twenty children by fire. Quebec has a big fire department and plenty of equipment. The states along the Atlantic coast are being swept by the most terrific series of fires in many years. Noank, your community, has only 700 feet of hose—not enough to get water from the town dock to the top of the hill. Your fire committee could not stop a fire in your school house because the company could not get water there if in the next several months a fire broke out in your school. It would trap your children, because no water could reach them. You would surely regret it! Also a fire on Prospect Hill, where the houses are thick and with only wells to fall back on—all the fire fighters could do is to sit on the engine and smoke cigars and watch the fire sweep away the buildings. The town of Noank is behind times—no city water and not enough hose, and no fire district. Can this go on forever? Some day half the town will go up in smoke, when it is too late. Do it now! Help the fire committee to get new hose and a siren. Protect yourself.

Capt. and Mrs. A. Allen came from St. Petersburg, Fla., by automobile, a trip that took five days after spending the winter in that city, arriving at Groton Long Point Thursday afternoon for the summer. Capt. Allen will get his cottages ready for the season. They are the first summer people to come so early and stay. Capt. Allen said he saw Charles Futch on Main street and the captain wanted to knowif Groton Long Point was still standing all right, with plenty of new cottages going up.

Mrs. Nelson Brown has entered Lawrence Memorial hospital, New London, as a patient.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Morton of East Walpole, Mass., is spending a few days with friends in Noank.

A. Clark of Willimantic spent the day at Groton Long Point Friday.

Mrs. William Tourjee was in Norwich Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Andrews have returned from a week's visit in Monson, Mass.

John Trant has left for a short visit with his uncle, Fred Larlsin, at Oakville, Conn.

Daniel Roberston has made the Bulkeley high school baseball team and played third base against Deep River. He had two chances and got them, out at first. Like Lester Bell of the Braves and Young Roberston is small and hard to pitch to. His friends were glad that he made the team.

Robert Tooker resigned as belt fixer at the silk mill recently and Thursday noon went down to the mill to get his belongings and bid his friends good bye. He was on the job for four years, never late to work. In a big room was a surprise for him. Billie Crowell called Mr. Tooker into the room, where everybody was hidin behind boxes. Soon a noise was heard and Robert was taken back and could not speak for a minute. The girls began to sing "Gee, it's good to see an old pal again." Then Alfred Balerstine played the violin, Genodin Bracci with Lucy Stanton did the cake walk. The bag pipes were played by C. Welch and Neil Roberston walked from the back of the room with a small package under his arm and said "In behalf of the mill force we present you this little remembrance from the gang at the silk mill." Tooker said "I can not thank you all enough for the present and I am sorry to leave after being so long with every one of you. But I am going to be a painter for a company out of town. If any one wants a house painted, just call me!" Three cheers were given as the box was opened and he found it was a wrist watch. With only ten minutes before time for the last whistle to blow, sandwiches and cream puffs with Down East tea were the refreshments. Miss Mary Mahoney read the tea leaves and told them a few things about their fortunes. Then the whistle sounded to send them back to work.

JEWETT CITY

FRUIT GROWERS BOTHERED BY SO MANY WINDY DAYS

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, April 20—Owners of peach orchards and fruit growers all through this section are finding the windy days an annoying setback to early spring spraying. The increased values of Griswold's fruit production, mainly peaches and apples, within the last five years has been made a reality only by systematic and regular spraying. Twenty-years ago the idea of ever accomplishing the feat of spraying a 120 tree apple orchard was viewed here as impossible. Today it is done on a few still days, "with out" as one grower said; "turning hair". Citing Simon Brewster and D. F. D. Browning as the leading local growers of respectively apples and peaches, both men said today that the results they are able to show would be utterly impossible without spraying. Locally, arsenate of lead and Bordeaux mixture have been found the most effective and the lowest in cost.

Two thousand barrels of apples comprising 30 varieties and 500 baskets of peaches, 7 leading sorts in all, were marketed from Griswold last year. The increase of home fruit production, would be incomplete if the strawberry failed of mention. Within a decade, from a few scattering boxes picked in house gardens here and there the half dozen leading berry man of Lisbon and Griswold, marketed 2,000 crates last summer with 99 per cent. consumed locally.

The Jewett City savings bank began business April 1st, 1928 with resources amounting to $2,590,079.14 and deposits of $2,387,520.50.

An attractive folder with a decorative green currency border announces the present board of officers to be: President, Arthur M. Brown; vice presidents, John H. Tracy, Alex McNicol; secretary and treasurer, Frank E. Robinson; assistant secretary and treasurer, Walter A. Hyde; directors, Frank E. Robinson, Albertus C. Burdick, Lloyd G. Buckingham, Fred L. Kanahan, Earle E. Gilbert, Frank D. Browning, Harold F. Geer.

A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. Arculis Clocher on Tuesday evening, in honor of Mrs. Edward Barry. The bride received many beautiful gifts of linen, glass and silver. Games were played and radio selections were enjoyed. Sandwiches, pickles, cake, cookies, candy, coffee were served by Mrs. Arculis Clochet, Alice Jodoin, Louise Maynard and Cleo Couture. Others attending the shower were Mrs. Mary Godek, Mrs. Henry Cyr, Mrs. John Peringet, Mrs. George Ferguson, Mrs. Henry Cadieux, Mrs. Fortuna Cyra, Mrs. Alpherie Maynard, Mrs. Emil Liberty, Mrs. Joseph Kubis, Mrs. Clifford Peterson, Misses Angeline Parisedu, Beatrice LePage, Doris Couture, Emma Couture, Estelle Jodoin, Alice Jodoin, Louise Maynard, Cleo Couture and Agnes Gill.

LATEST ABOUT SURVEY—SYLVANDALE NOT AFFECTED

(Special to The Bulletin)

JEWETT CITY, April 20—Information relative to the latest proposition for the new road survey is as follows: On the south side of Main street, beginning just below the brick house belonging to the Ninigret Co., and occupied by its superintendent, W. A. Richardson, the following buildings are effected in order. Two owned by the Ninigret Co., Wolf's garage, three more belonging to the Ninigret, also the residence of John Barry. Passing close in front of the homes of W. H. Ryan and F. S. Leonard, the road would cross the Quinebaug where it does at present, probably on a new and wider bridge. It is said that this survey will not affect Sylvandale residents and will cost much less than others under discussion at present.

P. W. (Hal) Chase, welfare superintendent for Ashland Cotton Co., is authority for the following baseball statement:

It looks as though the Accos were going to spring into baseball limelight this season. There is not much that we can say about the team at this time except that it is organized and is unquestionably stronger than last year. The twilight league which afforded so much amusement last season will get under way some time in May, and with the material at hand this league should show a pretty fair brand of baseball.

RELIABLE USED CARS

How old is that used car?

Ford '26 Coupe
Ford '24 Tudor
Nash '24 Spt. Roadster
Buick 1925 7-pass Sedan
Others.

It's pretty hard to tell the age of a used car at a glance! The difference in appearance between one year's model and the next may be very slight. Yet a year makes a lot of difference in a used car's price.

People sometimes think they are getting a 1926 car—and pay a 1926 price—for what is really a 1925 model. They may never know the difference until they're ready to dispose of it.

That's one reason why it pays to go to the Buick dealer when you buy a used car—you know you can rely on what he tells you.

THE EDWARD CHAPPELL COMPANY DEMONSTRATES NEW ENGLAND SPIRIT

Norwich Firm, Though Ninety-One Years Old, Is as Young and Progressive as In the Days When It Was Founded—Spirit That Made New England Continues to Pervade Central Wharf—Edward Chappell Founded Great Business—Dealt in Coal Alone Until the Early Seventies—From Then On Has Handled Lumber and Coal—Ownership Has Always Been Vested in the Chappell Family—New Modern Equipment for Handling Coal Has Recently Been Installed.

A noble and courageous spirit lay behind the settlement and growth of New England. This glorious spirit endured the long, hard winters, started schools and colleges, fostered patriotism and loyalty, and founded many businesses which have grown and prospered, and which are today progressive, honored and respected. These businesses, scattered over New England, are a part of the great "industrial age" in which we live. They provide work for thousands of people and they help keep up and increase the general prosperity of this land.

Here, in Norwich, is just such a business. The Edward Chappell company, ninety-one years old and therefore on the last lap towards a century of growth, was founded and grew in just that spirit which has made New England. It is still full of that eagerness—ever pushing on, securing finer equipment and better facilities for serving the public. It is fired with the same enthusiasm which has overcome obstacles in the past, always forging ahead toward that ideal which lies in the future. The spirit which sent the pioneers across the prairies and mountains, which inspires men today to cross the sea in airplanes, is the same spirit of fearless endeavor which has made this country what it is.

Edward Chappell Founded Great Business.

Over ninety years ago, on the southeast corner of Central Wharf, Edward Chappell started the business that today carries on his name. It was then, as it is today, a business of public service, founded on the idea that a merchant who provides people with something which is a necessity, must always have the interests of those he is serving as his first thought. He must serve in and out of season, he must be responsible for the high quality of what he sells, and his charge for this service must be reasonable. As a public servant his public duty is the first consideration.

Few men living today knew Mr. Chappell, but the record of his business is a fitting judgment of the man. The history of New London county also records his many and wide-spread public activities, for he was a man interested in Norwich and active for its best development.

There is a story that, very early in his career on Central Wharf, he found himself in financial difficulties. He called in his creditors and settled for a few cents on a dollar. Later, he gave a dinner, to which all of his creditors were invited, and under each plate he put a check for the entire amount of his indebtedness, plus interest from the time of the settlement! The honest of the founder, shown in this incident, has always been the standard of the company.

Until the early seventies, the business which Edward Chappell began dealt in coal alone, but at that time he added the lumber business of Nash and Brewster which, until then, occupied the northeast corner of Central Wharf. Ever since, the company has handled coal and lumber.

At Mr. Chappell's death in 1891, the business occupied two-thirds of Central Wharf. From that date, ownership has always been vested in the Chappell family. It first went to Arthur H. Brewer, a nephew of the founder. Under Mr. Brewer's guidance the Chappell company carried on the ideals of Edward Chappell, always making public service its first consideration. During these years Norwich was growing, and The Edward Chappell company grew with it. In 1913, Mr. Brewer's interest was taken over by Willis Austin and Lucius Briggs, his sons-in-law. At the death of Willis Austin on June 14, 1927, his share was taken over by the Central Wharf company.

Chapter in New England's History.

The history of The Edward Chappell company is the kind of story which has been repeated again and again all over New England. There are old firms, established by some man who had a vision of the future greatness of his community, and carried on by his successors, with the same traditions of honesty and good service. The Edward Chappell company is but one of these businesses which has kept abreast of the time and done its share toward industrial prosperity.

The change of the northeastern part of the United States from agriculture to manufacturing is most interesting. When settlers first landed, and for years after, agriculture was the most important occupation. Farms sprang up, dotted all over the countryside. But with the growth of our nation and its increasing prosperity, people turned to New England, because of its water power, for manufacturing. As these industries grew, the water power was found insufficient, and coal had to be brought in to furnish power for the growing industries. So coal companies became public servants, furnishing power to industry as well as heat for New England's homes. The coal merchant is an important factor in our great prosperity, national and local.

Deep Water Comes to Norwich.

One of the most interesting phases of this prosperity in its relation to Norwich is the coming o. deep water to this city. Over twelve years ago, a movement was started by a group of public-spirited citizens to deepen the Thames River channel. Norwich used to be a seaport, but, with the passing of the light-draught wooden ships, this day passed. Norwich moved inland. The result was greater dependence on the railroads with their high freight rates, with low-rate, water-borne freight going to New London.

Headed by the Chamber of Commerce, certain business men of Norwich studied the problem, employing engineers for professional advice. The conclusion was that an eighteen-foot channel should be dug, a channel which would repay the people of Connecticut many times the cost.

At last, this project has been put through. Norwich citizens have made trips to Washington. Computations and calculations have been made again and again. Finally, a bill was drafted, recommending an eighteen-foot channel. The approval of congress and the president have ratified this and work is expected to commence in June of this year, 1928.

From the very first, The Edward Chappell company has been actively interested in this project to bring deep water to Norwich. They appreciated the fact that, once the eighteen-foot channel has been dug to Norwich, they will be able to sell coal and lumber at a great saving to the consumer. The lower freight rates will greatly help all local industries.

So when Norwich moves back to the sea and becomes once more a seaport, it will have taken one more step in its prosperous history. Central Wharf will become even more than it is now a center for the city's active industry. Norwich has reason to be proud of the success of this endeavor. Her independence, self-reliance and prosperity will all benefit by the twelve years which loyal citizens have spent in accomplishing this end.

Central Wharf Up-To-Date.

The pictures appearing on this page cannot fail to show even the most casual reader the extent of the complete modern and up-to-date equipment of The Chappell company. This company now maintains one of the largest and best-equipped coal and lumber yards in New England. There are few coal yards, anywhere, which have the storage capacity now owned by this company. It is favorably located for the economical reception of water-borne coal and lumber, as well as goods brought in on the New Haven and Central Vermont railroads. The large storage space enables this company to buy coal at the most favorable times, and to receive it by the most economical means. This careful buying and storage gives the consumer benefits by the saving of considerable sums of money.

Recently, a large amount of new equipment has been installed, making The Chappell company one of the most modern and up-to-date in New England. A coal discharging plant, modern in every respect, has been installed, so that the cost of handling coal from vessels is at a minimum and the yard cost of loading coal on trucks is greatly reduced. Some of the pictures on this page show the efficient operation of this machinery, which avoids the necessity of slow and costly handling. As a direct result of this progressive policy and the installation of modern equipment, the cost of coal to the consumer is less in this city than in the surrounding towns to the north. And because this new equipment is used in the handling of soft coal, greatly reducing the labor cost, local industries are now enabled to get their coal through The Edward Chappell company, rather than having it shipped to them from the mines.

The use of large automobile trucks means that the range of places easily reached for deliveries is greatly increased. It means that service is speedy and sure, and that large amounts can be delivered. The Edward Chappell c mpany can serve factories needing large quantities of coal as easily as homes requiring only a small tonnage at a time.

Coal Company a Public Servant.

There is little question but that a coal company is a public servant. In responsibility to the consumer, in constant ready service, in honesty and integrity, it must be unquestioned. Through the ninety-one years of its growth, which reaches its peak in the large amount of new and modern equipment recently installed, The Edward Chappell company has proven that they are ready to accept this responsibility, and to keep public faith. In winter and summer, they have sold only the best supplies at reasonable prices, carrying out the old slogan which the company adopted years ago — Q-Q-Q — meaning Quality, Quantity and Quickness. That great merchant, Edward Chappell, has given his name to a business which promises always to uphold his ideals.

Invitation to Norwich Citizens.

The Edward Chappell company have indicated their hope that the people of Norwich will come to inspect the new equipment which has been installed. The large storage facilities and the up-to-date, economical machinery nd methods for handling coal are of the most modern type, and should prove of interest to everyone. A cordial invitation is extended to all who would like to see this equipment, or to be shown the modern plant on Central Wharf.

PERUVIAN SUB R-4 LAUNCHING BRINGING NOTABLES TO NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 20—The Peruvian submarine R-4 will be launched tomorrow morning at 9:20 at the Ship & Engine plant, Groton. The sponsor for the boat will be Mrs. A. G. Howe, wife of Admiral Howe, head of U. S.-Peruvian Naval relations. She will be assisted by Mrs. Louis Aubry, wife of the Peruvian consul to France, who will be the chief sponsor at the launching of the craft's sister ship, the R-4, when it is completed next month. Official acceptance of the submarine for the Peruvian government will be by Commander Castenda and Lieutenant Alejandio Dasdante, of that country's navy. Representatives from the Peruvian embassy at Washington, together with several U. S. officials, will be present.

BEACH COTTAGE BURGLARS TAKE ONLY BED FITTINGS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 20—Abraham Rakowsky, Boardwalk, Ocean Beach, reported to the police this morning that his cottage had been broken into by thieves some time within the last week. The break was discovered by Rakowsky when he visited his property yesterday. Entrance was gained by smashing a window. The only articles stolen were several pillow cases and sheets.

BOY SCOUTS GIVE CIRCUS—PLEASED CROWDS APPLAUD

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 20—The state armory was filled this afternoon by the kiddies who came to attend the Boy Scouts' circus. Thirty big acts in a regular three-ring setting formed the program for the afternoon. A feature of the performance was a parade of the scouts under the leadership of Ringmaster Cornelius C. Costello. Music was furnished by the Coast Guard band.

The acts were made up of all types of western and Indian characters and the actors had been well trained. Every character from a war-whooping redskin to the rough frontiersman was pictured. This afternoon's performance was for children only. Tonight adults had the opportunity of viewing the show.

At a meeting of the Star Rite club, held yesterday afternoon at the home of Gladys M. Batty, of Fourth avenue, the meeting was a combined business and social affair. The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Cammilla Sarayusa, 7 Jefferson avenue.

The Great Chiefs of Connecticut, Degree of Pocahontas, were entertained at a banquet last night by the local Minnehaha, at the Hotel Mohican. Mrs. Vine, of this city, presented a handsome handbag to Mrs. Rosaline Hurlbutt, the great Pocahontas.

The Royal Neighbors of America are to hold their annual banquet at the Pease House, Saybrook, May 5, according to plans laid last night at a meeting held at the Hotel Mohican, which was in the form of a banquet. The supreme manager of the organization, Mrs. C. E. Walsh, of Arkansas, will be present at the affair. Thirty-five members attended last night's meeting. One application for membership was voted on.

Thirty members of St. Joseph's parish Women's Social club were present at a meeting held last night at St. Joseph's hall, Montauk avenue. After the business session, four tables of cards were in play. Refreshments were served by Mrs. P. J. Kane, Mrs. Daniel Hill, Mrs. Katherine May and Mrs. Annie Bowler. Sunday morning the members, in a body, will receive holy communion at the 7:30 mass at St. Joseph's church.

Owing to repairs being made on Bank street all trolley service there has been discontinued until further notice, between Tilley and State street. The discontinuance was necessitated by the commencing of work of laying a double trolley track by the Connecticut Power Co. Auto traffic is still maintained, but even this may have to be re-routed before the work is done.

Forty associate employes of Peter B. Morgan, Ledyard street, former merchandising manager for Hislop & Co., presented him a handsome billfold last night, as a token of their esteem. The gift came as a surprise to Mr Morgan, who is to leave shortly for Pittsfield, Mass., where he is to become associated with the Forbes Wallace store. Mrs Morgan was given a beautiful flowering plant.

Members of Tau chapter of Theta Sigma fraternity held a dinner dance last night at Ferry Tavern. Thirty persons were present. Richard Dolan was toastmaster and called upon each member present for a response. The affair was gotten up by Newman Harrigan, Rudolph Bjorge and Frank McGarry. Dancing continued until 1 a. m.

The Saturday club is to hold its last meeting for the year tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. James P. Sullivan, of Hillside road. Mrs. Clark Smith and Mrs. Charles B. Whittlesey have prepared papers on famous sons and daughters of New London and on what this city will be like 50 years from now.

Members of the Woman's league of the First Church of Christ held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the parish house. Mrs. Charles E. Reeves, of Norwich Town, gave an interesting talk on Missionary Ventures, surveying the work of Congregational schools and various charitable organizations.

Juniors of Connecticut college will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the Hotel Mohican, by members of the senior class. Miss Margaret Bell, of Drexel Hill, Pa., is in charge of the affair. After the luncheon plans will be made for the junior prom, one of the social events of the term, which will be held on May 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace C. Learned, of Pequot avenue, who have been touring Europe and cruising the Mediterranean, returned to their home here yesterday. They arrived in New York last Monday but spent several days visiting friends, before coming home.

Mrs. Samuel Selleck will represent the local chapter of Hadassah at the national convention of that order which is to be held in New York Sunday. She was selected as the delegate at a meeting held last night.

The 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Golding, 541 Montauk avenue, was celebrated yesterday at the Great Northern hotel in New York city. In a few days, they plan to start from there for an automobile trip through New York state and Massachusetts.

Four fire alarms were responded to today, although but one of them was a bell alarm. At 4:05 this morning a still alarm was received at headquarters for a blaze at the wood-working establishment of the Ken-Hill Co., Eastern avenue, a wooden structure owned by Elmer E. Kenerson. The Thomas Hose company and Deputy Chief Calvin Edmunds responded. The services of the firemen there were brief, for a small tank of chemicals sufficed to extinguish the fire, which was but a smouldering blaze and did slight damage.

At 7:15 o'clock, the most serious fire of the day occurred when the roof of the residence of Edward Winslow, 38 Howard street, was discovered afire. An alarm was rung in from Box 43, Howard street, which was responded to by the Occiford, Pequot Hose companies, the Niagara Engine company and the Ponomoc Aerial Ladder and Deputy Chief Calvin Edmunds. The fire had gained considerable headway by the time the firemen arrived and a considerable quantity of chemicals was emptied upon the blazing shingles. Damage of $300 was caused. The fire was started by sparks carried to the roof from the chimney of an adjoining dwelling.

At 10:45 o'clock, a still alarm was sent in which resulted in Pequot Hose company being dispatched to 480 Montauk avenue, a vacant lot owned by Joseph A. St. Germain. A laborer employed by Mr. St. Germain was burning off underbrush and decayed grass when a lively blaze resulted. Fanned by a high wind, the fire threatened to reach adjoining houses. The firemen applied a large tank of chemicals to the undergrowth and extinguished the fire.

Shortly after 1 o'clock, this afternoon, a still alarm was received for a threatening fire at the junk shop, 480 Bank street, conducted by Max Abrams. The fire was located among a quantity of tires and discarded bodies of automobiles when the Niagara Engine company and Chief Thomas Shipman arrived. Because of danger to adjoining property an alarm was sent in. A stream of water was emptied upon the burning junk and quickly extinguished the fire, without damage of consequence.

At the Jennings school this evening an examination was conducted by Captain of Police Charles A. Pinney and Desk Sergeant William T. Babcock of applicants for appointment to the supernumerary force. Four applicants took the mental examination, after having passed the physical examination. They were Anthony Turello, Enfield F. Totten, George P. Bruhnd and William G. Lyman.

The condition of Henry C. Russell, 24 Maple avenue, is reported slightly improved. Russell was the only occupant surviving of the automobile struck by a New Haven railroad locomotive last Sunday night when Mr. and Mrs. George H. Billings and Ernest Clark, a youth, were almost instantly killed at Maple avenue crossing. It is believed that Russell will recover.

The Goodrich Oil Co. has leased a site on Winthrop street with a view of making this the distribution center for the state. The plot leased is about 240 square feet and has a siding running by it from the Central Vermont railroad. It was learned this afternoon that the company plans to erect five steel tanks of 25,000 gallon capacity. One will hold gas and the other four, fuel oil. An office building, garage and pump house will also be erected. Construction will start as soon as plans can be completed.

Serious traffic tie-up resulted this morning from a defective switch of the trolley track at Washington and State streets, which caused four cars to be derailed. When the trolleys finally were replaced upon the track it took a squad of policemen to straighten out the traffic tangle caused by the accidents.

Three property owners on Jay street have accepted offers from the city for their land, which is needed in the contemplated widening of that street. Three other owners, whose land is needed, have demurred to the prices offered and appeared before the council this morning with offers as to what they wanted for their property.

The right to drive an automobile was taken away from Emmett J. Flanagan and Elmer Dahlenberg, this morning, by Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel. Both men are members of the United States coast guard. The licenses of Charles Judson, Submarine base, and John Connolly, of 308 Ledyard street, were also suspended.

Mrs. Daniel Crouch, proprietor of a rooming house at 140 Main street, and Frank Parent, a roomer of the house, were arrested by Patrolmen William Riordan and Elwood Bailey last night on a charge of intoxication. Both offenders were locked up but were not presented at police court this morning, as they were discharged by Attorney Daniel M. Cronin.

NEVILLE AND MOTEN PENALIZED AT WATERFORD

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 20—Joseph Neville, Yantic, was presented in the Waterford town court today charged with violation of the liquor law on two counts, transporting and having liquor in his possession for purposes of sale. Neville entered a demurrer, through counsel, which was overruled and a fine of $200 was imposed on each count, with costs of about $20 annexed. He was also given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail. Neville paid the fine and costs. Carl Moten, of Norwich, colored, who was arrested at the same time as was Neville, was charged with transporting and was fined $100 and costs. He also entered a demurrer, which was overruled and went to jail in default of payment of his fine and costs, but which will be paid, it is understood, by friends within a day or two. Neville and Moten were driving in Neville's automobile between Quaker Hill, Waterford and Montville two weeks ago when the car was held up by state police officers. An examination of the auto revealed its contents to be alcohol, which, it was said, was destined for delivery in New London. Neville and Moten were arrested and the liquor seized. Both Neville and Moten obtained a surety on their respective bonds of $1,000 and the alcohol was placed in storage. With the disposition of the case today, Judge Frederick Dimmock ordered that the alcohol be destroyed and delegated the state police to carry out the court's order.

George J. Gould, of Boston, was charged with driving without having a license and with giving an alias to a state police officer. Gould was fined $25 and costs on the former charge and the latter complaint was nolled. Gould was driving an automobile owned by Patrick Sullivan, former internal revenue employe and a resident of Warren street, on the New London-Norwich turnpike several weeks ago. The car rounded the curve at the foot of Bolles hill at such speed that it climbed an embankment and was wrecked on the rocks. Sullivan was badly hurt, his injuries including a fractured jaw.

Lewis Freeman, of Hartford, was charged with reckless driving; the case was continued a week.

Joseph Busky, of Cohansie, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, pleaded guilty. He was fined $100 and costs, which he paid. Busky was driving on Broad street several days ago when the car struck Mrs. George Sherman, Broad street extension. After hitting the woman, Busky drove away and on Douglass Hill the car came to grief for it was wrecked when it crashed against a boulder. In the car was Mrs. Busky and four children, all of whom escaped injury.

John LaRose, of New York, charged with reckless driving, was fined $25 and costs, but $10 of the fine was ordered remitted. LaRose was arrested several days ago by Constable Chester Brigham when he drove past several other automobiles that were on a curve.

William Anderson of Willimantic, John Stephens, 42 Jay street, Mrs. Joseph Pendergast and infant son, Poquonoc road, Groton; Mrs. John Bachmann, Waterford; Henrietta Pendergast Poquonoc Bridge, Groton; Mrs. Myron Jackson, 249 Montauk avenue, and Bertha Gilbert, Garfield avenue, Patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

Douglass J. Rathbun has sold a house and lot off Montauk avenue and near Maxson place, to Lillian G. Rathbun.

Haldo E. Maxson, 68, of 40 Sherman street, died yesterday at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, where he had been a patient about a month. Mr. Maxson, is survived by his wife. He was a ship carpenter.

THE REPUBLICAN DELEGATION

In following out the practice of previous years in not instructing the delegates to the republican national convention the republicans of Connecticut in state convention have done the expected. They have chosen a strong delegation, one in which full confidence will be placed, and it can be expected that it will give a good account of itself at Kansas City.

While the delegation will go unfettered the indications are that it will stand for the renomination of President Coolidge unless something new develops in the meantime. If that is the case it can be said without any question that such will voice the sentiment of the republicans and many others in Connecticut. More has not been said in this direction because of the disposition to accept the statements by the president as final. There is no question but what he is sincere in his statements about not wishing to be a candidate again, but Connecticut and the country are fully cognizant of the magnificent administration which he has given and the benefits the country has received as the result.

There is a demand that reaches far beyond the borders of the state of Connecticut for the renomination of President Coolidge. His term certainly is entitled to such an endorsement and to a reelection. President Coolidge has shown himself to be the type of man that the country needs in the white house. He has said that this is not a one man party or a one man country, all of which is very true, but the man who can measure up to the task of administering the office of chief executive in the manner which he has is appreciated and it is natural that there is a desire to bring about a continuance of the same for another four years.

Sentiment for Coolidge does not prevail alone in Connecticut. The Connecticut delegation will not be the only uninstructed delegation that will be outspoken in behalf of the president's renomination although it may be the first, because of alphabetical arrangement, to cast its vote in his behalf. In so doing Connecticut sentiment would be admirably represented.

NO PLACE FOR RIDER

A statement that has the right ring and one which represents the right kind of an attitude is that which has been made by Senators Simmons and Harrison in declaring that neither they nor the other democratic senators will give their support to the rider plan sponsored by Senator Shipstead.

The senator from Minnesota is desirous of getting a revision of the tariff rates on certain agricultural products. His desire is for greater protection, but instead of having this put forth in the customary manner by letting it come to a vote on its merits he is desirous of having it attached to the tax reduction bill as a rider. In other words he wants this matter smothered in with the tax bill that it will be slipped through without being seen.

Whenever any such attempt is made it creates the impression at once that it is something to be avoided. It is a method that has been resorted to on many occasions for getting through legislation which could not be obtained in any other way. It is figured that if it can be attached as an amendment to some bill of vital importance it will be accepted rather than to upset the main bill. Too often this is done in connection with appropriation bills, it being realized that such riders will be accepted rather than to have the important appropriations blocked by a veto.

But the rider method can find justification in only a few instances. In most cases it deserves the opposition it gets. Many amendments have been permitted to go through rather than to endanger the adoption of necessary bills. Some have been put through for the purpose of political embarrassment just because it could be done. The Shipstead amendment could unquestionably be pushed along if it got the backing of the insurgent republicans and the democrats, but with the democratic leaders declaring their opposition its chances fade. The folly of inserting upon such a rider and thus furnishing an added reason for having such an important measure as a tax reduction bill vetoed ought to be apparent to the others as well as to the democrats.

BOULDER DAM PROJECT

All sorts of dire results are threatened in congress over the Boulder dam bill. That is, there are those who are boosting the project so persistently that they are ready to do most anything in order to bring about a favorable vote upon it. On the other hand there are those equally strong in their opposition and they are just as determined to see that it is defeated.

The Boulder dam proposition is a matter of national concern only in that the government is expected to furnish the money and to pay the bill. The benefits are to be derived by a group of the western states, and strange as it may seem it has not been possible for those states to come to an understanding as to what ought to be done. Some of them favor it, others oppose it. Senator Ashurst of Arizona, an interested state, declares that he will talk in opposition to it until he falls dead. In other words he does not intend to permit its adoption unless it be over his dead body. That means some sacrifice, whether it is said figuratively or not, but it represents Arizona's attitude. It also means that everything else may be held up while a filibuster, such as is threatened, is carried out.

Such a development is unjust to the rest of the country and to the other legislation that may be pending.

In view of this strained attitude among the states which are directly concerned it seems only proper that the whole project ought to be side tracked until it is possible for that group of states to come to an understanding among themselves as to what they want or do not want. This doesn't mean that the project is one that ought to be carried on by the government rather than private enterprise but until those states which are fighting amongst themselves over it can come to an agreement it is unjust to impose a settlement of such a fight upon congress, especially when it may imperil all the other business that is awaiting action. Senator Ashurst's stand, whether right or wrong, accentuates this.

WHAT TESTS REVEAL

The proof of the pudding lies in the eating. We can imagine how many automobiles have defective equipment how many contribute to the accidents in which they figure and how many actually decrease highway safety and yet we never know how near we are right until a test is made.

For the past week the state police of Rhode Island have been checking up the auto brakes with the result that out of 1150 machines there were 73 where the equepment was defective. This means that 6 1-2 per cent. of the cars were not what they should be in order to give the proper protection to the occupants of those cars or to prevent them from being a menace to other machines. Perhaps that is better than some inspections have shown but even that number is too large.

Massachusetts is at the same time getting light on the autos in that state. In that state an even less satisfactory situation is revealed when it is found that on the opening day of the test faulty brakes were found on less than 10 per cent. of the autos. That means that cars are somewhat worse in Massachusetts than in Rhode Island as far as brakes are concerned, provided this condition holds up throughout the week, but where the situation is much worse in Massachusetts seems to be in the headlights. There it has been found that two out of three have faulty headlights.

Can you imagine a much worse situation than about 10 per cent. of the cars with brakes not what they should be and 66 2-3 per cent of them with lights which cannot pass muster? Good and sufficient reasons for many of the accidents are thus revealed, but it is in the correction as well as in the revelation that the authorities of those states should be insistent. Think of the opportunity for increased safety!

THE DRUG EVIL

From all parts of the world there comes a full realization of the narcotic drug evil but in spite of this it doesn't appear to be possible to bring about a curtailment of production in such a manner as to reduce the evil.

Such progress as has been made in the curbing of the dope traffic is far from what conditions require. The various nations have established certain measures for their own protection but have come to the conclusion that only limited results can be gained until there is international cooperation. The activities of the league of nations were expected to produce desired results in this direction but thus far it has not been accomplished. It is still the case that the representatives of the nations occupy their times telling others what mistakes have been made by their countries and pointing out that exports are increasing and laws are not being enforced.

These conditions may all be true but this laxity is probably so general that little is gained by such pointing out of flaws. At least nothing tangible has resulted to stop, or limit, the production. It is even claimed that the manufacture has doubled while the league's commission has been trying to decrease it.

This discloses a wrong tendency. It is admittedly a hard job which the commission is engaged in. There is a general admission that there should be a check but it is not possible to get the necessary international cooperation thus far that will limit morphine production to that which is required for medical and scientific purposes. It will be well when that day comes, and the quicker the better.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

Of late our city in these high gales has been deluged, not by a snow storm but by something very much like it; an avalanche of old papers. They are certainly not the latest editions that have recently come from the press, but look very much like first editions, or rather the torn fragments of the first editions of long ago. Just at present a stranger coming to our city would look in vain for the Rose of England. Were it not for the tattered fragments he might think we were trying to rival Holyoke as the "paper city." Whether we are better or worse than other cities in this respect does not change the situation. Could not this unsightly condition be easily remedied by disposing of waste paper otherwise than by dumping in places so exposed to the wind that it is scattered everywhere under the impact of the gales?

Is there a uniform law that will account for periods of prosperity and depression? Those students of economics who have given this matter special attention tell us that they come and go with considerable regularity. It is not, however, the precision that we find in the motion of the planets, or anything like the laws that regulate eclipses or other great phenomena of this natural world. And yet a careful study of the ups and downs of the business world will clearly establish the fact that they are not the resultant of blind chance. If these trends of the economic system were carefully charted to indicate conditions along this line over a series of years they would have a decided wavy appearance, very much like the billows of the sea. Now these waves are so nearly alike, and sustain such a uniform distance between one another as to appear to be the resultant of some stated law. This will be readily seen when one compares the good years with the bad during the last two decades.

Very nearly upon scheduled time—while not at the aviation field that was its objective—the monoplane Bremen has accomplished its non-stop from the old world to the new. It is entitled to the honor of accomplishing the seemingly impossible task of flying from Europe to Amercia, and this nation is ready to give all due honors to the brave men who have done it. It is new evidence of the old saying that "nothing succeeds like success." Public sentiment is extremely lavish in its praises of success; but it is positively cruel in its denunciations of failure. If the Bremen with its human cargo had found a watery grave four hundred miles east of Newfoundland, public sentiment would have said "why will men be so foolish as to attempt the impossible?" But if the enterprise is successful the cry is "Hosannah to those who come on the wings of victory." If it had not been men of like spirit to Columbus who dared, where would America be?

Our mission in life is usually that for which we are best qualified. As a general thing we do what we like to do most, and certainly there is a fundamental reason for it. If one when he is young has a strong bent in a particular direction it is presumptive evidence that it is the line of work that Nature has marked out for him to do. In other words it is Nature calling him into that field of activity for which he has, at least, some qualification. And when these trends become particularly noticable it is the religious duty of parents and guardians to foster them for all they are worth—provided, of course, that they are trends in the right direction. If they are trends, however, that will logically end in moral disaster, equal energy must be put forth to curb them at any price. To compel a boy or girl to do what is positively distasteful will also be likely to end in failure.

Of course it is not true in all cases that there are any of these decided trends in any particular direction. It is unfortunate that there are so many young men and women who are all at sea as to what they ought to do as a life occupation. Nature does not seem to have qualified them for anything special, hence they are not likely to make much of a success in life. The plain reason for this is that back of what they do is no inspiration no liking, no mighty urge to press on to success. They are not possessed by some mighty pass on to do some particular thing supremely well. To master anything there must be ability plus inspiration. When a boy loves to do a thing so well that you have to call him twice for dinner, you may make up your mind that he ought to follow that line of work as a life occupation. Such work is the outcropping of some fundamental impulse that is worth developing.

If what a man does is the outworking of some great internal impulse he knows without any doubt what his life mission is. And when this mission is clearly seen he begins to feel his responsibility. He knows that a mission is something to be carried out and not a channel through which he is to advertise and exploit himself. As a mission is something sent it involves parties sending, those receiving it, and the bearer. If that message is of a religious character we call the sender a missionary; if it is political we call him an ambassador but the latter involves a moral obligation just as much as the former. Both are under the instructions of the sending parties. To be successful they must not forget their official duties. Great princes of the pulpit are those who put all the emphasis on the message and subordinate themselves to Him whom they are supposed to represent. This applies to all who hold responsible positions.

It is very easy to say when we read of the commission of some crime that we never had such bad conditions before, and that crimes of all kinds are more alarming than ever. In all this probably we forget. Still in face of facts it is doubtful if there were ever such daring crimes committed by young fellows hardly out of their 'teens as today. The automobile makes it easy to get away, but with our present admirable means of communication these fellows are usually caught within a few days after the crime. These facts lead one to inquire if it is an aftermath of the World war. Did the moral effect of that war so taint the atmosphere as to invoke a sort of craze to attempt the spectacular? Society seems to be tinged with wild excesses. We must have more calmness in our lives if we are to keep our sanity. With discorded lives we shall not "confess the beauty" of any peace.

Stories That Recall Others

Introduction to be in Order

"Lady, this is ab-so-lutely the only weight reducing compound that will do its work without leaving you a physical wreck after taking it—oh, it's wonderful, lady."

Thus spieled a druggist, halting momentarily to sense the reaction of his corpulent listener in question of a safe method of reducing her poundage.

"Well, I guess I'll take some. You say it's $5? If it's all you say it is, I'll be back in a few days to tell you how it works," said the heavy one, reaching in her purse for the necessary money.

"You'd better introduce yourself, lady, because I may not know you then," beamed the apothecary, wrapping up the potion.

DRIVERS OF TRAINS AND AUTOMOBILES

If some Rip Van Winkle should wake up today after a nap of 200 years instead of 20, he would not believe himself in the same world. He would rub his eyes in astonishment. Instead of slow sailing-vessels, he would see fast steamships leaving trails of smoke and chu ned water behind them; submarines gliding beneath the surface of the water like huge fish. Sailing across the sky overhead would be "bird men," the white winged airships. On the highways, instead of plodding ox-carts or, at best, lumbering chariots drawn by horses, he would see numberless automobiles flashing by at what would seem to him almost lightning speed.

"What has happened since I went to sleep?" he would ask.

Brain the Guiding Power.

The answer would be, according to the department of scientific instruction of the National W. C. T. U.: Men have learned to harness forces of nature which have many times as much power as human or animal muscle. But these tremendous forces which do great feast of pushing, pulling, and lifting for man, saving him much hard muscle work can not think. If left to themselves they may do more harm than good. They must be guided by man's mind and brain.

So while man is making the forces of nature his servants, he has had to increase the powers of his own brain in controlling and directing them. Hence it is necessary for him to have good sight, good hearing, a clear brain able to give constant attention and to make instant and correct decision, a nervous system that in all its parts acts quickly and accurately.

Rules the Railroad Man Must Obey.

Railroad engineers and motor vehicle drivers especially need alert brains and senses.

"The engineer must pick up and correctly interpret, on an average three signals per minute, each of which spels the difference between safety and disaster," said Warren S. Stone, chief of the Brotherhood of Railroad Engineers, in an address shortly before he died. "We who have spent most of our lives in the cab of a locomotive know the infinitesimal fraction of a second that oftentimes means safety. That alcohol does slow down brain action is conceded by all. A law of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers that has been in effect during the 20 years I have been the executive reads as follows: 'The use of intoxicating liquors either on or off duty is prohibited.' That law is rigidly enforced."

"In these days of fast time, congested traffic and heavy trains," Mr. Stone said on another occasion, "the engineer in the cab of a locomotive needs all the brains he has. He can not afford to have them muddled by alcohol."

Why the Rules are Reasonable.

These conclusions are not mere notions of practical railroad men. There are reasons for them which have been learned as scientific men have studied the way the brain works, its qualities particularly called for in the various kinds of present day transportation, the effect of alcohol upon them and the consequent dangers which the use of alcohol involves. The scientific man considers not only the immediate effects of small amounts of alcohol on the drinker, but also the effects of a continued subtle and often unnoticed stage of intoxication which is common among so-called moderate users of alcohol and which stealthily undermines bodily capacities or health. The danger of this form of alcoholization lies in the very fact that often it is not perceived either by the drinker or by his acquaintances. But it does not escape the attention of the well-informed physician accustomed to observe the effects of alcohol.

Among the immediate effects of alcohol are faulty memory, quick tiring of attention, slowness in putting ideas together and in responding to signals. At the same time, selfcontrol is weakened and there is a tendency to act before the mind decides what is the right motion.

How do these effects of alcohol apply to the management of the new swift and powerful machines used in transportation?

The Railroad Engineer and Train Dispatcher

Take the railroad engineer. His task demands constant attention and instant decisions, good eyes, good ears, a clear brain ready for all combinations of movement, quickness and exactness. Alcohol causes a difficulty in eye accommodation, impairment in the perception of color, particularly of those colors that are used in railroad signaling; loss of control and of steadiness.

It follows therefore, that alcohol might cause the railroad engineer to see his signals less clearly and quickly, to interpret them less correctly and with difficulty to hesitate in his decision to be less the master of the speed and certainty of his movements. All this would make him less fit for a place in the cab of a railroad locomotive. It would greatly increase his liability to cause accidents.

The Automobile Driver.

The locomotive engineer, as a rule, is given his position only after long preparation, usually in a fireman's position where he learns by long association the duties of an engineer.

The driver of an automobile, on the other hand, seldom, if ever, has such a course of training. He takes a few lessons, makes a trial drive with an inspector, receives a license and is out in charge of a machine capable of causing death and damage to everything in its path. He is under more or less constant strain while the car is in motion. He has to keep his proper place in the road, which may be bad. He must adjust his gears to stops and to changes in speed; he must watch for other cars meeting and passing, judge distances frequently in fractions of a foot while traveling at the rate of from 30 to 40 miles an hour. Streets and highways are becoming constantly more congested with ever-increasing traffic. He must be always on the alert and ready for any sudden emergency. Besides the prevailing high speed at which cars are driven gives rise to a kind of recklessness, and if one slows up the progress of the other cars he increases the danger in turning out to pass.

By the use of alcoholic liquor for some hours before driving, one deliberately adds an unnecessary source of danger to a situation already loaded with risks. The effect of alcohol is to increase recklessness, to dull the necessary alertness of the brain; to reduce the keenness of the senses, the ability to judge distance correctly, and to manage the steering gear precisely. "The margin between safe driving and unsafe driving," says a writer, "is too narrow to permit drinking."

Various state laws in the United States forbid a person driving an automobile while "under the influence" of alcohol. In Massachusetts, which has a law thus worded, the supreme judicial court has decided that it is not necessary to prove that a driver is "drunk." If he is found driving "under the influence of alcohol" he is liable to punishment. The amount of alcohol necessary to put the drinker under its influence in some degree varies so widely with different individuals that no definite amount necessary to cause this effect can be named. Numerous attempts to fix the amount have failed because alcohol dulls the brain and disorders judgment before its more noticeable physical effects are shown.

The Connecticut motor vehicle commission reached the practical conclusion in a bulletin issued in 1924 that "for the protection of all, any person who drinks and then operates a motor vehicle must be considered drunk." For all purposes of police enforcement a broad principle is laid down that no person who has been drinking ought to be allowed to operate a car."

An important aid in reducing automobile accidents caused by alcohol was given recently in Massachusetts by a decision of the board of appeals. A recent law of the state compels automobile owners to take out accident liability insurance before they can obtain a license. The board of appeals decided that insurance companies need not insure owners who drive under the influence of liquor.

The man who would be shocked to know that the engineer of the railroad train on which he is traveling had been drinking any gind of alcoholic liquor before boarding that locomotive if he is truly up-to-date will remember that when he drives his automobile, it is just as necessary for safety that his brain should be free from the influence of alcohol.

He Who Walks

The automobile driver is not the only one who needs to keep his senses alert in these days of congested traffic. Pedestrians are sometimes to blame for failing to observe their proper chances to cross streets or for misjudging them, though the risk here merely is to oneself instead of to others. From the standpoint of safety, the foot traveler is as much behind the times as is the driver of a motor car if he mixes alcohol in the blood that feeds the brain.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

More Expenditures Proposed

Mr. Editor: Once again the citizens of Norwich are called upon to decide how much more money is to be spent. There seem to be considerable influences at work here particularly during the present administration to spend the taxpayer's money. Taxes are not going down and the taxpayer is constantly being burdened anew. Now we face more expenditures. What the outcome will be probably few know.

Now we have to consider the following matters at the city meeting of April 26, 1928:

1. Shall we spend $30,000 for a new site? This means additional expense for tearing down the barn to the $30,000 and the erection of a new building for the gas and electric department. Thirty thousand may be only the start of a gigantic spending orgy.

2. We are asked to appropriate $30,000 of the gas and electric funds to purchase this building. Why not sell this building to a concern which could put it to better advantage and give us just as much, or more money? Are there not enough buildings which could be bought or rented for less in the city by the gas and electric department? Is there any need for this outlay.

3. This is another proposition for some cool-headed foreign expert from the north pole or some other place to tell us about the sanitary conditions of our city.

4. And more expense for more outside experts—to tell us what kind of a charter this city needs. The constitution of the United States has been in existence for over 150 years and nobody talks of having a new one. Norwich is a smaller proposition than the U. S. government.

Perhaps this is probably merely another movement for out of town experts. To qualify as an expert, it seems, one has to reside in some other place other than Norwich, Conn. If we would invent as many ways and means to give work to our citizens and taxpayers of Norwich as we do to bringing in and paying foreign experts, this city would be a better place to live in.

5. We are called to decide upon whether the court of common council shall enact a new plumbing code. What has the court of common council being doing up to now in this respect? We are called upon to decide whether or not the town of Norwich shall be annexed to the city. Who wants this? and why? Does the town of Norwich want to be annexed to the city? Did the property owners of Norwich Town buy property in the town with this view?

What are the citizens going to do? Are they going to allow these expenses to continue or are they going to call a halt to these proposed changes calling for more money from the pockets of the taxpayers for foreign experts and for outlaying of money not justified?

The propositions named in the call of the city meeting of April 26, 1928 may not look, on the surface, to be extraordinary proposals to the taxpayers but they should be considered carefully. Behind these costly propositions may be affairs which may result in vast expenditures that would surprise the people.

If we must decide to spend the vast sums of money proposed in the call to the city meeting of April 26, 1928 let us at least wait until the Philadelphia experts have collected their $27,000 and left us their new system of taxation. Perhaps then we may not want to continue to spend vast sums of money for experts residing in other states to come here to tell us how much to tax the property in Norwich.

If new buildings must be erected probably it would be best to build new and improved schools to replace some of the old school buildings.

A CITIZEN AND TAXPAYER.
Norwich, April 20, 1928.

Sunday Morning Talk

"Give me a hundred men," says Wesley, "who fear nothing but sin, and desire nothing but God, and I will shake the world, and I care not a straw whether they be clergymen or laymen and such alone will overthrow the kingdom of Satan and build up the Kingdom of God on earth." He got his hundred men and he shook the world with an earthquake mightier than can be produced by a million of easy going, normal Christians, afraid of the Holy Ghost and apologizing for their own distinctive doctrines.

Let us work not for pleasure and popularity and just a good all around time, but let us feel the call of Christ and heed it. When He says, Go to work in my vineyard, it is souls he is calling for. Let us seek and find the secret of the powers of those who were such successful winners of souls. That is the one great thing the church is called to do. It is a holy calling. Are we living up to it. Are we living careless lives, self centered lives, forgetting the Master's call.

In the days of the apostles, these all continued with one accord in prayer and supplication with the women, and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with his brethren. God is the same prayer hearing God that he was in the past, we read on that there were received in His name. "For the promise is unto you and your children, and to all that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call. Then they that gladly received his word were baptised: and the same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls." Acts 2.33-41. He is the same yesterday, today and forever.

YOUR HEALTH

Backache.

By H. Hoyt Cox, M. D., Chicago.

Backache is probably one of the most universal complaints known to the human race, causing great suffering and being most difficult to relieve. Probably the most common type, about 90 per cent, is that which occurs following a slight injury such as a sudden twist, sudden arising from a sitting or stooping position, or from lifting heavy objects, the so-called stitch in the back.

Slouching or incorrect posture common to clerks, chauffers or laundresses and occupations which require constant bending or stooping are responsible for many of the chronic backaches which cause untold suffering. Recent investigation indicates that the cause of most of these backaches is a slight junction of the pelvic or so-called hip bones with the spine. This displacement is usually so slight that it can not be seen by the X-ray, but because of the pressure and irritation of the great nerves which go down into the leg, the so-called sciatica or sciatic rheumatism is frequently produced.

In the chronic cases the onset is more gradual and may date from an injury or from prolonged faulty posture usually due to the occupation. This backache is more apt to be generalized and involve both sides, and is not of such a severe nature as the acute type.

The principle of the correct treatment is to replace the bones that have slipped back to their normal position and to maintain them by a skillfully applied support. All that is necessary in the acute cases as a rule is for the physician to replace the bones and bind the pelvis tightly with adhesive tape. Sometimes a tight-fitting belt is advisable and should be worn low down on the pelvis. Occasionally in acute cases it is advisable to remain in bed for a week until the inflammation subsides, but usually replacement of the bones followed by a tight low bandage is all that is necessary. As in all other dislocations, merely replacing is not sufficient. A real knowledge of anatomy and mechanics is essential so that proper support may be applied.

If proper treatment is not instituted in these acute and chronic backaches, the patient will as a rule not improve but become worse and these are the unfortunate sufferers who go from one to another source of treatment seeking relief.

Many backaches are not due to kidney trouble, lumbago, rheumatism, but are caused by a definite separation or subluxation of the pelvic or hip bone where it joins the sacrum or lower part of the spine.

This condition is well understood by physicians and relief can be promptly secured by means of replacing the bones, and made permanent by proper appliances to maintain the replacement until the replacement will maintain itself.

MISS LORING'S FINE WORK AT HARTFORD EXHIBITION

The public schools of Hartford were closed Thursday and Friday afternoon to enable the children to visit the Eastern Arts exhibition in the state armory. The younger children of the Hartford schools who have worked in clay thronged about the booth of the Hartford high school where students were building pottery, and about Miss Blanche Wilber and Miss Elsie Church of this city who were decorating tiles and modeling for the Norwich Art school. The children held up traffic.

The display of jewelry by Miss Nellie A. Loring at the state armory is unusually beautiful. Of the many schools and institutions exhibiting in the Eastern Arts association, there are three schools that are showing jewelry. Miss Loring's exhibit is of great interest not only to the general visitor but to those who appreciate the structural side of jewelry, the workmanship and design.

Miss Ada Watrous, another teacher at Norwich Art school is attending the exhibit also. For the groups of nation thus showing their work there has been arranged a trip for teachers and pupils through the Mediterranean, for the summer art exhibit at Prague.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Hugh Henry Osgood

Seized with a heart attack, Mrs. Mary R. (Lee) Osgood of this city, widow of Hugh Henry Osgood, died suddenly about noon Friday at Watkins, N. Y., where she was visiting. Mrs. Osgood had been in ill health for two or three weeks but her death was entirely unexpected.

Mrs. Osgood whose maiden name was Miss Mary Ruth Lee was united in marriage June 23, 1892, with Hugh Henry Osgood, by Rev. Samuel H. Howe, D. D., pastor of Park Congregational church. Mr. Osgood, who was several times mayor of Norwich, died in October, 1899. Shortly after his death his widow gave the Hugh Henry Osgood Memorial parish house to Park Congregational church, as a memorial to him. She continued her residence in this city until about two years ago when she disposed of the Osgood residence on Broadway at the corner of Huntington place. Mrs. Osgood was for years prominently identified with the United Workers and annually provided a grab bag for the nurses at the W. W. Backus hospital, and candy and fruit for the patients at the hospital at Christmas time. She also presented a swimming pool to the Y. M. C. A. several years ago and also gave a substantial sum to the Sheltering Arms to provide for rooms for elderly couples. She was ever a liberal contributor to charitable and other worthy organizations.

Mrs. Osgood was a native of Manlius, N. Y., where she passed her early life. She was widely known by many Norwich people and was highly respected and beloved by all who knew her. Word of her sudden passing came as a distinct shock to her numerous friends in this city. Mrs. Osgood, who recently visited Norwich, spent the past winter in Washington, D. C. The body will be brought to Norwich for burial.

Mrs. Osgood was a prominent and active member of Faith Trumbull Chapter, D. A. R., Inc., and took a great interest in the D. A. R. museum at Norwich Town.

John B. Marchesseault

After a two weeks' illness with pneumonia, John B. Marchesseault died Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at his home, No. 40 Hedge avenue. He was the son of John B., and Catherine Burke Marchesseault and was born in this city May 9, 1913. He graduated from St. Mary's parochial school in 1926 and was in his second year at the Norwich Free Academy.

He was a member of St. Mary's parish, belonged to the East Side drum corps, and was popular with the young people of the community in which he lived and also with his classmates at the Academy who are deeply grieved to hear of his death. He is survived by his parents, who have the sympathy of their many friends in their bereavement.

Charles J. Allen.

The death of Charles Jason Allen of 422 Main street, for many years a resident of this city, occurred Thursday morning after a considerable period of declining health. He was born in Montville, June 29, 1858, the son of Samled F. and Harriet Lester Allen. He attended the public schools of Montville and came to Norwich as a young man to work. For over 35 years he was engineer for the former A. H. Hubbard company, but the latter years of his life were spent in retirement. He married Jennie Roat of South Lyme and is survived by a son, Vivian Roath Allen, and a daughter, Mrs. Flossie A. McClimon, both of Norwich. He also leaves two sisters and three brothers, all of Montville, Mrs. George W. Dart, Miss Nannie Allen, Henry W. Allen, George O. Allen and Norman C. Allen.

Mrs. James M. Whitman

Mrs. Mary E. Whitman, wife of James M. Whitman, died at Mystic at her home on Godfrey street late Thursday afternoon. She had been in failing health for several month. She was born in Green Station, Conn., the daughter of John and Ellen O'Brier McGuire. Besides her husband she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Lucinda P. Whittle, and a brother, M. E. McGuire of Norwich.

FINE CONCERT PROGRAMME BY SOUTH MANCHESTER SINGERS

Under the auspices of Salem Lutheran church on Hickory street and for the benefit of the organ fund of the church, the Beethoven Glee club of South Manchester appeared at the Community house Friday evening in a concert programme that was thoroughly enjoyed. The 35 men of the club, which is directed by Helge E. Pearson, were assisted in their programme by Miss Eleanor Willard, soprano, and Albert Pearson, bass, with Miss Eva M. Johnson as accompanist. The ensemble numbers were given with fine harmony and balance, while the two soloists won favor with their selections, this being the case especially with Mr. Pearson, whose bass voice was of unusually pleasing quality.

The programme began with an organ solo, Te Deum Laudamus (Claussmann), by Director Pearson, which was followed by three Glee club numbers, Let Their Celestial Concerts (Handel), Londonderry Air (Brewer) and O Filii et Filiae (Leisring). These were followed by Miss Willard's solo, How Beautiful Upon the Mountains (Parker).

The programme was continued with club and solo numbers as follows:

Negro Spirituals—I'se Gwine to Tell Ol' Satan (Spink), baritone solo, Rudolf Swanson; Swing Low Sweet Chariot (Gaul) bass solo, Albert Pearson; Heah, Dem Bells (Strickland), baritone solo, Rudolf Swanson, tenor solo, Arthur Hoaglund, Beethoven Glee club; Why Do the Nations Rage? ("Messiah"—Handel), Alebtr Pearson.

Mitt Hemland, (Gustaf Berg): Falvakten, (C. Kuntze), bass solo—Albert Pearson; Glad Sasom Fagein, (Prince Gustaf), Beethoven Glee club; By the Waters of Minnetonka, (Lieurance) Dance of Romaika, (Ware), Miss Eleanor Willard: Dreaming Alone in the Twilight, (Moore); When the Roses Bloom, (Reichardt); Siberia, (Starke), Solo—Miss Eleanor Willard, Beethoven Glee club; The Horn, (Fiegler), Albert Pearson.

The programme concluded with the Dudley Buck cantata, Nun of Nidaros, which was admirably given by the club and Miss Willard.

Laziness is the one thing that knocks all the conceit out of pride.

FIRE THREATENS $23,000 WORTH OF INFLAMMABLE TOILET WATER SUPPLIES

Fire, of undetermined cause, resulted in considerable damage, shortly after 12:15 o'clock this (Saturday) morning, to the building at No. 55 Boswell avenue, owned by Joseph D'Airi, of Chestnut street, and occupied on the ground floor by the Norwich Barber Supply Co., Joseph W. Carlevale, proprietor. Two lines of hose were used in combatting the flames.

Albert L. Johnson, of No. 51 Boswell avenue, discovered the fire and sent in a telephone call to the central fire station from his home. Mr. Johnson, who occupied a garage in the rear of the building, had just driven his machine into the garage when he noticed flames bursting from a window in the back part of the building. He immediately sent in a call to the fire department and Engine No. 1, Squad A and Deputy Chief Henry R. Taft responded. Flames were bursting from the windows and shooting up the side of the building in the rear.

Deputy Chief Taft forced an entrance through a door on the Boswell avenue side of the building leading to the tenement on the second floor under the impression that people might have been asleep there. He found no one in the tenement. The rear door was open.

The firemen forced an entrance into the store through the door on the Boswell avenue side of the building and quickly laid two lines of hose, one two inch line and an inch and a half line. The entire ground floor was filled with dense choking smoke and the interior of the store was considerably scorched from the flames and heat. The fire started in a back room of the store which was filled with wooden crates, bottles and toilet water supplies. It was a dangerous fire to fight as there were several hundred gallons of toilet water supplies, highly inflammable, in large glass jugs and containers in the store. The firemen by quick work kept the blaze from spreading and it was extinguished after a half hour's fight.

Mr. Carlevale who stated that he is the sole proprietor of the barber supply company, said that he was in the building during the middle of the afternoon, filling bottles, etc. He did not go to the building during the evening, which he passed at an entertainment given by Nemrod Grotto in the Grotto hall. He left the entertainment late and went to his room in the McGrory building, retiring about 1 o'clock. He was at a loss as to the cause of the blaze. Mr. Carlevale stated that the stock on hand in the building is valued at between $20,000 and $23,000 and that the insurance on it amounts to about $15,000.

Officer Joseph Farrell, who has the Boswell avenue beat, passed the building at midnight and there was at that time no sign of fire. Shortly before the fire was discovered a man was seen to leave the store, carrying a package, and drive away in a tan colored machine, it is understood. Who this man was could not be learned. Mr. Carlevale stated that no one but himself carries a key to the store.

MISS EVELYN WHEELER WINS WILLIAMS PRIZE READING

Slater hall had an audience that filled it Friday evening for the annual Williams prize readings for the girls of the Academy and the eight contestants made the competition full of interest by the merit of their work. The judges were Mrs. John Kukla, Mrs. Shepard B. Palmer and Miss Louise C. Howe.

Three selections by the Girls' Glee club opened the evening's programme. They sang with pleasing effect their numbers being Stars Brightly Shining (Emil Bronter), The Heavens Resound (L. von Beethoven), and A Song of Spring (Neidlinger).

The readings were given as follows:

The Harp Weaver
Edna Saint Vincent Millay
Gertrude Church '30
The Citizen James Francis Dwyer
Anna Crossman Peck '29
Christmas Afternoon Robert Benchly
Lillian Sarah Cramer '29
Claudius and Cynthia
Maurice Thompson
Helen Miriam Weinstein '28
The First Christmas Tree

Leona Martha Comstock '28
Alexander Taming Bucephalus
Park Benjamin
Lucille Margaret Browning '28
Renaissance
Olive Esther Rathbun '30
Edna Saint Vincent Millay
Go Down Death
James Weldon Johnson
(A Funeral Sermon)
Evelyn Browning Wheeler '28

Following their prepared selections, the contestants were given the usual test in sight reading, the passages used being selected by Principal H. A. Tirrell from articles written by Robert Burdette for a New York newspaper a number of years ago.

Later in the evening the judges informed Principal Tirrell of their award of the prizes, giving first to Miss Evelyn B. Wheeler and second to Miss Anna C. Peck.

DISTINGUISHED ORGANIST AT NORWICH TOWN RECITAL

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted R. Huntington Woodman, of Brooklyn, N. Y., at his organ recital, Friday evening in Norwich Town Congregational church, for the formal opening of the amplified and rebuilt organ took place. He was assisted by Henry J. LaFontaine, baritone of Norwich. Organist Woodman, recognized far and wide as a master of this instrument entertained his listeners with a delightfully rendered program. Mr. LaFontaine's ability as a singer is winning him increasing fame. His popularity is sure among Norwich audiences, for both his singing and his skill as an organist. Following was the program given:

Praeludium festivum, Becker; a. The Swan, Saint-Saens; b. Prelude to "The Deluge", Saint-Saens; Interlude and Finale, Concerto I, Handel; Lord God of Abraham (Recitative and Aria from Elijah, Mendelssohn, Mr. LaFontaine. Evening Bells and Cradle Songs, Macfarlane; Cantilena in B flat, Woodman; Scherzo, (in canon form) Jadassohn; a. Song without words, b. Dance of the Candy Fairy, Tschaikowsky; Pilgrims Chorus (Tannhauser), Wagner; Glory to God, Buzzi-Peccia, Mr. LaFontaine. Serenade, Widor; Toccata, D'Evry.

The recital was held under the auspices of the entertainment committee of the men's department of the League of Service, Thomas H. Bacheler, chairman. Organist Herbert L. Yerrington extended the invitation to this artist to come to Norwich Town for the recital. Organist Woodman is Fellow of the American Guild of Organists, Fellow of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences and president of the department of music, organist and choirmaster of the First Presbyterian church of Brooklyn, director of music at Packer Collegiate institute, also director of the theory department of the Master School of Music and American Institute of Applied Music (Manhattan.) He is conductor of the Woodman Choral club. He has had some of the best organists in the country as pupils during his long career. At one time several years ago, he was organist at Christ Episcopal church, Norwich. His father was a skilled organist also.

Mr. LaFontaine who has had training in the musical profession, both in this country and abroad, is not only an accomplished singer but is organist at St. Patrick's church, Norwich, as well.

NEMROD GROTTO CONDUCTS ITS SPRING CEREMONIAL

Nemrod Grotto, M. O. V. P. E. R., conducted its spring ceremonial Friday evening in Grotton hall with an attendance of about 150 for whom an entertaining evening resulted from the work with the class of initiates. Following the ceremonial work, which was under direction of Monarch Fred G. AUGUST DATES CHOSEN FOR WILLIMANTIC CAMP MEETING

The dates of August 18 to 26 were chosen as the time for the Willimantic camp meeting this season when the executive committee of the camp meeting association held a meeting in Willimantic this week.

The president of the camp meeting association, Rev. Myron E. Genter, who is also superintendent of the Norwich district, presided at the meeting and very gratifying committee reports were presented. Among the announcements of major features already arranged for were the following and other surprises will be made public as the programme is made up:

Rev. Dr. Charles L. Goodell, of New York city, executive secretary of the Department of Evangelism of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ of America has been secured for several great addresses. Rev. Dr. Philip L. Frick, of Schenectady, N. Y., broadcaster and preacher of distinction, who has given such fine addresses the past two seasons, will give a new series which has already attracted wide attention, on "Finding God." His return has been demanded by the hundreds who have attended his gripping addresses before.

Signor Mario Capelli, grand opera tenor, whose return has also been insisted on, and who sang to about 3,000 on these grounds, the last Sunday of last year, will also be present as usual.

A new surprising feature will be the opera tenor on the first Sunday. Justin Lawrie, of New York city, who sings each Wednesday evening over WEAF will give a recital the first Saturday evening.

Miss Rebecca Satterlee of North Haven, who has been spending a week of her Easter recess from the New Haven High school with her grandmother, Mrs. Charles A. Satterlee, and her aunt, Miss Satterlee, returned Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Satterlee, her parents, motored here for her.

Miss Marjorie Gates, a student at Norwich Free Academy, who spent the Easter recess at her home, was the guest Friday of her cousin, Mrs. Morton Ashcraft, at Quaker Hill.

Paul Miller, a student at Mt. Hermon school, Northfield, Mass., is spending the after-Easter vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew P. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Herman and son, Stanley, Jr., who motored to Newmarket, N. H., to spend Good Friday and Easter at Mrs. Herman's former home, returned the past week.

Miss Ruth Greer, a student at the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, returned Saturday after spending the Easter recess at the M. E. parsonage with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Jerome Greer.

UNCASVILLE

The success of the two weeks' mission being held in St. John's Roman Catholic church is a surprise to the pastor, Rev. James A. O'Meara and his people. This week the mission services have been for the women of the parish and 250 have attended the daily services. The eloquent preachers who are giving the mission are Rev. Father Camillus, C. P. from the monastery of the Passionist Fathers at Baltimore, Md. and Rev. Father Luke, C. P., from the monastery at West Springfield, Mass. They speak many languages fluently, consequently can hear confessions, or hold conferences with the different members of this parish of over one thousand souls. The closing exercises of the women's week will be at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. At 7:30 Sunday evening the men's week will open. Later the missionary Fathers are to give a special mission for the French- speaking members of the parish. On a day to be announced, also, they will have a service at which they will bless the parish babies. The religious order to which they belong is devoted to commemorating and preaching the passion, or suffering, of Our Lord.

WEST KINGSTON, R. I.

Edward P. Tucker died Monday morning. About a year ago he had two very severe shocks, which for a while left him helpless, but he had gotten much better, so he was able to be taken to the postoffice and pass out mail. He had been postmaster here for many years. He had been feeling better but had another shock and lived only a few minutes. He was well liked and highly respected, always pleasant and accommodating in the postoffice. Funeral services were held at his home Wednesday at 2 p. m. Rev. J. H. Trenberth officiated. He leaves his wife, four daughters and several grandchildren.

Mrs. Joseph Hatherway and son Everett of East Greenwich were Saturday evening callers in this village.

Mrs. Katherine Sherman, who has been spending the winter with her children in Massachusetts, has returned to her home here for the summer.

Mrs. Mary S. Manley spent Wednesday with friends at Kingston.

E. K. Wilcox and Everett Kenyon attended a birthday party at Norwich Town, Conn., Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Degan are spending a few weeks with Bellville relatives.

Mrs. R. H. Bristow and daughters and Mrs. E. J. McElroy spent Saturday in Providence.

The council for West Kingston Girl Scouts are practicing for a play to be given in the near future.

Misses Norma and Helen James of Beaver River Valley were visitors at the school here Friday afternoon of last week. They also called on some of their young friends.

Mrs. Harriett Worrall, with her children, from Massachusetts, is visiting her mother, Mrs. E. P. Tucker.

The Fair company held a meeting Tuesday afternoon and is planning even greateratttractions for the fair this year.

Mrs. C. B. Arnold and Mrs. Shephard visited their sister a day last week who is a patient in a New London hospital.

Roland Walkup visited his daughter Sunday. She is a patient in the Rhode Island hospital.

Mrs. Reuben Peckham is ill with pneumonia. She is being cared for by a nurse.

ACADEMY WINS TEN-INNING THRILLER FROM DEEP RIVER IN OPENING GAME

Flashing from behind twice to tie the score, the Academy finally settled their opening game with Deep River Friday afternoon at the campus in the tenth inning when a screaming double by Johnny Greene sent Billy Tirrell home from second with a 6 to 5 victory. Tirrell had singled and stolen second.

The game was one of the best that the campus has ever seen with interest at a high pitch all the way. Walter Linder, sensational flinger from Deep River and Lloyd Jarvis Academy southpaw ace, battled almost on even terms throughout with errors and quite a few breaks deciding many of the scores.

Linder came here with three shutouts in his three starts and had only allowed seven hits in these 27 innings. He was found for 13 hits by the Wildcats but fanned 14. Jarvis allowed only ten hits and struck out 13. Jarvis walked two and Linder five.

Team Inexperienced

The state champions showed a bit of greenness, which was natural with an entire new infield and five of the nine men starting their first game as regulars, but they also showed a punch that although seemingly stifled at times by the nice twirling of Linder, still flared up and destroyed all his good work just when needed.

Capt. Mace Goldblatt led the local stickers but Jarvis, Cummings and Greene also played a big part in the Red and White attack, while not to forget Bill Tirrell's timely blow in the tenth that started the winning marker on its way. Jarvis only got one hit but that was a line double against the center field fence in the ninth inning with two abroad and the Academy on the bum end of a 5 to 3 score. It cleaned things up, Cummings and Goldblatt counting. Greene's important hit contribution has been related. Previously though, Johnny poked another double in the second inning but nobody scored.

The fielding features were contributed by Olson, the visiting left fielder, who speared Jarvis' bid for a home run with one hand in deep left in the first and the infield work of "Shorty" Hamil and "Alex" Arico for the Wildcats.

Deep River Breaks Ice

Deep River scored right in the first inning when, after R. Tourville rolled to LaCroix, Mohlander hit one down through second that took a freak bound over LaCroix's head into right field. K. Tourville then hoisted one into right field that Cummings dropped, Mohlander scoring on the play and Tourville making third, whence he scored on a wild pitch.

The Academy got one back in the second on a pass to Gibbs, and Arico's infield pop that fell safe between two players. Another run to tie the score came to the locals in the third when Goldblatt walked, took second while Jarvis was making first on an error and scored on Gibbs clean single into left.

Deep River stepped out in front again in the fifth on doubles by K. Tourville and Linder and then added two more in the sixth on A. Mozzochi's single, Carlson's sacrifice and single by J. Mozzochi and Swan coupled with a two base error.

Fill Bases But Score Only One

The Academy filled the bases in the seventh with one down after scoring one run to make the score 5-3 but Fagan, pinch hitting, fanned, and Gibbs hit to the pitcher.

The Red and White went out easy in the eighth while Mohlander got an infield hit for Deep River with two out in the ninth but the next batter fanned. In the last half of the inning Cummings led off with his second hit of the day, a line smash into center field, Hamil walked and Goldblatt doubled, sending Cummings to third. Jarvis then crashed one into center and tied the score. Jarvis went to third on the throw to the plate. With Tombari batting, an attempted squeeze went awry and Lloyd was trapped at the plate. Tombari immediately singled but was left stranded.

Olson and Carlson singled for Deep River in the tenth with one out but but didn't get anywhere while Tirrell opened the Academy half with a single, stole second while Arico was fanning and scored on Greene's long drive to left center.

Plainfield Here Today

Plainfield high comes to the campus this afternoon for the second game of the season. This team has a fairly good record, having extended Bulkeley in New London and losing out 6 to 3 to the powerful Pomfret Prep team. Johnny Greene is slated to pitch for the Academy while the rest of the team is expected to be the same as that which played yesterday. The Plainfield lineup has not been announced. The game starts at 2:30 and a large crowd is expected.

POUNDING THEM OUT

Well, the state champions got off on the right foot in the season's opener.

The victory was witnessed by a good sized crowd, among whom were numbered a coterie from the Bulkeley school, ancient and bitter rivals of the locals.

As usual the Whaling city boys favored the Deep River players, giving them as much moral support as they would their own team.

By the way Deep River took a fall out of Bulkeley earlier in the week, trouncing them to the tune of 8 to 0. That latter figure sure looks good to the Academy followers.

Linder, pitching ace of Deep River, was not underrated by any means. He's in the game heart and soul all the time. No flies on that boy.

Equally as much can be said in favor of Jarvis, who started the season with a bang, in his pitching as well as his hitting, poling out a double that brought in the tying run.

A little more wind and that hit made by Greene in the tenth inning would have gone over the fence for a homer. It was a double, a mate to one hit earlier in the game by him. The second double brought in the winning run.

Goldblatt filled his role as captain in fine style. His batting eye was hitting on all fours, as it were, a trio of bingles being his contribution.

Cummings played his first game for the Academy yesterday, starting the rally in the ninth inning with a sharp, stinging hit to the center field fence for a single.

A comparison of the pitchers, Linder and Jarvis, finds them on about the same plane. Linder allowed 13 hits, struck out 14 and got one hit, while Jarvis was nicked for ten hits, fanned 13 and checked up on hit.

That bing of Linder's left the bat like a shot, struck the fire escape in right field and dropped to the ground for a double. It was a nice clout, a homer in most parks.

The little N. F. A. mascot, "Andy" St. Germain from Taftville kept the bats away from the home plate in grand fashion, hot-footing back and forth with the timber like a Nurmi.

Weather conditions were none too favorable for baseball, more like football weather. It will be remembered that the Academy's football season last fall was degrees over yesterday's weather.

As a whole the team exhibited A-1 ball, not counting a few misplays that are even chalked up against the major players. A little ironing out here and there will put the team back in its state championship form of last year.

The Deep River pitcher and catcher got all tangled up in the ninth inning chasing a foul ball, but no serious injuries were received by either, other than a few bruises or cratches.

Today Plainfield will furnish the opposition. Johnny Greene is slated to throw them over for the Academy.

It was lucky the left fielder of the visitors is a six footer, for his height enabled him to spear a rap from Jarvis in the first inning that would have gone for extra bases.

The Wildcats had their new sweaters on while on the bench for a chill wind blew.

Hank and Johnny Murphy came in for a bit of razzing from the fans.

Hank had a busy time keeping the foul line clear. That's the way, Hank.

J. Mozzochi, the visiting second baseman is probably the first bespectacled player to appear on the campus against the Academy since Matthews pastimed for Crosby back in 1926.

Coach Brigham had a bunch warming up practically the entire game down behind the bleachers.

Now for Plainfield.

TRADE SCHOOL DOWNS PUTNAM HIGH, 3 TO 2

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 20—Putnam high lost the second game of the season here today in a hard fought contest with the State Trade school nine of Putnam, the score being 3 to 2. Franklin and Weiss were the only men to score for the high school and Green was the only other batter that secured a hit off Walsh, who allowed four hits.

Capt. Wheaton, who started in the box for Putnam in his first game of the year, succeeded in holding the trade school hitless in four innings. He was replaced by Shann in the fifth because of injuries to his back received in a football contest. Shann was hit freely and three runs were secured off him. Putnam's defeat today darkens its hope for later season victories, when she encounters some of the strong high school teams. The score:

AGGIE TRACK TEAM OPENS SEASON AT TUFTS TODAY

STORRS, April 20—(AP)—The Connecticut state college of agriculture's 1928 track season will be open tomorrow in a dual meet with Tufts college at Medford, Mass.

Coach Paul E. Bitgood, 22 years old, and thought to be the youngest collegiate coach in New England will start the season with a green team. The state college athletic fields being still in the process of reconstruction has retarded the development of the track squad.

Vermont Beats Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 20—(AP)—University of Vermont, which plays Holy Cross tomorrow, defeated Springfield college here today by 7 to 5 in 10 innings. Doubles by Conway and Macomber and a single by Price accounted for the deciding tallies, while Springfield could do nothing in its half.

COBB FURTHER BOLSTERS LEAD IN "BIX SIX"

(By The Associated Press)

Ty Cobb increased his lead over fellow members of the "Big Six" by pounding out a single and a triple in the Athletics' 2 to 1 victory over the Yankees at the Yankee stadium yesterday. Cobb boosted his average for five games to .429. Hornsby was idle and retained his .375 percentage. Paul Waner of the Pirates climbed back to third place by pounding out two singles as the Cards defeated the Pirates, 6 to 2. Ruth went hitless in the Yankee defeat, but fell only to .240.

BOXERS START TO ARRIVE FOR BOSTON TOURNEY

BOSTON, April 20—(AP)—The vanguard of the army of 200 odd amateur boxers which will battle here next Monday and Tuesday for national A. A. U. championships and places on the American Olympic team arrived today with Tom Elliott, a giant Hollywood film actor, in the lead.

Elliot has been fighting for the past 14 months. He is 21 years old, weighs 191 pounds and stands six feet, four inches high. He has just completed the "heavy part" in a Fox picture which will be released in October and has played small parts in "Seventh Heaven" and several other films.

All of the city's gyms were overrun with ambitious amateur glove swingers who came from every A. A. U. district in the United States and from many colleges, including the United States military and naval academy.

DELANEY STARTS STIFF TRAINING FOR SHARKEY

BRIDGEPORT, April 20—(AP)—Jack Delaney went through four fast rounds with sparring partners and ten on the bags and rope this afternoon in training for his coming fight with Jack Sharkey. Delaney weighed 188 pounds at the end of his afternoon's work and said he was confident of taking Sharkey by the fourth round.

Answering Sharkey's recent announcement that his style of fighting would be the same he used in the Dempsey fight, Delaney said he would plan no campaign for the bout, but if Mr. Sharkey desired to mix it, he "will get plenty."

DELANEY AND TUNNEY TO MEET—ON GOLF LINKS

BRIDGEPORT, April 20—(AP)—Jack Delaney will meet Gene Tunney, but on the golf links, not in the ring. Henry Cluci, ranking golfer, and professional at Mill River Country club, said today that he expected the heavyweight champion here within three weeks and had arranged with Jack Delaney for the two to play opposite each other in a foursome he will arrange.

MANY PROMINENT FIGURES OF FIGHT WORLD BROUGHT INTO DEMPSEY CASE

NEW YORK, April 20—(AP)—A parade of famous sport figures under names little known to fight fandom, a personal appearance by Jack Dempsey, and a legal tiff that almost required a ring for settlement, featured the middle rounds today of Jack Kearns battle for $701,000 with the former heavyweight champion in United States district court.

Kearns, the "perfumery Jack" of the fight racket, came into court as plain John McKiernon, Tex Rickard was there, but only as George Lewis Rickard to interrogating attorneys. The old Manassa mauler himself twice answered a call for William Harrison Dempsey.

Billy Gibson, manager of Champion Gene Tunney, became a dignified "William H." on the witness stand. The court failed to ask Lew Raymond, New York matchmaker, his real name.

All but Kearns were called to the witness stand to establish contracts Dempsey entered into and sums of money he earned between 1924 and 1926. Kearns charges breach of contract in that he was not paid one-third of the former titleholder's earnings during that time. Raymond testified that Dempsey still considered Kearns his manager in September of 1925 when a bout was being arranged between Jack and Harry Wills, the black menace of that time, at South Bend, Ind.

Spirited Doings

There was no gong in the courtroom to halt hostilities when the going became hot in the late afternoon and Arthur N. Driscoll, chief attorney for Dempsey, accused Arthur N. Sager, head of the Kearns' legal array, of conducting the plaintiff's case "sloppily." Judge John C. Knox spiked hostilities when he warned all hands that he was the referee and that "I'm running this trial."

Kearns surprised the rank and file of the boxing game, all crowded into the United States district courrt room for the show, when he called Dempsey as a witness. Over the strenuous objection of his own counsel, Dempsey told of earning various sums through exhibition bouts between Sept. 1, 1924, and July 1, 1926 for which he made no accounting to Kearns. The former champion said he received $450,000 and Gene Normile, then his business manager, $300,000, for the fight with Tunney in 1926. Earlier in the day Tex Rickard testified that he paid Dempsey $700,000 for that match.

Dempsey Signed For Wills

Lew Raymond, associated with Paddy Mullins in the management of Harry Wills, testified that Dempsey signed to fight the Negro in South Bend in September of 1925. Raymond declared that in his precence Dempsey said:

"Kearns will get his end of this. I just want to keep him away from my camp. Kearns is still my manager."

Dempsey was recalled to the the stand to testify that this match never took place because of failure to post the guarantee he demanded.

Rickard told of the various contracts made with Dempsey and Tunney for their first match, revealing that at least three separate sets of articles were entered into with the former champion. Kearns figured in these negotiations. Later Billy Gibson took the stand to show that the fight actually took place under a separate agreement, signed Sept. 16, 1926, in Philadelphia a few days before the bout.

In the opening statements at the morning session, Kearns' attorney declared that Dempsey was bound to his client by a three year contract executed in 1923. He alleged that relations became strained between Kearns and Dempsey after the former champion married Estelle Taylor in 1924 and that they decided to part because their "families didn't get along together."

Dempsey's answer said the contract was made merely to fulfill the requirements of the New York state athletic commission, and that Kearns, when settlement was made, "talked him into" accepting a $220,000 hotel in Los Angeles for an apartment house valued at $300,000. Commissioners of the athletic commission testified to the fill g of the contract.

ANOTHER SERIES OF TRIALS FOR DAVIS CUP TEAM

NEW YORK, April 20—(AP)—A second series of trials for the Davis cup team will be held on the courts of the Triple A club, St. Louis, Mo., from May 17 to 20, the United States Lawn Tennis association announced today. Invitations to the players selected for the trials will be sent out early next week by Joseph W. Wear, chairman of the Davis cup committee, and Charles S. Garland, chairman of the selection committee. The squad will be expected to report in St. Louis on or about May 14 for several days of practice prior to the beginning of the test matches.

These trials will be the last opportunity for players to qualify for the Davis cup team. The matches will give an opportunity to qualify to several leading players who were unable to compete in the first series of trials at Augusta, Ga., late in March. Among these was Francis T. Hunter, member of last year's Davis cup team.

The qualifiers in the tests will play in the second round matches against China at Kansas City May 25 to 27 and in the later rounds.

HORNSBY PURCHASES FARM NEAR ST. LOUIS

BOSTON, April 20—(AP)—Undaunted by Babe Ruth's failure as a gentleman farmer, Rogers Hornsby said today he had purchased an 85-acre country estate near St. Louis and planned to till the property in a refined manner during the off season. Hornsby said he paid $50,000 for the property, on which he hopes to raise fine-blooded cattle in addition to the usual crops of the gentleman farmer.

The Braves' star was warned of Babe Ruth's unsuccessful efforts on his farm at Sudbury, which he recently sold. It was also pointed out to Hornsby that the first season after the Babe took up farming, his batting average and home run total slumped alarmingly.

Hornsby will probably make his debut in a Braves uniform before the home fans tomorrow in the role of acting manager. Jack Slattery, pilot of the Braves, was ill with the grippe when he arrived here Wednesday night and since then has been confined to his home in the Jamaica Plain section. His family reported that his physician had ordered him to remain indoors until next Monday.

AL BEAUREGARD LOSES; SAMMY BAKER BEATS HULL

BOSTON, April 20—(AP)—Sergeant Sammy Baker, of New York, contender for the welterweight title, gave Clyde Hull, of South Dakota, a terrific 10 round beating here tonight. Hull was on the verge of a knockout several times in the latter rounds but hung on gamely to the bell. Each boxer weighed 145 pounds.

Hull withstood a savage attack which alternated between jaw and body until the boxer's right side was red with welts and his head dizzy. From the fifth round on, Baker plied right hooks to the body and left jabs to the jaw. The bell saved Hull in the fifth and from that time on only his gameness kept him on his feet.

Baker started slowly and in the first round Hull cut the sergeant's mouth with a left jab. Baker carried the second although Hull scored several times. Sammy started to come in the third and from that period gradually wore down his opponent's strength.

Arthur Flynn, of Lawrence, knocked out Nando Tassi, of Italy, in the second round of their bout scheduled to go ten rounds. After a tame first round Flynn knocked the Italian down four times in the second, each time for a count of nine. The referee then stopped the bout.

Jake Zeramby, of Lynn, defeated Al Beauregard, of Norwich, Conn., in six rounds.

Al Walker, of New York, defeated Ray "Ace" Clark, of Alabama in four rounds.

FIGHTING AL KOZIOL FLATTENS THREE MORE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PROVIDENCE, April 20 — Al Koziol, the Cranston Crusher, flattened three more boys at the Arcadia rink here tonight under the auspices of the Providence A. C. Koziol fought for just four rounds, knocking out George Raveno of Woonsocket in the first, Arthur Fraser of Newport in the second and Wilfred Thibeault of Woonsocket in the first. Koziol made short work of his opponents finishing off the two Woonsocket lads in short order while the Newport boys was a little tougher proposition.

It was announced from the ring that Koziol was the alternate candidate for a berth on the Olympic boxing team, a California lad looming as the choice for the first berth. However, this will be decided at Boston on Monday night at the Olympic tryouts. Providence is planning to give Koziol a big sendoff

WINTRINGER BEATS SOMERVILLE IN FINALS

PINEHURST, N. C., April 20—(AP)—Taking the lead on the first hole with a birdie three, Robert L. Wintringer, of Steubenville, Ohio, maintained his advantage today to defeat C. Ross Somerville, London, Ont., five and three in the final round of the Mid-April golf tournament.

Wintringer's easy victory came as a surprise as Somerville had been playing par golf or better since winning the low medal in the qualifying round. He was unable to win a hole today, however. Somerville's long driving was offset by the accurate approaches and putts of Wintringer.

R. P. Foote, of Englewood, N. J., defeated E. C. Keating, of Montclair, N. J., in the second division final, and E. F. Seagram, of Waterloo, Canada, defeated F. E. Now, of Pittsburgh, in the third division final.

ST. PATRICK'S SCHOOL BEATS LIZZIES, 6 TO 0

St. Patrick's school team won its opening game at Mohegan Park, Friday p. m., Billy Connell leading them to a shutout over Elizabeth street by the score 6 to 0. The lineup for the winners was as follows: A. Matthews, catch; Connell, pitch; Caron, first base; Couture, second base; Hamill, third base; H. Matthews, shortstop; O'Neil, right field; Kirker, center and Cox left field. Connell was well supported. The Elizabeth Street battery were Red Rankin and Lyons pitch and Snooks Lacey, catch.

GENO PECHEENI HARD AT WORK FOR NEW LONDON BOUT MON.

Geno Pecheeni, local featherweight, will wind up his stiff training today for his bout Monday night with Lou Murphy of New York on the Thames A. C. card to be staged at the Lyceum theatre, New London. In the main go Bobby Mays of New London fights Benny Valger of New York city.

Kahn Sold

BRIDGEPORT, April 20—(AP)—Jerry Kahn, right-handed pitcher of the Bridgeport baseball club, has been sold to the Binghamton club of the New York-Pennsylvania league, Fred J. Voos, president of the Bears, announced today. Kahn was with the Waterbury club of the Eastern league prior to coming here.

INTER-CLASS TRACK MEET AT N. F. A.

An inter-class track meet will be held at the Academy either Monday or Tuesday (which ever day the weather is good) of the coming week to line up a varsity team for the first meet of the lear, which comes Friday, April 27, at New London with Chapman Tech. Coach Matthew J. Sheridan is having this special meet in order to bring out any promising talent and also to give the boys now out practice in real competition.

The workouts for the squad have now been going on for something like a month and the Red and White is in fairly good shape for the New London invasion. A few members of last year's football team have joined the squad and they are expected to help greatly in the field events and longer runs.

The team seems to be strong in the sprints with Clint Robinson, Jim Kelly, Harvey, Johnny Greene and Stockwell while Lyons, a veteran, is now laid up with a sore leg but will probably be ready soon. Brock and Peck do the mile running, while Holdridge, Ingalls and Taylor are the half-milers. In the shot put Billy Tirrell and Joe Viau do the work while in the javelin Prokop is showing much promise with Taylor and Ingalls also doing well. Stasiak and Atkins toss the discus and Werth and Vulgares are the leading candidates in the pole vault.

There is still room for more candidates and the meet next week is expected to bring them around. The meet will have the full 15 events.

GROVE SUPERB AS MACKS BEAT YANKS

NEW YORK, April 20—(AP)—Robert Moses Grove, the Philadelphia southpaw who gave the Yankees their only shut-out in a championship game in 1927, outpitched George Pipgras and Wiley Moore before 50,000 fans here today as the Athletics nosed out the world champions, 2 to 1, in the opening game of the American league season in New York. Grove gave the Yanks only five hits, held Ruth and Gehrig to one single between them, and struck out eight, mostly on called third strikes.

Cobb-Speaker Turn Trick

Pipgras held the Athletics hirless for five innings, but the veterans Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker then began turning the tide in Philadelphia's favor. Singles by Bishop, Cobb and Speaker gave the Mackmen one run in the seventh, but the Yankees tied the score in the seventh when Dugan scored on a sacrifice fly by Paschal, pinch batsman for Pipgras.

With Moore in the box, Cobb opened the ninth with a high fly which Combs lost in the sun for a three base hit. Ty came home on Speaker's sacrifice fly to Combs.

Pipgras and Moore held the Athletics to five hits, but four of them were so bunched as to be effective in scoring. The Yankees were able to turn no more than one of their five safe drives to account. Durocher, Tony Lazzeri's substitute at second, touched Grove for two doubles.

The game was preceded by the usual opening day ceremonies, and both the American league and the world's championship pennants were raised under the stars and stripes. The start of the game was delayed ten minutes by the late arrival of Mayor Walker of New York and Commissioner Landis.

Gehrig Gets Diploma

Gehrig received from E. S. Barnard, president of the American league, a diploma as the most valuable player in the circuit last year. Members of the Yankees received world championship emblems, diamond rings, from Commissioner Landis.

Red Sox 6; Senators 5.

WASHINGTON, April 20—(AP)—Washington had one big inning today but it was not enough to defeat Boston, the Red Sox taking the series opener 6 to 5. The Senators pounced on Danny MacFayden in the fourth inning for four runs, one of them being Goose Goslin's third homer, with Judge on the paths. The Sox put over three runs in the 8th to tie the count when Gaston weakened and handed out hits and passes. Score:

White Sox 11; Indians 1

CLEVELAND, O., April 20—(AP)—Chicago routed Cleveland 11 to 1 today after losing the first two games of the opening series here. Al Thomas held the Indians scoreless until the ninth inning when three singles and a walk averted a shutout.

The White Sox pounded Miller, Bayne and Collard for twelve hits and made most of them count for runs. Despite the setback Cleveland retained the American league leadership as both Washington and New York lost.

DANIELSON

EDWARD S. CARPENTER, 90, DIES AT HIS HOME HERE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, April 20 — There passed from this life tonight shortly after 7 o'clock, at his home on Spring street, one of the most outstanding figures in the life of Danielson for more than half a century—Edward S. Carpenter, who on Feb. 9 last observed his 90th birthday.

Mr. Carpenter was more than a striking personality in Danielson. He was an institution. Even as recently as a few days ago he was about and as active and alert as many a man of 60. He talked of planting a garden as he has done for many years, and was looking forward as eagerly to the verdant period of the year as a youth. It appears, however, that he never fully recovered from the effects of a fall he suffered when he slipped on the ice last winter some time prior to his birthday. His very advanced age militated against his recovery when his most recent illness attacked him and this morning it became evident that he had but a few hours to live.

Though a native of the town of Thompson, Mr. Carpenter spent the greater part of his life in this town, and was identified with the official life of the community for a full half century. He had been chief of police, chief of the fire department, constable and tax collector, filling all of these offices for periods ranging from a few years up to half a century, most of his terms of office being for very long periods.

He numbered among his many activities during his long residence here the position of lessee and manager of the town hall when it was the only place where theatrical entertainments were presented and he was a bill poster as well. For more than 40 years he was janitor of the Baptist church in which his funeral services are to be held.

He was "Uncle Ed" to the town-people, who loved him and marveled at him as he kept active, happy and smiling at an age when the great majority of men have been dead and practically forgotten for years. He was a cheery optimistic soul, a steadfast friend and a remarkable man in so many different ways that it would be difficult to enumerate them.

He was probably the oldest member of Moriah lodge of Masons of this town and tyler of the lodge for more than 40 years. His death causes an entire community to pause in mournful respect.

DANIELSON WILL GO ON DAYLIGHT TIME

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, April 20—Only one more week of standard time for Danielson until early next fall. A week from Sunday this community again is to go on daylight saving time, as it did a year ago. The indications are that daylight saving time will be quite generally observed in all the industrial communities up and down the Quinebaug valley this year.

There are no new reasons for making the change. The old reasons continue to apply. With practically all the large cities with which Danielson manufacturing and industrial concerns do a daily business on fast time it is practically necessary for local concerns to fix their working schedules accordingly. The same applies to local banks. The postoffice is forced onto fast time by the advance of train schedules by approximately an hour. It is indicated here today that Danielson's stores also will work on a schedule advanced an hour, beginning a week from next Monday. Likewise it is expected that the schedule of the public and parochial schools here will be changed to conform with the new time arrangement.

The body of Mrs. Almariah Howland, 43, widow of James Howland, arrived here from Greenfield, Mass., where Mrs. Howland died Wednesday, and was taken in charge by Undertaker A. F. Wood. Mrs. Howland was resident here and at Wauregan for years. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hyde, of Wauregan. She leaves one daughter by a former marriage, Miss Edith Shippee; a brother, Charles Hyde, of Turner's Falls, Mass., and a cousin, Mrs. William Lewis, of Danielson, from whose home the funeral is to be held.

With the regent, Mrs. Lena C. Tripp, presiding, an interesting meeting of Sarah Williams Danielson chapter, D. A. R., was held at the home of Mrs. Henry D. Crosby yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Harry E. Back presented a report on the closing session of the evening school for adult education at Killingly high school, this being a work in which the D. A. R. has a very special interest. As chairman of the committee on preservation of historic spots, Mrs. Albert S. Field, of Brooklyn, read a report dealing with a number of particularly interesting historic places in that town. A report dealing with the recent 35th annual state convention of the D. A. R., at Derby, was presented by Mrs. L. S. Ingalls. Piano and vocal solos were given by Miss Ruth Clark and Mrs. Kenneth Michle.

An especially interesting feature of the meeting was the calling of the roll by the registrar, Mrs. William Pike, the members responding and in each instance naming their Revolutionary ancestors and telling something of their war records.

At the close of the business meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses—Mrs. Henry D. Crosby, Miss Elizabeth Woodworth, Mrs. Leonard James, Mrs. W. E. Frissell and Mrs. Heath.

In the latter part of May, Rev. John Reese Jones, rector of St. Andrew's church at Norwich, is to come to Danielson as rector of St. Alban's church here and Trinity church at Brooklyn, succeeding Rev. Leonard R. Richards, now of Pomfret.

Rev. Mr. Jones is a native of Wales and a graduate of Dorchester Theological seminary and has a degree from the University of Durham, England. Following his graduation, Rev. Mr. Jones went to the Canadian northwest, taking up missionary work in that section in 1913. He was ordained in Saskatchewan, and remained in that territory as a missionary for four years, then going to Andover, New Brunswick, to serve a parish there for eight years.

During a furlough in England he served as curate at St. Francis church, Bristol, the third largest church in that city. Rev. Mr. Jones has numbers of friends and acquaintances in Danielson and vicinity, having visited here occasionally with Rev. Leonard Richards while he was the rector of St. Alban's.

Real Estate For Sale—A fine eight-room house at 170 Connecticut Mills avenue, and a tidy six-room shingled cottage on Francis street, with improvements; both on easy terms, rent payment plan if desired. I will also sell on first reasonable offer 10,000 square feet of land, with the buildings thereon, this property located on railroad siding at Cottage street. Don't wait. See J. C. Witter.—Adv.

This evening the third annual Killingly high school speaking contest was held at the auditorium at the school with numbers of parents and others interested in the activities of the school in attendance. The speakers were Thomas Day, Susan LeGendre, Gladding Hutchins, Florence Loiselle, Ruth Albro, Andreas Haveles, George Ingalls and W. Eldridge Parker. The speakers were representative of the junior, sophomore and freshman classes.

In the course of his proclamation on Clean-up week in Danielson, Warden Harry E. Back says: "Residents are urged to clean up lawns, back yards, and indeed all premises belonging to them, and the streets, highways and sidewalks adjoining these properties. Such universal action will result in lessening fire hazards, improve health conditions and further beautify our already attractive municipality. It will also have a tendency to improve conditions here throughout the year. It will, by example and practice, cultivate habits of cleanliness and orderliness among the youth."

Next Tuesday evening an important meeting of Brooklyn grange is to be held in Unitarian hall in that place. It is to be Neighbors' Night and numbers of visiting grangers are expected. A special guest of the evening will be Charles M. Gardner, high priest of Demeter.

Parts for the graduation exercises of the senior class of Killingly high in June have been assigned. The honor essays are to be written and presented by Mervin Chase and Ellen Klvisto, they having the highest averages for their four years' work in the school. The class president, Louis Lague, will deliver the address of welcome. Another essayist will be Miss Cora Browne. Elwood Spencer will be the class historian, while the prophecy will be jointly prepared by Vivian Harrington and John Stockton. Marguerite Lannon has the class will and DeForest Wells, Jr., will make the presentation address.

Committees appointed incident to the graduation exercises include: Ode, Misses Monica Lambert, Betty Gardner, Louise Terwilliger; programs, Misses Rose Heneault, Ethel Birch, Anna Sambroski; motto, Sara Dimond, Vera Franklin, Richard Tillinghast; picnic, Tessie Potter, Alice Tracy, Gertrude Pradel; gift, Marion Yeomans, Micoline Jaworski, Philip Clarke; class marshal, Andreas Haveles; head ushers, Bertram Hammond, Mary Haveles; assistant ushers, Thomas Day, Alice Vachon, Emmett Clarie, Olive Burns, Howard Hutchins, Gertrude Reynolds, John Waldron, Olive Day, John McKeon, Beatrice Beckett.

The iris was selected as the class flower. The class colors are purple and gold.

Dr. W. H. Judson, as health officer of the borough, issued another statement this afternoon relative to Clean-up week. He stated that in his periodical inspection of meat markets, ice cream parlors, drug stores, candy stores, restaurants and other such places are nearly all carefully complying with law, and that no better stock of eatables can be found anywhere in towns of this size. Dr. Judson spoke in particular praises of the drug stores here, and the very neat condition in which they are kept.

Dr. Judson said that outside rubbish and accumulations in the rear of buildings must be removed and that each building must be provided with a covered receptacle in which to place waste matter. Unsightly and unsanitary conditions in the rear of buildings cannot and will not be endured, the health officer states.

A high wind regarded by some it awakened here during the early hours of this morning as the fag end of the gale that did damage in Hartford swept over this section without doing any harm.

Dr. Hugh B. Campbell, of Norwich, will be here next Tuesday to conduct a chest clinic at the health station in the town hall building.

Rev. F. R. Sanford, of Stonington, will conduct the services at St. Alban's church on Sunday.

Members of the Nazarene church are to hold a prayer meeting at the home of George Paine, on the Green Hollow road, Sunday afternoon.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Baptist church held a food sale at the F. O. Plummer store this afternoon.

Rev. Alma E. Gallup, pastor of the Nazarene church, is at South Portland, Me., attending the New England district meetings of the Nazarene church.

At 2:17 this afternoon the fire department was called out to control a grass fire that broke out in territory on the north side of Hawkins street.

George Cook has returned to Danielson after spending the winter in Florida and Cuba, as has been his custom for a long term of years.

For the better protection of property in that section, a fire hydrant is to be installed on Railroad street near the new stockhouse of LaBelle & Page.

Numbers of republicans here are under the impression that President Coolidge is to be renominated at Kansas City, and they appear to feel certain that this will come about.

Rev. U. O. Bellerose, pastor of St. Mary's parish at Putnam, addressed the members of the Danielson Rotary club last evening.

William C. Langevin, of Fall River, is spending the week-end with friends in Danielson.

Miss Beatrice Beckett is to sing at the Sunday evening service at the Westfield Congregational church.

The Anderson Mill Supply company has been incorporated with Walter Anderson as president. The concern will do business in Danielson, serving mill trade throughout New England and in other parts of the country.

Saturday evening of this week members of the Patriotic club of East Killingly are to meet to make plans for the observance of Independence day.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Shad and trout were occupying the attention of the local fishermen fifty years ago this week. Shad, that week, made their appearance in the Thames and Shetucket river. The trout season opened that week but the trout were not very plentiful. Park church Sunday school observed its second anniversary at the church, the same week. Interesting extracts taken from the files of The Bulletin of April 1873 are as follows:

Monday, April 15, 1878—The Yale university crew will be able to commence practice on the Thames but a little more than a week before the great race, as the annual examinations will require them to remain in New Haven. Mr. E. C. Cooke of the Free Academy, who has we believe rowed in three of the university contests, and gave considerable time to boating during the whole four years of his college course, will assist in coaching the crew after it comes to the Thames.

Charlie Wilkinson's Combination are to perform the old play "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at Breed hall, next Friday evening. This old, well worn, but everywhere popular drama, always fills the house. Give them a full hall this time.

You can go trouting today without violating the law. The law and the trout are generally off at the same time.

The Rev. Dr. Ella, who will be remembered as having been stationed at one time in Norwich, has been appointed presiding elder of Springfield, Mass. district of the session of New England M. E. conference, just closed.

Tuesday, April 16, 1878—Several changes have taken place in the corps of teachers of the West Chelsea schools at this vacation, and among them is the resignation of Miss Mary Stanton of the intermediate department, Pearl street, who has been a teacher in the district for about eight years. Miss Nellie Smith takes the position. The schools of this district resumed last week, instead of yesterday, the vacation having been but one week in length, while that of the central district was for two weeks.

The registration of dogs under the new law was begun in earnest yesterday and upwards of 20 fees were taken during the day. The chairman of the board of assessors was the first gentleman on the ground. As the law does not become operative until May 1st this beginning augurs well for a large list. The new statute adds materially to the duties of the town clerk as this labor has in years past developed upon the board of assessors and dogs have been given in much as other property.

Amy Stone in the play of Franchon, the Cricket, was not greeted with as large an audience at Breed hall, last evening, as her popularity merits, a fact easily accounted for when it is remembered that this is perhaps the most difficult week of the year for an entertainment to attract an audience. The entertainment was given under the management of Messrs. Andrew and Harris.

At St. Mary's church, Sunday, occurred the annual palm services in commemoration of Christ's entry into Jerusalem.

Wednesday, April 17, 1878—The lovers of music will be gratified to learn that the choral union is to give the Oratorio of the Passion or the Last Words of Our Saviour on the Cross, with orchestral and organ accompaniment, at the Park church, next Friday evening.

Mr. Charles Cogswell of the Second National Bank, has been unable to attend of his duties for a day or two past, owing to slight bruises from a fall at his place on Lincoln avenue Saturday.

Victory lodge, I. O. G. T. give an entertainment at Grand Army hall this evening. Among the attractions are Madame Jarley's Wax Figures and Lord Dundreary's Visit.

Mr. William H Shrew and lady have returned from their wedding tour.

The early housewife has begun the spring house-cleaning.

Fashion week follows Passion week they say.

Thursday, April 18, 1878—The trout have not been found very plenty by the fishermen as yet, but two anglers, Messrs. Rawson, caught a string Tuesday that weighed 17 1-2 pounds which is an uncommonly good catch for these parts.

The contract for building the new 91 feet bridge and abutments at Fitchville, was awarded, Saturday, to C. V Pendleton of Bozrah. Parties were in town yesterday, to make the written agreement.

J. H. Truman opens the season, as usual, on fine strawberries, this morning.

The First Baptist church will continue its meetings every evening in the week save Monday.

One of Spalding's double teams, with a load of merchandise, had a narrow escape from serious accident, Monday, by collision with the afternoon train for New London. The iron at the end of the pole, struck the engine, and was broken off squarely but no other damage was done.

Friday, April 19, 1878—If the building of a 40-ton yacht on the West Side is not the occasion of the unusual stir in the small-boat business along the river, we are at a loss to say what does cause it. At all events the number of rowboats and sail boats that are being constructed is legion. The lumber dealers are doing lots of business in selling boards for making small boats.

The shad have made their appearance in the Shetucket and also down the Thames and the fishermen are bringing them into the market. None were caught before this week and they are not very plenty. The catch, it is supposed, will be fully as large if not larger than last year. By the way, a shad, weighing seven and a quarter pounds, was taken from the Connecticut, at Saybrook, Tuesday, the largest that has been caught in that river in several years.

Prof. Hutchison gave a most interesting sketch of the Turkish field of Christian work, at the Park chapel last evening and will follow it up shortly with a statement of the present condition of the work there.

An increase of scholars at the Laurel Hill school has been the occasion of one class transferred to School street, and of course some of the parents feel badly about it.

The barge New England, freighted with 600 tons of coal, consigned to Chappell & Co., the largest load that ever came up to the city, arrived from Perth Amboy, yesterday.

Saturday, April 20, 1878—The fourth anniversary of the Park church Sunday school occurred last Sunday, the second Sunday of April; but it will be celebrated tomorrow. The exercises will be held in the church at half past ten.

Woodworth & Small open their new drugstore in Cranston block, Thames street, West Side, today. Mr. Woodworth was with the late Wm S Tyler for several years. Mr. Small served a long apprenticeship in Providence.

L. D. Armstrong, superintendent of one of the paper mills in Greeneville, was presented on his birthday, which occurred Thursday, by his friends of that part of the city, with a cane of unique pattern. The handle is of buckhorn from Hindostan, and the staff of fine wood brought from Strausberg, Germany.

MYSTIC

When New London County Pomona grange, No. 8 met with Mystic grange Thursday in Grange hall, the morning session was devoted to business and conferring the fifth degree on a class of candidates. Dinner was served in the vacant store in the Main block, with Mrs. Lucy Massey, chairman. About 170 were served, baked beans, mashed potato, cabbage salad, brown bread, rolls, pickles, pie and coffee. The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers and flowering plants by Mrs. John F. Meyers. The officers' tables had a beautiful basket made of hemlock and flowers by Mr. Meyers. The meeting was called to order at 2 p. m. The lecturers program was open to outsiders. The members included a song, Mrs. Lucy Burdick, lecturer of Mystic grange gave a humorous reading, "My Suffering Sisters" with encore; Brother (Rev.) Charles A. Downs of Killingly grange gave an interesting address which was greatly appreciated. After another song members of Mystic grange presented a pageant, Girls of America. The singing was by Mrs. Marion Gremley and Miss Helen Allen. The characters were: Indian Maid, Marion Gremley; Puritan Maid, Hazel Main; Colonial Maid, Delores Brown; Yankee Girl, Maud Walbridge; Southern Girl, Evelyn T Main; school girl of today, Delores Neff; western girl, Helen Allen; today's home girl, Margaret Morgan; college girl, Sally Wilkins; girls in khaki, Marion Brown; Red Cross girl, Harriet; the bride, Mrs. Sarah S. Higbee; North East, South, West, all the girls. Mrs Bills acted as lecturer in the place of her daughter, Mrs. Marion Beckwith, who was unable to be present. Central Deputy Myron Case of Hemlock grange, Portland, inspected the books and complimented the secretary on the excellent record. Central Pomona has 300 more members than New London, but the average attendance is less. He praised the degree work and the nice dinner served. Master R. Frederic Dunham, of Fairfield County Pomona also spoke in the highest terms of the meeting, the attendance and dinner and invited all to attend a meeting of his Pomona grange. The woman who cut corners with health

For a long time she had gotten by. Living on shoestring energy. Cutting corners with health. But now she was paying. Enthusiasm, fun, play—they were almost total strangers. Now, the least little thing tired her completely out.

What a tragedy that so many people let constipation go on neglected, doing its deadly work. Constipation saps vital strength. Thieves youth. Mars beauty. And it frequently leads to serious disease in the end.

And the pity is that it is so easy to relieve. So simple to prevent. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring prompt relief. Pleasant, safe prevention!

ALL-BRAN is effective and natural

Bulk or roughage relieves constipation in a natural way. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes bulk in generous quantity because it is 100% bran. It carries moisture throughout the intestines — gently exercising them, sweeping out poisonous wastes. Part-bran products seldom contain sufficient bulk to be completely effective. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. Because it is 100% bran.

So much better than harsh drugs

ALL-BRAN brings lasting relief. Far better than habit-forming pills and laxatives whose dose must be constantly increased and which are only temporarily effective. An appetizing cereal food. ALL-BRAN is delicious with milk or cream—with fruits or honey added. Use it in cookery, too. Mix it with other cereals. Sprinkle into soups. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal.

But be sure you have genuine Kellogg's. Don't take chances with part-bran substitutes. ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants. On diners. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Guaranteed! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

LEBANON

Rev. A. G. Littlefield preached Sunday from the text Our Citizenship is in Heaven.

In the evening there was a union service at the Baptist church. Eight jubilee singers from Willimantic were present and sang several negro melodies and solos. The pastor of the Willimantic church preached the sermon.

A supper was served in the parlors of the Congregational church Thursday. This was followed by a stereopticon lecture on Labrador at Grange hall. Following the lecture, the grange held a short meeting.

The prizes offered by the Rumford Baking Powder Co. for the best biscuit made with their baking powder were won by the following pupils of the L. M. High school: First prize, $3, Katherine Andrews; second prize, $2, Florence Oden; third prize, $1, Elizabeth Brewster. In addition to the cash prize, each girl received a Rumford cook book.

Miss Helen Taylor of the Normal school, Willimantic, has been ill with laryngitis at her home.

Rev. A. G. Littlefield, David Pitcher, Howard Jones and Leslie Clark were in Hartford Tuesday and Wednesday to attend the republican convention as delegates.

There was an all-day meeting of the Ladies' Mission circle in the chapel of the Baptist church Tuesday, the men coming to dinner.

Wednesday social Corner Club No. 3 held a meeting in the chapel of the Baptist church with a good attendance from Norwich, Willimantic, Scotland, Franklin and Lebanon. Mrs. Clara Standish was hostess. After a bountiful dinner, a short program of readings, a monolog and music was given.

Mrs. Elizabeth Troland and Mrs. Revere Beebe visited their aunt, Mrs. Hannah Hancock, in Meriden Sunday.

Mrs. Vera Manning and two sons of Norwich spent Sunday with Mrs. Manning's father, E. A. Hoxie.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bruce of New York are spending some time with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Bruce.

Erroll Williams is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Alfred Abet in Bozrah.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Chappell and little son of Plainville spent Sunday with Mrs. Chappell's brother, Lloyd Grant, and family.

Revere Beebe spent Sunday with his mother at Quaker Hill, Waterford.

Mrs. Nellie Thayer and son, Winfred, Miss Gladys Pellett, Mr. and Mrs. Norman and son, all of New London, spent Sunday with Mrs. Thayer's sister, Mrs. Martha Segar, and called on Mrs. Thayer's daughter, Mrs. Albert Wheaton.

GOSHEN

The Community club held its annual business meeting Friday evening, April being a month with an R in it, the last oyster supper of the season was enjoyed by the members. The following officers were chosen: President, Miss Dorothy Davies; Ralph Kenyon, first vice president; E. W. Jones, second vice president; Clara Gillett, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. E. W. Jones, organist. It was voted to hold one meeting each month on Friday evening of the second week.

Henry and William Barrows have returned from a two weeks' visit to Rockville.

E. W. Jones, A. G. Littlefield, David Pitcher and Leslie Clark have been in Hartford attending the republican convention as delegates from this town.

Miss Dorothy McCall has returned to Devon, Pa., where she is teaching physical culture in a girls' private school. While here Miss McCall made a short visit with her brother and his family in Saybrook.

Miss Annie Mitchell has returned from New York, where she spent several months.

Mr. and Mrs. George Malcotte and family, who have occupied the parsonage since last October, will move Saturday to a house in Bozrahville, to be nearer Mr. Malcotte's place of employment. Many friends regret their leaving.

Misses Annie and Clara Gillette attended the meeting of the League of Women Voters in Lebanon Monday.

ANDOVER

The annual father and sons' banquet was held in the town hall Friday evening under the auspices of the Men's club.

The grange conferred the first and second degrees on a class of four Monday evening. A short program followed the degree work.

Royal D. Webster of Webster, Mass., was at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary L. Webster, Thursday.

Judge Edward Yeomans is reported to be on the gain after a severe illness.

STOCK PRICES DROPPED SLIGHTLY IN AN IRREGULAR MARKET YESTERDAY

NEW YORK, April 20—(AP)—Stock prices broke sharply at the opening of today's market, recovered all or most of their losses in an impressive midday rally, and then sold off again in the last hour. Final quotations disclosed a long list of net declines ranging from 1 to 10 1-2 points, interspersed with a small sprinkling of gains which ran from 1 to 5 1-2 points. Although several large blocks of stocks changed hands during the day, the day's sales failed to come up to the 4,000,000 share mark crossed in each full session last week.

Initial declines ranged from 1 to 7 points on selling obviously inspired by the unexpected advance from 4 to 4 1-2 per cent in the rediscount rates of the Boston and Chicago Federal Reserve banks and by the huge increase in brokers' loans last week. Buying support was quickly provided and a brisk rally was under way before the end of the first half hour.

By early afternoon many of the losses had been recovered and more than a score issues were selling 3 to 6 points above yesterday's final quotations. The recovery was stimulated by the lowering of the call money rate from 4 3-4 to 4 1-2 per cent and the placing of large scale buying orders by powerful speculative pools.

Selling broke out again in the last hour on the circulation of reports that another "important statement" was to be issued at 3 p. m., presumably by the Federal Reserve board, but no such statement developed at that hour. Closing quotations were around the lowest of the day. Little attention was paid by the market to the day's trade developments which, however, failed to throw little night light on the business situation.

Radio, opening 7 points lower at 175 1-2, rallied to 185 1-2 and then dipped to 172, off 10 1-2 points on the day. General Motors rallied from an opening price of 189 to 191 3-8, slipped back to 187 3-4 and rebounded to 188 1-2, off 3 1-2 net. U. S. Steel common closed 2 3-8 points lower at 145 3-8 after having sold above 147.

Dupont broke 8 points to 374 and rallied to 375. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe fell 7 points to 263. Net declines of 3 points or more were recorded by a broad list including American Power & Light, American Zinc & Lead preferred, Burroughs Adding Machine, A. M. Byers, Case Threshing, Chesapeake & Ohio, Collins & Aikman, Commonwealth Power, Consolidated Cigar, Electric Auto Lite, Greene ananea Copper, Hudson Motors, International Harvester, International Telephone, Montgomery-Ward, Otis Elevator, Rossia Insurance, Sloss Sheffield Steel, Timken Roller Bearing, Vick Chemical, Warren Bros. and Westinghouse.

American Railway Express rallied 5 points and more to net gains were registered by Butterick, Detroit Edison, Interbourgh Rapid Transit, Martin Parry, Standard Milling and Willys Overland.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Reports of heavy rain in the Kansas area brought a sharp break in wheat futures, declines running around 3 cents a bushel. Mixed news regarding cotton had only moderate effect on the price, with the close 5 to 9 points under yesterday's final figures. Other commodity prices also were heavy coffee rulling slightly lower and corn and oats falling off about a cent a bushel each.

Japanese yen were quoted 10 points higher around 47 60 cents, while Portuguese Escudos jumped 15 points to 4.35 cents. Other foreign exchanges were easier, demand sterling ruling slightly lower around 4.83 1-4.

THE SOCIAL CORNER

HE WHO WOULD GATHER ROSES MUST NOT TEAR THE THORNS.

THANKS MEMBERS FOR LETTERS

Social Corner Editor and Writers: Hello, all! What cold weather for April 16th. Thermometer was 24 above at 7.30 a. m. when I looked. It sure seems like winter.

Nonesopretty: Your nice letter and birthday card received. I think you for card and nice letter, so cheery and full of sunshine. Will write soon. April 11th I went to Aunt Jerusha's on an errand. She invited me to hear weather predictions over radio. First time I ever heard one. After getting weather predictions, we got Irish love songs and several other songs. I certainly did enjoy it all. Wish you had one, so you could enjoy it.

Violet: Hope you are better. So sorry you were scalded so bad. Take good care of it and don't get cold. Hope you and boys get busy with camera and send me some snapshots of their 4-H club calves. Will send the roots and shrubs you asked for when a little warmer. This weather keeps me busy with wood and fire.

Joan: You have beaten me. I haven't planted a thing yet. Got brush for peas, but have to wait until I can go and buy a spading fork to get ground ready, or would have had garden all spaded up and peas and radish in long ago.

Crimson Rambler: Did you get card? Suppose you are very busy with spring work. I would love to see your rugs. You sure deserve a prize on so many kinds. I have rags for some but wrist is bad and I cannot make or crochet them. A torn muscle or catrilage is easier to tear up than to heal. Doctor says I must not use it, but doctors do not know it all. Circumstances alter cases, you know, but I hope to outgrow it with age.

Aries: Many thanks for nice Easter cards and nice letter. You don't know how much cheer it brought to me. I am glad your turkeys, geese and ducks are laying good. Would like a snapshot of your flocks. Hope your cold is better. How is the wild flowers? I have picked bluetts, lady's tobacco and spice wood last week. I saw some cowslip blooms but so cold they all looked out of season.

J. E. T.: Where are you, lost, strayed or stolen? Write me a letter or have you a radio and busy? Hope you and hubby are well.

Lindsey: Many thanks for the lovely card. Your poem was fine.

Ann Tenna: Your letter was nice.

Forget-Me-Not: Did I come to your house when you were moving, and you gave me two nice cakes? I think so. Write again and tell me.

Ormandine: I thank you for your letter. Have sent one to you. Hope you get it O. K. and I hear from you soon.

Begonia: Spring is here. If it is cold, hope to see a Corner letter from you now, or better yet, one to me would be still better. I often think of you and wonder how you are. I can see so many buses, but in distance can see Lebanon Baptist church but cannot get to the services held there. Mr. Turner was a good friend of ours and I did love to hear him preach, not read sermons as pastors do now. I love the good old-fashioned sermons direct from the Bible, don't you? I often think of the old choir 45 years ago, and the nice singing, and the organist then. Most all have been called by a higher power than man's, but the songs and voices will always remain with me as pleasant memories of the past.

Best wishes to the sick and shutins and all the rest of the Corner members.

L. T. H.

REGRETS BURNING OF CHURCH

Dear Editor and Social Corner Friends: I was more than surprised when I got last Saturday's Bulletin and saw that the dear old church in Moosup was burned. Many a Sunday I have been there, called by the sound of the old bell. Now it is silent, but I hope it will soon be replaced by a new one. Eighty-two years ago my father was baptised and had his name added to the church list. The pastor was the dear good man, Reverend P. Brown, one of the finest men in the pastorate I knew him when I was a girl. I had many class-mates there in Sunday school. We were all young and fair, full of bright hopes for the future but like myself they are now aged and grey. Each has had her share of life's cares.

I had planned to go to the Moosup church some Sunday this summer and hear the sweet tones of the beautiful pipe organ but now it is in the ruins. Wish I could help to build a new church for I know daddy and mother would if they were living and it grieves me to think I cannot do anything but pray for those that try to rebuild the dear old church.

Aries: Have you any early flowers in bloom? There are some crocuses in the backyard. How is Adam? Tell him to send in a letter about his sojourn in the south.

L. T. H.: Will answer your letter soon. Wish I lived near enough to you so I could come and help you for I do love the dear old farm.

Rural Delivery: How are you? Hope you have not got the colds that are going around here.

Skipper: Now just send me a letter and let us get acquainted over again for I like to hear from old friends. It cheers one up so much when they are alone.

NONESOPRETTY

RELATING TO DOGS

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: Roe Fulkerson says: "I am a perfect fool about dogs. When I run across a wobbly-legged puppy trotting around on the bias and watch him sniffing at this, hurry away to chew on that, wagging his tail at the whole world, I forget all the good resolutions I made when my last dog died. I just gather the pup to my bosom and take him home to gnaw the corners off my suit case and dig in my flower beds and enjoy himself as all dogs are entitled to do.

"A city is no place for a dog to live. It is hard on the dog. Yet every family is entitled to a dog and every dog is entitled to a family to love, particularly if there is a boy in the home. Every dog has a divine right to a boy and every boy was intended to own a dog to love and fight for. Such a pup was Wee Nippy. I say nothing about Wee Nippy's pedigree. Wee Nippy thought he was a Scotch terrier. There is no sturdier kind of a dog. He is always ready to serve his master, and inch for inch, pound for pound, no better dog ever wagged a happier tail.

"We let Wee Nippy go on through life thinking he was a Scotch terrier, because he lived the life of a Scotch terrier. His ears and his tail were always erect. He was an upstanding, fighting, loving piece of dog stuff. When people asked us what kind of a dog he was, we always lied if Wee Nippy was listening, or put silencing fingers to our lips till he was out of hearing. Then we explained to inquiring friends that he believed he was a Scotch terrier and we were going to try to live up to it. He never faltered up to the time he ate the bottom out of a cane-seated chair. The cane cut his department of the interior or his giblets as the autopsy showed. So we laid him to rest with his favorite rubber ball. For that phase of Wee Nippy's, I refer you to Kipling's poem about giving your heart to a dog to tear. I have had no other dog since Wee Nippy. I swore at his death, with tears in my eyes, that I never would give my heart to another dog; but I swore the same at the deathbed of my other dogs! I probably will not keep my oath any more than you kept yours made under the same circumstances.

"Our not letting Wee Nippy find out he was not a Scotch terrier had a big influence in his life. He looked a Stoch terrier, he acted like a Scotch terrier, he fought like one and he loved like one, because he thought he was one.

"I have known a lot of people like that; men who thought they were orators, singers, reciters, dancers and what-nots, who acted like orators, singers, reciters, dancers and what-nots, going through the motions, carrying themselves through life under the delusion that they were orators or what have you? really maintaining all the ancient landmarks and customs of what they thought they were until the final peek in.

"It is so easy to criticize people. It is so easy to be sarcastic about their efforts. It is so easy to laugh at them! Most literary critics are soured by their own lack of success; most art critics are painters who failed to make a name for themselves, but the most successful critics encourage rather than make fun, build up rather than tear down."

FINE PROGRAM AT CLUB MEETING

Dear Social Corner Members: Once again the Social Corner club has held a meeting at the Grange hall in North Stonington. There were between 90 and 100 present. Cosmos and her helpers ably served the food brought in rolls, pickles, pies, cakes and doughnuts with cheese and coffee being the menu. Lucile Drew dertainly planned a fine program, much of it being original. Mrs. Ernest Gray sang two selections in her pleasing manner with Mrs. Whitman at the piano, who also favored us with piano solos. The recitation by Cosmos, who was dressed for the part, brought much applause. Little Beverly Gray showed us some of the latest steps and Master Douglass Gray gave a recitation thanking all for their attendance which with some readings and tableaux made a full program. We missed the Mystic members but illness and a funeral kept them away. Norwich, Franklin Groton, Weekapaug, Westerly and Stonington were well represented.

Commuter: Hope you arrived home O. K. Some surprise when I told the news at home.

Crimson Rambler: Was disappointed in not seeing you.

Wens and Wheeler: It sure was good to see you with us again and on the program too.

Phoebe Ann: It's your turn now Shame on you if you don't.

NEW WAY TO SCRAMBLE EGGS

Dear Social Corner Members: First of all, Beth C. wishes me to thank all those who have so kindly remembered her, during her sickness, with cards, cheering letters, flowers and reading matter. It was very pleasing to know that so many thought of her and we thank you all.

E. L. M.: No, we haven't moved to another town. We are staying very close to the same place. I was sorry to have missed you and Y. Y. that day and it was my second afternoon out in weeks. Come again.

Rose Lee: Your card received and will try and answer soon.

Eliza Jane: Your letter was good and another would be appreciated.

Joan: Will try and write you before long. Your flower came in fine condition. I thank you. The poem you sent to the Corner is good. I try to do just that, but some times it is hard I know you practice it real well.

As I write this the wind is blowing and it is so cold, doesn't look to me like an early spring.

Now for a helpful hint as eggs are cheaper now: I wonder how many scramble eggs in a frying pan over direct heat. I always did until I learned a better way. Try cooking them in the cereal cooker over boiling water, using one tablespoonful of milk to each egg, a bit of salt and pepper and stirring altogether slightly. Remove from the hot water before the eggs are fully cooked (as egg mixture continues to thicken after being removed from heat). Add a generous piece of butter and you will have a good dish. We consider it much better than when I cooked the eggs over direct heat Here's hoping all the sick will soon get well and those who are well will continue so.

PAPERING AND PAINTING

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Greetings: Wild Geranium and I attended the last meeting of Social Corner Club No. 1 in Willimantic and had a very pleasant time, as usual. Some of the members are girlhood friends and we enjoy visiting with them very much. Also enjoy meeting and making new acquaintances. Every one is friendly and tries to make every one else have a good time. The dinners are fine. The sisters are certainly good cooks.

Housecleaning time again! Hubbie and I have been papering and painting. If any of the sisters do their own papering and have trouble making the paper stick, would suggest a coat of size for the walls first. If you haven't the size, put a little dry glue or sugar in the paste when making it.

In painting I use a flat white paint first and a gloss paint over that. The gloss paint is so easily cleaned.

In whitening the ceilings care must be taken or the laps will show. In taking the brush from the whitening fluid, do not start in where you left off, but begin ahead a little way and work back to the place where you left off. In this way the laps will not show much.

Hope Cobweb, Just Jill, Mary France and Nyack-on-the-Hudson, where were all of you? We missed you.

Huldy: Have you arrived from the sunny south yet? Hope to see you at the May meeting.

Wisteria: Think your better half was waiting for you when we passed the corner on our way home. Did not see him, but thought it was your car.

Best wishes to all.

EXAMINE VEGETABLES REGULARLY

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Dear Ethelyn, you said it just right in last Saturday's Social Corner paper. I am with you there. It is never a good plan to overstock one's kitchen or china closets. Reserve a portion until the dishes and utensils in service originally may be no longer fit for use. It is better to buy these articles a few at a time and only of the best quality. A reliable clock should find a place in the kitchen. A slate also should be provided for keeping orders on or tab and pencil tacked up close at hand, ready for use. A drawer should be set apart for clean towels, also a rack for holding those not in immediate use. Never permit one to lay a damp cloth or towel about the kitchen carelessly. Those which are clean may be hung on the rack; if soiled, they should be put in the wash.

Linoleum makes a satisfactory covering for the kitchen floor and is easily kept clean. White enameled cloth will make attractive covering for the table and shelves.

And in the cellar when vegetables are stored in quantity they should be looked over regularly and all those which show signs of growing or of becoming wilted, or soft or discolored should be either used at once or discarded.

After the cellar is cleaned up and swept each week, sprinkle over the floor in every part a solution of chloride of lime and clean water.

Stanza: I am going to try your javalle water soon as I have some more bags to be washed to get the print out. No doubt it will help.

Kitty Lou: Will be more than glad to hear from you, sister.

Many thanks to our kind editor for printing my poem on "Now." How true it is.

DEFINES THE WORD "KNOCKER"

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Are you able to define the word "knocker"? I have solved the problem. I have come to the conclusion they are liars. Why liars? Well, I'll tell you. The "knocker" says that party doesn't know anything, when really he doesn't even know the party to speak to. How do they know the party they speak about is a fool? They don't know. Second, I think a knocker is a thief. Why a thief? He is trying to steal the good name that belongs to another by lying about him. Third, a coward, for he hasn't the courage to go to the party he is talking about and tell him he doesn't know anything. This speaking about knockers reminds me of Bruce Barton. He said one day during the war he dropped into the office of Josephus Daniels, who had just issued his celebrated order making the navy hone dry. The newspapers carried caustic editorials, the telephone rang angrily, men walked around the office with large packages of mail, but Josephus seemed as merry as a lark. "You don't appear very much worried by what they are saying about you?" I ventured. "Oh, no," he laughed; "one of my men upstairs is opening the mail and sorting the letters in two piles—those that praise me and those that abuse me. So far the two piles are running neck and neck."

Every man who holds a position of responsibility expects criticism. It is part of the discipline.

If you are doing work that seems to you unimportant, waste no time in verbal victories or answering petty criticisms. Adopt the motto of the great Englishman: "Never explain; never retract; never apologize. Get it done!" That is as near as I remember it, but I think it is a good motto, don't you?

I read a little story written by a little girl:

Once upon a time there was a rich old king who was a miser. He had all the gold anyone could think of having. No one was ever allowed to enter his castle, for he was afraid they would take his gold. He thought more of that than anything else in the world.

One day a little fairy came to the king's castle. She had heard of this miserly old king and his gold; so she wished to see if what she had heard was true. She walked up to the door and rang the bell. One of the servants came but would not let her in. She took out her little fairy wand, which was also magic, and spoke these words to it: "Little wand, little wand, bring forth the gold of this miserly king," and the little wand brought forth all the gold of the king."

The servant shouted: "Oh, you are a fairy! Oh, please return the gold, and I will let you in; the king would die without his gold."

"No, it is too late now. What my wand taketh, it shall keep," responded the little fairy, so she trotted down the road. As she passed fields and meadows she sprinkled the gold over them. Then beautiful white daisies sprung up with golden centers. She then said: "All the people will have this gold and the miserly old king will never see it again."

And so every night, do you know, the king and many servants would go out looking and hoping also praying, that they would find her and the gold. But little did they know that they had passed many fields and meadows where the little white daisies were hiding the gold. Not even till this day, nor did he ever see this little fairy again. Every night the daisy hides its gold by closing its little white petals over it, so that the king or anyone can steal it from her.

HINTS FOR GROWING FERNS

Dear Social Corner Sisters: If not too late I will answer present to the roll call for 1928.

I saw in last Saturday's Corner page where one of the sisters asked about the care of ferns.

As I have had quite good luck with them, I will tell her how I care for them. If an old plant, shake all the dirt off and then have some leaf mold, so called, which is the dirt that has stood under old leaves for a time. You can get it along the country roads or in the woods. Then put a few stones in the bottom of flower pot and fill most full of dirt. Then set in fern but do not cover the crown of plant or you will kill it. Water well, but do not keep water in saucer under pot as that will make the dirt sour. Set away in a shady place for a week or two for the roots to set, and then keep in a window, where it can get the morning sun. Also keep little fingers away from leaves for when a leaf loses the little curl on the end it will not grow any more.

Hoping that you will try this and see how it will grow for you and other sisters that have trouble with ferns I will close by sending best wishes for good health to our editor and all the Social Corner members.

MRS. FARMER

CALIFORNIA

Dear Social Club Sisters: It is not possible to tell you of all the beautiful sights I have seen the last ten days, because it can not be done.

A three-day trip to San Diego along the Pacific coast was beyond description. I can hardly believe such loveliness abounds. We started at 8 a. m. and rode through fields of blossomed orange trees. The perfume was so strong the whole car was filled with it and added to that beauty of the roses was some enjoyment.

About one-half way we stopped at the San Juan Capistrano mission, the loveliest one yet, and yet so sad. The church part is in good repair and services were being held. Fine singing. We wandered through the old buildings fast falling into decay, but so impressive. A wonderful flower garden surrounds the place. In a room for souvenirs some one in a soft voice said, "Hello," and a beautiful green parrot was just over my head. Birds began to sing and in looking around I espied three birds in a cage, one blue, one red and one green. The man in charge said one was a German bird, one a French bird and one Irish. One would start to sing, immediately followed by the others in succession. I went nearer and found they were mechanical birds, but about as cute a thing as I have ever seen. We ate our dinner at Oceanside and when at Carlsbad-by-the-Sea looked up a neighbor from Massachusetts and found her well and happy. Her home was surrounded with wild flowers as far as the eye could see. White and pink wild primrose and owl's head clover, a very odd but showy plant. Then on down the coast up a high hill called Torrey Pines because of the peculiar pine that grows there. Here I saw a glorious view of the ocean and looked over ranges of hills far inland and onto Mexico. On entering San Diego we went by the church where Ramona was married and through the old town. After finding a hotel and cleaning up, we called up a schoolmate of our early youth from Hampden, Maine. I had not seen her for 45 years and we were glad to talk over old times. We went to Balboa Park where the Pan American exposition was held and such plants and birds and buildings. I did not get into Mexico. My niece did not want to drive down there and the gentleman I had depended on had had an auto accident and could not drive. They told me it was a dreadful dirty place, so I did not go down in the bus.

The ride home was just as fascinating. We stayed in Carlsbad all night and stopped along on the beaches to gather shells. It was as fine a ride as fever had.

The next Saturday we started for the desert, one hundred miles away, to see the wild flowers. Such a country. We went through Mint canyon to Antelope valley. After we had secured a room in Lancaster we rode out, way out, through sand and sage bush. Far before us we saw a field all afire and could see the flames fan and as we grew nearer we found them to be fields of yellow or orange California poppies. We left the car and walked through them gathering great bunches, also a dear flower called Rattle Box. It looked like dwarf lupine. We rode way to the town of Mohava, getting out of the car often to look for flowers. The wind blew a gale and also the sand. I have never before seen such flowers as in California.

Today I have been through a Mexican adobe house. Such lovely old things to look at and such paintings. Next week we go to the Huntington galleries to see the collection of wonderful world famous paintings. I went yesterday through the old Plaza and the oldest church in Los Angeles.

Time is fast passing on and next month will find me back in Westerly again. But I certainly will have a lot to tell. Many thanks for all cards and letters. I have enjoyed them very much.

I have not seen Mrs. Slocum for some time, but will soon go and make arrangements for the home trip. I know she will be glad to come, but she has had a wonderful time.

On returning from our desert ride we went over to see the ruins of the big dam burst. Some months before we rode through this lovely valley and those same towns and they were glorious. This day a sad sight met our eye. They say the mud is 30 feet deep. Great gullies had run all over the area, chimneys of houses lying about, trees and orchards flat and not a house left in many of the towns. Piles of iron work were heaped up far inland where power plants had been washed away and only desolation was in sight. There were thousands of people to see the ruins, but camps are built up and order is being restored. Over 100 bodies have never been found. This way 45 miles from Los Angeles.

May will soon be here and I hope to see you all once again.

FIRST LETTER FROM STUB

Dear Social Corner Sisters: This is my first letter since I joined the Corner and having quite a time trying to write it. But wish to thank the Plaut-Cadden Co. for Club No. 5 for the song books which they have donated for use at our meetings.

Hope what few indoor meetings we will have will be as well attended as they have been all winter.

Perhaps some of the sisters would like to try my nut bread which is very easy to make.

Nut Bread: 1 ½ cups of flour, ½ cup nuts, 1 egg, 1½ teaspoons baking powder. Mix and let stand 10 minutes. Bake about 45 minutes.

I took my pen name from a dog we had.

If it takes as long to read this as it did to write it I don't think many of the sisters would have their Saturday's baking done very early.

CLUB NO. 4 MEETS MAY 3

Dear Social Corner Editor, Members and Friends: The Putnam sisters of Club No. 4 invite all members and friends to meet with them on Thursday, May 3rd in the guild room of St Philip's church, corner of Grove and Pleasant streets. Bring your dishes and food and come prepared for a good time, also prepared for roll call. Don't forget the date, May 3rd.

PINE CONE

CLUB PROGRAM FINE

Dear Social Corner Sisters and Editor: There was a good attendance of members and friends at the meeting of Shore Line club, No. 6, held in Grange hall at North Stonington on Tuesday. Cosmos and her helpers served a fine dinner. The program was in charge of Lucille Drew, and was very much enjoyed by all.

I wish to thank all the members who so kindly remembered me with cards on my birthday, also for the Easter cards sent me. Best wishes to all.

RUTHINA

GRAHAM BREAD

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: We heartily welcome Lizzie Tish to the Corner knowing she will be quite a help to us. Her city life should give her a vast amount of wisdom and ideas.

Here is my recipe for graham bread:

Graham Bread: 1 3-4 cups of graham flour, 1 1-4 cups of wheat flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup of sugar, five teaspoons of baking powder, all sifted together. Stir up with 1 cup of milk and 3-4 cup of water. This is fine if you don't believe it try it. Yours for the corner,

MAGGIE PRATT

JOINS THE CORNER

Dear Editor and Friends: I see there are a number of my friends joining the Corner so I thought I would like to join.

I am very much interested in the Social Corner page especially when they are writing about places I know well. Will take for my pen name

BAD WEATHER HALTS HOUSECLEANING

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: What weather, so cold and how the wind does keep up, one would think that it would blow itself out, but instead it seems to gain fresh strength every day.

More like March than April. The April showers have been lacking this month, but I suppose we will get them next month.

I started my housecleaning but, oh boy, it was cold enough to freeze a brass monkey so I quit.

I like to finish when I get started, but this weather can certainly put the damper on anything in the line of housecleaning.

Well Aries gave a good account of the last meeting of Club No. 2. We surely did have a large crowd. Sixty nine, I think, was the number counted.

The tables surely did look nice in their Easter decorations of lavender candles, lavender and white napkins, and favors of little Easter chicks.

Of course as lavender is my favorite color it naturally would appeal to me.

I want to thank most sincerely May Fayre, Calla Lily and Red Rose for without their wonderful help I never could have done it all.

After dinner every one helped in clearing the tables and I thank them also. It meant getting rid of a lot of work in a short time. We all enjoyed the program and I think Country Sister and myself enjoyed it most of all How about it Country Sister? Ha, ha.

Kitty Lou: I think of you every day and wonder if you are feeling better.

Mother Preston: Oh, how you have made my mouth water for that good butter milk. If I were only near you, I tell you, you would not have so much to throw away. I have always been very fond of it and it has been quite a while now since I have had any. I enjoy your letters, too, so write all you can.

Hope to see more letters in Saturday's paper. Last week we did not have so many.

Clarabee: Did you get that letter with contents? I see you have had another bad fire down there.

C. Sharp: Was very sorry to read in the paper about your husband's attack. Don't worry, my mother has just recovered from a very successful operation for the same thing. Believe me, I felt for you when I read it. I know the anxiety it causes. And poor Chrysanthemum, bad enough to have one to worry over, but two. She has my sympathy.

Well, will leave space for some one else so with best wishes to all, the same old

BLACK EYED SUSIE

FLORIDA.

Dear Editor and Readers: Here I am in sunny Florida and as I promised to write about my trip I will do so, though one can not do justice to this beautiful country on paper. I left home Feb. 21st with the thermometer at zero. After a sleepless night I was glad to improve some of the three hours' wait the next morning in Washington by taking a short walk. We passed the capitol and many fine buildings, but time was too short to do much sightseeing without a guide. So we resumed our journey, hoping to see more of the city on our return home.

Every thing being new to me was of interest. At times the train passed through the middle of the streets, again for miles and miles of the most desolate country, with sluggish streams (you could not call them rivers) filled with mustard colored water and the soil of the same dingy hue, with a sprinkling of pure white sand on top, giving it the appearance of a light fall of snow. Little mounds were everywhere, some brown, others white, so perfectly round that one could hardy believe they could be thrown up by a piece of Gopher. Human hands could not make them so perfect. For miles the only sign of life were the black Mammies washing outside their tumble-down shacks, a huge iron kettle being suspended over a fire. Numerous pickaninnies clad in the scantiest of clothing were apparently as happy as the black, white and brown pigs and pigs of all colors, spots and sizes that were evidently running wild. Mules nodded by the wayside; what any of them lived on is a question, as it was a most desolate country.

We passed cotton fields, and turpentine groves, where the bark is cut away in the form of an arrow pointing downward where small buckets are suspended to catch the turpentine as it drips. Then on by a spur track where huge mounds of phosphate had been deposited. After leaving Jacksonville the second morning the scenery changed. We were soon passing through beautiful places with attractive homes and grounds. Lovely flowers were in bloom, and the people were dressed in summer clothing.

At Alaka I saw my first orange tree loaded with its golden fruit, and what looked to me like a terrible waste, for the ground was covered with fallen fruit. I have been told the fallen fruit is never eaten. Soon the scrub-palmettos in great clusters were on all sides. I thought how fine one would look on the home lawn, but found they try to exterminate them by digging them up or burning over the land. The fibrous roots are sometimes used to make vegetable brushes. There is a beautiful Indian legend about the grey moss that hangs from many trees, so dense in places, one cannot see through, and as the long festoons swing and sway in the breeze it seems almost uncanny. It is dried and used in many ways for mattresses, auto cushions, etc.

I reached Lakeland the afternoon of the 23rd and was greeted by eight cousins, all from my home town. The thermometer registered 88, some change in two days and nights. The next morning I was awakened by the songs of the mocking-bird. They are a little smaller than our cat-bird, of a brownish grey with white feathers in wing and tail that only show in flight. Though still a little rocky from my 1700 ride, I accepted an invitation to visit Silver Springs, one of Florida's beauty spots, 100 miles north of Lakeland, where we went out in a glass bottomed boat with a native guide, who told us as we glided along the beautiful and tragic legend connected with its waters which are as clear as crystal, enabling one to see to a great depth. In places every color of the rainbow is shown in the water caused by the sun's rays on some mineral. Bubbling springs throwing up shells and lime formation has the appearance of corn popping and vegetable and sub-aquatic growths form a regular forest of dainty green, and lacy ferns and plants bloom beneath the great depth of water. Thirty kinds of fish, immense eels and 17 varieties of huge turtles are seen some 30 or 40 feet below. A long crevice 65 feet long called the Grand Cavern where 550,000,000 gallons of water flow daily is the largest known spring in the world. The book in which we registered had the names of people from all over the world. In one day 34 states were represented and seven foreign countries. This spring must be seen to be appreciated.

The next day I visited Winter Haven and called on some home friends, saw paw paw melons growing, also lime and kumquats. I picked my first orange blossoms. As all groves are posted one is not able to send many to their northern friends.

If this letter is not too lengthy and our kind editor will give me space, I will try and tell you about our trips down the east and west coast at another time. But before closing I want to thank a Social Corner member for a lovely floral calendar. I certainly appreciate the annual gift, and do hope this late acknowledgment will be overlooked. When it came I was hustling to get ready for my southern flight, and I sometimes feel I have been flying ever since as I have seen so much of interest.

SEEKING OLD TIME FRIENDS

Dear Editor and Friends: As my people once lived in Norwich and my sister and I went to Sunday school there I thought I might hear of some of my old time friends. I know the old song Daisy Dean and will send it in next week.

Nonesopretty: I arrived home all right, but tired.

I would like very much to join club No. 4.

GRAVEYARD LITERATURE.

Dear Editor and Social Corner Readers—I am sending a few specimens of graveyard literature. Our readers are requested not to laugh while reading them, as the situation is a "grave" one. Old Stephen was a fiddler for many years. When he died they put this epitaph on his grave.

Here lies Stephen the fiddler,
Once Stephen and Time were even;
Then Stephen beat Time,
But now Time's beat Stephen.

Ohio furnishes the following—

Under this sod and under these trees
Lies the body of Solon Pease;
He's not in this hole but only his pod.
He shelled out his soul and went up to God.

From New York—

He got a fish bone in his throat,
And then he sang an angel note.

From an old burying ground in Redding—

Our little Charlie,
He dropped into this world to taste life's bitter cup,
But turned his little head aside
Disgusted with the taste and died.

A Mississippi legislator has introduced a bill which would require automobile drivers and occupants to count five before proceeding over a railroad crossing. Hereafter a stroll through Mississippi cemeteries will probably reveal epitaphs of the following nature—

Here lies a man who might be alive
Except that he couldn't count up to five.
Shed a tear for Larry McQuirk,
He could right, but his brakes didn't work.
Our little Sut has gone to Heaven
Delightful with her past.
The chauffeur stopped, obeyed the law,
But counted too darned fast.

To which might be added—

Here lies the body of Silas Pease,
A train his corpse it hammered.
He tried to count five and would now be alive
If he hadn't got mad 'cause he stammered.

This is Humane Sunday, and I am alone again for the rest of the day and thought I would tell you all that the wonderful sword palm lily blossomed again for us this morning—it only lasts for the day. I tuned in and heard Dr. Palm's talk, also Dr. L. Parks Cadman. The old refrain from the Salvation Army Cadet band was good, and the news flashes from WEAF every hour and half hour to hear from the Bremen plane, kept me busy as well as anxious.

A SEWING OR MENDING MAT

Dear Social Corner Editor: The following are directions for making a sewing or mending mat: Make a two-yard square of denim or heavy ticking and with bias binding make a loop at each of the four corners, or if preferred it may be put at each corner. When sewing or mending place mat on floor and set sewing chair on it. When through mending, remove the chair and gather up the corners, shaking the bits of thread, cloth, etc., into the center. This can be easily shaken out and all the muss can be removed in a minute.

EARLY FLOWERS IN SEATTLE, WASH.

Dear Editor and Social Corner Friends: I expected to write in time to send greetings to you all on our 18th anniversary. But, failing to do so, I will just say howdy, and tell you how I enjoyed the many letters from both old and new members, especially Auntie No. 1's letter telling of the early days of the Corner members. We were few in number then, and many have gone to the higher life. Yet we are growing larger each year in membership. If I remember correctly, I joined the Social Corner in 1915. Our sister Hettie Marie sent me a copy of the Social Corner page and asked me to write to the Social Corner. I subscribed for The Bulletin and have received it ever since. I established the Social Corner garden the next year, several members sending me names of different flowers which I planted, and they were mostly a success. Our late editor sent me a dahlia bulb which he called the Rose of New England. It was a beautiful flower, but the third year I was very ill and could not care for the dahlia bulbs when they were taken out of the ground and therefore lost my choicest one. Although I have several varieties I have never been able to get one just like it.

Several of the Corner members sent me the names of a favorite flower.

I will give the names of those that I still remember: Sweet Lavender, Frank, Blanch, Jim, Etta Barber, Hettie Marie Wildwood Joan, Balsam Fir, Theoda, Pink Rose, Sally Sycamore, our late editor and Rural Delivery. I also chose the yellow California poppy for the Social Corner flower, as it is full of the sunshine color, and a good bloomer. My second visit to California was taken in the month of March. We passed by fields where the poppy was blooming; it was a thing of beauty; only to see it can one appreciate its beauty. I received a letter from one of our members today and she expressed a wish to know what variety of flowers were blooming in Seattle at the present time. I will just mention a few, as they start to bloom: Snow on the mountain, carmeal, violets, vilos, primrose, wild currant, pansy, English daisy, wallflower, hyacinth, jonquill, daffodil. There may be others I have not mentioned. The tulips are just coming out. We had a wet March, and it makes a late spring. The plum, pear and prune trees are in bloom, also the early cherries. Easter was an ideal day. Some 30,000 people gathered for Easter service in one of our city parks. Volunteer, and many of our pioneers never saw the sun rise before. From the 30,000 came the sweetest music one ever heard, from old and young. As the sun climbed over the Cascade mountains, across Lake Washing, I am sure everyone who gazed upon its grandeur gave thanks to the Creator of all life. A sunset on Puget sound is beyond expression, especially when the Olympics are covered with snow. This letter is already too long, so I will close. May the coming year bring many blessings to all members of the Social Corner. I am sure we should give much praise to our editor in his support to make the Corner page a success. Your western sister,

POTLATCH.

RECIPE FOR FRUIT SALAD

Dear Social Editor: Having been a reader of your paper for a long time, I would like to become a member. I am sending a rule for a very nice fruit salad: Chill a fresh pineapple, peel and cut across in half inch slices. Remove the core with an apple corer. Sprinkle the slices with powdered sugar. Cover and let stand at least one-half hour. Arrange slices of pineapple on lettuce for each serving. Place four sections of California orange one the pineapple. Mash one cream cheese and mix with it two tablespoons of orange pulp and two tablespoons of minced blanched almonds. Make into balls and place one in the center of each pineapple slice. Serve with French fruit dressing or cream mayonnaise. This French dressing is made by substituting one tablespoon of orange juice, one tablespoon of lemon juice and one tablespoon of pineapplejuice for the vinegar. Serve with this salad toasted saltine crackers sprinkled with paprika, or small bread and butter sandwiches garnished with a stuffed olive. These are nice to serve when you give your bridge party, either in the afternoon or in the evening.

I will take for my pen name

We are always glad to consider applications for LOANS on IMPROVED REAL ESTATE.

You are cordially invited to inspect our SAFE DEPOSIT DEPARTMENT where you will find boxes of various sizes at a small rental.

STONINGTON

At the meeting of the Travel club Tuesday next in the library, Rev. F. R. Sanford will be the speaker his subject "Benares, the Holy City." This will be the last meeting of the season.

Dr. Franklin Pierce, superintendent of secondary education in Connecticut made an inspection of the Stonington high school departments Wednesday.

The Boy Scouts met in the Community house Thursday evening for work.

The selectmen of the town of Stonington met with Town Treasurer Elias B. Hinckley this week and opened the bids for the $100,000 bond issue, voted to pay for the new town building. The best bid came from R. L. Day Co. of Boston 102.789. The other bidders were R. M. Grant & Co., Boston, 102.35; Dewey, Bacon & Co., New York, 102.45; H. L. Allen & Co., New York, 102.05; Rutter & Co., New York 102.433.

At the meeting of the Girl Scouts to be held Wednesday April 25, three members of the Brownies will become connected with the third patrol of Troop 2. Today (Saturday) the Scouts will go to North Stonington on a caterpillar hike, if the weather permits.

Mrs. Annie Kenna returned Wednesday from a visit of several days in New York.

Mrs. Parker Reed has returned from a stay of several weeks in Baltimore, Md.

Jerome S. Anderson 3rd left Thursday for a motorcycle trip to Swarthmore, Pa., to spend a few days with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Spencer of Massachusetts have moved their household goods here and are occupying an apartment on Main street.

Miss Winona Delagrange has been spending a few days as the guest of her sister, Miss Constance Delagrange in Hartford.

William J. Curtis Jr., of Harrison, N. Y., T. Lilton Rigg of Washington, D. C., and Richard S. Hoffman of New York were visitors here Wednesday.

The Local Savings and Loan association is now opening the 16th series, which will complete seven years of service to its subscribers in town, who have been enabled to have their own home and pay for it by monthly instalments. The condition for the past year has been so favorable that not only the six per cent interest per annum, but also an extra one per cent interest per annum has been declared to the credit of the depositors. At the meeting at the town clerk's office Thursday evening many applied for shares in the fourteenth series, with the idea of borrowing and building their homes as well as saving.

Principal Norman Stickney of Stonington high school gave a Patriot's day reading to the student body at the regular assembly Thursday morning. Following the reading a meeting of the Athletic association was held and letters were awarded members of the boys and girls basketball teams. The emblem "S" was awarded by Coach William P. O'Brien to the following members of the boys' team: Charles Burnham, William Bryer, Richard Dimock, Charles Brown, Robert Craxan, George Cropper and Manager Hamilton Fish. Robert Craxan captain, then awarded the letter to Coach O'Brien, following his address to the team.

Coach O'Brien also presented the letter "S" to the following members of the girls basketball team: Misses Minnie Emmett, Elsee Richter, Romona Hanks, Catherine Ferrie, Jennie Szymanski, Ruth Niles, Elizabeth Foley, Lenora Bailey, Madeline Harper, and Helen Allen. Miss Minnie Emmett, captain of the team presented Coach O'Brien his letter, at the close of the exercises.

Who make the most of family ties.
—Scrapper the Kingbird.

"I could sit all day and watch Black Howler the Monkey and his family," declared Scrapper the Kingbird. "In fact, I have sat a long, long time watching the Howlers."

"Tell us about them. Tell us what you saw and perhaps we can see it if we shut our eyes and try very hard," said Peter Rabbit.

"All right," said Scrapper. "First, I want you to picture to yourselves a Green Forest without any pine trees or spruce trees or trees of that kind, but with a great variety of other trees, some of them very big, indeed, as big as those elm trees in front of Farmer Brown's house. There are all sorts of trees, but none like any trees you've seen. Over them and binding them together, are big vines and little vines. Some of those trees, even the biggest, have flowers. Some of them have fruit. Some of the vines clear up in the tops of the trees have beautiful flowers. That is the Jungle.

LEGAL NOTICES

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the District of Norwich, on the 20th day of April, A. D. 1928.

Present, NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

Estate of Herbert H. Bunting, late of Belmar, N. J., deceased.

The Administrator appeared in Court and filed a written application alleging that said estate is now in settlement in said Court, and praying for an order to mortgage certain real estate belonging to said estate, fully described in said application.

Whereupon, it is Ordered, That said application be heard and determined at the Probate Court Room in the City of Norwich, in said District, on the 24th day of April, A. D. 1928, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and that notice of the pendency of said application, and of said hearing thereon, be given by the publication of this order once in some newspaper having a circulation in said District at least three days prior to the date of said hearing, and that return be made to the Court.

NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.

Attest, HELEN M. DRESCHER, Clerk.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States. District of Connecticut.

In the matter of John Wolfe, bankrupt. In Bankruptcy No. 8093.

UPON PETITION FOR DISCHARGE

Notice is hereby given that John Wolfe of Norwich, in the County of New London and State of Connecticut, has filed his application, dated April 18, A. D. 1928, for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all his creditors and other persons interested objecting to such discharge may attend before Thomas M. Shields, Special Master, at his office in Norwich, Conn., on the 21st day of May, 1928, at 10 o'clock a. m., then and there to examine the bankrupt, and to show cause if any they have, why such discharge should not be granted, and to determine whether or not to authorize the trustee to interpose objections to such discharge.

THOMAS M. SHIELDS,
Special Master.
Norwich, Conn., April 20, 1928.

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the District of Norwich, on the 20th day of April, A. D. 1928.

Present, NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

Estate of Abbie E. Smith, late of Norwich, in said District, deceased.

George R. Smith, of Norwich, Conn., appeared in Court and filed a petition praying, for the reasons therein set forth, that administration be granted upon the estate of said deceased, alleged to be intestate.

Whereupon, it is Ordered, That said petition be heard and determined at the Probate Court Room in the City of Norwich, in said District, on the 25th day of April, A. D. 1928, at 9 o'clock in the afternoon, and that notice of the pendency of said petition, and of said hearing thereon, be given by the publication of this order one time in some newspaper having a circulation in said District at least three days prior to the date of said hearing, and that return be made to this Court.

NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Additions to Board of Local Financial Corporation.

The Eastern Connecticut Bond and Mortgage Corporation announces the additions to its advisory board of Fred W. Tillinghast of Central Village, and Abner Schwartz of Norwich, Conn.

The corporation also announces that it has opened an office at 240 State street, New London, Conn., where applications for mortgages may be received, and where persons interested in purchasing stock of the corporation may obtain whatever information they desire.

The corporation has already received applications for more than one-third of the capital which it desires to raise, and money is regularly being let out on mortgages. Every indication is that the services of this corporation are being appreciated by the local public who are taking advantage of the ability to purchase homes with but a small amount of cash and to pay off the mortgages on a system similar to rent.

The officers and directors of this corporation are Mr. Shepard B. Palmer, president; Mr. William G. Park, vice president; Mr. James L. Case, secretary-treasurer; Mr. Ward T. Alling, director; Mr. N. Lorne Greig, director; Mr. C. Hadlai Hull, director, and Mr. Guthrie M. Shaw, director; and the advisory board is at present composed of the following names, Mr. Nathan Belcher, New London, director New London City National bank; Mr. Fred W. Tillinghast, Danielson, Conn., director Danielson Trust company, director Brooklyn Savings bank and director Moosup Trust company; Mr. Abner Schwartz, Norwich, Conn., president Merchants' association, president Norwich Credit Rating Bureau and director Bankers Trust company, Mr. Charles Seder, Putnam, Conn., Mr. Henry L. Bailey, Groton, and Mr. William E. Adams, Colchester, clerk and treasurer, borough of Colchester and General Insurance agent.

Palace Theatre.

John Gilbert and Greta Garbo, who as a team scored one of the sensational successes of the year in Flesh and the Devil, and whose real-life romance immediately following furnished gossip for film fans the world over, appear again before the camera, for the first time since, in "Love," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular filmization of "Anna Karenina," Tolstoy's classic of Russia, which begins a three day engagement at the Palace theatre on Sunday.

The new picture, one of the most gorgeous and spectacular film romances of the season, presents both in roles that perhaps fit them better than any others that could be imagined. Gilbert, splendidly uniformed, is seen as the debonair and romantic Count Vronsky, a role that recalls his great hit in The Merry Widow, with Miss Garbo in the role of the tragic Anna, who sacrifices all for love, only to be dogged by a strange and sinister doom.

Edmund Goulding directed the new picture which was staged on a lavish scale. The cast is notable, including George Fawcett, who played the king in The Merry Widow, as the Grand Duke; Brandon Hurst as the husband, Count Karenin; Philippe De Lacy, Emily Fitzroy, and others of note.

Spectacular reproductions of Russian castles, a great cathedral, a thrilling series of maneuvers of the Russian officers and other elaborate detail form a background for this vivid story of the love between a young count, and the heroine of this vivid play. The picture is one of the most pretentious productions of the new season, and one of the most interesting screen dramas of years.

The Man Nobody Knows

On the coming Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the six reel feature moving picture, "The Man Nobody Knows" will be shown at the large gymnasium of the local Y. M. C. A. This is a picture of the places where Jesus lived and worked of the very sort of people He knew, of the sort of things He did, of the very hills and rocks and streams that touched his feet. We see the spots where his miracles were performed where he dined, and preached, and taught his disciples. It will make you think of Him as real, alive, eating, talking followed by crowds of happy people hailed by little children as their friend. The picture has been beautifully titled by Bruce Barton, author of the book by the same title. Mr. Barton has put into these titles the genius of his gifted and inspired pen.

This service is opened to the public, except those under fourteen years of age. Children from eleven up may come if they are accompanied by their parents. A free will offering will be taken.

Strand Theatre.

"Kiki" is here. Showing Sunday night only at the Strand. Which means that Norma Talmadge is here in the best role that she has ever played. Imagine, if you will, a waif of the Montmartre section of Paris; a newsgirl, ragged and lonely and cold. Reared in loneliness behind a mask of bravado she had become adept at the gentle art of bluff. Lavish settings and art effects. Intimate glimpses of the night life of Paris. A huge theatre with a chorus of a hundred beautiful dancers; one of the largest cafes in Paris and some of the most beautiful girls. Norma wears an amazing wardrobe in which rags alternate with daring gowns and her sweetheart's silk pajamas. A supporting cast includes Ronald Colman, Gertrude Astor, Mack Swain and others of note.

Adventure and realism are the keynotes of Fangs of Fate, a scrappy, gripping romance of the west, starring Bill Patton and his trained horse Silver Flash. Can you imagine a town in the wild and wooly west so quiet and peaceful that it has no forces of law and order, not even a sheriff? Such was the town of Arcady, down in Arizona and not far fro mthe Mexican border. When a series of crimes from robbery to murder were committed, a quick election was held for sheriff. Dudo Briggs, a fat man played by Ivor MacFadden is elected and then the fun begins. Bill Patton as the leader of a gang of robbers, falls in love with Dorothy Donald, and how he confesses and aids in the capture of the bandits, and the happy ending can be enjoyed by seeing this western thriller at the Strand on Sunday night.

Salvation Army Meetings

Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday public meetings in the hall to which all are invited. At 8:00 o'clock p. m. Monday at 8 o'clock life saving Scout meeting to which all boys between the ages of 10 and 18 years of age are invited.

Friday at 8 o'clock life saving guard meeting to which all girls between the ages of 10 and 18 years of age are invited.

Self-confidence is the first requisite to great undertakings.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre.

Can women compete successfully with men as drummers on the road and at the same time retain their feminine charm?

This question is dealth with humorously in Silk Legs, Fox Films' screen version of Frederica Sagor's fascinating story of Atlantic City featuring Madge Belamy, which has been booked at the Breed theatre for three days commencing tomorrow night.

Ruth Stevens is a very successful hosiery drummer until the advent of Phil Parker, twentieth century edition of the modern drummer, whose business methods play havoc with Ruth's orders.

Parker's methods are old but reliable. He believes in playing the female buyers, who fall for his line of salve. As for Ruth, she sells her wares on their merits.

Can she compete against such odds?

Miss Belamy, the clever little comedience, answers that question in Silk Legs in a manner that is sure to appeal to everyone.

Arthur Rosson who directed Silk Legs, engaged the services of 15 of the most beautiful Morgan dancers to appear as mannequins in one of the most elaborate fashion shows of hosiery screened.

Miss Bellamy masquerades as one of the mannequins and gives a highly interesting impersonation of a go-getter who wins the man she loves.

A particularly well-chosen cast supports Miss Bellamy, including James Hall, Joseph Cawthorn and Maude Fulton. Arthur Rosson directed the production.

Pontiac Six.

An old saying runs to the effect there is nothing for nothing. The Rosoff Motor Mart asserts that the new Pontiac Six is the proverbial exception to the rule.

Getting down to definite facts, Harry Rosoff points out that it is possible for an engineer to build more power into a motor but this increase in power is accompanied by higher operating expense because more fuel must be used to gain that added power. The big thing has been to obtain more power at less expense. This, Mr. Rosoff points out has been accomplished in the new series Pontiac.

The present model develops 48 horse power. The preceding model developed 36 horse power. Here is a gain of 19 per cent yet the fuel consumption is actually less.

At speeds of 25, 35 and 45 miles an hour, the average is 19.5 miles per gallon for the present car as against 17.7 for last year's model.

This increase in power, attended by a decrease in fuel has been made possible by the General Motors Research Head developed in the laboratories of General Motors. The public has been quick to sense the advantages of the new Pontiac, hence the record breaking demand this season.

ANNUAL DISTRICT BANQUET FOR BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE

At the Central Baptist church on Monday evening the annual banquet for all the Baptist young people of this section of Connecticut will be held at 6:30 in the assembly hall. Among the churches included in the Norwich area are Putnam, Moosup, Jewett City, Mansfield Center, Danielson, South Willington, Willimantic, Montville, Lebanon, Fitchville, Colchester and the Bozrah church, besides the five Baptist churches in Norwich. Telephone and mail returns indicate that this will be the largest gathering of its kind ever held in this section.

This is to be the first of six banquets, one each night, beginning Monday with the meeting in Norwich, at which Dr. Samuel G. Neil of Philadelphia is to be the speaker. Norwich is hoping that hers will be the banner gathering.

Orders for tickets have been sent to Miss Edith Ellis at the Central Baptist church. Last year a similar meeting was held in the Jewett City church when Moosup and Montville brought the banner delegations.

In Moosup, Mrs. Minnie Newsome of Averil Park, N. Y., has been visiting at the home of Dr. W. W. Adams.

TO-DAY'S SUGGESTION

How long is it since your suit was dry-cleaned?

Dry-cleaning removes all the dust and grime—all the dirt and mineral oil that it has picked up.

Then by special equipment we "fluff" up and refresh the fabric on a cushion of warmed air.

And skillful pressing—with steam and vacuum—moulds back the style and brings up the nap.

You'll feel better and look smarter if you send your suit to-day to

CENTRAL FELLOWSHIP CLUB MAKES HIT WITH AMATEUR MINSTREL SHOW

The Central Fellowship club of the Central Baptist church scored a decided hit Friday evening when they gave their first annual minstrel show before an audience of 450 people in the assembly hall at the church. Many were the favorable comments and the entire cast is to be complimented on the splendid showing they made. The programme was very attractive and finely rendered. With Loyd Neil as the capable director and Dwight Richardson pianist, the evening's programme opened at 8 o'clock with selections by the Sunday school orchestra. Then came announcements made by Emory H. Davis followed by overtures by the entire company. The Pioneer group were seen in pyramids, three in number, directed by Howard Ludlow. The boys in the group were Howard Ludlow, George Lambert, Howard Dickerman, Edward Wiggley, Loyd Chapman, Edward Hastings, Fred Smith, Eldredge Coles, Nelson Parker, Theodore Kennedy, Gavin Pitt, George McMahon, Nells Pearson, Allyn Brown and Joseph Falcone.

The end men and their solos were as follows:

Frank Steinke "Mose," Loving; Frank Dodge "Snowball," Sidewalks of New York; Stanton Smith "Thunderbolt," My Maryland; Floyd Lambert "Lightning," Pat Casey's Runabout; Donald Royce "Midnight," My Blue Ridge Mountain Home; Loyd E. Neil "Bones," Ain't It a Shame; Leslie C. Pitt, interlocutor.

Other numbers were as follows:

"Let a Smile Be Your Umbrella on a Rainy Day," Miss Viola Hill; Club Swing, E. Davis; "Among My Souvenirs," Girls' quartette, Miss Marion Royce, Miss Amie March, Miss Unabelle Harbeck, Miss Dorothy Gildersleeve; dance, Reginald Laubin, Miss Tortoiseshell; "Stay Out of the South," entire company; "Where Is My Meyer," "By the Unknown"; "Down by the Deep Blue Sea," Mr. Steinke; closing number, "Star Spangled Banner."

Numbers that scored hits and are especially worthy of mention were the solos by Miss Viola Hill, "Among My Souvenirs," by the girls' quartette, and the solo, "Down by the Deep Blue Sea," by Frank Steinke.

Another attractive number was The Sun Dance by Reginald Laubin and Miss Gladys Tortoiseshell. The great Sun Dance is given in similar ways by all the Indian tribes of the Great Plains. The ceremonies last about 15 days and come during the summer. The dance is usually given or supervised by a woman.

This particular number is one of the many dances done for the spectators before the Sun Pole. A worshipful leader calls the warriors to dance. The dance works up to a gradual pitch when an evil spirit suddenly appears in the midst of the dancers and drives them to shelter from the dance field. Brave dancers try in vain to overcome his terrible power. He has things his own way for a time, but a White Spirit finally comes in answer to the prayers of the warriors and drives the evil one away, when the dance is called again and resumed as before.

The chorus comprised the Misses Marion Royce, Unabelle Harbeck, Dorothy Gildersleeve, Amy March, Alma Taylor, Gladys Lambert, Viola Hill, Elsie Schlein, and Arthur Armstron. Robert Storms, Sidney Cook, Howard Ludlow and Edwin Abell. Candy was sold by members of the Fellowship circle.

PUBLIC ASKED TO REFRESH MEMORY ON FOREST FIRE HAZARDS

All people of the United States are called upon to refresh their memories during American Forest Week, April 22-28, as to the importance of forest fire prevention.

Fire, says the forest service, United States department of agriculture, is the chief enemy of trees and forests. Sweeping through a timberland, the red flames of a forest fire which has got beyond control may wreak untold havoc, damaging valuable mature trees, destroying young growth, laying waste grazing lands, injuring protective watersheds, and converting to a blackened waste what were cool, inviting woodlands beckoning to the nature-lover and outdoor recreationist.

The forest service places the average annual number of forest fires in the United States during the past ten years at approximately 51,000. The average area swept by fires each year stands at about 15,000,000 acres; and the annual damage runs up to $20,000,000, not taking into account the damage to young growth, watersheds, grazing lands, and recreational facilities, which can hardly be estimated.

The forest fire risk greatly increases with settlement. Approximately 90 per cent of the forest fires today are man-caused. Hunters, campers and tourists are often careless with their camp fires, their matches and tobacco; settlers who set fires to clear land or to dispose of brush frequently allow them to get out of hand; activities of mining, lumbering and railroads are often causes of fire; and incendiarism is responsible for a large number each year.

Under favoring wind and humidity conditions, forest fires frequently attain an enormous speed of advance; the front often leaps hundreds of feet forward, and burning brands and sparks may establish branch fires miles ahead of the main conflagration. Under such conditions, fire-fighting becomes an extremely gruelling, sometimes dangerous task.

"Good manners" in the woods, says the Forest Service, can contribute to the suppression of the destructive "red terror." Good woods manners include care with fires at all times—especially building only small campfires in cleared spaces and never leaving them until they are dead out; breaking matches in two before throwing them away; and never discarding cigarette or cigar butts in any place where they can start a fire. The forest service asks the help of all woods visitors in stamping out or drenching with water any small fire they may discover, and in reporting promptly any large blaze to forest officers or landowners.

Will Speak in Borrahville

The Borrahville Section National Council of Jewish Women is to have a speaker from New York, Sunday evening, at 7:30 in the Fitchville school house.

Miss Bessie Myers, specialist on child psychology and educational supervisor of the farm and rural department, will address the group. Her lecture will be the second of a series of five on the subject of "Child Psychology."

READ KENTUCKY PLAY FOR FEDERATION MEETING

The regular meeting of the Women's Federation of Park Congregational church was held in the Osgood Memorial on Friday afternoon. In the absence of the president, Miss Hannah M. Crowell, the vice president, Mrs. Henry D. Johnson, was in the chair. The meeting was opened with scripture and prayer and reports of the several committees received. The use of the parlors of the parish house for the graduation exercises of the Wm. W. Backus training school for nurses in May was granted.

Following the business meeting the programme of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Frederick W. Cary, chairman of the parish house department. In taking the chair Mrs. Cary made the announcement of the very sad news of the death of Mrs. Hugh Henry Osgood, word of which had just been received. Mrs. Cary spoke in appreciation of what Mrs. Osgood had done for Park church and the Women's Federation; of her gift of the parish house; of the love and esteem in which she was held and the great loss the Women's Federation feel in her death.

Miss Amy L. Cogswell read a most interesting paper on early life of the Parish House association, prepared and presented first some time ago and re-read at this time upon request.

A play, "Martha Ellen," written by Miss Una Ritchie and read by the author brought to those in attendance most vivid pictures of the life of the Highlanders of the Kentucky mountains. The ideals of these people; their loyalty to kin and duty; and their keen desire for the advantagees of education to come to them was presented most entertainingly.

During the afternoon the ladies sewed for needs of the Parish house. Tea was served with Mrs. L. O. Smith and Mrs. F. W. Cary pouring.

ARTHUR M. BROWN CHOSEN STATE BAR PRESIDENT

WATERBURY, April 20—(AP)—Arthur M. Brown, of Norwich, state's attorney of New London county and member of the state judicial committee, was elected president of the Connecticut State Bar association at the annual meeting held here this afternoon in the superior court. Attorney Brown succeeds Attorney Terrence F. Carmody, of this city, who has been president for the past two years. Former Justice John K. Beach, of the supreme court of errors, was elected vice-president, while Attorney James E. Wheeler, of New Haven, was reelected secretary and treasurer.

Social Corner Writer Missed

Mrs. Emily W. Williams, who died in Norwich on Jan. 30, was a member of the Social Corner of The Bulletin, writing under the pen name of Electa. Although her contributions to the columns were not frequent she was an interested reader. Her letters in the Corner page will be greatly missed by the members and other readers.

Rev. William Williams and his class of boys from Wauregan came to Norwich the past week, to see Richard Gardner at Backus hospital, where he had been for two weeks, suffering with mastoiditis, following an attack of scarlet fever.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

CATHOLIC LADIES OF COLUMBUS

Mercier council, No. 12, is anticipating a very large attendance at its regular social meeting next Tuesday evening because Miss Helen Twomey is putting on an old-time minstrel. The best talent of the council will favor the members with an exceptional musical treat. One of the features will be the famous two black crows. After repeated attempts Miss Twomey had induced the well known dancer Fatima to add to the evening's amusement, and the fact that Miss Nonie Nagle is one of the cast is sufficient assurance of a large attendance.

At a recent meeting of the degree team it was decided to hold a rehearsal at the rooms next Thursday evening at 7:30 and all members are expected to make a special effort to attend.

B'NAI BRITH

At the meeting of the Rose of New England auxiliary, No. 40, Independent Order B'Nai Brith, it was voted to change the meetings from Thursday to the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month. Hon. Maurice Bloch, president of District No. 1, has made an appeal to increase the ranks of B'nai Brith and thus make wider the scope of its influence and good deeds, accordingly the membership drive will continue to April 30. The initiation of candidates will take place on May 6th, the degree of Horeb auxiliary lodge of New Haven conducting the initiatory exercises. The 76th annual session of the district grand lodge No. 1, under the auspices of Hagzal lodge, No. 132, will be held in Providence, on Sunday and Monday, May 13 and 14 at the Providence Biltmore hotel. Mrs. Alexander Pasnik has been elected delegate. Mrs. Elkin Smith is alternate. An invitation is extended to all B'Nai Brith members to attend the convention.

UNITED COMMERCIAL TRAV.

Thames Valley council, No. 309, had an unusual and interesting feature to follow its regular meeting last Saturday. This was a gathering at the Wauregan hotel where moving pictures were shown for the entertainment of the council members and their friends, the audience numbering about 50. This had been arranged for by F. R. Smith, junior councilor, who is chairman of the entertainment committee, and the pictures were shown by Clyde Ashley Gove a representative of the Fleischman corporation. The incidental musical was by a pianist. The picture topics were the following: Cracker manufacturing at the Loose-Wiles factory, Canadian Pacific railway, Fleischman Yeast, Colgate products, Trip to Mt. Tom, Gorton fisheries, and Trip to the Moon.

DEGREE OF POCAHONTAS

Sebequanash council, No. 11, met Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 at the Buckingham Memorial, having as guest the Great Pocahontas and her associate great chiefs; also members from Hiawatha and Minnehaha councils from New London. Before the meeting a wreath was placed on Sister Nettie Kinne's grave as she was a past Great Pocahontas and a member of Sebequanash council. This tribute was carried out by the Great Pocahontas and Pocahontas of her own council. A marker is to be placed at a later date. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

MOOSE

The third whist and pinochle was held at the Moose home Monday evening by the Hi D. Davis legion. Those to take the prizes were the following: In pinochle—Mrs. B. Wunderlich 7910, Miss Saborowske 7570, Mrs. Prodell 7160 and Mrs. Sabrowske for low score; Dave Kane 7790, J. Blinderman 7270; James Kane 7030, and J. Mehrhoff for low; in whist—Miss F. Brosofske first, Mrs. C. Moody second, Miss H. Haunt third, and Miss Blinderman low; J. McCarty first, J. Delaney second, N. Raymond third, and R. Beetham low score.

The legion will have one more evening of cards before going to Danbury on May 6 to attend the meeting and frolic.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Trumbull lodge, No. 48, of New London, held past chancellors' night at its meeting this week, having a delegation of 25 from Colchester in attendance and visitors present from Mystic, Norwich, Rockville, Hartford and Middletown.

The committee in charge of the affair was Perry Shafner, Abraham Wein, Benjamin Fabricant and Robert Levinson.

An interesting history of the past chancellors of Trumbull lodge, since its institution on February 3, 1889, was read by H. E. Levitt, who had prepared the history after days of research. It was pointed out that there had been 62 past chancellors and 492 knights from all occupations. The lodge voted to retain the history in the archives of the lodge.

ODD LADIES, M. U.

Loyal Victory lodge, No. 4, held its regular meeting in Steiners hall Thursday evening with Noble Grand Sister Clara Haydon presiding. Provincial Grand Lady Rachael O'Brien and District Deputy Christina B. Greig made brief remarks. After the business routine, refreshments of sandwiches, cake and tea were served.

V. F. W. AUXILIARY

The regular meeting of R. E. Hourigan auxiliary, No. 594, was held at the post rooms, Olympic building, on Monday evening, April 9th, with the president, Mary Hull, in the chair. The department inspector, Mary E. French of Hartford, was present, and inspected the books and ritualistic work of the order.

The entertainment committee, Sr. Kavanaugh, chairman, reported that the recent whist and pinochle was very successful. It was decided to run another whist and pinochle at the V. F. W. hall, Olympic building. Sr. Maynard was appointed chairman.

All of the sisters were urged to attend the quarterly state meeting of the department to be held at Winsted, on Sunday, April 29th, where Seichepreyr post and auxiliary No. 236, will be the hosts. The distinguished guests at the auxiliary meeting will include Past National President Margaret Oldridge of R. I.; National President Florence Stark of New Jersey; and National Sr. Vice President Bessie Hanken of Revere, Mass., and others.

Following the business session a social was enjoyed, and refreshments were served by the entertainment committee.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS

At the regular meeting of Clara Barton tent, No. 7, Civil War, in Buckingham Memorial Tuesday evening, the president, Mrs. Lillian B. Newbury, presided. One candidate was initiated. Plans were made for attending the 19th annual convention of the Department of Connecticut, which meets this year in Hartford, May 10 and 11. It was voted to hold a food sale instead of the regular supper, April 28.

Appomattox day was celebrated by an appropriate reading by the patriotic instructor, Sister Helena M. T. Church, and a patriotic solo by Sister Harriet S. Newbury.

The meeting closed in due form with salute to the flag. After the meeting a surprise miscellaneus shower was given Sister Harriet Newbury, who, although greatly surprised, arose to the occasion and thanked each and every one for the many beautiful gifts which she received. The gifts were concealed in a large basket in two shades of yellow, beautifully trimmed in jonquils, the work of Sister Lucy Gray MacDougall. The shower was in charge of the first council, Sister Annie B. Turner.

REBEKAHS

The regular meeting of Hope Rebekah lodge, No. 21, was held Wednesday night with Noble Grand Carolyn Howard presiding. Several applications for membership were received. The entertainment committee, together with the committee from Uncas lodge and Shetucket lodge, is planning an entertainment for Friday, April 27, for the members and their families to celebrate the anniversary. The sewing club met in the afternoon with Arline Peckham as hostess. Edna Browning will act as hostess for the next meeting.

ODD FELLOWS

Shetucket lodge, No. 27, I. O. O. F., held its weekly meeting Tuesday night with Noble Grand Bailey presiding. Routine business was transacted. More or less discussion was held regarding candidates for the first degree to be worked in Bridgeport, when the grand lodge meets there next month. It is expected that there will be several candidates from Shetucket lodge and the lodge voted to pay their expenses. Tuesday night, April 24, the grand officers will visit the lodge and all members are expected to be present. Refreshments will be served by the entertainment committee.

EAGLES

At the nomination of officers by Norwich aerie, No. 367, last Monday evening, the following names were presented:

Worthy president, Joseph J. Cadeaux; worthy president, Walter Caughey; worthy vice president, Joseph Gadie, Jr.; worthy chaplain, Henry C. Herring; secretary, John Lelrich; treasurer, Charles O. Wright; inside guard, James Mullins; outside guard, Herbert McNeely; trustee three years, Timothy Fields; aerie physician, Dr. Louis T. Cassidy; delegates to state convention, Nelson Petrone, Joseph J. Cadeaux; alternates, Walter Caughey, Thomas Fields. Election of officers will be at the next regular meeting Monday, May 7. On Friday night, the class initiation committee met and made final arrangements for the class initiation Sunday afternoon, April 22. There will be entertainment and supper after the initiation.

Invited to Observe Children's Day

Supervisor of Recreation E. E. Brigham, of the recreation department has received a letter from James V. Mulholland, supervisor of recreation of New York city, suggesting that the playgrounds of this city observe Children's day, Saturday, June 16, by appropriate contests in the playgrounds.

Will Address Ministers' Association

The Norwich Ministers' association will meet at Rev. A. H. Abbott's study on Monday, April 23, at 11 o'clock. An address—"Recreation and the Park system" will be given by Arthur L. Peale of the state commission on parks and forestry and the state commission on forestry and wild life.

POETRY

The Character of a Happy Life

How happy is he born and taught
That serveth not another's will;
Whose armor is his honest thought,
And simple truth his utmost skill;

Whose passions not his masters are;
Whose soul is still prepared for death,
Not tied unto the world by care
Of public fame or private breath;

Who envies none that chance doth raise,
Or vice; who never understood
How deepest wounds are given by praise,
Nor rules of state, but rules of good;

Who hath his life from rumors freed;
Whose conscience is his strong retreat;
Whose state can neither flatterers feed
Nor ruin oppressors great;

Who God doth late and early pray
More of his grace than gifts to lend;
And entertains the harmless day
With a well chosen book or friend—

This man is freed from servile bands
Of hope to rise or fear to fall;
Lord of himself, though not of lands,
And, having nothing, yet hath all.

—Sir Henry Wotten.

Violets

They neither toil nor spin;
And yet their robes have won
A splendor never seen within
The courts of Solomon.

Tints that the cloud-rifts hold,
And rainbow gossamer,
The violet's tender form enfold—
No queen is draped like her.

All heaven and earth and sea
Have wrought with subtlest power
That clothed in purple she might be—
This little fading flower.

We who must toil and spin,
What clothing shall we wear?
The glorious raiment we shall win,
Life shapes us, everywhere.

God's inner heaven hath sun,
And rain, and space of sky,
Where through for us His spindles run,
His mighty shuttles fly.

His seamless vesture white
He wraps our spirits in;
He weaves His finest webs of light
For us, who toil and spin.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Wife—It's 7 o'clock. Can't you wake up?

Hubby—No; I'm already awake.—Detroit News.

"Why has Bluebelle stopped running away from Algy?"

"He wouldn't follow."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Jack—Then you don't think her color is artificial?

Tom—No; it's real paint.—Boston Transcript.

Father—Edith is late, isn't she? It's 2 a. m. now.

Mother—Yes, and if she doesn't come home soon she won't have time to dress for Myrtle's party.—Life.

Zoo Visitor—Do you believe in evolution?

Monkey Keeper—I can't help it. Sometimes I kinda forget where I am and when I happen to look up I can't decide whether I'm in the cage or outside.—Exchange.

Stock Clerk—My wife managed to drive a nail yesterday without hitting her thumb.

Paint Salesman—How was that?

She got me to hold the nail—Good Hardware.

"Tommy," said his mother, "it's your birthday at Christmas, so I was thinking of getting you a nice cake ornamented with five candles, one for each year of your age. How should you like that?"

"I think you had better get five cakes and one candle, ma," replied Tommy.—The Progressive Grocer.

An absent-minded country vicar met the village postman trudging along a dusty road on a hot summer afternoon. The postman remarked that he had still a mile to walk just to deliver one newspaper.

"My goodness!" exclaimed the sympathetic clergyman, "I'd never walk all that distance for such a trifle. Why don't you send it by post?"—Boston Transcript.

Cadmium, chemical brother to zinc, is finding a useful place in industry as one of the components of special solders, Carl E. Swartz, metallurgist of Selby, Cal., told the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. Lead, tin and zinc are the metals used in such common solders as those in sealing tin cans, but where lithographed labels are used on tin cans a special solder containing cadmium is now used, because its lower melting point prevents discoloration of the lithographing.

Chickens and roosters in the Parisian suburb of Marly-le-Roi must keep their crowing for the daytime, according to the judgment of the local court in a suit brought by a noted writer, Paul Gruyer, against his neighbor, M. Arnaudin, a chicken farmer. Gruyer sued for 10,000 francs damage on the ground that Arnaudin's roosters took his mind off his literary labors, which he ordinarily accomplishes after the sun goes down. Arnaudin alleged that the writer should go to bed with the chickens. The court declared him all wrong and gave Gruyer one franc damages.

The first meeting of England's women chief magistrates was held in Liverpool recently. At the invitation of Miss Margaret Beavan, the first women lord mayor of Liverpool, women mayors of nine cities in all parts of England, each wearing her official robes and chain designating a chief magistrate, met to discuss their common problems of city administration. The other four women who are chief magistrates of English cities were unable to attend due to pressure of business in their respective cities. A huge crowd, composed mainly of men watched the arrival of the visiting magistrates at the Town Hall

ELECTIONS IN FRANCE ARE FAVORABLE TO POINCARE

First 110 Constituencies Reporting on General Elections Gave Majorities For Supporters of Premier Poincare—Except For Fights With Fists and Canes There Was No Appreciable Disorder Anywhere in France.

PARIS, April 23.—(AP)—The first 110 constituencies reporting on today's general elections for a new chamber of deputies, gave great encouragement tonight to the supporters of Raymond Poincare who had appealed to France for a continuation of the union government.

Twenty-six of the constituencies gave outright majorities to followers of the premier and these included three members of the cabinet, Aristide Briand, minister of foreign affairs; Edouard Herriot, minister of public instruction, and Andre Tardieu, minister of public works. On the heels of these results came word that Louis Marin, minister of pensions, and President Bouisson of the chamber of deputies had also been returned to their seats.

The only fly in the cabinet ointment at that stage was the fact that Paul Painleve, minister of war, had fallen 70 votes short of the absolute majority to elect and would therefore have to go before the voters again next Sunday.

Only one opposition delegate had been successful out of the 50 districts reporting. He was a socialist. Twenty-four other districts failed to register a majority for any one candidate and will, therefore, be the scenes of a second balloting on April 29.

Except for fights with fists and canes, there was no appreciable disorder anywhere in France. In Paris communists who were watching returns posted by their official newspaper, Humanite, clashed with the police. It was a lively affair while it lasted and several of the communists were hurt, but none seriously. Except for this fight, Paris was quiet.

Out of 11,000,000 voters registered in 1924 only 17 per cent. failed to vote and it was expected this year that less than 10 per cent. would stay at home.

Later returns continued to pile up the Poincarist lead. With 110 constituencies reported, there were 44 outright elections of which only ten, including four socialists, were won by the opposition. Sixty-six of these constitutencies must ballot again next Sunday.

Among the later returns was word that Georges Leygues, minister of marine, had been returned to the chamber.

TRIUMPH IN FRANCE FOR UNION GOVERNMENT

PARIS, April 22.—(AP)—The "plebiscite for Raymond Poincare" as today's voting was described in popular parlance, resulted in an assured triumph for the union government in the view of adherents of the administration. They based this upon a study of returns from 133 of the 612 constituencies which had been received up to midnight.

Impartial observers were inclined to agree as to the general result but they said that the extent of the victory could be known only after the balloting of next Sunday when all districts which failed to give any one candidate a clear majority are to vote again. A plurality will elect on the second ballot.

Only half of the 133 districts reporting tonight gave the necessary majority to elect. Of the 66 deputies chosen nearly three-fourths were adherents of Poincare and his politics. The list included five members of the cabinet.

In the three principal opposition leaders, Eduard Daladier, radical; Leon Blum, socialist, and Marcil Cahin, communist, failed to poll clear majorities and therefore must await the second round of the ballots next Sunday.

DISREGARDING COOLIDGE'S VIEW OF FLOOD CONTROL BILL

WASHINGTON, April 22—(AP)—A coalition of western republicans and practically all of the democrats in the house tomorrow will throw down the gage of battle to President Coolidge on Mississippi flood control legislation unless house republican leaders are able to consummate an 11th-hour agreement with supporters of the senate flood bill on revisions favored by the president.

The supporters of the flood measure are confident that the bill will be approved by the house even though they reject the president's suggested amendments. The house leaders feel, however, that Mr. Coolidge probably will veto the measure and are confident that they can muster sufficient strength to sustain him.

Under the plans of Chairman Reid of the house flood control committee who is piloting the measure through the house, consideration of the bill will be resumed tomorrow after it had been set aside for two days last week to permit conferences between the opposing groups on a compromise.

In what form the measure will be presented to the house remained in doubt today. The flood control committee will meet early tomorrow to finally determine its course of action. Two paths are open to it—to continue the consideration of the bill in its present form or to offer as a substitute a measure embodying some of the revisions specified by the president.

LEGISLATION IN OPPOSITION TO ADMINISTRATION'S PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, April 22—(AP)—Four major pieces of legislation, three of them directly in opposition with the administration's program, will be up for decision this week in congress.

Flood control and farm relief bills already passed by the senate in forms opposed by President Coolidge, are expected to reach a final vote in the house by Saturday with administration forces exerting every effort to revise the flood measure to meet objections raised at the White House.

Tax reduction, another piece of legislation over which strong party differences exist, faces its first showdown in the senate during the week when the finance committee acts on the revised house revenue bill.

The fourth major measure to come before congress during the next six days—the Swing-Johnson Boulder Canyon dam bill—will be called up in the senate in the face of a threatened filibuster by the two senators from Arizona.

While a gloomy outlook confronts the administration forces on flood control, farm relief and even tax reduction, the senate tomorrow is expected to uphold Mr. Coolidge in his Nicaraguan policy when it votes on an amendment to the annual navy supply bill aimed to withhold funds for use of marines in foreign intervention after next Dec. 25.

STATE POLICE INVESTIGATING AN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

MANCHESTER, April 22—(AP)—State police are investigating an automobile crash in which one driver is alleged to have left the scene of the accident without making a report. Residents of North Providence telephoned to the police here and gave the license number of an automobile, the driver of which, they said, failed to stop after striking another machine.

The car was stopped in Manchester and found to be listed as owned by the Albany baseball team. William McCorry, manager of the Albany team, was driving when the machine reached Manchester.

TWO MANCHESTER MEN WERE KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

MANCHESTER, April 22—(AP)—Albert Addy, 22, and Frederick Hughes, 32, both of Manchester, were killed today when an automobile in which they were riding near Hartford, left the road and crashed into a tree. Addy, who was driving and evidently lost control of the machine, was killed instantly. His companion died within a few minutes after he was taken to the Hartford hospital by a passing motorist.

ROYAL COUPLE WILL HAVE A SHORT HONEYMOON

ROME, April 22—(AP)—Young American couples who may be grouching because the fiance's boss won't allow them more than his regular two weeks vacation for their wedding and honeymoon are no worse off than Philibert Ludovic Maxmillien Emmanuel Marie, Prince of Savoy-Genoa, Duke of Pistoia, and his fiancee, little Princess Lydia of Alenberg.

They are to be married here on April 30 and albeit that the ceremony will be attended by most of the available crowned heads of Europe and by members of princely houses, and although the fiance is a cousin of the king, they will get even less than a two weeks honeymoon.

The reason is that the duke is a soldier—Lieutenant Colonel Philibert—and just now a student at the Army War college at Turin. Students get but two weeks furlough and a member of the royal family is no exception. Seeing that the nuptial festivities start on April 28, when the duke goes off duty, the actual honeymooning time will be reduced accordingly.

NICARAGUAN REBELS RAIDED AN AMERICAN GOLD MINE

NEW YORK, April 22—(AP)—Confirmation of Associated Press reports from Bluefields, Nicaragua, that General Augustino Sandino, and his followers had raided an American gold mine in the department of Prinzapolca, was received here today, by owners of the La Luz mine, in that district.

The message, which came from the private wireless station of the Standard Fruit & Steamship company, at Puerta Cabezas, Nicaragua, through the company's office at New Orleans, said:

"On the 12th Sandino raided La Luz, taking all the gold, money, merchandise, animals, also Marshall and all employes prisoner."

J. Gilmore Fletcher, president of the La Luz and Los Angeles Mining company, operators of the raided mine, received the message at his New York office. He said, four Americans and one Englishman, in addition to 100 Indians were employed at the mine.

FORMER KLANSMEN TO FIGHT THE ORGANIZATION

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 22—(AP)—Five banished members of the Ku Klux Klan whose recent federal court suit in an effort to obtain an injunction to restrain the Klan from functioning in Pennsylvania was ruled out by the court at Pittsburgh because of lack of jurisdiction, decided here today to institute quo warranto proceedings before State Attorney General Thomas J. Baldridge in an attempt to have the Klan ousted from Pennsylvania.

This proposed action, it was said, would be based on a transcript of evidence submitted at the trial of the suit of five Klansmen and the counter-suit of the Klan, heard at the same time and which sought to prevent the banished members from collecting moneys and operating in the name of the Klan. The court dismissed the Klan action saying it came into court with "filthy hands," and placed the costs on the plaintiff.

Today's meeting here was attended by the five banished Klan members and representatives of 25 suspended Klan lodges, mostly in Westmoreland county.

WOUNDING CHINESE GLUTTING HOSPITALS

SHANGHAI, China, April 22—(AP)—Wounded from the battlefields of the Shantung province are pouring into Tientsin and Peking. The hospitals are glutted and every available medical man has been pressed into service.

Various alarming rumors came from the front today and among them were reports that Tsinan had fallen before the advance of the nationalist forces under Feng Yu-Hsiang, formerly known as the Christian general. This report, however, was regarded as premature although it reached here from both Tientsin and Tsingtao foreign sources.

To Make Flight to Greenly Island Today

Ford Relief Plane Will Carry Repairs For the Monoplane Bremen.

MURRAY BAY, Que., April 22—(Canadian Press)—The Ford relief plane carrying repairs for the German trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen was at Seven Islands, Que., tonight, preparing to take off tomorrow on the last leg of its flight to Greenly Island, where the Bremen has been marooned for more than a week.

Piloted by Bernt Balchen and carrying Major James Fitzmaurice, Irish member of the Bremen's crew, the plane took off from Lake Ste. Agnes at 7 a. m., today. Later a message received from the Marconi Wireless company's agent at Clarke City, Que., announced that the plane had landed at Seven Islands at 10 a. m.

The Canadian government signal service reported that the plane would remain at Seven Islands tonight and continue tomorrow its flight to Greenly Island.

Floyd Bennett, who with Balchen flew the plane from Detroit to Lake Ste. Agnes, was too ill to continue the flight today and was removed by airplane to the Jeffrey Hale hospital in Quebec. He was suffering from bronchitis and a congestion of the lungs.

In addition to repair parts for the Bremen, the Ford plane also carried supplies for Baron von Huenefeld and Captain Koehl, German members of the Bremen's crew. A mechanic accompanied Balchen and Fitzmaurice.

CHAMBERLIN TO HOP OFF FROM HARTFORD

NEW YORK, April 22.—(AP)—Clarence D. Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flier, plans to hop off from Hartford, Conn., tomorrow morning for Greenly Island, Que., to act as a pathfinder for the German trans-Atlantic plane Bremen, when it resumes its flight to New York, the Airport Construction company announced tonight.

Chamberlin left New York for Hartford tonight and plans a take-off about dawn tomorrow in a Fairchild cabin monoplane. He was to be accompanied by Edward B. Kelly, head of the Airport Construction company with which Chamberlin is associated, and a newspaperman.

The schedule announced for Chamberlin called for a short stop at Murray Bay, Que., about noon to get reports on the progress of relief work for the Bremen and take any additional supplies the crew of the ship may need. He plans to reach Greenly Island before nightfall.

FIVE RELATIVES OF MRS. KNAPP SUBPOENAED

ALBANY, N. Y., April 22.—(AP)—Five relatives of former Secretary of State Florence E. S. Knapp have been subpoenaed to appear before the special grand jury investigating her conduct of th 1925 state census tomorrow, as the investigation enters its third full week.

It will be the first time that four of the relatives have testified to their connection with the state enumeration since the first investigation was started last October. The fifth began testifying last Thursday and is expected to continue tomorrow.

Randall J. Le Boeuf, Jr., Moreland act commissioner, appointed by Governor Smith to conduct an investigation into Mrs. Knapp's conduct of the state census reports back to the governor that all her relatives, wanted for questioning, were outside the jurisdiction of any subpoenas which could be issued by him.

The relatives who have been subpoenaed are Mrs. Mary L. Bodkin of New Bedford, Mass., a sister of Mrs. Knapp, in whose name salary checks amounting to $4,511 were said to have been issued; Charles Hubbell Smith, a brother, formerly of Hornell, N. Y., but now taking post graduate work at Harvard university, in whose name salary checks were said to have been made out totaling $4,711.02; Mrs. Helen B. Smith, wife of Charles Hubbell Smith, now a student at Columbia university, whose salary checks were said to have amounted to $2,420; Miss Julia A. Smith, another sister of Bedford, whose salary checks, it is alleged, amounted to $3,500, and Clara Blanche Knapp, a step-daughter, employed as a teacher in Middlebury college, Middlebury, Vermont, who was said to have appeared on the census payroll as the recepient of $5,381.56.

OBITUARY.

Archbishop Jose Moray Del Rio.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 22.—(AP)—Archbishop Jose Moray Del Rio, exiled head of the Roman Catholic church in Mexico, died here today in a hospital to which he had been hurried four days ago when he reached San Antonio from Cuba. He was 75 years old.

Driven from Mexico in 1927, the aged archbishop spent eight months in San Antonio. He was then in feeble health, but left several months ago for Havana. His relatives include a sister in Guadalajara, Mexico, a brother in Mexico City and a cousin, Bishop Genaro Mendez of Mexico City. The latter is in San Antonio.

Friends of the archbishop in San Antonio said Sunday night his death was due to the infirmities of age and grief over difficulties between the church of which he was titular head in Mexico and the Calles government. He was a man of slender psysique and of later years his health had been frail.

Three Deaths Caused By Wind and Rain

Property Damage in Tennessee is Estimated at $1,000,000; Deaths in Arkansas.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 22—(AP)—With communication lines restored to the area swept by devastating wind and rainstorms early Saturday, reports received in Memphis tonight placed an estimate on property damaged in this vicinity at $1,000,000 with three dead and two scores injured. Crews worked all night and today repairing telegraph and telephone lines.

Atoka, Tenn., near Memphis, hardest hit by the storm, will lose no time in rebuilding its homes and buildings, Mayor J. J. Fleming said tonight. Virtually every building in Atoka was either destroyed or damaged by the storm, with a loss of $100,000.

Paul Forbes, 13, was killed and 15 injured at Atoka. A Negro was drowned at Memphis and another Negro died at Sardis, Miss., when a falling tree crushed his skull.

Thirty-five persons injured in this vicinity were reported tonight as recovering. None will die, hospital attaches said.

Further checking up on the loss at Memphis placed the damage at $300,000. More than 100 homes were demolished when the storm hit here.

Other towns in west Tennessee, north Mississippi and northeast Arkansas reported losses ranging from $10,000 to $25,000.

HEAVY DAMAGE BY FLOODS IN ARKANSAS

BATESVILLE, Ark., April 22—(AP)—Several thousand acres of land in five counties in north central Arkansas, a large part of it newly planted in spring crops, was under water tonight as the White river swept out of its banks following extremely heavy rains of the last three days.

The river here stood at 33 feet, ten feet above flood stage. It was believed it had reached a crest.

Most of the damage had been above Batesville but the rise was expected to send flood waters over some of the richest farm land between Batesville and Newport in the oil trough bottoms. There all damage probably will be slight, as most of the crops have just been planted, but the flood waters will necessitate replanting.

Highways have been made impassable in many sections.

SINCLAIR ACQUITTAL MAY AFFECT THE FALL CASE

WASHINGTON, April 22—(AP)—Interest in the Teapot Dome lease turned today to the action the government would take against Albert B. Fall whose co-defendant, Harry F. Sinclair, was acquitted yesterday of charges of conspiring with the former interior secretary to defraud the government out of the reserve.

That the conspiracy charge against Fall would be dropped seemed improbable as the indictment charged that Sinclair and Fall and "persons unknown to the jury" had conspired to defraud the government. Owen J. Roberts, special government prosecutor, said he was undecided what he would do about the Fall indictment. He did not believe that Fall's health would permit him being placed on trial this summer but said he might have announcement to make during the coming week.

The government charges that Fall negotiated the lease with Sinclair secretly; that he refused to permit public competitive bidding and that he would not give others information concerning the plans to lease the reserve. In addition the government charged that Fall, after the lease was negotiated, received $223,500 and $35,000 in cash from Sinclair and that under the cloak of acting as the oil man's counsel in Russia received a further sum of $35,000.

It took the jury which tried Sinclair one hour and 59 minutes to find him not guilty. In doing so two of the jurors said the government's evidence had not convinced them beyond a reasonable doubt of Sinclair's guilt.

STORM WARNING ISSUED BY WEATHER BUREAU

WASHINGTON, April 22—(AP)—The weather bureau today issued the following storm warning:

"Advisory northeast storm warning change ordered 10:30 a. m. Sandy Hook to Boston and northeast hoisted north of Boston to Eastport. Disturbance of slight intensity off southern New England coast and disturbance of increasing intensity over the Mississippi moving toward the northeast will cause strong northeast and east winds with overcast weather and rain and probably fog."

HEFLIN CALLS SINCLAIR VERDICT "ASTOUNDING"

WASHINGTON, April 22—(AP)—The Sinclair acquittal drew a quick reaction in the senate, Heflin, democrat, of Alabama, taking the floor to pronounce the trial as "another farcical performance." "The verdict is astounding," Heflin said, "in the face of the supreme court decision canceling Sinclair's oil lease because of fraud and corruption.

"We can't hold the confidence of the people when the rich buy their way out of the court house. I am not condemning courts and the jury system, but a court and a particular jury."

KEECH CREATES AUTO SPEED RECORD; AVERAGED 207.5 MILES FOR AN HOUR

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 22—(AP)—Ray Keech, driving a monster speed car built for J. M. White, Philadelphia sportsman, today set a new world's record for automobiles when he averaged 207.55260 miles per hour in two runs over the official beach course.

Sending the 36-cylindered Triplex Special against the wind in the official test at an average of 201.56774 miles per hour, he covered the first mile in 17.86 seconds. Coming back down the beach with the wind at his back Keech flashed over the mile in 16.63 seconds making 213.90374 miles per hour.

His average for the two runs was 17.345 seconds.

After bringing his car to a stop, Keech alighted amid the roar of the "Boy howdy," he said as he got out of the machine with a big grin on his face, "I've never done so much running in all my life."

Spectators rushed to the American pilot who brought the record back to the United States and hoisted him to their shoulders to bear him to the grandstand in triumph.

"Im mighty glad to bring the record back to this country," Keech said, while White jubilantly seconded his driver's words.

Keech's average speed was less than a mile better than that of the former title holder, Captain Malcolm Campbell, British driver who in February sent his Napier Special roaring over the sands of the beach here to average 206.956 miles per hour.

THREE BODIES DISCOVERED FLOATING DOWN RIVER

HAMILTON, O., April 22—(AP)—The bodies of three unidentified persons were discovered late today by Owen Marklan, of this city, floating down the Great Miami river one mile north of here. Markland sounded an alarm and one of the bodies, that of a man about 35 years old, was recovered. The others were swept into midstream and search for them was started farther down the river.

Markland was standing on the bank of the river when he saw the bodies swept over a dam at the plant of the Ford Motor company.

Authorities were at a loss to explain the circumstances of the three deaths although local police believed the victims were motorists whose machine fell into the river. No report had been received of such an accident, however.

The Great Miami river has been swollen since heavy rains yesterday and today had almost reached flood stage.

RAYMOND AND LALONE TO BE ARRAIGNED TODAY

WORCESTER, Mass., April 22.—(AP)—Charged with assault with intent to kill Motorcycle Patrolman Raymond Gallagher in Springfield on the afternoon of April 6, assault with intent to rob while armed, carrying dangerous weapons and with being fugitives from justice from Connecticut, Albert G. Raymond and Roland G. Lalone of Worcester, will be arraigned for the second time in the police court at Springfield tomorrow. The young men were arrested in Worcester, April 11, and after many hours of questioning in Springfield the charges were placed against them. The Connecticut police have lodged a warrant with the Springfield police seeking the custody of Raymond and Lalone on charges of being fugitives from justice in connection with the shooting to death of State Patrolman Irving H. Nelson at Pomfret, Conn., on the night of April 6. This is the only step Connecticut has taken to obtain the prisoners. No move has been made to extradite them thus far.

MEX. LIEUTENANT KILLED BY BROTHER OFFICER

MEXICALI, Mexico, April 22.—(AP)—Lieut. Ignasio Rosas is dead, his wife, Monica Salcedo De Rosas, probably fatally injured, and Lieut. Pedro Castorela is wounded and facing a charge of murder in the military hospital here as a result of a shooting affray in a barroom shortly after midnight. The two men are officers in the 31st Mexican battalion.

Castorela was drinking at the bar when Rosas entered, followed by his wife, Monica, who feared there would be trouble if her husband found the man whom he accused of betraying their 18-year old daughter.

Both men drew revolvers. Monica Rotas attempted to separate the men and was shot by both, being wounded seven times before her husband fell dead with two bullets in his chest. Castorela was shot in the hip.

Wet snow weighted electric wires throughout this section and telephone and lighting service was interrupted in many places. Snow was reported as far south as Portsmouth and as far north as North Conway.

WILKINS AND CREW ICE-BOUND AFTER THEIR ARCTIC FLIGHT

OSLO, Norway, April 23—(AP)—Captain George H. Wilkins and his co-pilot, the Alaskan mail air flier, Carl B. Eielson, who startled the aviation and scientific world by completing yesterday a flight from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Green Harbor, Spitzbergen, must remain ice-bound at the northern outpost of Europe for several weeks unless they decide to fly away.

Radio messages from their landing place today reported that the ice pack extends for many miles at sea and that no vessel can approach their haven in the fiford until the general thaw loosens the pack about the middle of May. The reports said there was extreme cold and fresh snow at Green Harbor today. Twenty-six degrees of frost were noted there which would make the temperature about 15 below zero on American Fahrenheit thermometers.

There was no direct word from Wilkins himself, but the remarkable character of his exploit has stirred all Scandinavia to enthusiasm and brought high tribute from prominent explorers, statesmen and newspapers.

Everybody is anxious to learn the details of the flight and what scientific data has been secured adding to the existing knowledge of the polar regions. All that is known at present from brief dispatches is that Captain Wilkins was forced down by snowstorms and tempestuous weather on the uninhabited island of Doedmanseira, where he and his companion were marooned for five days awaiting favorable weather for a fresh take-off. On Saturday the conditions were favorable and completion of the flight was made to Green Harbor where they arrived at 11 o'clock in the morning without further difficulties, as already announced.

YOUTH BEING HELD IN CONNECTION WITH HOLD-UP

EAST HARTFORD, April 22.—(AP)—Adolph DeMorfrio, 19, sought by the police in connection with a hold-up and robbery here March 26 last, is being held in Manchester following his arrest today by Deputy County Detective Gerald R. Wrisley. The youth will be brought to East Hartford tomorrow for a hearing in town court on the charge of highway robbery with violence.

DeMorfrio has been sought since the arrest of two men the day following the hold-up in which Fred York was badly beaten and robbed of $48 and a watch. Following a hearing, these men were held in $20,000 bail each for trial.

CHILD ALONE IN AUTO; DRIVER WAS THROWN OUT

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 22—(AP)—After three passengers had been tossed out in a crash on Boston road today, a sedan with a little girl in the rear seat ran driverless and stopped only after it had knocked over a gasoline pump 200 feet away.

Otto Frezenger of Springfield and Robert Linscott, three of Thompsonville, Conn., landed on their heads and were taken to a hospital. The driver, Edward Langenberg, escaped with lacerations. Robert Linscott's sister, Dorothy, six, who was here visiting her grandfather, was cut by flying glass when the car hit the gasoline pump.

VIOLENT EARTHQUAKES FELT IN ATHENS, GREECE

ATHENS, Greece, April 22—(AP)—Four violent earthquakes were felt here this evening. An early check failed to show any great damage. Inhabitants of this city flocked to the streets and remained in the open until long after the tremors had ceased

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH HOLDING OBSERVANCE OF 100TH ANNIVERSARY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 23—One century ago a little group of families who had removed from Windham Center to Willimantic Falls, now the city of Willimantic, to follow the industrial trend that had been established chiefly through the building of two mills which later became part of the Quidnick-Windham Manufacturing company plant, met to organize a Congregational church for the new locality. Most of these people had been members of the mother church at Windham Center which was then the seat of town activities. They enlisted in their organization the direction of the Domestic Missionary society of Connecticut and on January 28, 1828 an ecclesiastical council was called and 18 persons, seven men and nine women, were organized to form the First Congregational church of Willimantic.

This centennial is being appropriately celebrated by the church with special events today and Monday. The program has been elaborately planned to make the celebration fitting of such an occasion and includes the personal appearance of four of the five living former pastors who with the present incumbent, Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock, have given 25 years of service to the church. These former pastors are Rev. Charles A. Dinsmore of New Haven; Rev. William S. Beard of New York city; Rev. Vernon W. Cooke of Peoria, Ills.; and Rev. Harry S. McCready of Portland, Me. Many former parishioners are also participating in the celebration and at the centennial communion service held this afternoon, 31 persons were admitted to membership in the church society. The opening service at 10:45 o'clock this morning was in commemoration of the founders of the church. This service included the presentation of the Christian flag by Marian Branch and Charles Smith and a commemoration sermon by Rev. Charles A. Dinsmore, D. D., of New Haven. An augmented choir rendered the responses.

The baptismal service in the afternoon was in charge of Rev. Harry S. McCready and Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock. The charges were read by Rev. William S. Beard. The new members on confession of faith: Catherine Branch, Charles F. Burdick, Firman Church, Mrs. S. J. Davis, Helen Fraser, Catherine Hanna, Lucille Hanna, Frederick Haddad, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur O. Johnson, Spencer L. Lincoln, Evelyn Pollard, Mrs. Mattie Potter, Marjorie Sears, Slade Smith, Evelyn Standish, Juliet Tryon and Barbara Van Zandt; by letter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Arnold, Faith Arnold, William Jerome Arnold, Mrs. E. Frank Bugbee, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Fraser, Mrs. Lyndon E. Little, Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Snow and Miss Laura Minna Snow.

An impressive union service was held at 7:30 o'clock with Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock presiding. Invocation was by Rev. Harold H. Critchlow, pastor of the First Methodist church; Scripture reading by Rev. A. E. Hendricks, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church; prayer by Rev. Frederick C. Williams, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church; greetings in behalf of the Willimantic churches, Rev. David Winslow Lovett, pastor of the First Baptist church; greetings in behalf of former ministers, Rev. Vernon W. Cooke, Peoria, Ills.; address, Rev. Harry S. McCready, pastor Lawrence Congregational church, Portland, Me.; benediction, Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock. Special hymn singing was rendered.

Monday's program opens with an informal reception at the church house from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m., with addresses by Rev. Vernon W. Cooke and Rev. Sherrod Soule, D. D., of Hartford, secretary of Missionary society of Connecticut. At 4:30 p. m., tea will be served by the Ladies' society of the church.

At eight o'clock in the evening the big historical pageant will be presented in the church. The pageant was written for the anniversary by Mrs. Margaret Parsons of Auburn, Mass., and depicts in a series of nine colorful episodes, the history of the church.

The general committee in charge of the program consists of: Justice George E. Hinman, chairman; Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock, Mrs. Arthur C. Everest, Frank M. Smith, Mrs. Christopher C. Case, Mrs. Arthur W. Gates and Charles W. Hill. Sub-committees are: Invitations, Charles W. Hill, Arthur C. Everest, Allen B. Lincoln and Mrs. Carrie T. Porter; program, Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock, Mrs. Arthur W. Gates, Raymond A. Parker and Morgan R. St. John; finance, Frank M. Smith and G. Everett Harrington; reception, Harold S. Maine, Dwight E. Abel, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Case, Charles F. Risedorf, Mrs. A. C. Everest and Mrs. Arthur S. Wheelock; historical pageant, Miss Ethelyn Nichols, Miss Marion Colman, Mrs. Horace J. Fenton, Mrs. Robert O. Branch, Mrs. C. C. Case, Miss Dorothy Brown, Mrs. David H. Reid, Miss Virginia Wakeman, Mrs. Robert H. Fenton, Mrs. C. Winfield Noyes, Curtin H. Reinhardt, A. R. Sharpe and Arthur H. Arnold.

It is of interest to note that in the early stages of the organization of the church at Willimantic Falls, the missionary society sent Dennis Platt, a Yale theological student, to lead the new group and commissioned him to "test the question whether an evangelical church could be established in a manufacturing village." Rev. Cornelius B. Everest, then pastor of the Windham Center church, heartily endorsed the project of a new church here. Rev. Everest's grandson, Arthur C. Everest has been the efficient clerk of the present church for nearly 40 years. When the church was formally organized in January, 1828, Rev. Mr. Platt supplied the pulpit for two years and with the aid of the Missionary society a building was erected on Main street. This building was of such substantial structure that with proper remodeling it has been diverted to business purposes and still stands. Rev. Ralph S. Crampton was pastor from 1830 to 1832 and after some two years of missionary supply, Rev. Philo Judson was installed in December, 1834. He remained until March, 1839 when he was succeeded by Rev. Andrew Sharpe who served from 1840 to 1849. Rev. Samuel G. Willard then came and established a record of 13 years as pastor. Rev. Horace Winslow, the next pastor, was a very vigorous leader and under his guidance the project of a new church was realized. The lot at the corner of Valley and Walnut streets was given by Thomas W. Cunningham and the corner-stone laid in July 1869. The church was dedicated one year later and the chapel completed in the second year. This brought on a church indebtedness of $46,700 but through diligence and the generosity of the parishioners this entire amount had been paid off by October 1, 1872 and the church freed of debt. Rev. Winslow resigned in 1881 and succeeding pastors were Rev. Samuel Free, 1881-1885; Rev. Andrew Jackson Sullivan, 1885-1889; Rev. Charles P. Croft, 1889-1891; Rev. Charles A. Dinsmore, 1891-1895; Rev. Edward A. George, 1896-1904; Rev. Ashley Day Leavitt 1904-1908; Rev. William S. Beard, 1908-1916; Rev. Vernon W. Cooke, 1916-1918; Rev. Harry S. McCready, 1918-1924. Several of these pastors championed progressive movements that have been adopted as definite phases of the church work.

It was under Rev. William S. Beard's pastorship that the church house was built in 1913 at a cost of $16,000. Rev. McCready's term of service has gone into the church annals as one of the most effective and fruitful from religious and social standpoints.

Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock, the present pastor, came here on October 1, 1924, from the Free Christian church at Andover. He is a World war veteran, having served overseas as chaplain. Under his guidance the parish took up the project of remodeling and redecorating the auditorium of the church and in the spring of 1925 a fund of $19,500 was subscribed for this work. The completion of this important improvement was noted with impressive ceremonies on October 12, 1925. Rev. Mr. Wheelock has also led in the making of several notable changes all of which have served materially for the general coordination of the church activities and account for the splendid spirit and loyalty that pervades the membership. Most of the church equipment and many of the furnishings as well as all of the beautiful windows in the present church were received as gifts, the majority as memorials, and a long list of donors is to be found in the church records.

BURGLARS GET $300 FROM NO. WINDHAM POSTOFFICE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 23—Burglars entered the store and postoffice conducted at North Windham by Anthony Hansen late Friday night or early Saturday morning and escaped with over $300 in currency, $50 having been taken from the cash drawer of the store and the remainder in silver and bills from the safe. A check-up failed to reveal that any of the merchandise had been taken and the mail stamps were not disturbed. Postmaster Hansen said that his daughter Dorothy Hansen, 23, had closed the store about eight o'clock in the evening and that she was under the impression that she had properly locked the safe. The possibility is admitted, however, that the safe door may have been closed but not locked. Entrance to the store was made by means of a key that fitted the door lock, presumably a pass key of some nature. The robbery was discovered by Postmaster Hansen at 7:15 o'clock Saturday morning. He notified the Willimantic police but was referred to the state police barracks at Stafford Springs as the locality was out of local jurisdiction. An investigation was immediately launched by State Policeman Henry Heinold and the postal inspectors at Boston, Mass., were notified.

Adam Gonab of Columbia and Romenski Wojeik of Bain street, this city, were treated at St. Joseph's hospital about four o'clock Saturday afternoon, following a run-away accident in which both men were thrown from a wagon owned by Gonab near Thread Mill Square when the latter's horse bolted. The accident was not reported to the police and details were meagre. Gonab was at first thought to be suffering from concussion of the brain and was detained at the hospital overnight but he was discharged today when his condition cleared up. Wojeik was treated for scalp wounds and abrasions.

Stephen E. Phelp, 35, of R. F. D., Groton was placed under bonds of $25 for his appearance in Police court Monday morning on a charge of reckless driving as the result of an accident on Main street, at the head of Railroad street, this afternoon. Phelp was driving a car owned by Theodore F. Fitzgerald of 45 1-2 Thames street, Groton, who was a passenger in the machine. Witnesses claim that the machine was proceeding down the street at a fast rate of speed. George Laws, of 338 Trumbull street, Hartford, drove his car out of Railroad street onto Main and he claims that had he not given his car "the gas" and moved quickly out of the way his machine would have been rammed amidship. In attempting to stop his machine, Phelp caused it to skid around a couple of times on the wet pavement and come to a stop against a telephone pole on the east corner of Railroad and Main streets. The Groton machine was somewhat damaged. The accident was witnessed by Captain of Police Frank McLean and witnessed by Officers Albert Montie and Gilbert Blackburn. Officer Montie made the arrest.

Emil Bernet and his committee put on the second of their fun-making socials and entertainments before a capacity audience in St. Paul's parish house Friday evening. WESTERLY

VOTE TO HAVE PUBLIC DUMP ON THE WESTERLY TOWN FARM

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 23—After receiving consideration from many former Westerly town councils, a public dump is to be provided at last on Westerly Town farm at a place to the right of the Westerly-Bradford highway, near Burden's pond.

Saturday morning at 8 o'clock, at the Immaculate Conception church, Ella Fortin, daughter of Mrs. A. Fortin, and Edward Greene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Greene, were married. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. J. F. Vincent, S. M., pastor of the church. The bride was dressed in bridal satin and wore a corsage bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid was dressed in yellow with hat to match and her corsage was of yellow and white roses. Levern Fortin, sister of the bride, attended her and Samuel Greene, Jr., brother of the groom, was best man. The newlyweds motored to Providence and Boston. Upon their return they will reside at 176 Main street. Among the gifts were silver, cut glass and money. A dance will be held upon their return. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a brooch and the groom's gift to the best man was a watch chain.

NOANK

Dr. Williams came back from his vacation in Vermont and Friday evening a crowd of 75 checker fans from Mystic came down with Dr. Williams to the fishing village, to watch the third checker match in the series with Allie Crowell, Noank's best checker player. It was in the room of the Aunt Sally Peabody club, Jackson avenue, for the championship of Mystic and Noank. The pride of Elm street had his cheering section of 40 strong—Noankers, and Cheer Leader Frank Muse. Dr. Williams came with 50 up-river boys that could cheer better than any college squad, the cheer leader being Joe Walsh. Referee Gordon Clark gave the word to go. Dr. Williams won the toss and it was his first move. He put a checker to the left corner, trying to fool the Elm street star, working for a four-move trick. But Happy-go-Lucky Crowell had his future told a by fortune-teller from out of town and she told him to keep away from the left side of the board with Foxey Williams. Such a noise came from the cod-chasers' squad when Smiling Allie put over two three-corner moves that took away the first game from the never-give-up, the doctor. The cheering squad from up the river told the pride of the West Side to get going and the second battle was on. With fire in the doctor's eyes, he was out to show the trout fisherman, Crowell, that he would have to learn some more about the indoor game on page 24 and not try for a block game. So the book player, Allie, was working Four-Move Williams to the corners. The cheering section yelled, "Let out the belt, Doctor, and don't let that checker sharp get a king!" Foxey Williams used all the tricks his grandfather told him when he sat on his knee at night and Mason Crowell was left on the edge of the king row. The Mystic doctor won the second game with ease, making the match a tie. "Come on, Fatty Crowell, give that pill-roller from Mystic that underhand move—the trick that you are holding back," cried the rooters. Now came the rubber as 100 fans were watching. It was Cough Drop Williams' turn to move. Again Dr. Williams put the hooks into the hermit of the village, taking the last game like taking your grandmother to a circus and losing her in the crowd. The cheering squad from Mystic was heard a mile away when the doctor won the third match. Now the score stands, Williams 3, Crowell 2. The next match will be in Mystic. Cook Harry Johnson put on a North Dock fish chowder with cookies and real Noank coffee. There was a big time later, singing old-time songs and with soft-shoe dancing by Sam Carson.

Angus Morrison has returned from a visit in Montville.

John L. Smith, 71, for many years a resident of the village, died at his home after an illness of six weeks with pneumonia. He was born in Brooklyn. He married Miss Cynthia Griswold, in Southhold, L. I., coming to the village to live. For 30 years Mr. Smith followed the salt water and was made captain of a fishing boat out of Noank. He went to France as cook on a sailing schooner when only 19 years old and it took 32 days to make port. After he retired from the sea, he took up the carpenter trade and was a first class workman. Mr. Smith was a member of Stonington lodge, I. O. O. F. He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Miss Charlotte Smith; three sons, Lester, Ira and Willis; by two brothers, Charles Smith, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Fred Smith, of Philadelphia.

Flash McDonald spent Friday with friends in Occum.

George Deveau, mate on the fishing boat, Idella, came in from the fishing grounds Friday afternoon and had a good catch of fish. He was cleaning a cod that weighed 12 pounds and wanted it for his dinner Saturday. The knife slipped and cut a deep gash in his right hand that took three stitches to close.

The Northern lights were seen plainly in the village, their first appearance this year. People claim cold weather is on its return. That was said by an old salt, Fred Durham, who has seen many whales put away. When the Northern lights are seen so early in the spring it is followed by cool weather.

Mrs. Edward Foley and children, of Dorchester, Mass., are visiting Mrs. William Rathbun for a week.

Edward Mahoney has left for New York to visit relatives.

Merritt Lyon is in Long Island for a few days' visit with friends.

EKONK

(STERLING HILL)

Mr. and Mrs. George Tanner, Charles Tanner and Charles Hopkins atended the funeral of William J. Tanner at his home in Malden, Mass., on Friday. The service was conducted by Mr. Fryer a Christian Science reader. A soloist from the same church sang two selections. Mr. Tanner was born in Carolina, R. I., the son of William W. and Phebe Kenyon Tanner. At the age of five he moved with his parents to Ekonk, where he resided until about twelve years ago, when he sold his farm and moved to Wakefield, R. I., later to Malden, Mass. He was united in marriage to Miss Hannah Lillibridge, who survives him. He also leaves a son, Oscar Tanner and two grandchildren, of Malden, a brother, George Tanner and a sister, Mrs. Emma Wilcox of Eastern Voluntown. There were beautiful floral tributes from many friends.

Mrs. Hattie Bentley and son, Austin, of New Haven were week end visitors here. Mrs. Bentley visited Mrs. George Tanner and Austin enjoyed trout fishing.

Herman Fritzi held an auction of cattle Saturday last, a herd of 40 was disposed of. The Ladies' Aid society catered and the hot dogs and coffee with pie and sandwiches found ready sales as the afternoon proved stormy, with a cold rain.

Mrs. George Kenyon celebrated her 88th birthday, Sunday when relatives and friends called to congratulate her.

Mrs. Iva Weeks of Plainfield brought ice cream and two cakes, one a large birthday cake with 88 lighted candles. Miss Mabel Weeks arranged the candles to form the dates 1840 and 1928. A beautiful fuchsia in full bloom and a bouquet of snapdragons was presented by Mrs. Benj. Douglas and Miss Mary Douglas, Mrs. Lee Remington of Oneco, sent a box of fruit and candy. Mrs. Kenyon also received many cards and tokens of remembrance from distant friends. She is a shut-in, but enjoys meeting her neighbors, she is still nimble with her fingers and is proud to exhibit the beautiful silk quilts and nice rag rugs she has made within a few years. Her niece, Miss Annie Bitgood cares for her.

The meeting of Ekonk grange was held Monday evening. A pleasing program of music and readings was carried out.

Mrs. Charles Gibson spent Monday in Providence.

The Sterling schools gave an entertainment and exhibition of art work in the Wright club hall, Sterling Center, Friday evening which was well attended. The pupils of the Sterling Hill school, Mrs. Marian Hilliard, teacher, gave a playlet, "The Old Fashioned School" which was received merited praise.

Friends here of Mrs. Abby Tanner are sorry to learn that she is again confined to her bed.

Rev. Albert Stanton of New Jersey with his wife visited last week with his sister, Mrs. Carl Gallup in Plainfield. He also called at his old home in Ekonk.

Mrs. Charles Gibson attended a meeting of the library committees and librarians at the community house in Plainfield Tuesday.

Mrs. Adelbert Gallup was a dinner guest at Mortimer Frink's Tuesday.

CHESTNUT HILL

Funeral services for A. A. Latham were conducted at his home by his pastor, Rev. Duane Wain of Columbia, Tuesda afternoon at 2 o'clock. There was a large attendance and beautiful floral tributes. The bearers were neighbors. Burial was in the family lot at Columbia.

Mrs. Robbins of Springfield was a week end guest at E. C. Payson's.

Mrs. Christy Oehlers is spending a few weeks in New York with her sister, Mrs. Brownfield.

DANIELSON

THIEVES GOT 50 PENNIES AT KENNEDY CORP. OFFICE

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 22—A break made some time during last night at the office of the Kennedy corporation on Cottage street was reported to Chief John McFarland this morning. The loss appears to be confined to a roll of 50 pennies. A door was forced open to gain entrance. This office has been broken into on other occasions in the past, but no serious losses sustained. The last break is regarded as having been the work of boys or youths.

Investigation of the case involving the murder of State Officer Irving H Nelson is practically completed, it was said today. Lieut. Ross V. Urquhart and Officer Donald J. Geddes of the Danielson barracks have given a large amount of time to making a minute checkup, and it is believed that they have built up a very strong case against Raymond and Laione, still being held in Springfield. Extradition proceedings will be necessary to get the prisoners out of Massachusetts, but it is believed that there will not be any serious obstacle in this. It is understood that Connecticut officials are anxious for a speedy trial of the case.

Men who have been roaming the woods of late and inspecting the new chestnut growths are not so sure these little trees are going to amount to much. A great many of them show signs of the blight that killed off all the splendid chestnut trees in this area a decade or more ago. One man who has inspected scores of the little trees now growing says that practically every one he looked over was more or less marked with blight.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. William Lewis on Railroad street funeral services for Mrs Almariah Howland, who died at Greenfield, Mass., the past week, were conducted by Rev. Harding W. Gaylord of the Westfield Congregational church. During the service Mrs. Esther Brown sang, with harp accompaniment, Lead Kindly Light and They Shall Be Comforted.

Burial was in the South Coventry cemetery at Brooklyn. The bearers were William Lewis, Ray Shippee of Dayville, Alfred Moffitt and Leo Farland of Wauregan, Fred Baker, and Bert Caldwell of Abington A. F. Wood was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

From the home in Goodyear, the funeral of Joseph Varrier was held Saturday morning with services at St. Joseph's church in Dayville at 9 o'clock. Rev. Ignatius Kost was celebrant of the high mass of requiem, at which numbers of relatives and friends were in attendance. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery. The bearers were Joseph Jackson, John Jackson, Medre Picard, Conrad Billadoen, William A Keefe and Eugene Liberty. Louis E Kennedy was the funeral director.

It was forecast this afternoon that Edward S. Carpenter will have one of the largest funerals held in Danielson for years. An unusually large number of members of the Masonic organizations with which Mr. Carpenter was identified are to attend in a body. It is to be a Masonic funeral. It was remarked today that during his 90 years of life Mr. Carpenter attended more Masonic funerals than any Mason for miles about. The fraternity is particularly anxious to show him honor at his funeral.

In compiling the grand list of the borough for the purposes of taxation this spring the officials of the borough will use the town assessments on this property. This is a new arrangement under the revised borough charter. The borough no longer has a board of assessors, but still maintains a board of relief. A checkup shows that some pieces of property have in the past been in the town list and in the borough list at different figures. These differences will be done away with under the new arrangement.

There was a story current here today that collectors are to be sent into Danielson and other textile centers in this section of the state seeking money to aid the New Bedford mill strikers. The collectors will be fully credentialed. If the collectors come, it will be but following up a practice tried before. It is recalled that collectors came regularly into this territory seeking aid for the Willimantic strikers a few years ago, and it is also recalled that at a number of mills these collectors were warned not to venture onto company property to solicit money from the workers employed in the plant. The collectors obeyed this junction, stationing themselves on streets through which workers would pass in going to or coming from their work.

In the interest of safety for the traveling public it may be necessary to station a traffic officer at St. James' church on Sunday morning's during the touring season. So many of the large congregations attending the masses come with their automobiles that the machines are at times two rows deep on the north side of the street, while another row lines the south side. Often additional cars make a third row on the north side, leaving practically no room for through traffic, which is heavy on this trunk line. The situation is one to invite acidents and it seems a traffic officer is needed there Sunday mornings.

Children attending school in Danielson are responding enthusiastically to the suggestion that they do their bit in helping make Clean-up week a real success in Danielson. Their interest is shown at this time in letters they are writing on the subject and in their avowed intention to help in every way possible in the cleaning work to be done around the premises where they live.

At Brooklyn center preparations are being made to move back three houses just west of the green, that a curve may be eliminated and the highway widened at this point. The present highway narrows down to a bottleneck width near the Bard house, one of the historic homes of Brooklyn, and this structure is to be set back toward the south, allowing of building a full width highway.

PUTNAM

BURGLARS WHO ENTERED STORE WANTED IN PAWTUCKET

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 22—Burglars who recently made their way into the Dupre's Ladies Shop in Putnam and took several hundred dollars worth of goods are still at liberty from the police and are now being wanted by police in nearby cities. Officer of the Pawtucket police department who have been working with Captain W. J. Jarvis of Putnam claim that the same looters who escaped from the Putnam police looted a store of the same nature in Pawtucket and made their get away

Police of both cities have investigated the breaks and many clues have been obtained in this manner that throw more light onto the case, restoring hope for the catch of the burglars.

SNOW STORM IN PUTNAM ON SATURDAY EVENING

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 22—The heralds of spring bowed Saturday as winter made a brief return and reigned for over a period of thirty minutes. A light snowfall was witnessed during the early part of the evening which kept up for nearly a half hour and during taht time had the appearances of a real January day. Saturday's snow was of a wet variety, which melted shortly after reaching the ground, but nevertheless it was snow for Putnam and vicinity. It was reported that flurries of snow fell in surrounding localities that amounted to much more than it did in the city. The week-end disturbance warned many of the gardeners that even though it is April 22 seeds should not be taken out of the packages yet.

As the flakes continued to fall many stood on the street corners talking of such freaks of nature in past years. It is said that Saturday was the first time in many yaers that Putnam has witnessed snow on the 21st of April

Sunday with its very disagreeable weather failed to keep those interested from visiting Priest's island to view the work of making the large island tract of land into a state park. Newspapers have closely followed the work of the state park and forestry commission and the construction of the bridge by out of town contractors and Sunday found many motorists driving by to see what has been done to the park that was once famous for its outings and as a playground. Many were surprised to see that the thick underbrush, grown up during the years that the island has been out of use, has all been cleared away. Work on the wooden span is fast going forward, a concrete piers project out of the water to support the wooden structure are now being made. With favorable weather conditions it is estimated that the state recreation grounds will be open to the public within a short period.

The cold rainy week end found many disappointed fishermen returning to their homes Sunday, after they had planned for a glorious day in the field The all-day mist proved to be no boon for the anglers as no catches worth mentioning were taken by local sports County Game Warden J. Fred Ash of Putnam reported that no arrests for violations have been necessary in Putnam or vicinity as anglers have been holding the standard of sportsmanship high by keeping within the law. Many arrests hav ebeen made in Phoenixville by deputy game wardens for violations of the laws while fishing in the state leased brook, "Natchaug," and sessions of court have been held where those who trespassed were heavily fined and in many cases licenses were suspended. This has been the only instance reported in this locality where the law has been violated.

Putnam will generally go on daylight saving time schedule for the remainder of the spring and during the summer months next Saturday at midnight. In most instances Sunday worshippers will attend services in the churches on the new time, except at St. Mary's church where the new time will not be adopted until Sunday at midnight April 29, it was announced by Rev. U. O. Bellerose, pastor of the church Sunday. No disfavor has been indicated by any parties as announcements regarding the adopting of the one hour earlier time schedules were made during the past week. The chamber of commerce has favored the movement and Mayor Charles A. Richard has announced that he does not feel that any opposition will be made by the members of the city council at their next meeting.

Cleanup week preparations are now being made by those who are sponsoring the civic spring health movement. The city council has undertaken to have the city highway department take care of rubbish and other trash that has accumulated during the winter season if left on the sidewalk during the days designated for the city teams to canvass that section of the city. The chamber of commerce and the schools of the city are cooperating with the mayor and council in an effort to thoroughly house clean the city. Cleanup week will officially begin on April 30 and will continue during the week until May 7. As previously announced Cleanup week does not mean that a man may get rid of his winter's supply of ashes at the expense of the city during these six days In former years a week set aside by city officials for cleaning up the city has proved successful and with full cooperation of all living within the district it should prove to be a worthy cause this year.

Saturday was announced as to have been the date for the holding of the Eastern Connecticut checker championship meet at the Putnam Masonic club; but it was found that the date given for the holding of the ancient indoor sport meet was heralded one week ahead of time. The gathering of experts at Putnam for championship honors will not be until Saturday April 28 of this week. During the past few years many Putnam players of this game have held crowns up until this year, but each champ has forwarded his honor and rumors have been circulated that many of these "has beens" are planning to climb from the rank of oblivion back to the top of the ladder at this meet to be held at Putnam Saturday.

City parking ordinances that are to be changed in regards to the parking of cars on the south end of Main street between the National bank and the corner of Union street will greatly aid to the safety of traffic while passing over this short stretch. Cars parking in this area now must back into the curb on each side of the street and when the space is filled other cars going south must travel between these two rows where many collisions have been narrowly averted. A movement that has been ratified by the city council, to remedy this hazard will soon be put into affect by the committee appointed by the mayor. Captain Jarvis of the Putnam police has stated that parking in this district will now be done so that machines will be parallel with the curb. Some question as to where the overflow of cars will be able to park when the new ordinance is put into effect. The committee in charge of this movement have placed additional lights on South Main street where the trolley tracks have been taken up, and have made room for many cars to park. This space is onyl a short distance from the center of the city and every improvement will be there.

John M. Hogan of Milford visited over the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Hogan of Totem street.

City Engineer George W. Parry of Providence street is rapidly recovering from a recent operation and is expected to be at his office again some time this week.

Promoters of the Putnam sporting club anxiously awaited news as to the decision of the state boxing commissioners, at their meeting held in New Haven Friday night. The meeting was called by President Kennedy of the Connecticut A. A. U., and its motive was to settle the recent disturbance regarding the holding of amateur boxing bouts in Connecticut. A ban has been placed on clubs under the direction of the A. A. U. in Connecticut that has temporarily stopped the sport. Commissioner Walter N. King of Putnam a member of the state board did not attend the meeting and no information was obtained Sunday

Luke E. White of Hartford spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs Michael R. White of Eden street.

At all the masses at St. Mary's church Sunday, Rev. U. O. Bellerose pastor of the church announced that the mission for the English speaking members of the parish would begin on Sunday April 29 and would continue for one week. The services will be conducted by the Franciscan fathers of New York.

WESTMINSTER

The Keith production in which Arthur Dusenberre—known professionally as Sonny Hines—is co-star with Vanneasi will close its season at the Capitol theatre in Hartford April 28th after a run of 42 consecutive weeks. Mr. Hines expects to spend a few weeks at his summer home in Westminster.

The electric light plant recently installed at A. T. Macleod's is a great improvement. The lights from the gas station illuminate a large area over Westminster Hill.

Jake Jones, employed in the Hanover mill, is at home ill.

The large stone crusher used in the construction of the state road was removed the past week by Bridges & Sons to Glastonbury, where Mr. Bridges has another contract.

Mrs. M. J. Johnson is visiting her brother, Will Davis, at Elm Arch farm while her summer home is being made ready for occupancy.

The open season on trout beginning April 15 brought the usual quota of enthusiastic fishermen up this way. Some good catches are reported.

Cold winds during the day and freezing temperature every night has retarded spring work in this vicinity. Dirt roads have dried out, leaving deep ruts, making automobile travel extremely difficult.

Now in Full Swing and Ready for Another Big Week

MOTORISTS BY THE SCORE took off their old tires last week and are riding now on safe, new Generals.

THEY SOLD US THEIR OLD TIRES at flattering prices. We took in undersized tires from brand new cars — partly worn tires from others — some aged "blowout prospects" from some more.

LOW LEVEL PRICES on new tires—full allowances for worn tires. A tire buyers' event auguring easy sailing for the motorists and hard going for the makeshift bargain tire boys.

STOP FOR THREE MINUTES at our store and learn how little it costs to equip with Generals and know the trouble-freedom and extra mileage that other people enjoy.

INCREASES in the use of General tires exceeded that of any other tire in the world last year. Annual statements of General and the country's other great rubber factories showed this.

Aside from the top quality reputation, a big factor in General's achievement in leading the field last year was the low price of rubber which made it ridiculously foolish to look for cheap tires the way prices for good tires were —and are today.

Thousands of motorists who have always wanted Generals but believed they could not afford the slightly higher first cost, are taking advantage of present low rubber prices and this special Trade-in opportunity and buying Generals for less than they had paid for other tires, good and bad.

Trade in Every Make, Every Size--Old or New

With Our Full Value Allowance and Today's Low Rubber Prices, What's the Use of Worrying Along With the Ordinary Tire

The General Tire goes two, three and four seasons —more uninterrupted miles, two to one, than any other tire — This is because it is built from the ground up of pure new rubber and first grade fabric. A tire large and strong enough to do the job.

There are tires as bulky as General—made partly of reclaimed rubber, lubbery, loosely put together tires of inferior quality, but they are not the tires that give you the second ten thousand uninterrupted miles.

The experienced motorist knows the General is the correctly built, properly proportioned tire that makes driving safer—traveling more comfortable —that saves clothes, nerves and patience because it doesn't give out with a pinch against the curb or a bump in a bad hole—that doesn't merely protect against accidents or abuse but furnishes unlimited protection—the kind that can be had only when built into the tire itself.

This is the kind of tire you need this year, above all years—with faster speeding cars, shorter stops and more of them, and hurried get-away, you need the big, safe Dual Tread, proper size General—always the preferred tire of the big car owners who want everything the best that money can buy.

This is the tire you need today even on the lighter cars — and can buy — for your car — at less than your usual price for tires by taking advantage of this Trade-in Sale.

CAPTAIN WILKINS' FLIGHT

While attention has been centered upon the westward flight of the Bremen a longer and even more perilous flight has been made across the top of the world by Captain Wilkins and Pilot Eielson.

Captain Wilkins must work under the policy of keep on trying until you succeed for he has figured prominently in polar flights before but without reaching his goal. He has attracted much attention, but his operations have been at such a distant point that it was not easy to keep in touch with him and he was lost for a period of two weeks on one of his flights. He thus demonstrates what courage, persistency and skill will accomplish.

While there has been a dirigible flight over the pole and an airplane to and around it, no one has previously made the flight across the pole from Point Barrow to Spitzbergen, and when we are told that Wilkins and Eielson had a narrow escape when forced down on a desolate island it can be readily appreciated that their position was an unenviable one. That they had made a successful and rapid flight up to the time of their forced landing is indicated while the experiences of the five days in which they were marooned will add to the interest of the story which they will tell of their trip.

This crossing of the north pole precedes the attempt which is to be made by Captain Byrd to make a similar flight across the south pole later this year, but it serves to stimulate confidence in that undertaking. These polar flights involve conditions which are not to be encountered elsewhere. Likewise if there is an accident and they drop there's little hope. There are no ships, no lighthouses, no wireless stations to provide relief.

Captain Wilkins is not the first to go over the north pole but there are nevertheless plenty of honors due him for the success which he has attained. He has proven his contention, he has done the unusual, he has gained a new distinction and he has helped to pave the way for greater accomplishments in aviation.

AMERICAN FOREST WEEK

By proclamation of the president this is American Forest week and in asking its observance he points out the great need that exists of preventing forest fires. Even as the week was about to open the news despatches told of forest fires raging in four eastern states.

There is the constant need of avoiding forest fires for they involve great losses, and when it is realized that there are 80,000 of them yearly they mean a serious set back to forestry.

It may not be realized, but the annual demand for industrial purposes upon the forests of this country is 37,000,000,000 board feet. This represents the annual growth under sustained yield forest management of 300,000,000 acres. Thus such an area must be kept growing constantly in order to meet our requirements.

The forest land area of the country is estimated at 470,000,000 acres. That is in excess of the acreage necessary to produce the required board feet, but it is to be realized that demands are increasing and fires raise havoc. Let our annual inroads into the timber supply continue without provisions for the future and it will not require many years before we will get to the point where he will be using more board feet of lumber than we are growing.

That day can be kept at a safe distance if we will but give the needed attention to our forests, by better protection against fires, by prevention methods and by forestry work. Inasmuch as two thirds of our forests are privately owned it becomes evident that much of this replacement work must fall upon private enterprise. Certainly none should be more alert to the importance of this than the owners of valuable forest land, or those who have had an opportunity to watch the yield from wooded areas. If American Forest week will serve to stimulate interest in this direction it will have accomplished what was intended, and in such accomplishment the country of the future will have cause for satisfaction, even as we are getting the benefit today of what others did in years past.

SENATOR BORAH CHANGES

After due reflection it is very often the case that second judgment is better than the first. Flying off the handle at the first impression of the Nicaraguan situation, Senator Borah disclosed his opposition. As chairman of the foreign relations committee he displayed opposition to the administration. He did about everything he could to embarrass the government even to favoring an investigation for ascertaining the facts.

The administration carried on nevertheless, got an agreement among the Nicaraguans that this country should supervise the next election and preparations are now underway for that event.

Because of the refusal of Sandino to abide by the Stimson agreement it has been necessary to maintain marines in that republic and to send reinforcements. There are, however, some who have demanded that the American marines be withdrawn from Nicaragua, but now, strange as it may seem, it is Senator Borah who opposes such action. He maintains that the marines must be in Nicaragua, that they should not be called home at this time and that we must go through with the supervision of the election which has been promised that country whereby there will be a free and open election.

Such an attitude as the senator from Idaho has maintained throughout the effort to give protection to Americans in Nicaragua and to stand by a constitutional government has neither gathered strength nor made friends as it has aged. Rather is the impression created that the senator has found that the action of this government has been regular in every way and backed by plenty of precedents.

Senator Borah stands in much the same position that Congressman La Guardia did in regard to submarines. The latter it will be remembered was very much wrought up after the sinking of the S-4 and had a speech ready to deliver in which he was going to condemn everything and everybody in sight. He made a trip in a submarine and got some points in regard to underwater boats and from thence he has taken a different attitude. He tore up the speech and right about faced. He had gotten some light on the subject.

THE SINCLAIR VERDICT

Probably nothing of recent date has caused any greater surprise than the verdict of the jury that tried Harry F. Sinclair for conspiracy. This jury, hand picked by the court, that heard the case after a short trial and reached a verdict within two hours after it was given the case, has done just what the jury did in the similar case that was brought against Doheny and Fall.

Needless to say, it is a verdict that will not get popular approval. Of course a person is innocent until he has been proven guilty and the verdict of acquittal means that the jury finds him innocent of the charge under the facts as they were presented. But while the jury at Washington has acquitted him it will be impossible to overlook the result of the civil suit that was brought which resulted in the recovery of Teapot Dome and the stinging charges against the accused that came from the United States supreme court.

As the result of such a verdict as that in the criminal case, there is upheld the contention that it is a difficult matter to produce proof in a conspiracy case. Apparently the jury encountered enough doubt to force this outcome, however much the opposite had been expected. It affords an interesting comparison between the results obtained before judges and those obtained before juries.

The acquittal of Sinclair does not terminate the possibility of his serving time, for there is a three months sentence for contempt pending in an appeal court, but outside of public opinion he has escaped a penalty which under ordinary condition considering the charges might have been rather a tedious one.

WIRELESS NEEDED

In almost every instance where long and perilous flights have been undertaken the value of radio or the need of it has been proven.

Colonel Lindbergh got along nicely without it, but think what a help it might have been to all those who tried to fly westward to the United States. There was no outfit aboard the Bremen but Captain Fitzmaurice writes that "we consider wireless absolutely necessary for all future undertakings of this nature."

It seems not impossible that similar experiences as those encountered by the Bremen were faced by those who had preceded them. The Bremen managed to work out of it by the merest chance. Those aboard it know what an advantage it would have been could they have called on for wireless assistance during those hours they were flying about in the fog and getting about 400 miles off their course. They now appreciate what a help might have been obtained from ships or land as they winged their way westward.

In view of what they encountered the uncertainty which faced them for a considerable period of time, it is not surprising that those who crossed in the Bremen should feel more favorable to wireless than before. Perhaps wireless might not have saved the others it might not have been possible to have even given word of what happened to them, but it seems improbable, but what it would be possible to tell within an approximate area as to where they went down, whether out in the ocean or up in the wilds of Labrador. This the Bremen crew appears to have learned through an experience of their own which they do not care to repeat.

It is quite a revelation to be told that the governor of New York is a candidate for the presidential nomination. No one ever suspected it.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Add a few chopped nut meats and raisins to muffin batter.

Run carrots for mutton broth through a food chopper.

Lemon juice will remove all vegetable stains from the hands.

Lint may be removed from woolen clothing with a rubber sponge.

Twelve to 18 minutes is sufficient time for the cooking of cabbage.

When soup is too salty stir in a couple of pinches of brown sugar.

Clean leather upholstery with equal parts of linseed oil and vinegar.

Unless the great toe lies in a straight line the shoe is not a good fit.

Fruits or flowers are appropriate gifts for the fourth wedding anniversary.

Three moderate meals a day are better for the health than two heavy ones.

Fasten a piece of carpet on the tread of your sewing machine and it will be more comfortable to run.

A teaspoon of vinegar added to the water in which fish is boiled will keep it firm and white.

To soften hardened putty place it in boiling water and let it stand until the water cools.

Spanish whiting will make your window glass shine.

Always place rugs parallel to the floor boundaries.

If you find it difficult to separate the yolks from the whites of eggs try separating them over a small funnel. The whites will pass through leaving the yolks in the funnel.

SAVE FOR SCRUBBING.

Old flannel of all kind should be kept for the scrubbing and cleaning of paint. Next to flannel come coarse soft linen, old kitchen towels, crash etc.

WASHING THE WOODWORK.

Housewives generally like to give the house a thorough cleaning and this time is at hand.

In cleaning varnished or shellacked woodwork do not use soap and water. Into a quart of hot water put one tablespoonful of turpentine and three tablespoonfuls of linseed or lemon oil. Wash the woodwork with this, using a soft cloth, and wipe it with another soft cloth; cheese cloth will do nicely. When the solution becomes very soiled replace with new solution.

SHINY MIRRORS.

You can get an unusual polish on mirrors if you use a soft cloth dampened in cold tea.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

If the ticking of a small clock in the sickroom irritates the patient cover the timepiece with an inverted glass bowl.

Massage is one of the best means of preventing gray hair and baldness, strange as those words may sound. In order to have a healthy scalp with its consequential growth of luxurious hair that has the sheen of youth, you must keep the circulation stirred up.

In a public school in New York pupils' feet were examined recently and it was found that 75 percent of the girls and 50 percent of the boys were suffering from foot troubles. Of their troubles, a large proportion could be traced directly to too-short shoes or stockings. Chiropodists have agreed that this is true of older people as well.

For scalp and hair health a specialist advises that the scalp be exercised daily by actually pulling the hair. Separate the hair into sections, twist a small section on your finger and pull gently away from the head several times, lifting the scalp.

CLEANING IVORY.

Make a paste of sawdust moistened with equal parts of water and lemon juice. Spread the paste on the ivory and let dry. Brush off with a dry brush. A soft cloth dampened and then dipped in salt will clean plain smooth ivory such as articles for the bureau or dressing table.

MIRROR PANELS.

Mirror panels in the door make a great difference to a room brightening and appearing to enlarge it.

LEFT-OVER EGG WHITES.

Left-over egg whites may be conserved by leaving on a plate until thoroughly dry and then storing in a glass jar. A tablespoon of the dried egg white dissolved in two tablespoons of water will equal one egg white and will beat up stiffly and well.

FOR CAMPERS.

An experienced camper declares a roll of white tablecloth should be included in the outing outfit. It provides something clean to eat on at all times.

TRY BAKING HAM.

Instead of boiling ham, try baking it. After soaking in several lukewarm waters, dry it, put in pan and pour over it enough milk to nearly cover. Bake until brown—about three-quarters to one hour.

SINKING FRUIT.

You must put fruit-cake into a hot oven or your fruit will sink to the bottom. Dredging fruit also helps to keep it from sinking.

DICTATES OF FASHION

Diagonal tucking forms a smart trimming on many new frocks.

Lace adds a feminine touch to the crepe dress in godets and cuffs.

New black kid gloves have a white edging and white bows on the cuffs.

Smart oilcloth beach coats are decorated with motifs of crash applique.

Raglan sleeves give a smooth shoulder line to many evening wraps.

A pin worn at the base of the V neckline has a matching belt buckle.

Shaped girdles help to attain the molded effect at the hip of formal frocks.

Uneven hemlines continue in the spring mode.

Tailored shirts with round turnover collars are worn with the new spring tailleurs.

Stiff satin is the newest fabric for evening wear.

The silk and wool combination is characteristic of the season's fabric treatment.

The cape theme in ensembles is a new fashion.

For the girl of 10 to 16 the straight long-waisted frock with pleated skirt is popular.

No spring costume will be complete without its scarf.

White, in tones of oyster, ivory, cream, parchment and nude, continues a favorite evening wear.

A becoming new ensemble has a coat of gray-blue tweed, a felt hat and a dress of printed silk in one of the new Indian prints.

New combinations are using circular skirts and regulation waistlines. Off-white is a popular shade, with matching lace and ribbons.

The softest gray-green coat for springtime wear has a lining of green printed silk. The same silk forms the dress of the ensemble.

Skirts that are umbrella pleated are smooth and tight at the hips, and have the necessary straight line silhouette when the wearer is standing still. In motion they show a decided flare.

COAT OF BEIGE KASHA

One of the most successful coats of the season is of beige kasha trimmed with bleached moleskin. The lines are straight and simple and the combination of the butter color moleskin with the kasha stamps it as this season's coat.

BLUE CHIFFON FOR IN-BETWEEN

For the in-between season when one likes to freshen up a jaded wardrobe there is nothing like a new frock of chiffon, particularly when one selects a gown of blue, that universally becoming color.

COLORS IN VARIETY

The color combinations of the day not only employ contrasting harmonizing or matching shades, but they combine variations of the dull and bright finishes. For example, a bright red is usually accompanied by a dull black. A bright pale green is used with a dull emerald green shade. This obtains even with the white and black combinations, always so safe and so popular, one shade being in bright finish and one dark.

LAUNDRY HINTS

If you scorch any white pieces of laundry in ironing, wet a cloth in hydroperoxide, lay it over the stain and run a hot iron over it.

A little starch in the neckbands, cuffs and down the fronts of soft shirts will make them launder much better and keep clean longer.

If the inside of the wash boiler is rubbed with soap while it is still warm it will not rust. The soap will help to make suds when the boiler is again filled with water.

When washing white silk blouses, dresses, ties, etc., for the first time, put a dessertspoon of powdered borax dissolved in enough cold water to cover the article, leave it soaking for half an hour, then wash in the usual way. This prevents yellowing of the silk.

Candy stains will disappear in the laundering process. For unwashable fabrics sponge wit holear warm water. If any color remains treat this with sodium hydrosulphite, but it will be necessary to work fast and rinse thoroughly, especially on colored fabrics, as this agent is apt to remove colors.

WASHING ARTIFICIAL SILK

Lukewarm water, no squeezing, two rinsings in water the same temperature as the suds, quick drying out of the sun, and no clothespins are the secrets of washing rayon or artificial silk undergarments. Hot water tends to rot the fibre and the material will last no time at all if subject to hot suds.

The suds should be worked through the garment gently without rubbing or twisting. Do not dry the garments on a hot radiator, since such heat has the same effect as the hot water. Knitted underwear of these fabrics is best spread flat on a heavy towel or sheet to be dried.

WET FURS

We are frequently at a loss as to the best way of drying wet furs. Hang them in a cool room and let them dry without brushing. When dry, shake them out. Then brush or rub the fur up and down with the hand to make the fur stand up. It is well to choose furs from water animals is you are exposed a great deal to weather conditions.

DON'T BOIL SOUP

Never allow soup to boil. Let it simmer slowly. Much of the liquid is wasted in evaporation and the best of the flavor is lost if the soup boils or is heated too quickly.

WASH MILK BOTTLE

Milk bottles need careful cleaning before they go into the refrigerator. They should be dipped in cold water and dried with a clean cloth, with special attention to the paper cap.

DISHWATER ON ROSE BUSHES

Throw the soapy dishwater on the rose bushes. It will, says the Baltimore Sun, cause them to thrive.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

More than 6,000 women are enrolled as students at the University of Paris.

Mrs. W. H. Henderson is editor and publisher of the La Plata, Mo., Home-Press.

Paula Busch, celebrated German equestrienne, has become the manager of a world-famous circus.

Mrs. Grace Hemmingway of Oak Park, Ill., did not begin her art career until she was 52 years of age.

Of the 168 who successfully passed the bar examinations recently held in Massachusetts 28 were women.

Miss Frances Wills, recently appointed United States vice consul in Chile, holds the highest diplomatic post ever filled by a woman in the service of the United States.

COOKING FISH.

A teaspoon of vinegar added to the water in which fish is boiled will help to make it firm and white.

TO GET RID OF THE MICE.

If mice are a nuisance in the house, says Nature Magazine, sprinkle cayenne pepper near the holes, or gum camphor.

RECIPES.

Caramel Custard: Put four tablespoons of sugar in a small iron saucepan and stir over a brisk fire until it begins to smoke and burn; then add two tablespoons of water and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Pour this into the bottom of four custard cups fill the cups with plain custard made according to the preceding recipe, and cook in the oven as directed. When turned out, the caramel will form a sauce.

Floating Island: Two cups of milk two eggs, four tablespoons of sugar, two level teaspoons of cornstarch, one teaspoon of vanilla.

Put the milk in a double boiler or saucepan over the fire. Beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and drop them, by spoonfuls, just a few at a time, over the top of boiling milk. Cover a minute, remove the whites with a skimmer and put them aside on a plate. Beat the yolks of the eggs and the sugar until light, moisten the cornstarch with a little cold milk, add it to the boiling milk and stir until it thickens; then add it to the yolks and the sugar.

Return them to the boiler, stir over the fire just a minute, take from the fire, and when cool add the vanilla and pour it into a shallow glass dish. Heap the whites on top, dot them here and there with bits of quince or currant jelly, dust with powdered sugar and serve cold.

The saying is often heard that there is money in poultry and this has been proved by J. H. Lurvey of Island Falls, Me., who found a Lincoln cent in the gizzard of a chicken he was dressing for market. That the cent had done its work as a "grinder" was shown by both sides being nearly worn smooth.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Coming City Meeting.

Mr. Editor: In the last few issues of your paper, I have seen published a call for a special city meeting to be held Thursday evening, April 26th, which is 15 working days before the fiscal year ends, and I see they are asking in said call for total appropriations of $96,000.00 to be spent in the remaining 15 days of this fiscal year, and I would suggest and hope that some tax-payer who can attend said special meeting will offer a resolution that a committee of three taxpayers or electors be appointed to investigate the needs of each item as advertise in said call and report their findings at an adjourned meeting to be held before election day.

Article No. 3 in said call is illegal, as they are asking for money to be taken out of next year's appropriations to be spent for election purposes in my opinion; for all they claim it is to be spent for other purposes. I never knew (with the exception of last year) of a special meeting being called in April to overcome the shortcomings during the year about to close.

In explanation of the reason that I am asking some other elector to propose the resolution above mentioned, I will say that I would do it myself but have been forbidden by two different doctors from taking any active part at a public meeting, but I shall be there to vote on the several questions.

In regard to the last item in said call, I have employed an attorney to draw a resolution to appoint a committee of three taxpayers (not members of the court of common council) to investigate the finances and standing of the city of Norwich, Connecticut, as I have on two different occasions, petitioned the council for an investigation of the finances of the city and have been refused both times, so that now it will be up to the taxpayers to do as they see fit in the matter.

The item above referred to calling for an appropriation of $60,000.00 to be spent in the remaining 15 working days of the fiscal year equals $4000.00 per day. As I can not take an active part in the meeting, other than vote on the items when they are presented, I will be there and hope a large majority of the other taxpayers will be there also.

CHILD TRAINING

Reasons for Rejoicing

Edith Lochridge Reid

"Nine times out of ten Billy bangs the door when he goes out," complained Mrs. Roe to Aunt Melissa.

"Have you asked him to be quiet in closing the door?" inquired Auntie.

"Have I?" Mrs. Roe was emphatically indignant. "Why, I tell him every single time he bangs it."

"Did you say anything the one time that he closed it silently?" continued Aunt Melissa.

"Of course not," confessed Mrs. Roe, still on the defensive, and assuming that her little son alone was at fault.

Aunt Melissa shook her head doubtfully. "You haven't learned to search out reasons for rejoicing," she said. "Even in Billy's boisterous behavior you will always find something commendable or favorable upon which you may base encouragement."

If every family could have an Aunt Melissa to drop a bit of kindly suggestion as to ways and means of guiding a husky, normal six year old boy, what a blessing it might prove. Aunt Melissa radiates a quieting atmosphere. She is conscious of the noisy and disturbing elements as much as Mother, but she observes and comments on the correct motives and acts. Billy will close the door quietly as many times as possible just to hear Aunt Melissa say with her beaming smile, "There, that was grand! You remembered again!"

Just a few of those "quiet closings" and the act becomes a courtesy that is habitually observed by vigorous Billy.

This business of child-training with its necessary disciplinary adjustments needs to be supported as often as possible by reasons for rejoicing. Sometimes we may have to look for them rather diligently, even feeling at times, perhaps, the need of a mental microscope or a field glass to magnify and reveal them, but the search always has its reward. How inspiring it would be both for mother and child if all reasons for rejoicing could be written in capital letters on the memory while the less pleasant things were recorded lightly. We need to stop shouting about mistakes and substitute songs of joy.

Mothers need to get away from fussiness and nagging and from detail discipline. We should all be happier and likewise more successful guides in character-building if we measured conduct by broad principles rather than by petty individual acts or impetuous words. With regard to child life our vision must be righteous and fair. We shall then find ourselves stressing the good, the true and the fine, and under this emphasis the undesirable will disappear.

"Buddy had clean hands at meals three times yesterday," Mother said to Daddy. Not a word about the grimy little fists that had just presented themselves at table from a hurried outdoor game.

"Please excuse me a moment," came from Buddy after a quiet, thoughtful pause, as he rose and left the table. He was back in five minutes, scrubbed and carefully groomed.

Thus it is that every reason for rejoicing creates a new cause for joy if properly noted and encouraged.

YOUR HEALTH

Good Morning, Mr. Man!

By Jesse Feiring Williams, M. D., New York—Member Gorgas Memorial.

How do you start the day? The alarm at 7, a sudden awakening, a leap out of bed to shut the thing off, a hurried dressing, a bite for breakfast, and off to work.

Stop! Look! Listen! Man, why are you living? Are you one of those foolish ones who rush off after a competence blindly, always hoping to enjoy life tomorrow?

How do you start the day? The way you begin shapes largely all your work, your moods, and your responses. Do you ask, "How should I start the day?"

First, of course, begin this morning last night when you go to bed. Our lives are continuous sorts of things. You can't begin tomorrow morning properly without ending this day as you should. There is no necessity to follow some one's rule of eight hours of sleep. How much do you need to bring you to the rising hour refreshed and ready for the day? If you arise tired and sleepy you must cut some off of yesterday and for tomorrow you must shorten the day.

Second, if the plans for your day require you to leave the house at 8:15 o'clock get up at 7, unaided by that abomination of so-called efficiency, the alarm clock. You can soon train yourself to a regular hour for awakening by controlling the hour at which you retire. When your watch or bedroom clock shows 7, stretch your arms and legs slowly. Extend the head. Come to activity gradually and arise leisurely. Don't let anyone sound that dreadful word "Hurry" in your presence.

Third, take a half-hour or more for getting ready for breakfast. This may include a variety of things, depending on circumstances. Shaving, bathing, cleaning the walks, looking at the roses, carrying out the ashes. Take your time! "Do it now" is a good slogan, but "Do it now easily and without hurry" is better.

Fourth, eat your breakfast free from a feeling of rush. Take your time. It's yours if you have planned with forethought. Then sit down in an easy chair for a few minutes afterwards to chat with the family, or to glance at the morning paper, or to read the mail.

Fifth, by thought, planning, and training you will readily accustom yourself to care for other necessary affairs and by 8.15 you should be prepared to make the day ahead of you the best you have ever had.

Some such procedure as this is greatly needed by most of us. Man must learn to combat in his personal life the malign influence of time tables, production schedules, and high speed vehicles. These would awaken him with a raucous sound, drive him willy nilly his whole life long—a tense, strained automaton, and bury him on time from an elevator apartment with uniformed attendants who seek to keep the traffic moving.

How do you start the day? Begin it tonight with an early adieu. Take personal charge of things tomorrow morning and refuse to be a slave to bad planning, careless schedules, thoughtlessness, and their usual accompanist, hurry.

STOECKEL SAYS DRIVERS SHOULD KEEP TO RIGHT

A driving practice which is scored by Commissioner Robbins B. Stoeckel in an article in the current bulletin of the state motor vehicle department is the common fault of operating too near the middle of the road, especially on the new four-track highways. The only safe way to drive on a wide straight road, he says, especially for slow vehicles is to keep to the right so that if it becomes necessary for another to pass, its operator need not go to the left of the center of the highway to get by.

"Every vehicle on such a road must keep to the right," the commissioner declares. "If for any reason it becomes necessary to deviate from the right hand path towards the center, then the right must be returned to forthwith as soon as the reason for the deviation is over. One might go further and suggest to enforcement officers that it constitutes reckless driving for anybody to proceed on such a road in any other part than on the extreme right providing there is other traffic which is incommoded thereby. Certainly under the extreme conditions of traffic as they sometimes exist on such highways it is prima facie reckless to be in the center of the road.

"Probably the one defensible reason for left side road driving is that it enables the driver to see ahead around curves. The tendency to drive left must be curbed. Wherever a man finds that he is indulging in it he must begin to realize that while he may not be putting himself in danger because his reactions are so attuned as to take care of his own work, yet he may by an appearance of an intended action fault an oncoming car and make trouble."

Comment is made by Commissioner Stoeckel on a curious phase of the drive to the right rule which is becoming more and more in vogue in city driving and practice. "It has developed," he says "in the large cities of the United States, first in New York and Chicago, and seems to be becoming more and more universal. The activity referred to is that of passing from the rear to the right of other vehicles. This is apparently not authorized under Connecticut law and probably not under any law.

"The trolley car for which this provision is made in the law is not a motor vehicle under legal definition, but is recognized as a necessary obstruction to motor vehicle traffic so provision is made where it may be legally passed from the rear on the right. The passing of all other vehicles is strictly provided for to the effect that they must be passed from the rear on the left. In city operation, however, it has apparently become necessary that in practice this principle be often disregarded and that the "drive to the right" rule herein discussed has forced passing on the right under certain circumstances. This practice has developed to the point where probably some attempt will need to be made to govern it by law or ordinance."

$2,000 Bequest to Groton Man

A bequest of $2,000 and a silver set and mahogany furniture to William M. Gallup, a brother, of Groton, and bequests of $2,000 each to Bessie M. Leland and Fannie A. Hewitt, sisters, both of Hartford, are directed in the will of Addie A. Gallup, late of Hartford. The two sisters and the brother will share equally in the residuary estate.

UNIVERSALIST YOUNG PEOPLE ELECT THEIR STATE OFFICERS

The largest convention in years held by the Universalist young people of the state was entertained here Saturday and Sunday at the Church of the Good Shepherd when the 39th annual meeting of the Connecticut Young Peoples Christian union held sessions with an attendance of about 120 delegates.

The gathering began with a luncheon at noon Saturday which was followed by the annual business meeting at 1 o'clock at which Arthur Litchfield of Bridgeport, who has been president for two years, presided. The annual reports were presented and officers were elected as follows: President, Clifford Taylor, Danbury; vice president, Miss Marion Page, Meriden; secretary, Miss Margaret Belden, Hartford; treasurer, Mrs. Beatrice Mitchell, Norwich; trustees—William Mitchell, Norwich, (two years), Donald Cramer, Bridgeport; Fred Webster, New Haven.

The efficiency banner for the last year was awarded to the Danbury union and New Haven was selected as the meeting place for next year.

Banquet Held

At 6:30 in the evening a banquet was held in the social room of the church, the tables presenting a most inviting appearance with their decorations and the menu being thoroughly enjoyed. William Mitchell was the introductory speaker and Larry Foster was toastmaster.

The responses to toast were made as follows: Magnanimity, Elton Evans, Danbury; The Junior Y. P. C. U., Barbara Smith, Meriden; I Would Be True, Lois McClean, New Haven; Do Membership Drives Usually Succeed? Benton Newport, Bridgeport; King of the World, Margaret Belden, Hartford; Lindy's Wings, Betty Pike, Norwich.

The concluding address was by the guest of honor for the banquet, Miss Myrtle Belyea, office secretary of the National Y. P. C. U., who spoke upon "What Is Our Goal?"

The evening concluded with a dance from 9 to midnight for which Thumin's orchestra played.

Sunday Service

The service on Sunday took the place of the usual church service and was conducted by the young people of the state. The address was by Stanley McConnell, president of the Massachusetts Y. P. C. U., who spoke inspiringly upon the theme "Our Common Goal."

Preceding the address the service was conducted as follows:

Invocation, Douglas Robbins, New Haven; responsive psalm, Clifford Taylor, Danbury; choral response, Marian Paige, Meriden; prayer, Donald Kramer, Bridgeport; first scripture lesson, John Wood, New Haven; second scripture lesson, Edwin Brower, Hartford; offertory, Alice Parsons, Norwich.

The service concluded with the observance of holy communion conducted by the pastor of the church, Rev. A. N. Foster.

Following the service of worship luncheon was served to the guests in the social rooms.

The various committees in charge of the convention details were the following: Saturday luncheon, Miss Betty Pike, Miss Helen Hanigan, assisted by other young people of the local union; banquet, Mrs. William Mitchell assisted by Mrs. Thomas Wilson and the women of the church; dance, Miss Alice Parsons, Miss Thelma Bjurstrom, William Mitchell; registration and housing of delegates, Miss Villa Bussey assisted by Helen Hanigan and Marion Jervis.

The Danbury young people made the trip here by a special motor bus.

BOYS AND GIRLS TO ATTEND CLUB ROUND-UP

(Special to The Bulletin.)

STORRS, April 22.—About 500 of Connecticut's outstanding 4-H club boys and girls, with their local leaders, will be guests of the Connecticut state chamber of commerce, the Manufacturer's Association of Connecticut, and the Connecticut state grange, at the fifth annual 4-H club round-up to be held in Hartford, April 27 and 28.

The Connecticut chamber of commerce and the Connecticut state grange will be hosts to the official delegates on Friday next, when a banquet will be tendered the 4-H members at Hotel Garde, beginning at 6.30 p. m. Addresses of welcome will be given by Clark Belden, secretary of the Connecticut chamber of commerce and Minor Ives, master of the Connecticut state grange. "What 4-H Club Work Means to Me," will be the theme of short talks by club members representing every county in the state.

The value of "4-H Club Work From a Father's Point of View," will be discussed by Louis Fenster of Stepney, and from "A Mother's Point of View" by Mrs. John Whittlesey of Morris.

The agricultural committee of the Manufacturers' Association of Connecticut will be hosts to the delegates at a luncheon to be held Saturday noon in the ball room of Hotel Bond. Agricultural Agent Sidney Edwards of the Middlesex County Farm Bureau will act as toastmaster. The address of welcome to the delegates will be extended by Wilson H. Lee of New Haven, chairman of the manufacturers' committee. Eight more county representatives will tell "What 4-H Club Work Has Meant to Me." These will include Donald Chappell of Westerly and Katharine Mara of Windham. The topic, "4-H Club Work As I See It," will be discussed by Mas. W. B. Dean, local leader of the Mother's Merry Menders club of Stafford Springs, and also by John T. McKnight, local leader of the Ellington Dairy club of Ellington. "How Can We Attain Our Slogan: Yes We Want More Club Work" will be the subject of the concluding address by George E. Farrel of Washington, D. C.

Sectional meetings for the club delegates and leaders will be held earlier in the day, from 8.30 to 10.30 a. m.

SUPREME COURT WILL MEET HERE TUESDAY

Four of the six cases listed on the docket of the supreme court for this county are to be argued when the court meets here on Tuesday.

The cases expected to be argued follow:

Melville Smith and others against the Automobile Insurance Co. of Hartford, appealed by plaintiffs; Anson T. McCook, treasurer of state of Connecticut, against the Groton and Stonington Street Railway Co., et al., appeal of Ernest E. Rogers, treasurer of the state of Connecticut, trustee of the Groton and Stonington Traction Co.; Gene Marshall and Louis S. Marshall against Timothy Fenton, and others, appeal of defendant, Samuel Katz; Florence C. Gillette, executrix against Charles L. Stewart and others, reservation.

The other two cases on the docket follow: James W. Johnson, Jr., against Charles E. Wheeler; Geneva Genishevsky against Isadore Fishbone and others.

NORWICH CONSISTORY WORKS DEGREE IN NEW HAVEN

An occasion of exceptional interest to Scottish Rite Masons in New Haven, who are members of Lafayette Consistory of Bridgeport, was the exemplification of the 20th degree at Masonic Temple Saturday afternoon by Connecticut consistory of Norwich of which Charles L. Stewart, 33rd, is commander in chief. There were 31 in the consistory cast for the degree work and about a score of the local Masons accompanied them to New Haven.

During the work Gov. Trumbull was welcomed and congratulated New Haven Masons on their new home and on the opportunity which has now come to have work of the higher degrees given amid such beautiful surroundings.

The welcome to visiting Masons was given by Mayor J. B. Tower, and response was by Carleton H. Stevens, 33rd, who presided.

The twenty-third degree was put on in the early evening by the degree team from Waterbury.

EXHIBITION OF TEXTILES WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

The textile exhibition held during part of the past week in Converse Art gallery proved one of the most successful undertakings of the art department of the Woman's City club. The varied exhibits of both hand-woven and machine made articles, ancient and modern, collected and painstakingly arranged by Mrs. Edmund W. Perkins and Mrs. Ozias Dodge, curator of Slater museum, aroused much interest and called out a large attendance, both of Norwich residents and out of town people. It means much in the aesthetic life of Norwich to have such exhibitions as are occasionally shown in Converse gallery and Slater museum.

Fell Down Elevator Shaft

Claudius V. Pendleton, proprietor of the Majestic garage, suffered a broken wrist and a fractured hip there Friday night about 8:30 o'clock by falling down the elevator shaft in the dark when he stepped into the shaft opening in the belief that the elevator was there, but it was on the floor above. Mr. Pendleton fell about 20 feet. After the accident he was taken to the Backus hospital where X-ray pictures were taken of his injury.

For Breach of Peace

John Guastimachio and Donato Porcelli were arrested late Sunday afternoon on a breach of the peace charge by Officers Calkins and Shahan. Guastimachio, it was claimed, had been hit over the head with a stick by Porcelli when the former came to Porcelli's house on Lake street and raised a disturbance.

Found Asleep in Automobile

On the charge of parking without lights, Thomas James was arrested Sunday night by Constable Fenton at Norwich Town when James was found sitting asleep in his automobile on Town street. The machine was so far out towards the center of the highway that residents of the neighborhood notified the police.

MINISTERS TO INQUIRE INTO SOFT COAL INDUSTRY

PITTSBURGH, April 22.—(AP)—Plans were being completed tonight by local ministers for the conference and inquiry into the soft coal industry to be held here Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday by 50 clergymen of all denominations from states east of the Mississippi river. The ministers are expected to visit coal mines and mining villages in the immediate district.

The purpose of the investigation will be purely fact-finding, it was said, so that those attending may report to their home groups the coal situation as they themselves have seen it.

The seminar was called by leaders in the Methodist Episcopal and Congregational churches in New York and New England, and mine union officials, coal operators and others interested in conditions in the coal regions have been invited to address the ministers.

Displayed Prize Trout

Fred Lewis of South Windham had on display last week at a store in that place his prize trout of a string which he caught Wednesday. It weighed 1 3-4 pounds.

THERE is nothing that has ever taken the place of Bayer Aspirin as an antidote for pain. Safe, or physicians wouldn't use it, and endorse its use by others. Sure, or several million users would have turned to something else. But get real Bayer Aspirin (at any drugstore) with Bayer on the box, and the word genuine printed in red:

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

CAN WALK FIVE MILES A DAY

After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Providence, R. I.—"It is two years ago since I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my nerves and other bad feelings and it has been helping me all this time so that I am able to do all my work now and walk about five miles a day besides. I am still taking your medicine and feel like a young woman although I am about 45 years old now. I feel well and happy and if anyone wishes to write to me about your medicines I will be glad to answer."—Mrs. J. TAGLIAMONTI, 11 Pequot Street, Providence, R. I.

ACADEMY HAMMERS TWO PLAINFIELD HURLERS TO WIN LOOSE GAME, 19 TO 4

Pounding two pitchers for 19 hits and finding Plainfield high a bit sloppy on the fielding end, the Academy had little trouble running up a 19 to 4 win Saturday afternoon at the campus. It was very-very cold.

The Wildcats scored eight times in the first inning and from then on it was only a question of how big the score would be, Plainfield never being in a threatening position.

Johnny Greene started for the Red and White and toiled six innings, allowing but five scattered hits and fanning the same number. His brother, Joe (Boots), went in and pitched two innings, allowed two bingles and struck out three men, while Butsy Weisgraber hurled the last frame, a hitless one, and struck out two.

Score Eight in First

The Academy scored in every inning but three. A double by Cummings and singles by Goldblatt, Jarvis, Johnny Green and Cummings, who hit safely twice in the inning and also scored twice, a pass to Hamil, four errors and two stolen bases manufactured eight runs in the first. One came in the second on Johnny Greene's double and Gibbs' single, three in the fifth on Hamil's single, a pass to Goldblatt, another single by Johnny Greene and two errors. Five more scampered across in the seventh on triples by Johnny Greene and Chubby Gibbs, Boots Greene's double, an error and a couple of fielder's choices. The locals finished their run-making in the eighth with a triple by Jarvis, a pass to Johnny Greene, Gibbs' single and an error.

Plainfield scored two in the fifth on singles by Modliszewski, Messler and Polywaszik, interspersed with an error and finished with one each in the sixth and seventh on Koss, single, a stolen base and a fielder's choice and a double by Modliszewski and an error respectively.

Silva Plays Fine Game

There was little interest to the game although the work of Silva at third base for the visitors was outstanding, while the hitting of the Academy aroused some interest. Johnny Greene led the state champs' attack with two singles, a double and a triple in five times at bat. Johnny also walked. Lloyd Jarvis had a triple and two singles in six steps to the plate, while Cummings, Gibbs, Tirrell and Arico had two hits.

WILDCAT SCRATCHES

Saturday's total was the largest in many years for the Academy. The previous high mark was 18 against Chapman Tech last year while this was equalled by that over the Alumni in 1926.

It was no day for baseball but as the days for the rest of the season are pretty well taken up there was no thought of postponing the game by the Academy.

A fairly large crowd was there when the game started but after the big first inning, many dwindled back to the hearth, or wherever they go on days like Saturday.

A respectable sized box of candy was up for the first home run Saturday. It's still there but if Johnny Greene only hit the dirt on that one in the seventh it would have gone to the West Side. A local merchant did the donating.

Boots Greene had his favorite "knuckle ball" working to perfection once he got warmed up. The first batter nicked him for a double but he fanned the next two men and forced the third to fly out to his brother in left field.

Cummings hit the second ball thrown up to him in the first inning almost to the score board for a double and from then on it was nothing but N. F. A. runs. Incidentally, Cummings got two hits and two runs in the first inning.

Bulkeley beat this team 13 to 6 but had a lot of trouble in so doing.

Silva played a brilliant game at third for the visitors, his catch on Cummings' foul in the second being a nifty.

The score board (or was it the operators) was in better working order Saturday than on Friday. Once in a while, they were right this latter game.

Plainfield's team is composed of many freshmen but there are a few who look promising.

The Academy has two league opponents this week. Wednesday Stonington comes here for the initial tilt in this loop while Chapman Tech is met at New London Saturday.

The game Saturday was just about as much of a contrast as is possible to Friday's contest.

Lang, the little Plainfield second sacker the latter part of the game, sure hit the ball square, driving out flies on his two appearances.

'BOUT SPORTS

The Academy has played two games and won both, one hard and the other very easily. The team has looked good, everything considered, and no doubt they will improve a lot within a few games.

The club is hitting and hitting hard, that's one big asset, while for another thing, it has plenty of fight. That was demonstrated last Friday in the opening game when, going into the ninth inning on the short end of a 5 to 3 score and facing probably as good a pitcher as they will have to all year, the Wildcats thought not a thing of defeat. They were sure victory was theirs and they went out and tied it up in this frame and then won out in the succeeding one.

Of course, there are bound to be a few defects in as young a team as the Red and White but their hitting and fight have made fans forget the poor deeds. Mace Goldblatt hasn't reached his usual catching form yet but he seems to be banging the ball as good as ever. Lloyd Jarvis and Johnny Greene look to be in for big years while the other two pitchers who have worked, Boots Greene and Butsy Weisgraber, gave creditable performances. Arico is all you'd want in the fielding line on first while his hitting has been better than was expected. Buck LaCroix on second is hitting in fair shape and fielding well. Chubby Gibbs at short is a bit slow on coming in for the easy ones but he is hitting hard. Billy Tirrel has gone along smoothly in left field while Cummings, the right fielder, after a poor start, probably due more to nervousness than anything else, started hitting in the style that he showed for some time in grammar school and on the fields of Norwich Town and Fitchville.

Stonington and Chapman Tech this week, while not rated as exceptionally hard games, still are ones to test the locals quite a bit and they cannot be rated as set-ups because of previous records.

Al Beauregard, Taftville puncher, who lost his first fight in the past 12 bouts at Boston Friday, meets Johnny Vacca of Boston at Pittsfield, April 30. Al ran into a southpaw in Jake Zeramby and that bothered him not a little.

RIVERVIEW WINS EASILY FROM THERMOS, 11 TO 3

Riverview officially opened its season Saturday afternoon at the state hospital by turning back the Thermos Bottle club rather handily by an 11 to 3 score. Tony West was on the mound for the winners and, in rare form allowed but six hits and fanned 14, while two Thermos pitchers were pounded for 14 hits, including a home run by Joe Hamel. The score:

PRINTERS' UNION TO HONOR CLARENCE DEMAR

BOSTON, April 22.—(AP)—The union to which Clarence DeMar, Melrose printer and marathon runner extraordinary, belongs today announced it would honor the member who last Thursday won his sixth Boston Athletic association marathon run in record time.

A suggestion presented to Typographical Union, No. 13, that it "hold a suitable testimonial," to DeMar was accepted unanimously at a business meeting today and a committee was appointed to arrange the affair. DeMar has been a member of the union for 14 years and his marathon victories have been placed on the union records.

RED SOX HIT FOUR SENATOR PITCHERS HARD TO WIN 8-5

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox shelled four Washington pitchers today to win 8 to 5. Hadley, ace of the Nationals' pitching corps last season who recently recovered from an appendicitis operation was given a three run margin in the first inning but was driven from the mound in the second inning when Boston converted five hits into five runs.

Ruffing kept Washington's ten hits well scattered and was given excellent support. Sam West, fleet Washington fielder, circled the bases on a liner inside the park in the fourth inning. The score:

THE STEEL AND AUTOMOBILE TRADES CONTINUE TO LEAD AMONG INDUSTRIES

NEW YORK, April 22—(AP)—American business last week again displayed considerable spottiness, although the so-called heavy industries continued to make a good showing. The stock market had a less dominating position than in the previous week, but still attracted much attention with a rate of trading so rapid and heavy that a Saturday holiday was decreed to permit members to catch up with accumulated work.

The gold movement was small, as far as it affected the money market. More than $20,000,000 in earmarked metal was shipped to France, but this was withdrawn from American reserves long ago, and had no bearing on money available here. Nevertheless, there was a distinct tightening in credit rates. Time money rates were higher, and federal reserve bank discount rates at Chicago and Boston were increased from 4 to 4 1-2 per cent. This, in the view of some financial observers, may have resulted from a determination to discourage excessive speculation in stocks, although there were many others who believed that conditions have reached a stage where higher money rates are amply justified in some sections.

The steel and automobile trades continued to lead the way among the industries. Steel was moving at about the preceding week's rate of operations, with some improvement noted in the Chicago district. Some unsettlement in prices was reported, however, principally in sheets and nails.

Detroit employment, regarded as a reliable barometer of the condition of the automobile industry, showed a substantial increase over the preceding week, and a still larger gain over the corresponding time of last year. Peak operations were reported by some manufacturers, although one of the largest was just beginning to get into his stride. Demand for motor cars was declared to be the best in manufacturing centers, while agricultural regions were buying more cautiously because of backward crop conditions.

Although the building trade was lagging behind last year's figures to a certain extent, a satisfactory showing was made. Lumber displayed considerably more activity than a year ago, and a curtailment of operations in the Mississippi valley was expected to result in better prices. Labor conditions were unsettled in the coal fields, creating a degree of uncertainty there, and there was some falling off of output in some sections of the middle west and southwest.

Business in cotton goods tended to pick up and lead the way in textiles. Woolen and worsted fabrics were rather quiet, but demand was reported growing gradually in silk lines.

Commodity prices showed more gains than decreases, although by far the largest number of items remained unchanged. Wheat quotations were higher early in the week, although they softened somewhat later on reports of heavy rains in the central west.

Wholesale and jobbing trade appeared to be marking time, while retail buying was restricted in many districts by bad roads and unfavorable weather.

Bank clearings in the principal financial centers gained about 25 per cent over the preceding week's totals, and about 40 per cent over the corresponding six days of 1927.

NEW YORK, April 22—(AP)—There is little likelihood that the proposal to eliminate volume of trading from the stock ticker will be adopted as a means of speeding up the service. Expressions from brokers are understood to be about equally divided between those favoring the plan and those opposed to it, with the latter, however, voicing their opinion in the more strenuous terms. Objections, in the main, are based on the fact that much of trading by exchange operators is regulated by the volume of trading in various individual stocks, as well as the trend of prices.

Public offering will be made tomorrow of $5,000,000 Agricultural Mortgage bank (Colombia) 6 per cent sinking fund gold bonds, priced to yield about 6.59 per cent.

A special committee headed by Seton Porter, a director, is working on the valuation of properties of the American Sumatra Tobacco corporation. The report is expected to be ready early in May.

JEWETT CITY

FLOURISHED DYNAMITE, RONDEAU IS ARRESTED

Pete Rondeau was arrested by Officer Henry Vegiard early Saturday evening, on complaint of several people. He was intoxicated and carrying a capped dynamite stick which he displayed in a threatening manner. He has a license to use the explosive as he does blasting occasionally. He was out on bail of $50 furnished by his mother Saturday night. His case comes before the town clerk this (Monday) morning.

The Gardiner class of the Methodist church gave a very successful entertainment Friday evening, netting $31.16. A play, Mrs. Jenkins' Brilliant Idea, was greatly enjoyed. The characters were: Mrs. Jones, who was chairman of the committee, Mrs. Dora Johnson; Mrs. Smith, who is observing, Mrs. A. C. Burdick; Mrs. Brown, who hates turkey suppers, Mrs. L. D. Howe; Mrs. Lane, called a bargain-hunter, Mrs. Frank LaLiberty; Mrs. Scott, who wants a cake sale, Mrs. M. H. Bartlett; Mrs. Rowe, who doesn't want an entertainment, Mrs. Frank Mell; Mrs. Hodge, who is always late, Mrs. Merton Bugbee Mrs. Jenkins, who has a brilliant idea, Mrs. Thomas Brown; janitor, Everett Thornton.

A short entertainment program was given with a reading by Ernest Richmond of North Stonington; solos by Miss Catherine Gray of North Stonington, accompanied by Mrs. Ernest Gray, and solos by George Lefleur, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Davis. Candy was sold by Mrs. Harry Davis and Mrs. Thomas Gray. Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served by Mrs. Robert Robertson, Mrs. W. C. Jeffers and Mrs. Mary Homes. Tickets were sold under the direction of Miss Juliette Richmond and Mrs. Bugbee, Mrs. Joseph Wharton receiving them at the door. The committee in charge was Mrs. Dora Johnson, chairman, Mrs. Bugbee, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Bartlett, Mrs. Mell.

Whatsoever circle of The King's Daughters is to meet at Mrs. Lewis Hewlitt's Tuesday evening.

Miss Cecile Liberty was discharged Saturday from Backus hospital where she has been a patient for several weeks.

Miss Helen Hart, of Canterbury, has been visiting Miss Hazel Johnson. Miss Johnson is now spending a week at Miss Hart's home.

Harry Paul, Vincent Scanlon and Atwood Brainard of Middletown spent the week end at Mrs. H. E. Paul's.

An immense rainbow halo around the sun at noon Saturday caused the general query, "What's the sign?"

Mrs. G. H. Prior was in Hartford on Saturday where she addressed the annual meeting of the Hartford City union of The King's Daughters.

More than 40 young people of the Baptist church are planning to attend the Young People's rally to be held at the Central Baptist church in Norwich this (Monday) evening.

A surprise party was given Miss Estelle Ethier Saturday evening on her 15th birthday. Games were played. A Charleston exhibition was given by Miss Alice Clairemont, a violin solo was played by John Oropello. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Louis Ethier, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Hamel. Others present were Irene Ethier, Yvonne Maynard, Rena Casavant, Mary Skaradowski, Julia and Lucy Parent, Marguirite Shea, Eileen McKenna, Irene Brisson, Angeline Beauliere, Angeline Domicco, Rita Ethier and Claire Hamel, Francis A Liberty, John McNally, Arthur Dawley, George Beaulieu, Gerard Ethier, Thomas Wakely, Lawrence Olson, William Potts, Ernest Beaulieu and Arthur Hamel. Miss Ethier received many gifts.

A local resident in expressing sympathy for Robert McNeely of Norwich, because of the unfortunate circumstances of an accident, in which Mr. McNeely was not to blame, told of coming from Norwich to Jewett City on an afternoon bus via Newent one day the past week. But for the watchfulness and prompt action of the driver, just such an accident would have occurred in Lisbon. The bus, running slowly, had topped a steep incline. On one side of the road a barn stands. When within 6 feet of the corner of this building, out popped a bit of a kid, and ran across the road. He missed the bus by inches. Had an accident occurred, the man at the wheel would have been as blameless as though he were in Gotham.

Some one down in New London hit up the one time Jewett City Olympian Male Quartette today. The personnel is still intact, all living here. Back 20 years there are plenty of affidavits that they were far removed from second raters. In a set of six cartoons the representative from the Whaling city picked out and labelled, true to life, the one time nightingales from this village, E. F. Burleson, first tenor; B. R. Gardner, second tenor; G. H. Prior, baritone; E. H. Hiscox, bass.

DROVE WHILE INTOXICATED—FINED $50 AND COSTS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 23—Umile Capalbo, 25, of Tower street, was before Judge Oliver H. Williams at a special session of Third District court Sunday night charged with the operation of an automobile while under the influence of liquor. On his plea of guilty he was fined $50 and costs.

Capalbo was taken into custody Saturday about 7 p. m. in front of Hotel Martin on Canal street by Police Lieut. George H. Champlin and Officer Michael Curtin. Backing his auto out into the street caused two touring cars to come in collision near the traffic beacon although with little damage. Officer Curtin was called to investigate.

POETRY FOR THE WIDE-AWAKES

Wild Geese

The gray wild geese are going home;
Their dart is in the sky!
They skirt the hills, they hover, gloam,
Those voyagers on high!
They know the arctic bloom is red
Within each petaled sheath;
That buds are bursting where the sled
Has crossed the snowy heath!

The Yukon tide is rolling far
To meet the open sea,
Wide waters 'neath the Polar star,
Wide waters where they'd be!
They feel the magic of a spell
The distant Northland knows;
A longing for the nesting-dell,
The slender fern, the rose!

The call is strong across the miles;
They need no longer wait,
And slipping out in steady files
They see the mountain-gate!
They see the homeland of their dreams
They see the shining goal
And drift in peace upon the streams
In springtime at the Pole!

—Leslie Clare Manchester.

The Zoo

Their eyes reveal the memories
Of cool, deep grass,
Of high, green aisles and fringed pools
Where creatures pass
In freedom from congealing fear
Of hunting man or prison drear.

They still recall the melodies
Of birds, the jeweled notes
Which pierced the firmament at dawn
From gay, unfettered throats;
A brave, undaunted sun at noon,
At night a silver disc of moon.

These rigid bars inclose
The mighty stride
Of free-born creatures cramped in cage
A few yards wide—
A foot that once had felt no bound
Now chained to one gray lump of ground.
But let not pity kindle into flame,
All this is done in Education's name.

—Pauline Pearl Strachan.

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE-AWAKES

Thousands of dogs are killed every year by automobiles, and many of them are dearly beloved pets of boys and girls. Many of these dog fatalities are due in large measure to the carelessness of the owners, who fail to properly protect their pets. A boy may think the world of a dog companion and yet he will allow him to run wild about the highway and get in the path of a fast moving automobile. The automobile driver is blamed for the killing of the dog when, as a matter of fact, the fault lies with the owner of the pet.

To be sure, many dogs seem to become accustomed to cars and learn or can be taught to keep to the sidewalks and to "stop, look and listen" before crossing the street, but there is always the possibility of another dog or a stray cat to lure even the wisest of them into danger, to say nothing of the deliberately careless motorists who will not take the slightest pains to avoid hitting a dog.

Therefore, if you love your dog—if his life and safety mean anything to you—protect him. Train him to stay at home, to keep off the highways, to watch out for cars. Don't allow him to chase them! Remember, he is only a dog; he can't realize the speed and destructive power in those four-wheeled things that whiz past so bewilderingly—and so alluringly. You must think for him. If necessary, keep him on lead when going through the town or along a frequented road.

But, above all, build a fenced yard for him where he can enjoy the air and sunshine and get at least a limited amount of exercise in peace and safety. The yard need not be large, but the fencing must be high enough and tight enough to discourage any attempt to climb over or break out, for if he once manages to escape it will be a difficult matter to make the yard dog-proof. For most dogs it is advisable to dig a trench around the yard and sink a board about eight or ten inches wide that will prevent his digging out.

Such a yard is not only a protection against cars, but it will keep your dog from straying around the neighborhood, chasing the next-door hens and investigating strange garbage pails. It is also a safe and convenient place to put him when it is not desirable to have him in the house, and if it contains shelter from the cold in winter and the heat of the sun in summer, you can leave him there, if necessary, for a day at a time, knowing that he will be safe and comfortable during your absence.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE-AWAKES

Looking for Their Home

Dear Uncle Jed: I think it is nice to build birdhouses for the birds when they come in the spring. I had a little green birdhouse on a pole and martins would come and live in it every spring.

The pole was broken this winter and it wasn't put up, so when the martins came this year they didn't see any birdhouse. They flew around talking as if they were asking each other what had become of their home. I noticed them looking for their home, and I told my grandfather. He said he would put it up for the martins.

The martins seemed pleased when they saw they had got their home back. They sat on the top of the house, singing and looking at my grandfather as much as to say "Thank you."

They went in the house and are building a new nest in it. I have a cat that tries to get the martins when they are sitting on the house. The cat climbs up the pole and the martins are brave and they fly right for the cat and snip her nose. She doesn't like this, so she climbs down from the pole disgustedly and sits and watches the martins fly in and out, building their nest.

I am interested in birds and like to watch them and notice the different kinds of habits they have.

IRENE S. SPOONER, Age 13.
Sterling, No. 25, R. F. D.

Lincoln's Shrine

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the second time I have written to you.

In all the world there is no more beautiful and majestic monument to the memory of a great benefactor than the Lincoln monument at Washington. This memorial, a temple-like building, standing at the head of a lagoon in which its beauties are effectively reflected, was dedicated by the president in May.

Just above the statue of the Great Emancipator an inscription written by Mr. Royal Cortissoz is chiseled in the wall. It has the beauty of simplicity: "In this temple, as in the hearts of people for whom he saved the union, the memory of Abraham Lincoln is enshrined forever."

American boys and girls who have the good fortune to visit the nation's capital must see this national monument to the best and noblest man that boys and girls ever had for a hero.

CLARA MILLER, Age 10.
Norwich, R. F. D. No. 1.

Tommy's Adventure

Dear Uncle Jed: I have often read your stories in the paper and liked them very much. I am a great reader and keep my mother constantly buying books. I like books of adventure. I thought I would send you this letter because I thought I might win a book. Here is my story:

One day as Tommy was walking around the stables of his new home he saw a goat. He had never seen a goat before, so he thought it was a calf. He began to pat him. The goat didn't seem to care. Tommy always wanted a pony. He thought he would ride the goat. He climbed on the animal and away sped the goat with Tommy hanging on. The goat ran through a mud hole and spilled Tommy in the mud. Tommy got up crying and went home to change his clothes. After that he never attempted to ride a goat.

PAUL L. SMITH, Age 10.
Norwich.

Feeding the Birds

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my first letter to you. I like to read your stories very much. Last winter when it was cold I fed the birds and put up a birdhouse. Now they come to my back door all the time. They are also paying me back with their sweet songs. I like birds very much. I will close, hoping all the Wide-Awakes are well.

BARBARA BINNS, Age 9.
East Great Plain.

An Interesting Animal

Dear Uncle Jed: The squirrel is a very small animal that lives in the woods. During the summer it plays among the branches of the trees, skipping from one branch to another. It is a pretty animal and moves so quickly that it seems almost to fly. The squirrel lives on acorns and nuts. It holds the nuts in its paws and cracks them with its strong teeth. When it throws away the shell there is no meat left in it. The squirrel builds two houses, one for summer and another for winter. The first is a nest in the branches of a tree. It is made of leaves, sticks and moss. The second is in a hollow tree, where it will be safe from the wind and cold. In autumn the squirrel lays in its winter foods. This it hides in holes near its home. It never forgets these hiding places. When the ground is covered with snow, it goes straight to the hole and brings out its nuts.

STELLA IDZKOWSKI, Age 9.
North Franklin.

The Glory of Spring

Dear Uncle Jed: I hope that you and the Wide-Awake circle willl enjoy reading my story, The Glory of Spring.

The chill airs and winter winds have passed away, and Oh! with what a glory comes spring, all clad in the bright sunshine air and clear blue skies. The days have changed into a fair scene with the birds singing in their everlasting notes. The flowers will soon be in bloom.

Here and there, now and then, we see a farmer with his mules toiling in the burning heat of day. All day long he works and works, but as the sun is about to set he plods his weary way homeward, feeling very tired, but after he eats his hardy meal all his joys come back to him once more.

But a still fuller scene of spring is seen in the woods, where runs a little brook that ripples over the rocks. I often think that if we tried to follow the brook we would never reach her home, for she would run faster than us and leave us behind. When you see these sights of beauty are they not the Glory of Spring?

MARY VARNISH, Age 13.
R. F. D. No. 1, Yantic.

Myles Standish

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to the Wide-Awake circle. I am writing about Miles Standish.

In the year 1584 Miles Standish was born in Lancashire, England. He with his wife, in the year 1620, came over on the Mayflower.

Miles Standish became military commander of the Plymouth colony. In 1625 he went on an unsuccessful mission to secure the help of England for the Pilgrims in their affairs of the colony. Their faith in the new country, God, and themselves was unbounded. Standish loved action. In 1631 Standish, William Brewster and a group of others settled at Duxbury, Mass., where he lived and fought. He died Oct. 3, 1656. On Captain's Hill, near the site of his old home, stands a stone shaft 10 feet high, on top of which is a heroic bronze statue of him.

EVA LEPAGE, Age 10.
Jewett City.

A Good Citizen and Traffic

Dear Uncle Jed: I have never written to you before. I thought the Wide-Awakes would like to hear from me, too. I remember when I was 4 years old when we moved from Rhode Island to Connecticut, where we live now. We came with a horse and wagon. It took us a long, long time to come. Now we could come in less than half the time in a car.

Now on the state road we see cars and trucks. We find there are many accidents with cars and trucks. Some because of recklessness, some because of drunkenness, others because of bad curves, narrow bridges, steep grades and railroad crossings. A good citizen will obey the traffic laws. He will not drive a car while drunk and he will not try to pass other cars to get to a place first and invite trouble.

When I was 7 years old I never saw an airplane. Today we see them almost every day go over the fields and houses. I am very much interested in Colonel Lindbergh and trips he has been making. I have a book about Lindbergh and I was very interested in it also. There is an aviation field in Brooklyn. It is only seven miles from here. I am going to try to have a ride in one this summer.

MARSEILL BEAUCHENE, Age 13.
Hampton, R. F. D. No. 1.

How the Factories Have Changed

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about what happened a long time ago. The people who worked in the factories or mills worked very hard. They had to work 14 hours a day or more. The people had to push the looms back and forth all day long.

Now they work eight or 10 hours a day. They don't have to push the looms with their hands because they run by power.

They never used to have doctors and nurses in the factories or mills, but now some mills and factories have doctors and nurses to care for the ones who are sick or hurt, or take them to their homes.

They pay more now than they used to.

MELINA BEAUCHENE, Age 14.
Hampton.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Peter Hears About a Grunter

Because a pig's a pig, you know,
It doesn't mean that he is slow.
—Scrapper the Kingbird.

Peter Rabbit had been having a perfectly wonderful time. You know, he had been seeing through the eyes of Scrapper the Kingbird, Black Howler the Monkey and his family down in the Jungle which Scrapper visits every winter. Of course, Peter wasn't really seeing them. He was just using his imagination. Scrapper told about them so clearly that to Peter it was almost as good as seeing them.

"Does Black Howler make a great deal of noise?" inquired Peter.

"Sometimes," replied Scrapper. "As I have already told you, he is very likely to early in the morning and when it thunders. At other times he may be so still that you would never guess he was about. I have seen hunters looking for him walk right under the tree he was sitting in and not discover him at all. They call him a Howler, but I think he ought to be called a barker. And he is a pretty good grunter, too. I've heard him grunt when I couldn't tell whether it was Black Howler or Piggy the Peccary."

Up flew Peter's long ears. "That's a new one!" he cried. "What is a Peccary like? I have never heard of anything like that around here."

"No, you never have and you never will," replied Scrapper. "But if you lived down in the Jungle you would hear a lot about Piggy the Peccary and you would see him pretty often. Have you ever been up to Farmer Brown's barnyard?"

"Yes," replied Peter. "I've been up there many times."

"Have you ever seen a pig he keeps up back of the barn?" inquired Scrapper.

"Of course," replied Peter. "I've heard him grunt, too."

"Good!" exclaimed Scrapper. "If you have heard him grunt, you know just the kind of noise that Piggy the Peccary makes and that sometimes Black Howler makes. And if you have seen Farmer Brown's pig, you have seen a sort of cousin of Piggy the Peccary. You see, Piggy really is a pig. He is a pig who lives in the Jungle."

"Huh!" exclaimed Peter. "I don't see how a pig can live long in the Jungle. I should think that any one as slow moving and as fat as a pig INSERT CUT HERE A wo would soon be killed and eaten."

"Who said anything about anyone being fat and slow moving?" demanded Scrapper.

"Didn't you say that Piggy is a kind of pig?" demanded Peter. "All the pigs I've ever seen, except little ones, were fat and slow."

"Well, you can get that idea out of your head right away, so far as Piggy the Peccary is concerned," declared Scrapper. "There is nothing slow about Piggy and there is nothing fat about him, either. The way he can travel through the brush in the Jungle makes him a difficult fellow to catch. There are not many who want to bother him, anyway."

"Why?" demanded Peter.

"Because all the Jungle people have too much respect for Piggy. That is, all but Puma the Panther and King Jaguar. They are always looking for Piggy, but they have a great deal of respect for him when he is with his friends. They seldom bother Piggy unless they find him alone. Piggy is a real grunter. He is the grunter of the Jungle."

Brown University Glee Club

A treat is in store for Norwich music lovers Wednesday evening April 25th. The combined Glee and Banjo clubs of Brown university are presenting a very fine program at Slater hall. The Robert O. Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion has gone to a great deal of trouble and expense in securing the glee club which is recognized as one of the leading college glee clubs in the country. They have often been heard over the radio this winter and now Norwich people will be able to hear them at first hand. They have just returned from an extended tour of the middle west during the Easter recess and a great deal of difficulty was experienced in securing a suitable date.

It is always a treat and a pleasure a listen to a good college glee club and it is hoped that Norwich people will show their appreciation of the efforts of the legion to bring the best available glee club here by attending in large numbers, as they have only themselves to blame if they miss this opportunity. If this concert meets the approval of Norwich the local post plans on making a similar concert a feature of their annual program.

Tickets are available at Cranston's and the Postal Telegraph or may be purchased at the door. Doors will be open at 7.30 p. m.

POETRY

A Post-Easter Meditation

Gallilee means rural scenes,
Hills and dales and singing birds,
Quiet, peaceful, restful haunts,
Humble tents and lowing herds.
To every life some spot is known,
Serene and tranquil as can be,
A life-restoring rest apart,
A soul-refreshing Galilee!

Gethsemane suggests a chance
To turn aside and lighten care
Beneath broad-spreading olive trees
In meditation, praise, and prayer,
But strangely gives a traitor chance
To make this same Gethsemane
Historic by the bloody sweat,
Betrayal, shame, and agony!
And soon or late believers all
Are very sure somewhere to find
Gethsemane is more than chance
To test the spirit of mankind!

And Golgotha, that sombre spot
With landscape for all eyes to see,
Has less repute for Nature's charms
Than for Time's triple tragedy:
For there the Saviour on the cross,
The most conspicuous of three,
Was "lifted up" that men might know
God's love and immortality!
That cross remains symbolical,
And all along life's rugged way
Cross-bearing tests the sons of God
And proves men true or false today!
While Jesus bore the cross for us,
Imposed on Him by ruling powers;
Yet somehow in God's scheme of things
A testing Golgotha is ours!

On! On! Courageous pilgrims! Write
In scarlet lines life's thrilling story,
True to yourself and true to God,
Then with the wise inherit Glory!

Waiting in French

Jeannie is uttering curious noises!
Stretched at full length on a green garden bench,
Chin in her hands, she is conning her lessons—
Says she is practicing counting in French.

How she brings back to me days of my childhood
In the North Country, when old Mere Coutance
Taught me French numbers and told me French stories,
And in her thin voice sang old songs of France!

Jeannie drones on, but I hear her no longer;
Free as a bird has my thought taken wing
Over the mountains and bright-gleaming river,
Back to the northland, and childhood, and spring.

Once more I see the flower-filled walled garden,
With its smooth pathways where leaf shadows danced,
Old Mere Coutance and the child close beside her,
By her old songs and her quaint tales entranced!

—Blanche A. Sawyer, in Christian Science Monitor.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Madge—My face is my fortune, Marie.—That reconciles me to my poverty.—Boston Transcript.

Brown—Mr. Evans, I want you to meet my wife and sweetheart.
Evans—Sure, but which one is this?—Detroit News.

Bridegroom—I want rooms, please, for my wife and myself.
Hotel Manager—Suite, sir?
"Yes, rather! She's perfect!"—Boston Post.

Hardware Dealer—What shall I do for insomnia, doctor?
Doctor—Every evening keep repeating to yourself, "I am a night watchman," and you'll soon be asleep.—Good Hardware.

Doc—Drink! That's the matter with you. You must stop immediately.
Victim—Is it that serious? I thought it was something you could cure by operation.—Exchange.

Talkative Woman (on board ship)—Can you swim?
Sailor—Only at times, ma'am.
Talkative Woman—Only at times! How strange! And when do these moments of ability come to you?
Sailor—In the water, ma'am—Pathfinder.

She—The man I marry must be brave as a lion, but not forward; handsome as Apollo, but not conceited; wise as Solomon, but meek as a lamb; a man who is kind to every woman, but loves only one.
He—By Jove! How lucky we met.—Brooklyn Eagle.

"It is extraordinary that Mrs. Jenks can never see any faults in her children," observed Mrs. Smith.
"Mothers never can," remarked her husband.
"What an absurd idea, James! So like a man! I'm sure I should see faults in our children at once—if they had any."—Tit-Bits, London.

Ping-pong, otherwise known as table tennis, is on the increase in England. Some idea of the game's popularity in that country can be had by glancing at statistics which show that there are at present 150 table-tennis clubs in London and more than 600 in various other parts of England and Wales. Although the majority of the players are comparatively young, the game is frequently played by fully grown men and women. These include students at Oxford and Cambridge universities, where teams occasionally play matches against each other.

Near the Pasteur Institute in Paris there is a hotel where the patients under treatment for rabies are lodged before the treatment is begun. There is nothing to distinguish this from any other second-class hotel. Therefore it has happened often to travelers from the provinces to ask for a room there, only to find themselves practical prisoners in a room like a prison cell until the doctor comes from the institute to look them over. Even then, on their release, they are certain to get a visit from a police inspector to make sure the provincials have not been bitten by mad dogs.

Life on the high plateau of Tibet is so hard that the inhabitants, especially the women, are dying out, according to Prof. Peter Koslov, famous Russian explorer. "The want of women in Tibet gives rise to peculiar customs," he states in an account of his latest expedition, which has just reached this country. "Several brothers, sometimes as many as four or five, marry the same Tibetan woman." Excavating an ancient tomb in Mongolia, Professor Koslov discovered a Greek tapestry and a carpet representing a deer on whose back is a winged lynx. Such discoveries as these in eastern tombs indicate that the ancient Greek art and culture spread as far east as Mongolia, he said.

WATCH FOR SUSPECTED MURDERER WHEN BUS REACHES NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 23—The New London police Saturday morning were requested by the Boston police to be on the lookout for Frank H. Waterhouse, who is wanted in the latter city for murder. Inspector Pierce, Boston police telephoned the police here that Waterhouse had boarded the bus of the Continental bus line at 11.15 for New York. When the bus arrived in New London it was looked over, but Waterhouse was not among the passengers. He is described as 44, about five feet five in height, weighs about 140 and has a moustache of the Charlie Chaplin type. He wore a brown belted overcoat and suit of clothes and carried two bags.

MILK LICENSE UNRENEWED STORE PROPRIETOR FINED

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 23—Charles Meli, 16 Jefferson avenue, proprietor of a small grocery store, was in the police court Saturday charged with violation of the milk law on complaint of Health Officer Benjamin N. Pennell. He was fined $5 and costs. Meli, when his license to sell milk expired in 1927 failed to renew it. Recently the health officer discovered that Meli had failed to renew the license and when he refused to do so, the health officer made a complaint to the police and the marketman was arrested by Automobile Patrol Officer Clarence Martin.

PERUVIAN SUBMARINE SUCCESSFULLY LAUNCHED

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 23—Fully 5,000 attended the launching of the Peruvian submarine R-3 held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the ways of the New London Ship and Engine company, Groton. The affair was attended by many officials of the United States government and members from South American embassies. Mrs. A. G. Howe, wife of Admiral Howe, chief of the United States naval mission in Peru, was sponsor for the craft. Just as the U boat began to slowly glide down the ways, Mrs. Howe broke a bottle of rare Peruvian wine over its bow, amid the cheers of the crowd. Music was furnished by the United States coast guard band. The launching of the boat was accomplished in an ideal manner, the ship did not go over two hundred yards before it come to a stop.

A number of social affairs followed the launching Saturday, one of the most elaborate being that at Lighthouse inn, where a company of upwards of fifty was entertained at a luncheon and dance. Members of Worthy Hill's orchestra furnished music. Other informal gatherings were held in private homes.

Joseph Curtis, 44, colored, residing on Douglass street and employed by the City Coal company and Laura Fulford, 50, colored, of 18 Stony hill were arrested Saturday afternoon charged with intoxication and breach of the peace and will be in the police court Monday. When the woman is presented, it will mark her 12th arraignment on charges of intoxication, breach of the peace, soliciting or conducting a house of ill fame. Acting Sergeant Augustus Ray and Automobile Patrol Officer Clarence Martin arrested the pair. The Fulford woman succeeded in obtaining a surety on her bond of $50, but Curtis was unable to do so and was made a prisoner. Curtis answers the description of a man wanted in Pennsylvania for murder. He declares the man sought is John Curtis, his cousin, and that the New London man has been picked up on suspicion three or four times as the suspected murderer. The murder was committed in Braddock, Pa., and Curtis says that he has not been there in several years. When arrested, Curtis was said by the Fulford woman to have a large quantity of women's silk hosiery in his room, but a search of the room failed to reveal but two pairs of stockings and these are not of the high grade type. Curtis was fingerprinted and tomorrow he will probably be photographed.

Henry J. Howard, a carpenter, made complaint to the police Saturday that four boys had gone to a house on Colman street that he is building and did damage as a result of nuisances committed.

Patrolman John Clifford Saturday night discovered the catch basin, corner of Coit and Blinman street broken, and a menace to autoists. The officer obtained stones and placed them in the opening as a precautionary measure.

Leonard Hensee, a stranger, was arrested this afternoon by Special Agent S. J. Ploof, Central Vermont railroad, when the officer detected Hensee stealing a ride on a freight. Hensee was brought to police headquarters and locked up. He will be in the police court Monday. Two drunks, one arrested at the union station Saturday night by Special Agent James Daly, New Haven railroad and the other arrested on Water street Saturday afternoon by Patrolman Clarence Wells, will also be in court Monday.

Miss Anna C. Lundgren has been chosen to represent Connecticut college at the annual intercollegiate poetry contest at South Hadley, Mass., May 4. The winner receives a prize of $100. Rules of the contest are that each contender must read a poem of her own composition. Miss Lundgren is a poet of talent at the college and besides is an elocutionist.

Members of St. Agnes' guild of St. James Episcopal church were entertained Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Boyt in Oswegatchie, at a delicious clam chowder cake and coffee supper. Thirty-three were present.

Mrs. Cecer Long of 37 Bristol street entertained members of Queen Esther circle of the Methodist church the other night at her home. Plans for a social in May were discussed. At the close of the evening refreshments were served by the hostess.

Major General Morris E. Payne will be in charge of the Armistice day celebration here next November by members of John Coleman Prince post, No. 9, American Legion, according to an announcement made Saturday by officers of the unit. This post together with other patriotic orders of the city is already laying plans for the celebration on the tenth anniversary of the close of the World war. An appropriation from the city is to be solicited. The tentative program arranged calls for the attendance of naval and army groups from all over the state. It is expected that over five thousand members of the army, navy and national guard units will be in line for the parade.

A woman who said she was Mary Noonan, 58 High street, Portland, Me., was arrested early Saturday morning charged with soliciting on the New London line steamer Richard Peck. She escaped prosecution in the police court, however, for she was ordered out of the city and boarded a train for Providence. The woman went about the boat on the trip down sound forcing her acquaintances on male passengers. Her acts were observed and when the steamer arrived in port, Joseph P. Wise made complaint to Acting Sergeant William Graham, who arrested her. She was locked up and when court convened the woman was instructed to leave the city without delay.

The successful candidates for appointment to the supernumerary force of the New London police department have not been announced by City Manager William A. Holt, but probably will be during the coming week. Of the seven applicants, two, John Enos and Samuel H Onuparik, have been disqualified, for they were not of the height required by ordinance, which specifies that all applicants shall be at least five feet eight inches. The disqualified seekers of the position were slightly under the required height. The other applicants were George R. Bruhns, William G. Lyman, Enfield E Totten, Anthony P. Turello and James Fallett.

Mrs. Thomas Connors, of 12 Briggs street; Mrs. Harry Fish, 114 Shaw street; Mrs. Frank Lann and infant son, 40 Lee avenue; Mrs. William Comin and infant daughter, Waterford; Mrs. Wladyslaw Woycik, Old Mystic; Mrs. Mary Norcross, Niantic and Mrs. Ellis Rice, and infant son, of Waterford, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged Saturday.

The funeral of Clark S. Comstock, formerly of New London, who died several days ago at East Orange, N. J., was held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock with services in Beckwith Memorial chapel, Cedar Grove cemetery, Rev. Philip M. Kerridge, rector of St. James' Episcopal church, read the service. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

Frank Corcoran was arrested Saturday charged with theft and will be in the police court Monday. Corcoran and Daniel Reidy were at the residence of Annie Cuddy, Potter street Saturday morning and had been drinking. During the visit an overcoat was discovered to be missing and the theft was attributed to Corcoran. When complaint was made to the police, Corcoran was arrested by Patrolman Clarence Wells.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary E. Mazzon, wife of Charles S. Mazzon, of 136 Crystal avenue, held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church was attended by a large gathering of mourners, including a delegation of members of Lady Companions, Foresters of America. The Mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. George Clark. As a wailing hymn, Edward F. Murray sang, "Some Sweet Day." The bearers were John Bates, John Kiss, William Rockwell and George Jones. The committal service in St. Mary's cemetery was conducted by Rev. Fr. Clark. Members of Lady Companions of the Foresters also carried out their ritual.

A meeting of the members of Fidelity chapter No. 54, Order of the Eastern Star was held Saturday afternoon at Brainard temple, in the form of an Easter supper and sale. The net proceeds were over $190. The supper was in charge of Mrs. Emma Allen.

An old fashioned garden supper was held by Union circle of the Methodist church, in the church parlors the other afternoon. Over $50 was cleared. Members serving the supper wore colonial costumes. Miss Dorothy Spencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spencer wore a gown over 100 years old.

Members of the Growlsy club held a formal dance at the week end in the Hotel Mohican in celebration of the completion of the show, Spanish Moon. Patrons and patronesses of the dance were Mrs. John J. Gainey, Rev. Dr. Timothy M Crowley, Mr. and Mrs. J. O'Connell, Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Curtin, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sullivan, Mrs. Sarah Coyle, Mrs. Thomas F. ANNOUNCEMENTS

"Silk Legs," a Fox Films production which opened at the Breed theatre last evening, is a whirlwind story of the perils an unprotected girl might undergo if she tried to compete with seasoned veterans of the road as a traveling saleswoman.

Undaunted by the failure of a week's work, Miss Bellamy, as Ruth Stevens, hosiery saleswoman for the Blue Ribbon Company, prepares for a little relaxation at Atlantic City.

Ruth is kept busy repulsing the objectionable advances of a number of beach mashers. One, more persistent than the rest follows her to the hotel.

Amused by his audacity, Ruth leads him a merry chase and is dumbfounded to discover that he is the salesman for a rival company who beat her to the biggest deal of her career.

Ruth pretends that she is a little "Dumb Dora," and Phil, the man, unwittingly lets out a few trade secrets that enable Ruth to gain the upper hand.

James Hall has the role of Phil Parker, the audacious Gold Medal salesman, who is bent on capturing the heart of Ruth Beautiful Atlantic City forms the background for many of the striking scenes. Also cast in a prominent role is Joseph Cawthorn. Arthur Rosson directed the production.

The management announces that a free copy of Photoplay magazine will be given each lady patron attending the Breed this afternoon.

Will Give Textiles Talk

On Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the monthly program meeting of the Woman's City club in the Wauregan hotel, Mrs. Richard Snow of Taftville will give a talk on "Historic Textiles." This will be of especial interest following the recent textile exhibit at Converse Art Gallery.

At the business meeting preceding the program Mrs. Tingley's committee will present for consideration some changes in the by-laws. The officers make the request that all bring their copies of constitution and by-laws.

Strand Theatre.

Every element of thrill is evident in the story of "The Speeding Venus," Priscilla Dean's picture, which is showing tonight and Tuesday at the Strand. Speeding along the Santa Fe trail at 60 miles an hour, Priscilla and Dale Fuller in their sport model Chrysler were photographed from the platform of the Santa Fe Limited, which parallels the roadway, refueling their machine as they tear along at breakneck speed. This is a fast-moving comedy melodrama, dealing with the adventures of a girl in a cross-continent auto race, who ends it by crashing into a plate glass window of an auto exhibit room, thus landing at the coveted goal and winning the race. This is absolutely the snappiest and fastest automobile racing picture ever filmed. Robert Frazier is in the supporting cast, which is composed of many clever stars. If you miss this picture, you'll regret it.

"Dizzy Dancers" is a rip-roaring funny Fox comedy, that has plenty of action in it. It is well acted by the usual lively and brilliant group of Fox comedians, and sure is a picture that will make you enjoy many a good laugh.

"Roaming Around the Caribbean" is a beautiful Tiffany color scenic.

Palace Theatre.

Russia the Magnificent—gayest court in the world, with the most beautiful women, the most handsome officers—all the glory of the land of the czars before the revolution; this is the background for the poignant romance of Count Vronsky and Anna Karenina, as enacted on the screen by John Gilbert and Greta Garbo in "Love," now playing at the Palace theatre.

It is a dazzling spectacle—gorgeous uniforms, glittering costumes, great palaces and the revelry of the Russian aristocracy at its height, as a glorious setting for the central love theme—the world-famous romance of Count Tolstoi, known to literature the world over as "Anna Karenina."

In its film version it is a gorgeous piece of entertainment that has with utter fidelity kept the spirit of the novel. Gilbert, as the dashing Count Vronsky, is a figure no less romantic than his role in "The Merry Widow" but with a far greater depth of character that calls forth the utmost of his histrionic skill.

Miss Garbo, as the tragic Anna sacrificing all for love, and dogged by relentless fate, has a wonderful role. Her scenes with the child, for instance, fairly grip the heart, while her exotic personality tinges the entire spectacle.

Edmund Goulding directed the new play with rare skill, and a notable cast supports the two principals. George Fawcett, as the stern old grand duke, has a vigorous portrayal as forcible as his enaction of the pastor in "Flesh and the Devil," while Brandon Hurst is compellingly realistic as the sometimes sinister husband of the heroine. Emily Fitzroy, Philippe DeLevy, and others of note are in the cast.

The settings are gorgeous reproductions of Russian palaces before the war, and the entire setting is lavish indeed.

Anders Peterson has returned to Providence after spending the week end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Peterson on Boswell avenue.

Anniversary masses of requiem the first for each soul offered at St. Mary's Memorial church this past week were at 7:30 o'clock each day as follows: On Monday morning for Miss Anne Foley; Tuesday, Miss Teresa Foley and Friday, Mrs. Annie O'Neil. These three masses were offered by the pastor, Rev. William A. Keefe. Saturday morning at 8 o'clock there was an anniversary mass of requiem (the first) for the late Henry L. Donnelly which was offered by the curate, Rev. Frederick M. Cohoian. Relatives and family friends were present at all the masses and the music for the services was under the direction of the church organist, Mrs. Michael J. Farrell.

Michael Breen of New York city has returned to his home after being the guest of relatives on North Main street.

Joseph Delaney of New York city is spending a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Delaney of Eighth street.

Raymond Sullivan has returned to New York city after spending the week end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sullivan on Sixth street.

Thomas Howarth has returned to Southbridge, Mass., after spending the week end at his home on Boswell avenue.

John Dowling has returned to his home on Smith avenue after spending a week at Fishers Island.

Walter Ring, of Hartford, is spending a few days with relatives in Greeneville.

Miss Eva Whitkin, a student at the Willimantic State Normal Training school, is spending her week-end recess at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitkin, of Central avenue.

Paul Zahn and Earl Whitehead caught 21 handsome trout last week averaging eight to 11 inches in length.

When the H. I. Sewing class of Auxiliary 18, A. O. H., met Thursday night, Mrs. Timothy Brennan, of Boswell avenue, was the hostess for the evening. Owing to the absence of the instructress in lamp-shade making, due to illness, work in this line was suspended, and the evening became a social one. Several prospective members were present and these signified their intentions of becoming regular members at the next meeting of the auxiliary. These weekly meetings of the class have done much in gaining new members for the auxiliary as well as promoting a spirit of good-fellowship. To this must be added the amount of beautiful work accomplished by the class. Mrs. Brennan served a cafeteria lunch of frankfurters, rolls, coffee, cakes and assorted cookies. She was assisted in serving by Mrs. Jeremiah Shea, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. E. Sabourin, Mrs. M. Sullivan, and little Miss Rose Brennan.

Mrs. William O'Shea, of 7 Hamilton avenue, is to entertain the class next Thursday night.

The Crusaders Missionary band of the Third Baptist church met in the chapel on Monday afternoon with Mrs. Albert Haydon, the leader, in charge. The children pasted scrap-books and dues were collected. They are planning to give $5 as a contribution towards the church's missionary quota. Miss Doris Lund and Miss Elinor Howard assisted during the session.

The Ladies' Aid of the Third Baptist church met at the home of Miss Gladys Upton on Thursday evening with ten members and two visitors present. After a short business session a social time was held. The ladies voted to give $15 as a contribution toward the missionary quota of the church. At the close of the evening refreshments of ice cream and delicious angel cake were served by Miss Upton, assisted by her mother.

Mrs. Susan Mattison and son, Walter, and granddaughter, Margaret, of Washington, R. I., were recent guests of Miss Ida L. Baker, of 37 Twelfth street.

Mrs. Adah Eaton, of Mystic, has been spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Caroline Shaw, of Twelfth street.

William Hamilton, of Central avenue, who has been a patient at the Backus hospital for the past three months with a fractured hip, has recovered and is now convalescing at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cook, of Prospect street, have been visiting with their son, James, in Virginia, for a short time.

TAFTVILLE

All that remains of the pigeons in almost every case is the powder when Theodore Kendall finishes the rounds in the regulation skeet course at Blissville of the Taftville Rod and Gun club. Not relinquishing his grip as high shooter since the incention of the club's course, but closely trailed by several members, Kendall draw away in Saturday afternoon's shoot by pasting 31 "birds" out of the possible 25. Here's a mark that will be hard to beat.

DAY WATCHMAN AT RELIANCE YARN MILL COMMITS SUICIDE

John P. Rowley, about 50, day watchman at the Reliance Silk mill, at the foot of Fox hill, Main street, East Side, committed suicide by hanging in the stock room of the plant Saturday afternoon. The body was discovered shortly before 6 o'clock by the night watchman, John Shea when he reported for duty. He at once notified the police who immediately started an investigation. Medical Examiner C. C. Gildersleeve was also notified and conducted an investigation.

The body was found hanging near the stock room door. There was a cut over the right eye, a fracture of the skull and a cut on the back of the man's head, which at first led to a suspicion of foul play. The medical examiner stated that it was undoubtedly a case of suicide.

Rowley's legs were weak and it is thought that he fell down some stairs after punching his time clock at 3 o'clock in the stockroom. The 3 o'clock round was the last one he made. The injuries to the man's head were probably received in his fall down the stairs and the fracture of the skull no doubt caused him to become mentally unbalanced, which, coupled with despondency, resulted in his taking his life. A small amount of money was found in his clothing, and in his personal effects at The Commercial house where he roomed, was found a bank book, showing deposits totalling $70.

Rowley's home is said to be in Providence, although he has been around Norwich for several years. He has a brother, James Rowley, now in Hartford. The body was taken in charge by Undertakers Cummings and Ring.

The position in which the body of Rowley was found led to suspicion at first that there might have been foul play with the possibility of murder so that Sergt. Mathew Delaney and Officer Hugh McAvoy were sent to the mill as soon as word of the finding of the body was received at police headquarters. The body hung by the neck with a rope that was tied to a beam overhead and a cord had also been used to make the feet swing clear of the floor. One end of the cord had a loop in it in which the man's feet were placed and the other end was looped over one of the steps in the stairway. Investigation by the police and the medical examiner, however, satisfied them that it was a case of suicide.

HUBBARD'S HANDSOME YACHT LAUNCHED AT GROTON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 2—The auxiliary yacht Lou, James L. Hubbard of Norwich, owner, was launched from the ways of the Charles L. Ferguson shipyard, Groton, Saturday morning. The launching was highly successful, for every preparation had been made for the cutting of the rope strands that had held the craft in position to take the water when the order was given. Shortly before 10 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard and the crew of five that will handle the yacht boarded the craft. Capt. Ferguson issued the order for the severing of the rope and with this accomplished, Mrs. Hubbard smashed a bottle of wine upon the bow as the craft gracefully glided down the ways and into the Thames river. Immediately after the Lou had taken to the water, the harbor tug Reliance picked up the yacht and brought her back to the ways where preparations were started towards preparing the boat for commission early this summer. The yacht was designed by Capt. Ferguson and the work of constructing her was performed by employes of Mr. Hubbard. The Lou's frame and keel is of selected oak, having been selected from the wooded section of Ledyard by Mr. Hubbard. She has a 65-horsepower Lathrop engine, together with fire fighting equipment. The launching was witnessed by about 100, most of whom were in small boats.

Common Pleas Motion List

The following matters are in the common pleas court motion list to be held at New London this (Monday) morning at 10 o'clock: The N. E. Equity Corp Vs. Kieve Goldstein, judgment; The State Finance Co. vs. Emily I. Delgado, default, disclosure or judgment; The Poquyogh Improvement Association vs. W. Spaulding Warner, motion for bond; John Wilkins Jr., vs. The Garde Theater Co., disclosure of defense or judgment.

New Haven Road Appointments

The New York, New Haven & Hartford company announces the appointment, effective April 16, of John Douglas as assistant general freight agent, with headquarters at New Haven. Mr. Douglas entered the railroad service on October 25, 1902, in the local freight office of the company at Worcester.

Another appointment in the freight traffic department is that of Ray Flynn who, effective April 16, was appointed general agent of the traffic department at Worcester, Mass. Mr. Flynn has occupied the position of office assistant to the vice president in charge of traffic at New Haven, also assistant to the freight traffic manager at New Haven.

GOOD SHEPHERD PARABLE SUGGESTS RECTOR'S THEME

Having read the gospel for the second Sunday after Easter, John 10.11-16, first in Latin, in offering the holy sacrifice of the mass, then from the pulpit in English to his large congregation, at the 7:30 service in St. Patrick's church Sunday, the rector, Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May chose as his text the closing sentence, "And other sheep I have, that are not of this fold: they also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice, and there shall be one fold and one Shepherd."

Monsignor May's theme was the obligation of the lay apostolate, of every man and woman to labor to bring into the true fold those "other sheep" over whom the heart of the Lord yearns. The idea of Christ as the loving Shepherd, of His church as the sheepfold, has taken hold of the imagination of men throughout the centuries, as evidenced in the catacombs, in pictures, in statues, in loving response to the appeal from His Sacred Heart. Nothing is more consoling to the priest of God than to be called shepherd, pastor; priests, pastors, curates, joy to feel that they are shepherding all Catholics, good, bad and indifferent, since they realize that Christ's heart turns especially toward the bad—that the heart of Jesus Christ seeks to bring these erring ones back to the sheepfold.

But it is not alone of his own fold that a pastor is thinking; there are "other sheep" dear to the heart of the Lord—dear to the hearts of His priests. How are such to be brought to the true sheepfold? First of all by prayer. Catholics should pray for their non-Catholic friends; but especially should they pray for their non-Catholic enemies—more is accomplished by prayer than the world ever realizes. So many misunderstand Christ's church through ignorance of its teachings, through prejudice. These should be taught the true doctrines of the church founded by Christ, having been all their lives fed up on prejudice against the Catholic cause. The priest cannot reach them—they will not come to him for instruction, blinded as they are often by the ignorance of heredity. Hence it is the obligation of the lay Catholic to enlighten them. But this cannot be done if Catholics themselves are not able to give the reason for the faith that is in them—if they are not well informed, through familiarity with the truths so concisely put in their catechism, through good books and good papers, high grade reading of the works of their leaders and teachers.

But while prayer is good, instruction is good, best of all is example. The good, practical Catholic who lives his religion daily is having a helpful part in enabling Jesus Christ to accomplish His wish that in due time all may enter His sheepfold—the church which He founded, that all may save their immortal souls.

Later, Monsignor May, assisted by Rev. M. P. Galvin gave communion to nearly every person in the church, beginning with a good representation of the Holy Name society, of which organization Patrick M. Coleman is president. This body of the parish men, standing openly and courageously for reverence for the holy name of Jesus and incidentally for clean speech, is prompt each month about receiving the sacraments—a worthy example of the lay apostolate of which their pastor had been speaking.

TURNERS DISTRICT MEET WAS HELD AT TAFTVILLE

The Connecticut District of American Gymnastic union held their convention at Maennerchor hall, Taftville, over the week end. Turners were present from Holyoke, Hartford, Meriden, Waterbury, Derby and Norwalk.

A gymnastic exhibition was given Saturday evening in which the Taftville Turners gave a march drill followed by a dumb-bell drill and horizontal bar performance by the state team.

Dancing followed the exhibition until 11 o'clock when a midnight show was given, George Powell and Carl Haefer of Meriden won great applause in a knife throwing act. A strong man act by Mr. Rosen of Derby in which he bent spikes and iron bars, and a juggling act by Mr. Kaiser of Meriden and the Adagio team of Betrees and Herman were also features. Miss Flora Kenell of Holyoke gave a beautiful toe dance. Interspersed betwen these acts were several other dance, song and comical dialogues which kept the program interesting until its close with the Holyoke minstrels.

Sunday morning about 200 Turners were lined up to go through mass drills and apparatus work. Drills to be performed at Hartford in a state meet, May 19-20th were also rehearsed.

At noon dinner was served which consisted of fruit cocktail, celery, olives, mashed potatoes, green peas and carrots, lamb, pork, cake, coffee and ice cream.

The committee in charge consisting of H. Krause, chairman; Miss M. Krause, Miss B. Rau, Henry Seidig, Edward Thoma and E. Hildebrand deserve credit for the efficient manner in which the convention was handled.

PRINTED BROMLEY POEM ON CHAUNCEY DEPEW

In the issue of a New York newspaper last week Sunday the death of Chauncey Depew was made the occasion for reprinting a tribute to this famous wit orator and after-dinner speaker given by another famous wit, Isaac H. Bromley, at one time editor of The Bulletin.

The tribute referred to is a poem, Our Chauncey, which was read by Mr. Bromley at the annual dinner of the New York Yale Alumni association at Delmonico's on Jan. 23, 1891. The poem was subsequently published in a small booklet, with illustrations by C. D. Gibson and Dan Beard. It is interesting to know that a copy of this rare booklet is owned by Attorney William H. Shields and a touch of the Bromley humor and wit is conveyed by the quotation of the introduction written by "Ike Bromley" himself as follows:

I am suddenly informed by the publishers that his book needs an introduction, and that they are waiting for it. I do not know why it is necessary. I shall not pretend that there is any excuse for putting the work in permanent form; no serious person has requested it. I have only to say that it was improvised several days before it was delivered, in the expectation of being unexpectedly called on for impromptu remarks. The lines were very well received at the time; that is to say, they did not break up the dinner. There is a change in the meter in the last five stanzas, which needs to be explained. I regret to say I cannot do it. It differs in many respects from ordinary prose, and some persons may at first blush call it poetry. It will likewise be observed, however, that it differs in some respects from good poetry. Such as it is, it is commended to the charitable judgment of mankind.

SAVIOUR'S LIFE-STORY IS SHOWN IN PICTURES

A goodly number came through the rain to attend the Sunday afternoon service at the Young Men's Christian association.

The opening exercises included the singing of "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," responsive reading, and prayer by President Herbert B. Cary. The moving picture feature titled "The Man Nobody Knows," was shown and this proved to be very interesting and impressive as it portrayed the life story of "The Master," showing the place of his birth, the places he lived and served, and finally his trial, and crucifixion.

During the service Secretary Edwin Hill gave a brief talk, and spoke in part as follows: "In the seventeenth chapter of John's gospel these words are recorded, 'and this is life eternal, that they should know thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent.' Jesus came to show us the 'Father.' So few seem to have really known Jesus when he walked the earth. Even his disciples knew Him in a very limited way; they thought he was to set up an earthly kingdom, and they finally forsook Him. While there are those rare souls today who seem to know the Christ, yet there seems to be many who do not know Him. He is a stranger to many today. Some seem to have little use for Him even now. Have you not heard someone say, 'I don't like man,' and the suggestion is made, 'When you come to know him you will like him.' So, my friends, when you come to really know this Jesus, you will love Him. Saul of Tarsus hated the Christ and all his followers, but when he came to know Him, my, how he loved Him. A boy or girl never really love their mother, until they come to know how she has sacrificed for them. When children come to know how their parents have, at times practically suffered that they might have a better chance than they had then it is that they love them with a deep affection. When you come to know the Christ, especially in His sacrifice for you, then you will fall in love with Him. Let us all strive to really know this Jesus better and then we will love Him more."

Hugh Kinder furnished the music for the service, and also rendered a vocal solo.

EFFECTS REORGANIZATION OF UNITED L. A. W. CORPORATION

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW YORK, April 21—George P. Hays, president of the Superior Service Finance corporation of New York, announced today the purchase by him of Louis A. Wolfe's common stock holdings in the United L. A. W. corporation of Worcester, Massachusetts, an automobile finance company.

At the reorganization meeting of the board of directors here this afternoon directors were elected as follows: Mr. Hays, Samuel Rosoff, Worcester; L. M. Carpenter, Jewett City, Connecticut; Victor M. Friar, Worcester; H. B. Chapman, Plainfield, Conn.; Josiah Greenstein, Norwich, Conn. and Robert G. Stewart. William H. Peck, Joseph S. Durkin, Paul M. Trout, all of New York.

Following the reorganization of the board Mr. Hays was elected president and treasurer, Samuel Rosoff was elected assistant treasurer and assistant to the president, Victor M. Friar, the present vice president, was retained in office and Robert G. Stewart was also named vice president.

Mr. Hays, in addition to being the head of an operating finance company, is also president of the Auto Financing Credit Men's Association, Inc., of New York, which includes in its membership practically all of the successful and well managed finance companies in the east. In making the announcement of the changes in management Mr. Hays said the United L. A. W. could be continued as an independent operating company and that no radical changes in operation are contemplated. Louis A. Wolfe, the founder of the company, remains one of the largest stockholders through his preferred stock holdings.

JOHN BRENNAN IN BIG HOLY CROSS CLASS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WORCESTER, April 23—John J. Brennan, of Norwich, a senior at Holy Cross college, will be one of the record sized graduating class to receive degrees in June.

Mr. Brennan and Francis Curran, of Putnam, will receive the bachelor of arts degree.

The class numbers 228 students, and in this class is Anton J. Lang, of Bavaria, Germany, son of the Anton Lang of Passion Play fame. The commencement exercises will be during the week of June 18, with the presentation of diplomas on June 20.

CENSURES "GANG DRIVING" BY AUTOMOBILE OPERATORS

Censure for the practice of "ganging," or driving vehicles too close to one another on the highways, is contained in an article on "Mass Driving," written by Robbins B. Stoeckel, commissioner of motor vehicles for the current bulletin of the motor vehicle department.

"It is readily apparent," he says "that this practice may cause danger to other users of the highway, especially where the individual vehicles making up a gang are large, and they usually are."

Particularly does he denounce "ganging" in a fleet of trucks, each having the same destination as the other, and all following one another closely along the route. "Transportation officials and operators, especially those in charge of 3.1-2 ton trucks and greater and large jitney buses, ought to understand the danger of this particular feature of road driving more thoroughly than is now the case," he says. "Operators ought to be instructed against these dangers and be taught to avoid the near proximity of other vehicles and especially of other large ones of similar type."

The recent accident on the Boston Post road, when a bus overturned and a large number of persons were injured, is cited by the commissioner as one of those which might have been avoided if this ganging practice had not been followed.

Commercial vehicles are not alone in this fault, the commissioner finds. "It is comparatively just as dangerous," he says "for two touring cars to proceed in close proximity to each other and at a slow rate of speed. Whenever the operation of motor vehicles which are accompanying each other, in the sense that they are close enough together so that they form a traffic unit of operation which is out of touch with average speed and out of line with other driving on the same highway, then there is extreme danger, not only to the vehicles and their operators who are doing this type of driving, but also to all other traffic.

ACCUSED OF FAILING TO FILE CERTIFICATE

Joseph W. Carlevale of the McGrory building, who claims to be sole proprietor of the Norwich Barber Supply Co., has been summoned to appear in the city court this (Monday) morning to answer to a charge of failure to file a certificate with the town clerk listing the owner or owners of the company. Such a certificate is required by law.

The Norwich Barber Supply Co., which is located in the old Senft building on Boswell avenue, was damaged by fire early Saturday morning. The cause of the fire has not yet been determined. Mr. Carlevale, it is understood, has set his loss at about $17,000 on which there is $15,000 insurance. Mr. Carlevale claims to be the sole proprietor of the business. He distributes barber supplies in this state, Rhode Island and Massachusetts. He claims to have a branch office in Boston, of which his brother is in charge. He claims he handles 57 varieties of perfumes, tonics, etc., which he bottles at the Boswell avenue store.

It is said that a local man, who lives in the vicinity of the Senft building, saw a tan colored machine, Massachusetts registration, and two or three men, in front of the building early Saturday evening. About midnight he saw the same machine in front of the building. One of the men ran up Boswell avenue and the others drove away in the machine. The fire was discovered 15 or 20 minutes later.

Woonsocket Art Teacher

Miss Marguerite Crawford was the week-end guest of her cousins, Mrs. M. H. Donahue and John P. Corcoran, of Main street. Miss Crawford, who is teacher of art in the Woonsocket schools, came to Norwich from Hartford where she attended the national arts exhibit. She spoke in praise of the display made by the Norwich Art school.

Men's Meeting Postponed

Officers of the Men's club of Park Congregational church, which was to have had its meeting this (Monday) evening, have decided to postpone the meeting to next Monday because of the death of Mrs. H. H. Osgood.

NORWICH TOWN

Mrs. Freemont Vergason of Vergason avenue, was hostess to the Norwich Town club of New London County Home and Farm bureau, at its April meeting all day Thursday. There were seven members present. In the absence of the president, Mrs. William Weaver, the vice president, Mrs. Ernest Washington had charge of the meeting. During the morning, the demonstrator, Mrs. Belle H. J. Robynson, of Gales Ferry, taught how to adjust patterns, etc., in dress-making. The afternoon was devoted to a demonstration on making several kinds of paper flowers. At noon the company was served by the hostess a delicious dinner, which included boiled-ham, escalloped potato, string beans, white and brown bread, cottage cheese, pickled pears, olives and for dessert, pudding, sponge cake, fruit cake and coffee. Mrs. Vergason was assisted by Mrs. Washington.

The new pastor of the Norwich Town Methodist church, Rev. George Warren Potter, requested the officials of this church, to assemble in conference with him, about 11:30 o'clock, following the Sunday morning worship, to discuss matters of interest to pastor and people.

Mrs. Arthur Fulton of Huntington avenue had as a caller recently her son-in-law, Joseph M. Hart, of Hartford, who likewise called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Tague, of McClellan avenue. Mrs. Hart is niece of Mrs. Tague.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis M. Aldrich and the latter's sister, Miss Theodora Brown, of Wightman avenue, motored to Melrose, Mass., over the week-end to visit at the home of Mr. Aldrich's parents, Rev. and Mrs. James B. Aldrich, former Norwich Town residents, when Rev. Mr. Aldrich was pastor of the Methodist church.

At the last quarterly business meeting of Scotland Road Social club, held at the hall, Miss Eva Wilcox was elected secretary and treasurer to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Irving Bushnell, a faithful member for several years.

ADMINISTRATION SET-BACK ON THE FLOOD CONTROL BILL

Administration's Most Severe Defeat Came Late in the Day With a Vote of 142 to 73 Against an Amendment to Have the States Rather Than the Federal Government Bear the Costs of Levee Rights of Way Along Spillways in Arkansas, Louisiana and Missouri—Leaders Had Repeatedly Warned the Members That Such a Bill Would Receive a Presidential Veto.

WASHINGTON, April 23—(AP)—Supporters of the senate-Jones flood control bill held the whip hand in the house today and defeated every effort of administration leaders to revise the measure to meet objections raised by President Coolidge.

This action came in the face of repeated warnings from the house republican leadership that unless the revisions were accepted the bill would receive a presidential veto and that the administration group could muster sufficient votes to sustain the president.

The administration's most severe setback came late in the day with the defeat by a vote of 142 to 73 of an amendment to have states rather than the federal government bear the cost of levee rights of way along spillways and floodways in Arkansas, Louisiana and Missouri. In addition the proposal would have required southern Illinois and southwestern Missouri to assume the damages that might occur as a result of the construction of the New Madrid river-bank floodway and place a similar responsibility upon the city of New Orleans in the building of the Bonnet Carre spillway.

The proposal, offered by Chairman Madden of the appropriations committee, who has been one of the leaders in the fight to change the bill to meet the president's views, however, was defeated by a coalition of western republicans and almost the solid democratic membership.

Madden made a last-minute appeal for the house to stand by the president. He said that Mr. Coolidge had been sympathetic to the flood problem and that "you are making a mistake in refusing to co-operate with him."

"I haven't any doubt that you can pass the bill," he continued, "but you cannot pass it over the president's veto. Why do you take the chance of losing the whole thing through a veto by not assuming the cost of the levee rights of way and the New Madrid and Bonnet Carre spillway damages?"

Madden added, however, that he "made no threats" and was speaking for himself only. Earlier in the day he had called at the White House and upon leaving announced that Mr. Coolidge felt the revisions he previously had outlined were as far as he could go toward an agreement.

Rep. Nelson, democrat, Missouri, opposed Madden's position and declared that he "resented the president's mandate to the house and that congress should do its duty regardless of what the White House has sent to the capitol." Rep. Denison, republican, Illinois, also declared it would be better to kill the bill than accept Madden's amendment.

Denison, however, predicted that "after the president understands the situation, he will not veto" the measure. Rep. Quin, democrat, Mississippi, contended that adoption of the Madden proposal would "take the heart out of the bill" and would result in no comprehensive flood protection for the Mississippi valley.

Prior to the rejection of the Madden amendment, the administration group also lost by a vote of 110 to 37 an amendment sponsored by Rep. Frear, republican, Wisconsin, to eliminate a section providing that no local contributions would be required in carrying out the control program.

The house, however, accepted without a vote two amendments favored by the president—the assumption by the states of the cost of levee rights of way on the Mississippi river proper and a provision absolving the federal government from all damages in future floods.

Meanwhile, the board of directors of the American Society of Civil Engineers transmitted to the White House a resolution adopted by a unanimous vote supporting the president in his demand that states assume a part of the cost of the flood control work.

SINCLAIR LEWIS TO WED MISS DOROTHY THOMPSON

ROME, April 23—(AP)—The engagement of Sinclair Lewis, the American novelist, and Miss Dorothy Thompson, also noted American writer, was announced this afternoon by Mr. Lewis in Rome and confirmed by Miss Thompson at Naples. Their marriage will probably take place in London about the middle of May.

This is the culmination of a romance that began at one of those formal teas in the Berlin foreign office for foreign correspondents last July. Miss Thompson, who just a few days previously had been divorced from the Hungarian writer, Dr. Joseph Bard, met Sinclair Lewis there; he had been definitely separated from his wife some months earlier.

Both of them maintain that neither at that time had any thought of remarriage. But that for both their first matrimonial ventures were definitely finished. A few days after that meeting in front of Dr. Stresemann's simmering samovar a revolution broke out in Vienna and Lewis offered to fly there with Miss Thompson and report the revolution for her.

"He reported everything but that," was her comment. They met later in Moscow, a month after Miss Thompson's arrival there on an assignment.

Miss Thompson has been in Italy since March 1, staying with Italian friends at a villa near Naples, finishing a book she was writing on Russia. Mr. Lewis, after eight months in Berlin—his record for residence anywhere, he says—suddenly darted southward, stopping at Naples, and then went on to Sicily. He then returned to Naples, and today's announcement followed.

"Born on Main street in an upstate New York small town," is Miss Thompson's description of herself. "The daughter of a Methodist minister—Elmer Gantry take note! My father was the other kind of a minister."

EXPANSION OF TRADE WITH SOVIET RUSSIA

NEW YORK, April 23—(AP)—Trade between the United States and Soviet Russia for the six months ended March 31, was the largest for any half annual period, reaching $80,000,000, the Amtorg Trading corporation reports. The volume in the preceding six months was $59,000,000. The largest group of purchases made here during the period was raw materials, including cotton, metals and rubber.

Sales of soviet products here by the Amtorg, the Centrosoyus and the Selskosojus, representing soviet cooperatives in this country, amounted to $8,148,839 for the half year. Estimating the value of Manganese exports from Russia to this country and of sales of soviet furs by American companies under special contracts, at more than $6,000,000, the total of $80,000,000 for soviet trade was obtained, the report said.

"The unfavorable balance in soviet trade with the United States became more pronounced during the past half year and reached $40,000,000, giving rise to serious problems in adjusting the balance," it added.

WILKINS TO GO TO NORWAY AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

OSLO, Norway, April 23—(AP)—Captain George H. Wilkins, the trans-Polar flier, advices from Green Harbor say, has decided to leave for Norway by steamer from King's Bay at the earliest date possible.

Since reaching Green Harbor, Captain Wilkins and his pilot, Eielson, have spent their time mostly indoors resting. Wilkins has been kept busy writing a report of his flight over the Polar regions. He talks little and is not willing to reveal his future plans. Eielson is already attempting to repair the damaged underpart of the airplane.

The first available boat for Norway will probably not sail before the middle of May when the ice breaks up.

FRENCH ELECTIONS A VICTORY FOR POINCARE

PARIS, April 23—(AP)—The first day's balloting yesterday in the French general elections was, as forecast, a sort of "plebiscite for Monsieur Poincare."

Of the 179 deputies elected yesterday out of 612 constituencies, 145 are supporters of the premier. There are still 433 deputies to be elected at next Sunday's election since no candidates for these seats obtained the necessary majority.

The surprises of the day were that only 34 of the old majority elected in 1924 by the radical Cartel were among the successful candidates; that the communists, while largely increasing their vote and leading the list in many districts, failed to elect a single man and that the socialist radicals fell far behind the moderates and even behind the communists in many cases.

The election returns appear to indicate a drift both toward the right, or conservative parties, and toward the left, or extreme radical parties, from the center, the radicals showing great weakness with consequent gains on the right, while the socialist vote fell off heavily with corresponding gains by the communists.

Effective results from these changes will appear only after the second ballot next Sunday when the communists are expected to win in from 15 to 20 districts.

TWO MEN LOST WITH THE HARVARD LAUNCH "RED TOP"

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 23—(AP)—The Harvard launch "Red Top" on its way from Greenport, L. I., to the Harvard crew quarters on the Charles river, has been lost with its crew of two men. The body of James W. Hussey, of Greenport, drifted ashore near Scituate yesterday and was identified today. The other occupant of the boat was J. Dimon.

The launch left the shipyard of the Greenport Basin & Construction Co. at Greenport last Saturday at 5:45 a. m., with its crew of two, expecting to make the trip in a day and a half.

Hussey's body, clad in fisherman's clothes, was picked up by the Scituate police and a telegram to Greenport confirmed the identification established by a card in his pocket. Hussey was the designer of the boat, the police were told, and was accompanied by Dimon.

Meach patrols of the Scituate coast guard station were ordered to keep a sharp watch for Dimon's body and a surfboat crew searched the bay.

PARADE OF UNEMPLOYED MEN IN WINNIPEG, MAN.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 23—(AP)—Two thousand unemployed, led by two young women bearing red flags, marched through the city today to the legislative buildings in the second labor demonstration this week.

An open air mass meeting at which Alderman Thomas Flye and W. N. Killbaynn spoke, preceded the parade. Banners raised among the crowd bore the words, "Work or full maintenance."

"It is time the authorities understood that single men have to live as well as married men," Flye said. "There is going to be serious trouble if they fail to meet the situation."

COMPLETED HIS 61ST DAY ON EXCLUSIVE MEAT DIET

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 23—(AP)—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, arctic explorer, today completed his 61th day on an exclusive meat diet and said he never felt better in his life. The explorer is dieting under the supervision of Dr. Clarence W. Lieb fo Russell Sage institute of pathology, New York.

"I am on my honor to stick to this diet," Stefansson said, "but my assistant up north, Karsten Andersen, is practically under a glass case at the institute and under constant medical observation. Anderson has been on a meat diet for 91 days and has gained two pounds and says he feels fine."

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NESW YORK, April 23—(AP)—The Associated Press, at its annual meeting today, took favorable action upon important proposals affecting its regulations, unanimously re-elected five members of its board of directors whose terms had expired and chose another director to fill a vacancy caused by death.

The association, by unanimous vote, adopted the report of a special committee appointed a year ago authorizing a bond issue to be allocated to all members. The amount of the issue was fixed at $500,000.

By another unanimous vote, the organization adopted the report of the special committee that the right of protest over the election of new members be extended to all members who have been in good standing for five years.

It was voted to create a special committee of ten members, with President Frank B. Noyes, of the Washington D. C. star, as chairman, to study a proposed revision in hours of publication to permit settlement of the problem of afternoon papers publishing Sunday editions.

WOULD EXPEL MEMBERS OF "SAVE THE UNION" MOVEMENT

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 23—(AP)—The Ohio district executive board of the United Mine Workers went on record today in support of the international executive officers by expelling all members who have taken part in the "save the union" movement recently launched in the eastern Ohio coal fields. The international executive board has declared the movement to be the work of communists.

The Ohio board also removed from office Oral Daugherty, president of sub-district No. 1, which embraces the Sunday creek and Hocking valley fields. Daugherty was charged with publicly opposing the policies of the organization and with failing to comply with the obligations of membership in the United Mine Workers.

Leaders of the "save the union" movement were the instigators of recent "protest marches" on mines in the St. Clairsville-Steubenville district.

COOLIDGE APPEALS FOR WISE USE OF OUR FORESTS

WASHINGTON, April 23—(AP)—President Coolidge made a personal appeal tonight to the people of the country to "give thought to the preservation and wise use of our forests" in a radio address through a circuit of 23 broadcasting stations.

While ceremonies in connecion with "forest week," which began yesterday, were taking place at the department of agriculture Mr. Coolidge from his study at the white house read the proclamation he issued on February 24, warning that "we cannot permanently abuse our forests with impunity."

"The soil is the ultimate source of all our wealth and of life itself," said the president. "One fourth of our American soil is best suited for forests. Much of this land is already idle. More of it is being made idle by destructive logging and fire. Yet we cannot safely permit our forest land to lie fallow and useless any more than we can permit our farms and factories to lie idle."

CONFESSION OF PLOT TO KIDNAP DOLORES DEL RIO

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 23—(AP)—Gustavo Carillo's "confession" that he had plotted with others to kidnap Dolores del Rio, Mexican film star, was a fabrication, Capt. Homer Cross, head of the police homicide squad said today. Capt. Cross said that while he was checking on several other angles of the case, he was convinced that Carillo is a "pathological liar and is known as such to the authorities of several states."

Carillo still was held in jail, until advices had been received from Tucson, Ariz., where he is said to be wanted on a charge of extortion. He told his "kidnap plot" story after police had arrested Rosa Avala, former maid of Miss del Rio, for the alleged theft of a $15,000 diamond ring. She was booked on a charge of suspicion of grand theft.

Carillo's "confession" named the Avala woman as one of the principal members of the plot.

STATEMENT OF ARMORED RUM-RUNNING VESSELS

OTTAWA, April 23—(AP)—Armored rum-running vessels are prepared to enter the illicit trade off the United States coast, according to a statement made in parliament today.

Miss Agnes MacPhail asked the government if its attention had been draw to the report of five steel, armored rum-running ships which were prepared to set out from Fort Dover for the United States.

Hon. W. D. Euler, minister of national revenue, replied that as the undertaking was an American one he saw no effort in it to violate Canadian laws.

Mrs. Florence Knapp Pleads Not Guilty

Four Additional Indictments Charge Forgery and Grand Larceny.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 23—(AP)—Former Secretary of State Florence E. S. Knapp pleaded not guilty late this afternoon to four indictments, two of which charged her with forgery, second degree, and two with grand larceny, first degree. Supreme Court Justice Stephen Callaghan fixed bail at $4,000, bringing her total bail to $13,000, and set tomorrow morning for the hearing of the defense motions.

The four additional indictments, which brought the total [illegible] against the former st[illegible] up to 12, were returned th[illegible]oon, after four relatives of Mr[illegible]pp had testified before the grand jury. Their testimony was understood to have formed the basis for the indictments.

"No bill" was reported by the special grand jury against Dr. Walter Laidlaw, secretary of the Cities' Census Committee, Inc., of New York. Randall J. Leboeuf, Jr., appointed by Governor Smith to conduct a Moreland act investigation into census affairs, had recommended criminal proceedings against Dr. Laidlaw, on the ground that he had failed to register as a "lobbyist," although he was active in promoting census legislation.

One of the four indictments returned today against Mrs. Knapp was to be substituted for an indictment for false audit and certification of public records, previously returned and scheduled for trial on Monday, April 30, members of the prosecution staff indicated.

Each of the four charges brought against the former secretary of state today carries with it a penalty of not more than ten years in prison, whereas the charge of false audit and certification carries a penalty of not more than seven years in prison. It was expected that the more serious charge would be substituted when John J. Conway, chief of defense counsel, made his formal motion for dismissal of the charges.

Mr. Conway said tonight he would make his motion either tonight or at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Justice Callaghan gave the special grand jury a recess until Friday morning, after accepting their report.

MRS. FLORENCE KNAPP WILL GO ON TRIAL MAY 1

ALBANY, N. Y., April 23—(AP)—Former Secretary of State Florence E. S. Knapp will go on trial May 1, on a charge of grand larceny, first degree.

George Z. Medalie, chief of prosecution forces, announced tonight that the former state official would be brought to trial on the more serious charge instead of for false audit and certification of public records for which she was to have been tried April 30.

The grand larceny indictment was one of four returned against Mrs. Kanpp today by the special grand jury investigating her conduct of the 1925 state census. Two of the indictments charged forgery, second degree, while the other two charged grand larceny, first degree.

SOUTHERN GREECE SHAKEN BY SEVERE EARTH QUAKE

ATHENS, Greece, April 23—(AP)—Southern Greece, like Bulgaria, has been visited by a severe earthquake, which, so far as known, caused the death of thirty or more persons and the injury of large numbers. Some reports place the death roll as high as fifty.

The worst effects of the disturbance were observed in the town of Corinth and in the neighborhood of the Corinth Canal. The pleasure resorts on the canal at Loutraki, Kalamaki and Poseidonia, having suffered heavily.

That the casualty list was not larger was due to the fact that the first shocks last night were slight and fear drove the people into the open so that when the heavier shocks came today the houses that collapsed were largely unoccupied.

Yet in Corinth there were twenty persons killed. Four-fifth of the houses in the town were demolished and the others rendered unsafe for habitation. The power house was destroyed and the town plunged in darkness.

It is estimated that there are 10,000 homeless and destitute at Corinth, 2,000 at Loutraki, and 4,000 elsewhere in the affected area. Many of the refugees are only half-clad and all their belongings are buried under the ruins of their homes.

The government has granted a credit of 5,000,000 drachma. Relief work is being organized by the ministries of finance, interior and communications. The heads of those departments started at noon for Corinth.

The Greek Red Cross is organizing help and the American Red Cross has already offered assistance.

READING TO TESTIFY IN OWN DEFENSE TODAY

BOSTON, April 23—(AP)—Attorney General Arthur K. Reading, whose conduct in office is under investigation by a special legislative committee will be the first witness of the defense, his counsel announced during the hearing today. It is expected Reading will take the stand tomorrow.

This announcement with the testimony of Assistant Attorney General Vincent J. Zeo and D. A. Webster, former official of the Decimo Club, Inc., of New York, whose payment of a $25,000 retainer to Reading as counsel led to the investigation, were the highlights of the day.

Zeo testified that he had done work for the Decimo club and that he had been introduced to Joseph D. Webster, former vice president of the club, during a visit to New York with Reading. D. A. Webster told the committee that he and Reading early this year discussed the probability of starting a new corporation along the lines of the Decimo club and also that he sent Reading $10,000 to be held in trust pending the outcome of litigation between the club and its former president, Hugo B. Monjar.

CHARGED WITH POSESSION OF MORPHINE TO SELL

NEW HAVEN, April 23—(AP)—Leroy Bowman, 48, a lunch room employe was arrested today by federal narcotic agents and charged with possession of morphine with the intent to sell. He was ordered held for a hearing tomorrow before U. S. Commissioner R. H. Alcorn. The agents found in Bowman's pockets too large a supply of morphine for personal use if he were an addict, they said.

Bremen Expected to Fly before Week-End

Plane, Stocked With Relief Parts, Arrived at Greenly Island Yesterday.

SEVEN ISLANDS, Que., April 23—(By the Canadian Press)—All parts necessary to the reconditioning of the trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen were at Greenly Island today and the plane is expected to be in the air again [illegible] for New York before the end of the week.

The New York city relief plane, stocked with spare parts and supplies at Lake Ste. Agnes, took off here at 3:10 o'clock this morning and made the 500 mile flight to Greenly Island in six hours and a half, arriving there at 11:40.

The plane was piloted by Bernt Balchen, one of Commander Richard Byrd's trans-Atlantic crew, and Major James Fitzmaurice, the Irish member of the Bremen crew who came out to civilization's edge on the first relief plane to get aid for his German comrades, Baron Von Huenefeld and Capt. Koehl.

The Germans presumably banquetted tonight in a style strange to them since they took off from Baldonnel aerodrome near Dublin a week ago last Thursday. On Greenly Island the fare is corned beef and salt pork with milk to drink, but in the relief plane there was roast beef, vegetables, delicacies of various sorts and wine and beer to drink a toast of thanksgiving.

Miss Herta Junkers, daughter of the manufacturer of the Bremen, who came to Canada from New York to superintend relief activities for the marooned plane, went to Quebec by train from Murray Bay today to learn at first hand of Bennett's condition. While there she was informed that the relief ship had reached Greenly Island and expressed the opinion that the Bremen would be ready to fly again by Thursday.

BREMEN MAY BE ABLE TO START FLIGHT TODAY

QUEBEC, Que., April 23—(Canadian Press)—Information reaching the Junkers party here this afternoon from Greenly Island was to the effect that the Bremen might be able to start its flight to St. Agnes airport tonight or tomorrow morning.

LOWLANDS OF GEORGIA AND ALABAMA FLOODED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 23—(AP)—Lowland inhabitants of Georgia and Alabama tonight were experiencing the worst flood in many years while residents of Arkansas, pestered several days overflowing streams, were winning their fight against the back waters.

Conditions prevailing in Georgia and Alabama were caused by torrential rainstorms which broke precipitation records of long duration in several sections. Railway and automobile traffic was at a standstill in many localities.

While the flood crest for rivers and smaller streams were not in sight, the overflow had washed out sections of highways and railroads as well as wrecking bridges and damaging crops.

Andalusia, Ala., and Blakely, Ga., virtually were isolated from outside communication while rail traffic was not expected to be resumed over several lines before late in the week.

Small tornadoes struck Brunswick and Sylvester, Ga. Heavy property damage was caused, but no lives were lost. Windstorms aided the pelting rain in its work of destructions in several vicinities.

Flood warnings were sent today for more than a dozen streams in southern Georgia and Alabama where all day the torrents rose rapidly, threatening to reach record stages.

With flood waters submerging the tracks of the Louisville and Nashville railway at Castleberry, Ala., three fast passenger trains were marooned. Passengers included three Southern association baseball teams and a concourse of people from New Orleans and Mobile enroute to Atlanta.

REBELS HOLD AMERICAN GOLD MINE IN NICARAGUA

NEW YORK, April 23—(AP)—Cablegrams received here today reported that an American gold mine in Nicaragua had been seized by the rebel forces of Augustino Sandino and that all employes, listed here as comprising four Americans, a British superintendent and about 100 Indians, were held prisoner.

The messages were sent to James Gilmore Fletcher, president of the La Luz and Los Angeles Mining company from the Bluefields Mercantile company, the forwarding company in Nicaragua for shipping bullion from the American company's mine at La Luz to the New Orleans branch of the United States mint.

"On the twelfth Sandino raided La Luz," read the first cable, taking all the gold, merchandise, animals, also Marshall and all employes prisoner." Marshall is George B. Marshall of New York, the assistant superintendent.

Later the following cable was received: "Earlier reports fully confirmed of Sandino's raid on La Luz mine. Sandino has taken possession of mine and is holding all prisoners."

GOV. TRUMBULL GUEST SECOND COMPANY, G. F. G.

NEW HAVEN, April 23—(AP)—Governor John H. Trumbull and Representatives of historical New England military units were the guests of honor here tonight at a banquet which followed a parade of the Second company, Governor's Foot Guards and services in Center church in commemoration of the 53rd anniversary of the departure for Cambridge, Mass.

During the ceremonies, Major Pierpont B. Foster, commander of the ancient troop April 24, 1775.

POLITICAL STRENGTH OF HOOVER MEETS TEST TODAY

Ohio Republicans Will Today Decide Whether the State's Delegates Are to Be Pledged to Hoover or Be Practically Uninstructed—Bitterness Has Been Stirred Up in the Republican Contest—Massachusetts Voters Today For the First Time Will Express Their Presidential Preferences—Gov. Fuller Has Declared For Hoover.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 23—(AP)—Herbert Hoover's vote getting ability will be given its first real test tomorrow with Ohio republicans deciding at the polls whether the state's delegates to the Kansas City convention are to be pledged to him or be practically uninstructed.

Lined up against the Hoover slate of 51 delegates is a ticket which originally entered the field committed to the presidential candidacy of the late Senator Frank B. Willis, and since his recent death has indicated it might support any of a half dozen republicans for the nomination in June, probably dividing its vote.

While the republicans of the state, split into two factions, are registrating their preference in tomorrow's primaries, the democrats, in a more harmonious mood, will select 48 delegates to the Houston convention. In only two districts is there opposition to the democratic organization slate, which is pledged to former Senator Atlee Pomerene as a "favorite son."

Despite the bitterness stirred up by the republican contest, a rather light vote has been predicted, with Hoover expected to show his greatest strength in the cities and the Willis slate making its best showing in rural Ohio.

Both sides wound up their acrimonious campaigning tonight with claims of victory. Neither however predicted a clean sweep, and there was every indication that the Ohioans will go split into the Kansas City convention.

In spite of his death while the primary campaign was getting well underway, Willis' name appears on the ballots, not only under the name of each candidate originally pledged to him but on the preferential ballot on which also are the names of Hoover and Olin J. Ross, a Columbus attorney. On this ballot there is space for writing in a preference and there have been indications that some of the Willis adherents might insert the name of Vice President Dawes, a native of Ohio.

Little importance is attached to the preferential ballot as in Ohio it is nothing more than a "straw vote" not binding on the delegates. So far as the democrats are concerned no names appear on the preferential ballot.

Just whom successful Willis delegates will support at Kansas City is problematical. Originally, to comply with the law, 34 listed Lowden as second choice, 9 Charles R. Fisher, a retired Ohio newspaper publisher, and 8 Curtis of Kansas. The word has gone out since Willis' death that his delegates might go to Lowden, Curtis, Hughes, Coolidge or Dawes, with increasing indications that might support the vice president in the event there is a swing toward him at Kansas City.

Spice is added to tomorrow's showdown in the republican camp because it not only will determine the make-up of the Ohio convention delegation but will go a long way towards giving one of the factions a whip hand so far as the state organization is concerned. Maurice Maschke, of Cleveland, the republican national committeeman, Representative Theodore E. Burton, Walter F. Brown of Toledo, assistant secretary of commerce and Thad H. Brown of Columbus, Hoover's campaign manager in the state are matching their strength against such organization leaders as Fred W. Warner, state chairman, Mrs. Wilma Sinclair Levan, national committee woman, Carmi A. Thompson, manager of the Willis campaign and Farmer Representative Ralph D. Cole, chief spellbinder for the anti-Hoover forces.

In the democratic camp the only rift is in the Columbus and Lima districts. In the one a candidate for delegates is running against the organization on an Al Smith platform, and in the other the opposition slate favors Governor Donahey. The organization slate, while pledged to Pomerene, is expected to go to Donahey if he becomes a serious contender at Houston. It also is regarded generally friendly to Smith.

PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARIES IN MASSACHUSETTS TODAY

BOSTON, April 23—(AP)—Because of a new law enacted by the legislature at the suggestion of Governor Alvan T. Fuller, Massachusetts voters tomorrow will be able for the first time to express their preferences unrestrictedly for republican and democratic candidates for president. In a blank space provided on the ballot for the purpose of name of the voter's preference may be written, or a sticker may be used. The delegates to the two national conventions are not, however, committed by the result of this vote.

A colorless pre-primary campaign, which ended tonight, was enlivened in its later stages by an appeal to republican voters by Governor Fuller for support for Herbert Hoover in the presidential preference feature of tomorrow's primary. The governor coupled with this appeal the statement that he would not be "interested in a favorite son endorsement." Today Congressman A. Piatt Adrew, who has been leading a movement for the nomination of Governor Fuller, announced that he would not be deterred by the governor's statement.

RESULTS OF PRIMARIES TODAY ARE IMPORTANT

WASHINGTON, April 23—(AP)—Primaries tomorrow in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts will determine the make of powerful delegations to Kansas City and Houston convention that will be in position to exert considerable influence in the selection of the presidential nominees.

In addition delegates from Alaska to both conventions will be selected at a primary and in party conventions Oklahoma republicans will round out their delegation of 20. The nine republican delegates from Nevada will be chosen and the democratic delegation of 20 from Kansas will be designated.

Judged from the number of delegates to be selected, it will be the banner day of the pre-convention campaign. Nearly 200 republicans and 186 democrats will be added to the convention rosters.

Ohio, because of the fight centering around the presidential candidacy of Secretary Hoover, again is in the political limelight with the Hoover forces making a fight for the state's 51 republican delegates against an opposition slate originally pledged to the late Senator Frank B. Willis.

The democratic organization in Ohio, facing contests in only two districts, has a slate of 48 delegates in the field committed to former Senator Atlee Pomerene as first choice. Before the balloting at Houston is over it may be lined up for Governor Donahey, who is not an avowed presidential candidate, or throw its support to Smith of New York.

The republican and democratic delegations from both Pennsylvania and Massachusetts will go to the convention uninstructed. Heading the Kansas City delegation of 79 from the Keystone state will be Secretary Mellon. He has kept mum as to his presidential preference, but is expected to have a big part in determining the republican nominee, once he shows his hand. The Smith forces are claiming the bulk of the Pennsylvania democratic delegation of 76.

Massachusetts, home state of President Coolidge, will have a representation of 39 at the Kansas City convention and 38 at Houston. The Hoover managers predict the commerce secretary will have the support of at least 20 delegates from the Bay state on the first ballot, probably more if he makes an impressive showing in the preferential balloting. Smith's adherents are claiming that the governor will have the entire Massachusetts delegation lined up for him at Houston.

WHOLESALE PRICE OF CIGARETTES REDUCED

NEW YORK, April 23—(AP)—The wholesale price of cigarettes was reduced to $6 a thousand by three leading cigarette manufacturers today. The cut amounts to 45 cents a thousand on the American Tobacco company's "Lucky Strike" brand and 45 cents each on the "Camel" brand of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company and the "Chesterfield" brand of Liggett & Myers.

The first effect, other than to arouse in the mind of the man in the street the belief he will be able to buy these brands at the rate of two packs for a quarter, was to cause a precipitate break in the prices of tobacco company issues on the New York Stock exchange.

Stocks of Liggett & Myers and American Tobacco companies dropped $9 to $12 a share. The Reynolds company "B" issue showed a loss of $3, while the stock of Lorillard & Co. which announced no reduction slumped $6.75 per share.

George W. Hill, president of the American Tobacco company, explained the cut as due to increased production, which he said would make available equal profits through an increase in the volume of sales resulting from lower prices. He warned, however, that tobacco companies might be forced to curtail their recent "lavish expenditures" for advertising.

There were indications, however, that a cigarette price war has been started, possibly by the Reynolds company, first to announce a price cut. It also is believed that the manufacturers are planning thus to forestall the reported preparations for invasion of the American market by British cigarette manufacturers.

WILKINS PLANS FLIGHT TO THE SOUTH POLE

GLENDALE, Cal., April 23—(AP)—Capt. George H. Wilkins, who completed a flight from Point Barrow, Alaska to Green Harbor, Spitzbergen, passing over the north pole region, plans a flight to the south pole but not as a race with Commander Richard E Byrd it was said here today by W. E. Jay, treasurer of the Lockheed Aircraft corporation which manufactured the machine used by Capt. Wilkins.

Jay said: "I have not received direct word from Wilkins since his flight over the north pole region but before he left he said that if the north pole journey was a success, he would attempt a south pole flight."

Explaining that Wilkins' proposed flight to the south pole was purely for scientific purposes, Jay said the flier would not attempt to race with Byrd or anyone else to reach the pole first.

"His plans are, in effect, to return to Los Angeles and secure a new plane for the south pole trip," Jay said. "We will build a special plane for him. It will be placed on a Norwegian ship and taken to New Zealand. There Capt. Wilkins will establish his base for the south pole flight.

WOULD GRADUALLY REDUCE BROADCASTING STATIONS

WASHINGTON, April 23—(AP)—A gradual reduction instead of a drastic decrease in the present number of stations was generally advocated today by representatives of radio broadcasters, manufacturers and dealers at a hearing before the federal radio commission called to hear suggestions for the make-up of the future broadcasting structure.

Louis B. F. Raycroft, for the National Electrical Manufacturers association, declared the problem of equalizing the number of channels was the greatest before the commission at the present time, advocating 28 cleared channels as necessary to build the new structure out of the present one. No step to sweep the board clean and start anew can be expected to succeed, he said.

Frank D. Scott, representing the National Association of Broadcasters, the Radio Manufacturers' association and the Federated Radio Trade association, suggested dividing the present 700 stations equally among the five zones. He also advised that each zone be given one-fifth of the total power now authorized. Scott pointed out that the borrowing clause of the amendment could be used to the detriment of only the fourth zone, and to the advantage of the other four regions.

HISTORICAL PAGEANT MARKS CENTENNIAL OF CONG. CHURCH

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 23—The centennial celebration of the First Congregational church continued to draw capacity audiences at the church house today, the second day of the celebration. An informal reception was held in the church house from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Sherrod Soule, D. D., of Hartford, secretary of the Missionary society of Connecticut and Rev. Vernon W. Cooke of Peoria, Ills., a former pastor. Tea was served by the Ladies' society. The outstanding feature of the anniversary exercises from an entertainment standpoint was the historical pageant presented in the church at eight o'clock this evening. Mrs. Margaret Parsons of Auburn, Mass., wrote the pageant especially for the celebration and evolved a sequence of nine episodes of highly colored scenes and sensational with some of the striking incidents of Windham history. The names of the episodes were: I. The Coming of Christianity to Windham County; II. Gideon's Fleece; III. The Frogs of Windham; IV. The Separatists; V. The Wedding of Dora Flint; VI. The Founding of the Congregational Church; VII. The New Building; VIII. The Sabbath School Concert; IX. Missionaries from Willimantic. Fascinating costumes as well as some bordering on the humorous to the present day eye were most effectively used and showed a careful study of the modes of the several periods depicted. The episodes were in charge of Miss Ethelyn Nichols, chairman, Miss Marion Colman, Mrs. C. C. Case, Mrs. Horace J. Fenton, Mrs. Robert H. Fenton, Mrs. Robert O. Branch, Mrs. David H. Willard; Church school, Mrs. William Congdon, Miss Myrtle Jordan, Miss Marion Colman, Miss Dorothy Hill, Miss Esther Tabor, Mrs. W. C. Hill, Mrs. Ethelyn Nichols.

WILLIMANTIC WILL GO ONTO DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 23—Notices were posted in the manufacturing plants and in many commercial buildings today to the effect that beginning next Sunday morning at 2:01 a. m., all operating schedules would be advanced one hour. The Willimantic Business Men's association has voted to conform with the daylight saving plan again this year and the Windham town school committee has taken a like vote. The high school will arrange the periods to conform with the arrival of trains and bus lines which convey some 250 students into the city daily from outside towns. This city, being an industrial center finds it profitable to conform with the train schedules and with the time in other cities. This is not true of surrounding smaller towns, however, where daylight saving is generally in disfavor.

A. Butleman is on a business trip in New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Case has Postmaster and Mrs. Albert N. Colgrove of Waterbury as Sunday guests.

Normal School Notes

The Willimantic State Normal school was represented at the third annual conference of normal schools and state colleges of eastern United States, held at the Pennsylvania hotel, New York city, April 19-21, by the following delegation: Principal George H. Shafer, Miss Harriet Gerould, dean, Mrs. Ebba Haskell, 3A teacher, Miss Laura Edwards of New London, senior representative, and Miss Lillian Loeffler of Waterbury, junior representative.

The opening of the baseball season was met with as much enthusiasm at the normal school as the national opening at the white house. Members of the junior and senior classes met in a practice game Monday afternoon under the direction of Miss Paulita Clark, assistant physical director. Despite the cold weather the game was hotly played. The seniors won with a score of 11 to 7. The juniors attained a crowning success during the basketball season and are hopeful of duplicating this feat on the diamond.

At the weekly assembly of the school last Wednesday the program consisted of an interesting talk on A Trip to Europe given by Miss Margaret Saunders, graduate of the normal school, class of 1923 and teacher at the William H. Hall Junior high school in West Hartford.

Miss Rose Goldblatt of Baltic, president of the swimming club, has reported that twenty-two members have signed up. A good season is anticipated.

The tennis courts are now ready for practice. Many enthusiasts are getting early training for the spring tournament.

The members of the nature club are making bird houses which they will place in the trees on the school grounds.

Those attending were the Misses Helen Shea and Julia Daley of Waterbury, Regina Marsh of Middletown, Beth Bawn and Jessie Marnicki of Suffield, Beatrice Shrader of Darien, Amelia Palmer of Stonington and Florence Gadbois of New London. The room decorations were red for the juniors and green for the seniors.

Miss Rose Cammarano of Hartford entertained over the week end the Misses Helen Moran of New London, Amelia Palmer of Stonington, Beatrice Schrader of Darien, Florence Gadbois of New London, Julia Daley of Waterbury and Jennie Marnicky of Suffield. While in Hartford the party attended the arts exhibit in the armory.

According to reports the new building which is under construction, will be completed early in June. It is hoped that the students will be able to hold their concert in the new auditorium. The concert is an annual affair given by the student body.

The Nature club will present its entertainment entitled Several Fits next Thursday night in the Little Theatre. Posters made by members of the club and advertising the event are to be seen about the building.

Miss Beth Baun of Suffield reports having received a reward of five dollars for restoring a lost dog to its owner.

Miss Ethel Wraight spent the week end at her home in Willington where she entertained at a bridge party and dance Saturday evening.

Spring weather is bringing out the hikers among the student body and groups may be seen along the highways. At the end of the season a letter is awarded those who have hiked 350 miles.

Miss Arlene Mitchell spent the week end at her home in Waterbury.

Miss Celeste M. Allen and Miss Lillian E. McCarthy of Williams Memorial institute, New London, were guests of Miss Margaret McCarthy at the school today.

Preferred!

If you can't decide whether you like blondes or brunettes best, here's a bit of evidence that's help you make up your mind. Artists love to paint her blonde beauty and theatre-goers rave over it. She's Elsa Cover, of 650 West 172rd St., New York City.

"When people tell me how much they admire my hair," she says, "I'm always happy to tell them what I do to keep it soft and gleamy. It's really no trouble. All I do is put a few dashes of Danderine on my brush each time I use it. That's the way nearly every really smart girl I know is doing here. My hair doesn't need shampooing more than once a month, now. My scalp feels better than it ever has felt. It has gotten rid of all my dandruff, and it makes my hair easy to dress and holds it in position."

Danderine is not oily. It removes the oily film from each strand and restores the natural color and lustre. It dissolves dandruff, cleanses and invigorates the scalp. It is delightfully fragrenced. The big bottles are just 35c at all drug stores. Empoch, gleaming, healthy hair for a few cents.

WESTERLY

TEARING DOWN SIDEWALLS OF DAMAGED R. I. HOTEL BLOCK

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 23—The work of tearing down the three upper stories of the crumbling brick side walls of the Rhode Island Hotel block, ravaged by the fire of a week ago Monday morning continued Saturday and today. Late Saturday afternoon a section of the west wall of the ell was toppled and in falling the tons of brick stone and cement crashed through the veranda roof carrying down several sections adjoining the stairway leading to the rear court yard and the fire escapes leading up the brick walls. Monday afternoon a corner section including the brick rear walls of the main building and ell were tumbled. Two chimneys on the rear wall of the main building had been pulled down and a section on the east side of the south wall of the main building. When the tons of debris fell, a floor was carried down, with the same result as in the Dodge store several days previous. The front plate glass window of the Smith flower store was blown half way across Dixon square. In anticipation of what might happen highway traffic in both directions on Broad street had been stopped, hence no one was injured. H. A. Dunning on Monday abandoned the remaining stock in his hardware store and advantage was taken by many during the noon hour to salvage what remained before toppling walls prevented entrance to the building. Show cases and counters, about all that remained in the Dodge clothing store were taken out by junk men and carried to New London. Much stock remained in the grocery store of William Segar and Co., and its condition from smoke, fire and water being questionable, the salvage workmen of the store were kept from the store while the walls were being hauled down.

BARBERSHOP ASSAULT CASE ON TRIAL AT W. KINGSTON

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 23—In Washington county superior court at West Kingston before Judge Charles A. Walsh, the trial of the assault case of John Malagrino was begun. The defendant was charged with making an assault in his barber shop on Canal street, March 8th, upon Mrs. Nellie M. Russell of White Rock. The case came before the higher court on an appeal from the third district court, where Judge Oliver H. Williams found the defendant guilty.

The state was represented by Third Assistant Attorney General Louis V. Jackvony of Providence and the defendant by Attorney John J. Dunn of Westerly. The jury empaneled was Thurston Robinson, foreman, Harold D. Arnold, Albert R. Clarke, South Kingstown; Charles B. Byrne, Jr., T. G. Dawley, William E. Dickens, George N. Oatley, Amos E. Strickland, North Kingstown; Peter P. Palmer, Hopkinton; John H. Oatley, Richmond; Clarence E. Brown, Exeter; Palmer H. Pendleton, Charlestown.

The complainant, Nellie M., wife of John Russell of White Rock, formerly of North Carolina, was the first to testify and was on the stand when court adjourned for the day.

Pasquale Salimeno of Westerly entered a plea of nolo to a charge of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquors. The case was continued for sentence.

NOANK

UNCLE GEO. ASHBY'S PARTY ON HIS 84TH BIRTHDAY

George Ashby, Saturday, reached his 84th birthday, being one of the oldest residents of the village. He is called "Uncle George." Every night as the sun goes down he is in his bed, to be up at 4 in the morning. He gets the breakfast, cuts wood and does odd jobs around the house. Down at the postoffice he found almost a bag of mail, cards and letters from out of town and in town, wishing him many happy returns of the day, some friends hoping he lives to be a hundred. In the evening a few friends, with his family, gathered at supper where a large birthday cake was in the center of the table, holding 84 candles. The cake was made by Mrs. Nellie Carson. Uncle George was some surprised to see everybody and the cake. He told about his days at the shipyard as a young fellow, when 19 boats were on the stocks and 1,100 men were working, and it took the schoolchildren 15 minutes to get through the crowd of workmen on their way home to dinner. Men came from New Hampshire and Canada and other distant places. The party broke up with everybody singing, "He's a Jolly Good Fellow." He received many presents.

The West Mystic Bull Dogs baseball tossers came down to the fishing village and played the Hammer Nine team Saturday afternoon at Dunn field. A crowd of 100 braved the cold wind to see the battle. It was almost like a football day. Coach Foxey Billis McDonald sent a spitball pitcher to the hill, Lanky Ed Babcock, who came from a league out west and claims he has the goods. Snappy Phelps caught his hooks, while West Mystic team sent Cannonball M. Wilbur to put them over, a fellow with plenty of smoke, and Lightning H. Johnson caught. Lanky Babcock had the heavy batters fanning the air for five innings, like a machine gun in action. Big Speed Mallory of the Carpenters' team was called out on strikes and claimed the last strike was a ball. For two minutes he gave Umpire Fitzgerald some lip, so the umpire took out the Waterbury watch and put him out of the game, still talking. The special officer, William Franklin, put him off the field. His place was taken by Shoeless George McDonald. Then the contest went on again. In the sixth inning, Cannonball Wilbur got a three-base hit, with two men on bases and made the score 2 to 0 in the Bull Dogs' favor; but that did not seem to bother Lucky Babcock. Then came the lucky seventh for the Hammers. Speed-ball went all over the field for two runs, making the score a tie. Then both pitchers went at it, putting them in close, so the game went 11 innings. When Coach Foxey McDonald sent in a pinch-hitter, Scotty Long, to bat for Babcock and the second ball he hit over the wall and won the game. Score, Hammer Nine 3, West Mystic 2. Lanky Babcock fanned 19 West Mystic men.

The fire alarm rang on Saturday afternoon around 2:30 for a bad brush fire at Fishtown. It was 15 minutes before a driver came to start the engine; then William Tourjee came on the run, stepped on the gas with 35 smoke-eaters on board. When the firemen got there it was hard to fight the flames, which were going to the tops of the cedar trees so that 100 of them were ruined. The fire was spreading fast toward a house and Chief Parks shouted, "The roof is on fire!" Laddermen Ashcraft and Bracci with a fire extinguisher worked ten minutes to put out the flames. Then the section was backfired out of danger. Over 50 rabbits had to run for their lives, and a deer leaped the wall, for it was getting too hot for him. Horsemen K. Ebbett found a watch while using a broom. Over 200 helped fight the blaze. The smoke could be seen at Block Island by Foreman Walter Palmer, who was fishing over there, and thought it was Groton Long Point on fire. It burned over 35 acres of woodland. The engine was not worked for there is no water up in that section. Short trenches were dug to backfire the blaze. It is not known how it started but the firemen think some one was coming through the woods and dropped a cigar or a match. Ladderman Eddie Ellis was fighting the fire in some thick brush and got caught, could not get out, as the flames were rising all about him. By working fast and hard, he got out in an opening but his trousers were afire and the quick work of Rollin Rathbun put out the blaze. But Eddie is out a trousers leg and has had to get a new pair. It took the smoke-eaters three hours before it seemed safe to leave the place. The fire was still burning at a late hour Saturday night, but the rain soon put it out for keeps. It was the worst brush fire in several years. The neighbors in that section said the firemen did great work, for at one time they were afraid a house would go. Hot coffee and cookies were provided for the men and came in handy, for it was a chilly afternoon. The roll was called by John Ellis so that the firemen could catch the 6:12 p. m. train to the city.

The volunteer services of 12 men, three auto trucks, a team of horses, with shovel, were given on the grounds at the new M. E. parsonage on Thursday, filling in and grading. A hedge of California privet, the gift of Mrs. Lucius Brown, of Norwich, was planted the Monday previous on the west boundary line of the grounds, adjoining the military highway. Those engaged in the work included Rev. Jerome Greer, R. Irving Hurlbutt, Emil Gunusky, William Campbell, John Reed, Joseph Davidson, C. Alton Chapman, Earl Green, Carroll S. Hurlbutt, C. C. Colver, Jr., Paul Miller, Dudley C. Perkins.

There was a large attendance at the all-day meeting of the Ladies' Aid society in the M. E. vestry Friday. Three quilts were tied and finished. Luncheon was at 1 o'clock, the menu being beef loaf, baked beans, potato and egg salad, brown bread, white bread, apple and lemon pie, with coffee. Those in charge of the luncheon were Miss Mabel Smith, chairman; Mrs. Henry W. Hurlbutt, Mrs. Solon Chapman and Mrs. C. C. Colver. At the business meeting later in the afternoon the president, Miss Alice Satterlee, presiding, it was voted to continue the society's pledge of $104 toward the church budget to pay bill for the newly installed water system in the kitchen of the vestry, in use for the first time; also to pay bills for parsonage furniture. The date for the election of officers was changed to the second week in June.

As announced by Mrs. Carl B. Lawson, teacher of the Gales Ferry school, the date for the prize speaking contest of the schools of the town, has been changed to May 2, instead of May 16, the contest to take place at Ledyard Center.

The Time for Harvest, John 4:35-36, was the theme of the sermon of Rev. Jerome Greer Sunday morning. Come Unto Me was the offertory anthem.

At the church school, the special feature preceding the lesson study was given by Asst. Supt. D. C. Perkins, a description of Noah's Ark. At a meeting of the Sunday school board it was voted to pledge $104, the same as last year, toward the church budget, and to pay for flowers. Mrs. R. Irving Hurlbutt, superintendent, primary department, was made chairman, assisted by Mrs. Greer, of a committee including Rev. Mr. Greer, Dudley C. Perkins and Andrew P. Miller, to procure or furnish folding screens for the primary department room.

Building a Leaguer's Book Shelf was the subject of the Sunday evening service with Mrs. Rufus W. Hurlbutt, leader. Rev Mr. Greer continued the subject. A vote of thanks was extended Mrs. Robert Miller, organist of the league, in appreciation of her years of faithful service and the Chautauqua salute was given her as a farewell. Mr. and Mrs. Miller have taken an apartment in Boston and she is leaving this week to reside there.

At the Friday afternoon meeting of the Jolly Cookies and So-ers, the 4-H club, held at the home of their leader, Mrs. R. Irving Hurlbutt, it was voted to pay the expenses of Bernice Percival, delegate to the State Round-Up, out of the club treasury. May 4, the next meeting of the club, the mothers are to attend when the girls will serve afternoon tea and exhibit their work. Four committees were elected, as follows: Invitation, Ethel Main, Ruth Main, Elizabeth Main; luncheon, Helen DeRusha, Edith Hartung, Alice Frink, Carol Norman; program, Rose Norcross, Bernice Percival; exhibits, Mrs. Hurlbutt, Louise Howard, Velma Atkins, Bernice Coman; ushers, Margaret Parker, Christine Maynard.

Improvements and changes are being made on the house of J. Edmund Norman, which property Mr. Norman purchased from the Orrin Latham estate last year.

Do You Know What a Woman 30 Years Old Should Weigh?

It all depends on her height of course.

If she is five feet seven inches in height she should weigh according to the best authorities 143 pounds.

If she is 5 feet 5 inches her normal weight is 134 pounds.

If she is 5 feet 3 inches she should weigh 127 pounds.

It's dangerous to be always striving to grow thin—the Adirondack Mountains and health resorts everywhere are filled with health shattered women who will tell you that it doesn't pay to be too thin.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this trousseau guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

DANIELSON

MRS. FRANK SWEET DROPS DEAD IN LOCAL STORE

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 23—While shopping about 6:30 tonight in the market of Gallup Bros., and Lindner, Mrs. Anna I. Sweet, 57, of North Main street, suffered an attack of heart disease and died almost instantly. W. C. Canner viewed the body and it was later taken in charge by Undertaker L. E. Kennedy and conveyed to Mrs. Sweet's home. Mrs. Sweet had been shopping about the business section during the afternoon and apparently was as well as usual. She was a native of Voluntown and before her marriage was Anna I. Brown. She was a resident here the greater part of her life. She was the widow of Frank Sweet, who died 19 years ago. She leaves two sons, Floyd of Danielson and Harry F. of Hartford.

FUNERAL OF E. S. CARPENTER HELD AT BAPTIST CHURCH

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 23—This afternoon at 1:30 a prayer service for Edward S. Carpenter was held at his home on Spring street followed by a service at 2 o'clock at the Baptist church, where there was assembled a congregation nearly filling the structure. Rev. Chester J. Armstrong, the pastor, was the officiating clergyman. The congregation included delegations from Moriah lodge, A. F. and A. M. and from other Masonic organizations of which Mr. Carpenter was a member, including Columbian commandery, K. T. Danielson chapter, Order of the Easter Star also was represented by a delegation.

During the service the Masonic quartet—Earle F. Winslow, Gordon J. Gale, Harold Roberts and Herbert H. Pepler—sang Abide With Me, and Nearer My God to Thee. Burial was in Westfield cemetery, where the committal service was conducted by W. M. L. S. Ingalls and Chaplain Harry Brearley of Moriah lodge. The bearers were Frederick E. Bitgood, Edward B. Wilbur, Judge W. Fenner Woodward, Earle Bartlett, D. Fred Kenworthy and Ira A. Warren, representing Columbian commandery.

A. F. Wood was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

There appeared to be promise today of the beginning of the legal action in Connecticut that eventually will result in the bringing into this county from Springfield the two men held in that Massachusetts city as fugitives from justice from this state, in connection with the death of State Officer Irving H. Nelson. The week may bring forth some definite developments of a legal nature. State officers and the state attorney's office were uncommunicative today as to just what is being done to get Raymond and Lalone into Connecticut. It appears, however, that the intensive work of investigating state officers since the killing of State Officer Nelson has been so thorough and so complete that there likely will not be much further delay in starting on the legal procedure that is expected to result in the trial in this state of the prisoners for murder.

In advance of Clean-up week numbers of persons already have engaged in tidying up their premises and will have everything in order by the time the clean-up period officially opens next Saturday, to continue until May 5. It was indicated today that the co-operation for the work to be done is going to be greater than for several years past, as the fact has been driven home that there is good business, as well as other virtues, in having a clean town. For one thing, it enhances property values in some degree, and that is something every property owner has a special interest in.

Youth is finding this season offering it wonderful opportunities to obtain an automobile. It is not much of a trick to get together $15 or $20, and one hears of many a car that is for sale for so little money. That is one reason why so many very young people are obtaining and driving cars this spring. In some instances a little car may have a pair of owners, and that cuts the cost still more. Truly the automobile age!

Operetta—The Pirate's Daughter—K. H. S. auditorium, Wed. 8:15 p. m.—Adv.

Rev. John Roux, M. S., Hartford, was a visitor at St. James' rectory today. He is to sail within a few days for a visit to his native land, France. It will be his first time home in 21 years. Fr. Roux is a former pastor of St. James' parish.

This week the Ladies' Benevolent society of the Westfield Congregational church is to pack and send a box of clothing to Atlanta university in Georgia.

Mrs. Alfred L. Reed, Mrs. John W. Gallup, Mrs. L. E. Kennedy and Mrs. Clara Nadeau are the Danielson members of the fancy work table committee for the annual May breakfast, under the auspices of the woman's board of the Day Kimball hospital, to be held at Putnam Tuesday morning of next week.

Leon Shippee of Furnace street has the contract for excavating for the cellar of the new Brooklyn Savings bank building and will start operations Tuesday morning. Louis Pieretti of the contracting firm and J. C. Rankin, the firm's engineer, were here today getting preliminaries started.

Beginning next Sunday all engagements of the Westfield Congregational church are to be scheduled on daylight saving time.

Road crews of the town of Killingly are now engaged in giving attention to dirt highways throughout the town.

More than an inch of rain fell during the northeast storm that continued into today, and for the time being the danger of grass and forest fires is past.

It is unlikely that there will be a textile products exhibit here this year under the auspices of the Eastern Connecticut Mills association.

J. C. Witter was in Voluntown to conduct an auction sale today.

Victor T. Anderson, treasurer of the Connecticut Mills company, has returned from a visit at the Alabama plant of the company, at Albany-Decatur.

About 40 people were entertained at a whist party given at the home of Mrs. John Lacas, Broad street, Sunday evening in aid of an educational project.

William Sherry has fully recovered from such injuries as he received when he was struck by a hit and run driver in Elmville a week ago. No trace of the driver has been obtained.

Henry W. Babson, who has been spending the winter in Florida, is expected to return here early in May.

On the minds of dog owners in town just now is the matter of having the animals registered for another year, a duty that will require attention within the next few days.

Commissioner Robert T. Hurley of the state police department again was in this territory today relative to the State Officer Irving H. Nelson case.

William A. Beauregard returned to his home in Attleboro today after visiting with friends here.

PUTNAM

COUNTY OFFICERS HOLD CONFERENCE ON NELSON CASE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 23—A conference was held this morning at the office of State's Attorney Howard Bradford with County Investigator William E. Jackson and Commissioner of State Police Robert T. Hurley of Hartford together with officers of the barracks of state police. Although the press was not allowed to be present at the meeting it is thought that the officials of the police are attempting to direct a movement to take into custody two men LaLone and Raymond, now being held in Springfield for shooting and also for the murder of Policeman Irving H. Nelson. No facts concerning the discussions held Monday morning were obtained.

Signs that prohibit parking in the fire lane on lower Main street have been removed to across the street in accordance to an order issued by the street committee of the city council. When lower Main street from Carroll's drug store to the corner of Bridge and was made a fire lane the large yellow boards attached to the old trolley boards were placed on the left hand side of the street going north making this route dangerous for autoists travelling the route south in the event that a fire alarm directed the firemen to the north end of the city. The signs have all been changed and placed in their correct positions, so that parking is now prohibited from the Second Congregational church to Bosworth's grain store.

It was reported to the police department Monday that motorists from force of habit had left their cars in the new lane. Captain William Jarvis stated that for the next few days cars left in this channel would be tagged by the police, quietly reminding the driver that it is against the city ordinances to leave their cars there.

The police department has advanced Clean-Up week seven days early when on Monday morning now traffic and no parking signs that have been under the weather for the past few days have been placed back in position with a new shiny coat of yellow and black paint. Captain Jarvis has also added many of the well known "No Parking" signs to those already in use. The new spic and span signs add much to the civic appearance of the business section and the police department feel that there is now no excuse for parking over the limit because drivers could not decipher the inscription on the silent police traffic officers.

Everything is in readiness at the state trade school for the 11th annual open night that is to be held Tuesday evening. During the past few weeks all students have been busy completing specimens of their work which will be exhibited to the public. Director H. H. Ellis of the institution stated that all departments of the school will be in operation from 7.30 to 9.30 for public inspection and during that time the public is cordially invited to inspect the building and the work of the students. This year the public will be able to visit the new masonry department that has just been added to the list of trades. The new branch of learning will be in full operation during the inspection hours.

Rev. Thomas B. Powell, newly appointed pastor of the First Congregational church in Woodstock delivered the sermon at the morning service on Sunday at the Second Congregational church in Putnam in exchange of pulpits with Rev. James F. English, pastor of the Putnam church. Mr. Powell has also been engaged as speaker for the Memorial day exercises that are to be held in this city on May 30.

William Kirby of Putnam was severely injured Sunday afternoon while cutting wood at the Hopkins farm on the River road. Mr. Kirby nearly severed his finger when an axe that he was using passed through his hand between the thumb and index finger. Fortunately no tendons were cut, and the man suffered no loss of blood, as proper first aid treatment was rendered before the patient reached a local doctor's office.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Macdonald, Jr., of South Main street have returned from a trip to New York and New Jersey where they visited with Mr. Macdonald's sister.

No information has yet been received from directors of the A. A. U. by members of the Putnam Sporting club in regards to the lifting of the ban placed on the staging of amateur boxing bouts in Connecticut and it was stated by the sponsors of the local club that all bouts planned to be held during this week and during the early part of May will remain postponed as far as they are concerned in order to keep within the rules of the ban. A meeting that was scheduled to have been held in New Haven by directors of the A. A. U. to decide the boxing question brought no information to Putnam, Monday, and the fans are still kept in suspense as to what the outcome will be.

It has been learned here that Matt Kroll former Thompson butcher and cattle dealer now in Worcester county jail where he is awaiting trial on a charge of murder of his wife in the first degree, will make every effort to escape the chair, when he is brought up for trial in Worcester superior court at the criminal session which will open on May 14. It has been ascertained that Kroll has secured some of the best legal talent possible in Worcester to fight for his life. Kroll was recently returned to Worcester from Poland where he had escaped after he was alleged to have committed the crime in Worcester in 1925.

A meeting of the directors of the Windham County Farmers association held Monday afternoon to select a successor to County Agent Frank L. Davis, who has resigned his position and will leave Putnam for Boston on May 1, where he will take over a much larger field.

There are many applicants for the position of agent for the local farmers association and it was thought that it requires much consideration by the directors before a new man will be chosen to fill the vacancy.

LOCAL GIRL IS MARRIED TO SPRINGFIELD MAN

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 23—A pretty spring wedding took place at St. Williams church in West Springfield, Mass., on Monday morning at 10 o'clock, when Miss Christina Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Murray of South Main street, Putnam and Lieutenant James J. Lyons of Springfield were united in marriage by Rev. Father Potvin at a nuptial high mass. The bridesmaid was Miss Florence Murray, a sister of the bride. She was prettily attired in dark blue ensemble and wore a black picture hat and carried a bouquet of roses. The best man was John Moriarty, a brother officer of the groom.

The bride was becomingly gowned in a dress of rose biege with hat and shoes to match and carried a bouquet of orphelia roses. Miss Murray is a graduate of Putnam high school, class of 1925 and is a popular member of the younger set.

Mr. Lyons is a member of the Massachusetts state troopers, with the rank of lieutenant and is assigned in charge of the state police barracks in Agawon near Springfield. After a two weeks wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Lyons will reside in Agawon.

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"

Better than Soda

Instead of soda thereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

CUTTING GOVERNMENT TAXES

Quite in contrast to the plea which has been made by the United States chamber of commerce concerning tax reduction is that of the National Association of Manufacturers, when its president urges the senate finance committee to confine itself to the recommendations of the treasury department. The United States chamber of commerce at the opening of the session of congress urged a tax cut of $400,000,000, the largest amount sought by those advocating reductions. Even after the delay to determine what the revenue was going to be at the end of the first quarter of this year that organization continued to demand the same reduction. The attitude was that such a cut ought to be made even if it did involve the possibility of a deficit.

Such a view is quite the contrary to what such an organization as the United States chamber of commerce would be expected to take. It involves playing loose and fast with government affairs, a cutting of revenue without regard for outlays and a display of bad business policy where only the best ought to be expected.

It is not surprising that the manufacturers do not support any such contention. They are quite as anxious as anyone for tax reduction, and for as large a cut as is possible, but they appreciate the wisdom of being on the side of safety. They are convinced that the sound and practical thing to do is to follow the recommendation of the treasury department, which means tax reduction to about half the amount urged by the chamber of commerce.

That is an attitude that has the backing of good business. Well did the president of the Manufacturers' association declare that the treasury knows better than the chamber of commerce about what can and what cannot be done. The very fact that the latter organization would be willing to chance a deficit sufficiently condemns its recommendations. It might have been thought that it spoke for the manufacturers but the head of the manufacturers has cleared up any misunderstanding which might have existed in that respect. The manufacturers would have the affairs of the government conducted in the same way that they would handle their own business, and that is a sensible view.

GIVE THEM YOUR ATTENTION

Much good advice is put forth in the bulletins of the department of motor vehicles and if vehicle drivers would read and heed them there would be less occasion for misunderstanding and accidents.

In his latest bulletin Commissioner Stoeckel censures the practice of driving vehicles too close to one another on the highways, and in this connection he bears down heavily on this practice in connection with trucks. This practice is referred to as "ganging" and means a procession of vehicles, many times moving slowly, but which it is difficult to pass because of the distance which must be covered in getting ahead of the gang.

There are plenty of instances where the practice of following closely after the car ahead has resulted in collisions. Then of course the driver of the second car raises a great howl over the fact that the leader did not put out his hand when he slowed down for some obstruction in the road, or for any purpose whatever, when as a matter of fact that if he had been keeping at a proper distance, or possibly had given needed attention to the brakes on his car, there would have been no trouble.

It is unfortunate that so many seem to require an unpleasant personal experience before they can sense the wisdom of so driving that they will be able to take care of their car under reasonable conditions. Relying upon the other fellow to furnish all the warnings is a decidedly bad practice. Conditions as they exist and their possibilities for trouble need to be taken into thoughtful consideration.

Many are the warnings which have been issued by the motor vehicle department and if they were given the attention they deserve our highways would be much safer. That is the purpose of them.

TIME TO HEED PRESIDENT

When the president pointed to the bad features of the flood control measure he told congress in plain words that there was no time like the present for straightening out the defects of that bill. He has said as clearly as anyone could that he favors flood control work and wants to see provision made for it at this session of congress but he has also said with equal emphasis that he will not sanction a lot of extravagance under the guise of flood control legislation.

Flood control work is needed and should be started with the least possible delay. It is a project that will involve a large sum of money, but because the amount must of necessity be large it doesn't mean that it should become the fastest kind of pork barrel legislation.

Under a proposition that involves the expenditure of many million dollars it is wise to guard against profiteering and waste. Let the situation be met and let a good job be done, but by all means close every loophole to needless expenditures and extravagance.

Does the lower house of congress need a more pointed statement from the president than it has already received? Does it carry the impression that just because the whole country believes there should be some action taken at this time by congress for flood relief that it is justified in spending lavishly without a reasonable check upon where the money goes and what it is for, or without having some rather definite ideas as to what the ultimate costs are going to be?

If it is the intention of the house to bring about a veto of the flood control measure the president has told them how to proceed. And when he has pointed out the defects it is to be realized that he has no axe to grind, no politics to play, no votes to seek. He has passed upon it as a straightforward business proposition and that is the way in which he desires congress to treat it. So far as he is concerned he is unwilling to accept anything else, and in taking such a stand he cannot fail to have the backing of the country. Even the interested states should realize the importance of having whatever is done kept free from a spending orgy.

AN AVIATION AID

Little by little we forge ahead in all lines of activity, and progress is accomplished through the meeting and solving of problems.

Almost every one of the long distance flights furnishes helpful information in connection with certain air problems. Among the ocean fliers there has been a constant fear of ice forming on the wings of the planes, thus increasing the weight and threatening to force the plane down. This might be encountered in the case of mist, fog or rain with the temperature just right to form ice.

It was in anticipation of this that the Bremen was given a coating of paraffin oil before it left Ireland for the purpose of preventing the formation of ice on the wings. Other devices have been tried without success, but the Bremen encountered cold winds, it experienced plenty of fog and it was in a position to have gathered ice if preventive measures had not been taken.

It is thus to be realized that there was furnished a test of this idea which is not going to be overlooked by others when flying in cold weather or in cold regions.

The impression has prevailed for some time that ice may have been responsible for the loss of the other fliers who attempted the flight across the Atlantic to this country. No one knows because no trace has ever been found of them. It may have been ice or any number of other things, but from the success which has been attained by the Bremen and the fact that ice on the plane was avoided the claim will be held until proved otherwise that the coating of paraffin oil did the trick.

That being the case another serious problem in connection with aviation has been solved and in such a manner that there can be little or no question of the result. Not many are going to encounter much worse conditions than the Bremen went through, but even if they do there is good reason to anticipate favorable results as far as ice is concerned until the effectiveness of the oil has been disproved. Every contribution of this kind has a value all its own.

AS FLY TIME APPROACHES

Although the weather has not been such as to bring out a great number of flies the early ones have made their appearance and it is only a question of time before the swatters must get busy.

It is to be realized of course that some of the most effective work in reducing the number of flies can be done from now on. The fewer there are the less frequent the swatter can be used, but every time a fly is put out of business it reduces the fly population of the future by millions. Elimination while the number is small is comparatively easy in comparison to those days when they get to be numerous and bothersome. Those who depend upon the use of the swatter for exercise might get poor results in these days, but when it comes to making inroads into the fly population it is the most effective work that begins in these days when the list of casualties in comparison to the total number visible should be high.

But in addition to the swatter there is always the opportunity for doing a valuable bit of clean-up work so as to leave fewer attractions for the flies. Under sanitary conditions the flies are at a minimum. Under unsanitary conditions they are at flood tide. Between the two there should be only one choice. Make conditions what they should be, abolish the drawing cards and keep the swatters busy and the fly problem will be well taken care of.

It is not to be expected that the day is near at hand when there will be no occasion for swatting, but sight should not be lost of the fact that sanitary conditions are even more effective than the swatter in getting rid of flies.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, April 23: There is every indication that the Rogers bill will give a new veterans hospital to Southern New England, with Connecticut in the lead for its location. It will be recalled that Representative Luce of Massachusetts, chairman of the sub-committee of the veterans committee having that measure in charge, became incensed at the vote of the committee sustaining Mrs. Rogers, in her determination to give the sick and wounded veterans adequate hospital facilities in the state in which they live. Mr. Luce opposed such action, saying the government should not set up a veterans hospital at every cross road, a comment that has not endeared him to his veteran constituents.

So he impetuously resigned from the sub chairmanship putting Mrs. Rogers in charge of the bill, which she has just successfully gotten through the house, thus making a record of being the first woman member of congress to take charge of a major appropriation bill on the floor of the house. The bill carried $18,000,000 and Mrs. Rogers got a feather in her cap, while Mr. Luce continues to sulk and call the measure a "pork barrel".

Rhode Island is competing for the institution, but it looks now as if Connecticut would win out, as her claim is regarded as the most pressing.

Senator Bingham is receiving many congratulations on his splendid keynote address at the Connecticut republican convention last week. Also on being elected a delegate at large to the convention. Floor Leader John Q. Tilson has every minute of his time taken by the pressure of his duties as a floor leader and in trying to map out some plan by which all the big measures will get attention before the adjournment, which is expected will be in late May.

Practically every senator and member of the house wants to be free to attend one or the other of the national conventions, so there would not be a baker's dozen left to transact business, should an adjournment fail to develop. In that case a recess of several weeks or may be longer would be brought about, as sometimes has been done in the past on election years, but such a step is not expected to be found necessary. Senate leaders predict adjournment by May 19th and the more "doubtful Thomases" of the house by June 8th. So there isn't much doubt but what there will be a speed-up of legislation, as soon as the much and hotly contested flood relief measure is hammered into shape and made to meet the demands of congress and the president.

Col. Tilson has proved to be one of the best, or as many do not hesitate to say, the best floor leader congress has known for many years. He has steered the party clear of pitfalls; he has not antagonized either the democrats or the insurgents, and has ruled with a kindly, yet firm hand, ever since he was elected to that office. He is beloved and respected by his colleagues of all parties and factions, a record it is hard to equal. And this coupled with his wise and just insistence that everybody shall have a fair deal and a fair show makes his record as a floor leader something of which all New England may well be proud.

Speaking of Col. Tilson, reminds one of the famous round table luncheons at which Tilson holds a seat of honor. The luncheons of senators and members of congress are usually eaten at the capitol, and vary from a hand-to-mouth sandwich during a roll call, or perhaps bread and milk, topped off with apple pie, to fried chicken a la Maryland, according to temperament and time, with bread, milk and apple pie in the majority.

But as Lindy once said "What difference does that make?" It's not so much what they eat, as the famous round table get-together that counts. There are two of these, that attract daily attention of colleagues and tourists.

One is the great round table in the corner, of the members private dining room, where Speaker Longworth and Floor Leader Tilson occupy the two seats of honor. The table seats eight or ten besides the two leaders. Chairman of important committees or visitors of high political degree, make up the number. They talk shop or crack jokes while at lunch, and a seat at that table is regarded as admittance to the inner shrine of the house, and much coveted. Sometime luncheon is interrupted by a roll call, then the leaders and others vanish as by magic, a waiter stands guard over the half eaten luncheon and one by one the men return, after answering to their name.

In a smaller room just beyond, is another round table known as the New England table, equally notable for its comradeship. Here forezather a score or more of the New England members, who have merry luncheons and many political debates over pending measure, on which they disagree. But its all good natured chaffing and "first names" are the order of the day. It's Edith, Joe, John, Charlie, etc., etc among them. Sometime others drop in and say "You folks look happy. Guess I'll join you" then chairs are drawn closer, or maybe a belated member of the regular group heaves in sight.

Taken all in all the boasted southern hospitality doesn't hold a candle to that famous round table, and at which Connecticut is usually represented.

Massachusetts is going right on with the diversion of the waters of the Swift river, according to statements of Frank E. Winsor, chief engineer of the Metropolitan water supply commission. Mr. Winsor states that 13 miles have been finished and six shafts sunk on the 25 mile water tunnel from Wachusett reservoir to the Swift river. He expects the tunnel will be completed in 1931 and furnish 190 million gallons a day. The metropolitan supply at present is only 135 million gallons per day. Mr. Windsor stated the Swift river is the purest water in the state. He apparently is not considering Connecticut's claim, or if so is not talking about it in public.

BARSTOW WINS

Barstow sent the tip of his whip curling out over the horses' backs, not touching them—for he was very careful of the beautiful span—but making its sharp cutting through the air act an incentive. However, although their necks straightened a little, the speed did not increase. It could not, on this road, with an ordinary driving rig. They were already going at a three-minute pace.

He gave a quick glance over his shoulder. An automobile was just turning a curve in the road, three-fourths of a mile behind. His eyes studied its occupants keenly.

"Yes, that's the sheriff all right," he thought grimly. "No one could mistake those shoulders and that cowboy hat, and he's a head above his companion. I wonder who the companion is — some fellow he's sworn in as deputy, likely. And the automobile's Carson's. No, other could slip over the ground the way that does. I suppose Cunningham has deputized it also. Well"— hissing his whip once more across the horses' backs—"it's going to be a race. But I'm glad Carson himself isn't back there. Reckless as the sheriff is after game, he's new to machine work, and I don't believe he'll take over a mile in three out of a strange one. And it's only 20 to Leighton, with a straight road and a good start and my span fresh. Yes, it'll be a race."

But a little later he could see that the automobile slowly but surely was gaining on him, and when eight of the 20 miles were passed the machine had covered a third of the distance between them.

The horses were now breathing heavily and their speed decreasing. The machine was coming on more rapidly. Barstow glanced over his shoulder, studying the ground critically, then allowed his gaze to fall back to his pursuer. The sheriff was motioning frantically for him to stop. Barstow grinned satirically.

"Not just yet, Cunningham," he thought. "The race is getting too interesting. Besides, there's too much involved. Any other time I'll be glad to accommodate you. Just now I'm going to Leighton, and with good luck I shall not have many minutes to gather up a minister and have him at the station when the train comes in. Once across the line and I'll whistle to Cunningham —no, I won't; I'll ask him to be best man, if he follows me that far. Thank the stars there'll be no need for a license, and confound the postman for not delivering my letter when it came!"

There was a long stretch of clear road ahead, with the horses going steadily. He made a turn with the reins about his wrist and drew a letter from his pocket. It had been given him by the mail carrier only forty minutes before, just as he was starting out with his span, and he had read it at a glance and then dashed away on this wild race to Leighton. He now swept the lines with another glance, his face glowing.

"Dear Harold," the letter read, "we shall be there one day earlier than arranged. The senator will not speak at Malters, and that saves us stopping over; but he has arranged to address the business men at Ronceford, a hundred miles farther on, so for the time with you will be the same, only a day earlier. From the train schedule I think it will be about fifteen minutes. Have the minister and everything ready. It seems a reckless hit or miss kind of marriage, doesn't it, Harold? But then uncle is so eager to see it; and he's got to be at Ronceford, and must take the steamer for Europe only a few hours later, to be gone a year. So it's Hobson's choice. But never mind. We'll make it up on our wedding trip, and miss every train if we like —or why not make the trip with your span, and stop everywhere and nowhere in particular. I think that would be fine.

"CLAIRE."

Barstow slipped the letter back into his pocket, curling the whip once more out in search of impossible speed. Ten minutes passed, and with them three of the remaining miles. Leighton was now but nine miles ahead; and the state line, beyond which Cunningham's authority as sheriff would for a time be null, was five. Once across the line and he could snap his fingers at the pursuer. He glanced back. The automobile had covered one-half the remaining distance, and was coming on swiftly and smoothly. The horses were breathing hard. Another three miles with no change, and the race would be ended.

Involuntarily Barstow leaned forward, as he often did in moments of suspense. Then his face blanched.

A cow was walking deliberately from the roadside growth, and along here the road was narrow. Barstow rose to his feet and reached forward as far as he could, his whip in the air. A spill and smash was better than missing a chance. As they swept upon the cow, and the whip came down viciously, the animal threw up her head, thereby saving it from the rushing wheels that just grazed the skin.

But as though ashamed of this slight concession, the cow snorted and walked quickly to the middle of the road, and there stopped. Barstow heard a yell behind him. The cow had lowered her head to the automobile in a manner that threatened dire consequences to both. Cunningham yelled once more, savagely; but the cow remained obdurate. Then Cunningham stopped. When the cow was hustled unceremoniously aside and the machine again started, it had lost the three-fourths of a mile previously gained.

When Barstow swept triumphantly across the line, he turned his horses to one side. Sixty seconds behind him thundered the automobile. As the machine stopped beside him, Barstow took off his hat.

"Fine spurt, the last of yours, Cunningham," he congratulated. "But not quite enough. However, the odds were against you. I've a good mind to go back and buy that cow and pension her with a clover field for life. But say, can't I get you for best man a half hour or so from now? We'll fix this other thing up afterward. What's it for, anyhow—my fast driving yesterday?"

"Fast simpleton!" sputtered the sheriff disgustedly. "A special came in two minutes after you left and brought this young man. He's Claire Edmon's brother, and came on ahead to help you get things ready. They thought it would be more convenient to stop at Brant this in Leighton, as the train will be held there twenty minutes for the down express to pass. It will be there in just 48 minutes now."

"Good Lord!" ejaculated Barstow, aghast. "And my horses are winded. I can't do it."

"Of course you can't with them," hurriedly. "Here, jump into this automobile and speed her till the wheels leave the ground. Never mind cows and things. Run them down. Our minister will be on the postoffice steps when you get there, waiting for his mail. Pick him up as the cowboys do their hats, at full speed. Scorch now! I'll bring home the horses."

Forty-eight minutes later, when the north express pulled into Brant an automobile was just whirling up to the platform. In it was Barstow, a little flushed, but smiling, a young man who seemed highly amused, and a clergyman somewhat the worse for wear.—Detroit News.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Norwich On Record Against Consolidation.

Mr. Editor: It has been called to my attention that there is an item in the call for the city meeting this week relative to the consolidation of the town with the city.

I wonder if the people of Norwich remember that back in March, 1915, there was a special city meeting which voted unanimously against consolidation and adopted a resolution showing the city opposed to "any plan whereby an effort would be made to annex to the city any portion of the town without the consent of the inhabitants of such outside sections."

It was also about that time, if memory serves correctly, that many residents of Norwich went to Hartford for the purpose of opposing a division of the town and at that time records were presented to the legislative committee showing that not only was the city opposed to consolidation but also the board of trade and the chamber of commerce. The town opposed annexation in 1905 and in 1908 a special committee reported unequivocally against consolidation and the report was accepted.

M. J. Curran stated that he was "opposed to consolidation and didn't believe it would be well for either city or town."

A. R. Manning said he was "personally opposed to consolidation."

The same statements were made by Frank L. Woodard, H. R. Branche, Judge Lucius Brown and Lewis R. Church.

Charles D. Noyes opposed consolidation "without the consent of those concerned."

Albert J. Bailey declared his opposition "until all favored it."

Charles I. Smith declared the chamber of commerce as "on record as opposed to consolidation."

Timothy C. Murphy opposed "consolidation unless those interested and resident in the town sections desire to be annexed."

These and other citizens voiced the sentiment of the city as previously expressed in special meeting.

Is Norwich going ahead to disregard its promise of 1915? Did that resolution adopted by the city meeting at that time mean anything? Are we going to respect it or are we going to repudiate it?

A CITIZEN.

Norwich, April 23, 1928.

The Coming City Meeting.

Mr. Editor: George E. Pitcher's letter, which was published in your issue of April 23rd, contains some mistakes, which I would like to correct, as to the warning and purpose of the special city meeting to be held April 26th.

The paragraph in the warning for the meeting concerning the appropriation and borrowing of $60,000 has nothing whatsoever to do with the present fiscal year of the city, which will end May 15, 1928. The warning specifically states that if voted, such sum will only be borrowed on or after May 16th, 1928. It was included in the warning because the Norwich Savings society feels that it should have a vote of a city meeting authorizing the borrowing of money by the city before it should loan money to the city on or after May 15th in each year to take care of the necessary expenses of the city up to and until after the annual city meeting in June. In the past such a vote has not been requested, but the Norwich Savings society has loaned money under such circumstances on the strength of the belief that the annual city meeting when held would authorize and approve temporary loans. The city treasurer's office estimates that the following sums will be required on and after May 16th until the temporary loans authorized by the annual city meeting in June and the June council meeting will be available as follows;

Approximate Disbursements, May 16 to June 16, 1928.

Fire dept. payroll	$9,422.00
Police dept. payroll	9,000.00
Public works dept. payrolls	16,500.00
Payments on notes	10,500.00
Interest on bonds	7,990.00
Interest on notes	2,310.42
Council salaries and commission	1,564.15
Total	$57,286.57

These figures are based on the expenditures for the same period in 1927.

These are all necessary expenses of the city and must be paid. If the Norwich Savings society requires the vote of a city meeting for loaning money to the city to pay them in anticipation of taxes, it seems only just and fair that the city should give such a vote. There is certainly nothing in the warning which would justify the spending of $60,000 of next year's appropriations in the present fiscal year of the city.

The other two paragraphs of the warning concerning a new city barn and a survey of the city's sewage system and calling for specific appropriations of $30,000 and $6,000 are for special matters, not part of the ordinary expenses of the city in any fiscal year and are, it seems to me, properly included in the call for a special city meeting. While in theory any appropriations authorized in them might be used up before the end of the city's present fiscal year, it does not seem possible in fact that a new city barn and such a survey can or will be completed and paid for on or before May 15th, 1928.

YOUR HEALTH

Prenatal Warning

By Samuel J. Crumbine, M. D., New York General Executive American Child Health Association.

The death rate from childbirth has remained practically the same during the past twenty years. During the same period great progress has been made in the reduction of deaths from the so-called communicable diseases, such as typhoid fever, tuberculosis, diphtheria, and scarlet fever.

It is believed that if expectant mothers would put themselves under the care of their family doctor early, many of the troubles and accidents of pregnancy and childbirth could be avoided. By this token husbands should see their wives have this protection even if it entails great sacrifice to secure it.

The loss of the mother in childbirth is not only regrettably serious because of the loss of life, but also because the baby has less chance of survival. From the Children's Bureau study we learn that the deaths of babies born to mothers who died at childbirth were over four times as numerous as those among babies whose mothers lived for a year or more after their birth.

Then, too, the death of a mother means a broken home, and if there are surviving children it means that they are left motherless. It has been shown by many studies that broken homes is an important cause of delinquency and crime, as well as malnutrition and diseased conditions among the orphaned children.

Among older children the chief hazard of motherlessness is its social effect. The social worker is familiar with the broken homes as a cause of delinquency, and a large proportion of broken homes result from the death of the mother.

Every community should be interested in and support at least one prenatal clinic where expectant mothers who cannot buy such services from a regular physician may secure the information and care that will protect her own life and that of her baby, and thus prevent the disruption of the home with all its evil consequences.

Pointers For Parents

Oatmeal and whole-grain cereals are particularly nutritious and economical and altogether desirable for children. They should be cooked thoroughly. "Children, the Magazine for Parents," advises, not only to increase the ease of digestion, but to improve the flavor, for children should have no sugar on their cereals.

Taking a baby into a room full of laughing, noisy adults will very often bring out a fear reaction. After you have done this a few times your child begins to cry when he sees a stranger.

If your child habitually tosses in his sleep, he may be suffering from nerve strain, from incorrect feeding or from too heavy covering.

Money plays an important role in modern life. Only by using money can a child learn what money can do and what its limitations are. In order to get this experience, he should have money over which he has complete control, beginning in early childhood with very small amounts and increasing with his development.

It is legitimate to pay a child for work he does about the home provided it is work for which you would have to pay someone else. However a child should not expect pay for doing his rightful share in the household tasks.

EAGLES INITIATE CLASS OF TWENTY CANDIDATES

Norwich aerie, No. 367, F. O. E., held a very successful class initiation Sunday afternoon, when a class of 20 candidates was initiated. The ritualistic work was done by the aerie officers in a very creditable manner. Interesting addresses were made by State Treasurer William B. Hastedt, Trustee E. J. Mullins, a member of the F. O. E. old age pension board, Trustee Timothy Fields, and Worthy President Nelson Pétrone. After the meeting a fine sauerkraut supper was served by the committee in charge, E. P. Mullins, John Oney and Thomas Fields.

THANKS BULLETIN FOR LAFLAMME FUND

George H. Bradford of Montville guardian for Kenneth LaFlamme of that town, has written The Bulletin his thanks for the $2,000 fund which was raised by contributions through the Bulletin for the benefit of young LaFlamme who lost his eyesight in an automobile accident on Dec. 10 last.

Mr. Bradford writes: "Kindly allow me to take this opportunity to thank you for your generous contribution to starting this fund, for your untiring efforts and for the very valuable space in your paper that you have so generously given in bringing this very pitiful case to the attention of the public.

"Also will you please allow me to express through you to all who have so thoughtfully and generously contributed to this very worthy cause my sincere thanks and appreciation."

REPORT SPENCER LOWEST BID ON MASONIC TEMPLE

Bids on the general contract for the erection of the new Masonic temple on the Washington street lot at the corner of Sachem street were opened Monday afternoon by the committee of which Arthur M. Brown is chairman.

The only information given out after the meeting was that there were nine bids received and that the committee would have a recommendation to make to a meeting of the board of directors of the Masonic Temple corporation on Wednesday.

From another source, however, it was learned that William S. Spencer, the local contractor, had made the low bid at a figure about $9,000 less than his nearest competitor. Other local contractors to put in bids were P. F. Sweeney and the Peck-McWilliams company, with five bids from out-of-town concerns, it was understood.

SUPREME COURT SESSION IS TO BE ADJOURNED

There will be no arguments before the supreme court of errors here this (Tuesday) morning, due to the fact that several of the justices of the high tribunal are ill, coupled with the fact that several superior court judges are ill and three more, including Judge Christopher L. Avery of Groton, are sitting on the Guilfoyle murder trial in Hartford.

Therefore the supreme court bench cannot be filled. The court will open and adjourn immediately and the four cases scheduled to be heard will be transferred to the May session in Hartford.

HOME CHAPTER SERVICE AT NORWICH ALMSHOUSE

Several Norwich Town members of Home chapter of the King's Daughters were included in the 15 present Sunday afternoon at the Almshouse, when the chapter provided the service. Mrs. William E. Manning, the leader, read the first 13 verses of the 10th chapter of St. John. Mrs. John Olsen and Mrs. Herbert Richardson played several piano duets, and Mrs. Olsen was also the accompanist for the hymns. Other pleasing numbers included three violin solos by William Hanson, with Miss Lois Manning at the piano, while Miss Manning, playing her own accompaniment, sang three selections, "The Lord Is My Shepherd," "My Task" and "A Cottage in God's Garden." Robert Glasbrenner, Jr., played four violin numbers and was accompanied at the piano by little Miss Mary Louise Hull.

Triple Fine in City Court

Charges of intoxication, damage to property and resisting an officer brought Fabian Hrnzie of Worcester fines of $10 and $5 with costs in the city court Monday morning. He broke up some of the fixtures of a cell after he had been put into it Sunday night. His total bill amounted to $29.50.

Settled Out of Court

Settlement out of court was effected in the suit brought for $500 damages by S. Patterson, Inc., against John Ichols, both of New London, which was assigned to be tried Monday in the common pleas court at New London. The suit arose over a bill for candy.

TELLS BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE PLUCK WILL WIN OVER LUCK

Baptist young people to the number of nearly 350 gathered at the Central Baptist church, Monday evening for their annual banquet and rally. The rain did not in the least dampen the spirits of the young people who came from various sections of the eastern part of the state. To the Willington delegation of 53 young men and women went the honor of the delegation coming the longest distance to attend the rally. Dr. Samuel G. Neil of Philadelphia was the speaker and he delivered a stirring address on Pluck vs. Luck.

The rally opened at 6:30 o'clock in the large assembly hall where the following menu was served at the long tables:

Fruit Cup
Meat Pie — Mashed Potatoes
Cold Slaw — Rolls
Jello with Whipped Cream
Cake — Coffee

The Sunday school orchestra, comprising Joseph S. Adams, John M. Swahn, Sherman Barber, Benjamin H. Palmer, Jr., William Hazard, Frank Dodge, Reginald Laubin and Gilbert Adams, gave a delightful concert programme during the banquet and also accompanied for the singing which was led by Lloyd Neil as song leader. The song programme included spirited group numbers, songs by a girls' quartette and a boys' trio and familiar songs including Carry Me Back to Virginia, Souvenir, Let the Rest of the World Go By and numerous others.

With Ledlie Pitt as toastmaster, the after-dinner programme got under way with a brief talk by Rev. O. P. Campbell of Hartford, state director of religious education. Rev. Mr. Campbell spoke of the splendid hospitality of the Central Baptist church and at his suggestion there was a hearty outburst of applause for Ledlie Pitt, Miss Edith Ellis, the waitresses and the supper committee. He spoke of the activities and aims of the young peoples' division of the state convention and said Monday night's gathering was the first of six similar gatherings arranged for.

The roll call showed that the Willington delegation of 53 held the long distance record of the rally. Rev. Harry P. Bothwell, pastor of the Third Baptist church, led the devotional period of the rally. After the singing of Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus, Rev. Mr. Bothwell read a scriptural selection and led in prayer.

Dr. Neil was then introduced as the speaker of the evening by Rev. Mr. Campbell. Dr. Neil's topic was Pluck vs. Luck. After congratulating the church and the pastor, Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., on the splendid gathering, Dr. Neil entertained his large audience with a vocal solo, I Love a Lassie, which was greeted with deafening applause. He told a number of Scotch stories and then launched into his address.

We have no faith in luck, he said. But we have infinite faith in pluck. There is a reason for everything. Only weak men believe in luck, but all men believe in pluck. The man who worships luck worships a laughing God. An easy time in youth, he said, as a rule, means a hard time in old age. Be hard on yourself in the beginning and nature will be gracious with you in the end.

Don't be a Jack of all trades and master of none. Make up your mind in the beginning what you want to do and then do it. Make up your mind what you want to do and concentrate in that direction and you will be a success. Be the servant of one duty; the master of one gift. No man is big enough to do a lot of things and do them well enough to last. You can't expect to "get there" if you are lazy. There are lots of young folks always starting but never sticking.

"I will" is the thing that conquers. What men have done you can do. Hard work is the thing that helps a man to "get there." He who trusts to luck trusts only to lose. Never let a human being say of you that you are lazy. The man or woman who lives in idleness should have been born in some other age. The idler is out of place entirely. He was born too soon and he will die too late.

The world wants true hearted young men and young women. The world wants a class of young folks dedicated to ambition. I wouldn't rob you of a single innocent pleasure. Keep your conduct as neat as your necktie. Polish your language as well as your shoes. Never let an oath pass your lips.

The great men of the world come from poor homes, as a rule. I thank God that I live in a land where a man can go from the towpath to the presidency of the greatest republic in the world. Young folks, work hard and play hard; where your duty leads, follow. Successful men are those who know how to think quickly and to act accurately. Stand upon your own feet and have the courage to do your own thinking.

The chairman of the supper committee was Mrs. Henrietta Tefft, and those serving on her committee were Mrs. Walter Phillips, Mrs. Charles Hewitt, Mrs. William H. Covey, Jr., Miss Nellie Rathbun, Mrs. Borden Taylor, Mrs. Herbert Rogers, Mrs. Lee Clegg, Mrs. Harry Hargreaves, Mrs. Willis F. Hill, Miss Genevieve Eno and Mrs. James Parker.

The waitresses were Mrs. Hazel Kingston, Miss Dorothy Rathbun, Miss Elizabeth Foyschler, Miss Ruby Vaughn, Mrs. Alice Johnson, Miss Bessie Grimes, Miss Eugenia Dean, Miss Ena Phillips, Mrs. Hattie McGonegal, Miss Nancy Patridge, Miss Belle Rathbun, Mrs. Helen Lawrence, Miss Alice Dean, Miss Florence Bellows, Mrs. Joseph S. Adams, Miss Sadie Fields, Mrs. George Lambert, Mrs. John Hill, Mrs. Eva Jatkowski, Mrs. Marjorie Peck, Miss Idamae Johnson, Miss Jessie Hill and Miss May Gray.

SPOKE TO MINISTERS ON PARKS AND FORESTS

A talk on Parks, Forests and Recreation Places by Arthur L. Peale of the state park commission, featured the monthly meeting of the Norwich Ministers' association Monday morning at Rev. Alexander H. Abbott's study. In his talk Mr. Peale referred to the fine work being done at Mohegan park and complimented the park commissioners. He also made references to the development of play places for young people and children by the Norwich recreation commission.

Mr. Peale then gave an interesting description of the state parks and forests of the state. He said the attendance annually is between 800,000 and 1,000,000 people at the state parks. This year probably 30,000 people will avail themselves of the privileges and facilities for week-end camping.

At Hammonasset beach the usual attendance is about 500,000 people, more than three times the attendance at Yellowstone park. There are now 37 state parks with an approximate acreage of 8,000.

Mr. Peale stressed the idea of planting more trees in this state. He urged a greater interest of the people of eastern Connecticut in the state parks and forests which are located in this vicinity, which follows—Selden Neck at Lyme; Bolton Notch at Bolton; Mashamoquet Brook at Pomfret; Sagtree Run at Pomfret; Buttonball Brook at Chaplin; Hammonasset Beach, Madison; Devil's Hop Yard, East Haddam; Nathaniel Lyon Memorial at Eastford; Quinebaug Pines at Putnam; Wolf Den at Pomfret; Minnie Island at Salem, Gardner Lake; Fort Shantok at Montville and Nipmuck forest in Tolland; Natchaug forest in Windham and Mehantic forest in New London county.

PUTNAM GIRL IS MARRIED TO CONN. AGGIE STUDENT

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 23—According to close friends of Miss Helen Wheaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Wheaton, of 28 Bradley street, Miss Wheaton and Ralph Peck, a junior at Connecticut Agricultural college, were married on Saturday. Inquiry at the home of Miss Wheaton was productive of the reply from Mrs. Wheaton that the story would be given out for publication on Thursday. Mrs. Wheaton refused to give out any details of the wedding, although another member of the family said that Miss Wheaton was married on Saturday. Nothing further could be learned about the affair at the college.

DEATH IN NEW YORK OF PAUL B. WARNER

Word was received here Monday of the death of Paul B. Warner, head of the accounting firm of Paul B. Warner & Co., 41 Maiden Lane, New York city. Mr. Warner was well known to a number of Norwich business men as his firm had for years done the accounting on government reports for certain Norwich business concerns.

Many years ago Mr. Warner became associated in the accounting business with Andrew Cheney, who was a Norwich man in business in New York and who was accountant for the C. F. Noyes real estate firm. After Mr. Cheney's death about 20 years ago, Mr. Warner became accountant for the Noyes firm.

The funeral is to be held at Grace Episcopal church, Jamaica, L. I.

Flowers at Gardner Funeral

Among floral remembrances at the funeral of G. Andrew Gardner Friday afternoon, was a spray marked Grandchildren, from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Perry and Cleon, Delphin and Miss Doris Gardner. Out-of-town relatives and friends in attendance at the funeral included: Gilbert Harrington and daughters, Misses Faith and Ruth Harrington, of Providence; Mrs. Effie Jenks, Plainfield; Dr. J. L. Gardner, Central Village; Clingon Gardner, Gardner Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Perry, New York; Cleon and Doris Gardner, Colchester; Mr. and Mrs. Sweetzer, Mr. Salsbury, from Jewett City, and Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Morgan, of Salem.

"FORDIE" PLAUT WRITES OF VISITING JERUSALEM

The accompanying letter has been received by local friends from Rutherford C. Plaut, president of the Plaut-Cadden company, who has been making a trip abroad and is accompanied by Julius W. Cadden, Miss Carrie Cadden and Miss Minnye Cadden of this city, and by his sister, Mrs. Jerome Mayer of Hartford.

Mr. Plaut writes as follows:

At Sea, April 6, 1928

Here we are back on the ship once more after a helter skelter trip. You can all follow me and take a joy ride—and a dizzy one—over three continents—Europe, Asia and Africa and before I get home will have been to Algiers, Gibraltar, Spain, Palestine, Egypt, Turkey, Greece, Germany, Italy, France and England. Rode a camel over the Sahara desert to the pyramids, saw the belongings of King Tut, rode a donkey through the hills of Judea (and ruined the donkey), saw the spot where Moses was found in the bull rushes, saw the manger and tomb of Christ, stood on the Mount of Olives from which the guide said Christ ascended to heaven, had my picture taken on a camel at the pyramids, I also stood on the rock of Gibraltar but did not see the sign of the Prudential Life Insurance company.

I wonder if I wrote you that when we left New York on the 6th of March at midnight. The chorus of the musical comedy "Good News" came to the pier to serenade one of the authors, a chap by the name of Schwab, who also wrote the "Desert Song". To add to the thrill of it all, Minnye recognized in his father an old time friend of the family and a school mate of years gone by in Hartford. You meet all kinds on a cruise like this—many with Packard bodies and Ford minds.

I don't intend to give you any more than a short description of the places that I gave you in detail on my recent world cruise. I have already written to you about Athens, and Constantinople, but I will tell you of my pilgrimage to Palestine, the holy land and Jerusalem. Can you imagine me in Jerusalem? Gosh! Will any of the bunch back home believe it, but here goes? Sadie, Cadden and myself left the ship at Haifa. We thought Carrie and Minnye would get too exhausted to take such a strenuous trip, and we thought right. It was a hard trip. The first day we did Haifa, Mt. Carmel, Nazareth, and arrived at Jerusalem at sunset. The chap who drove us one hundred and twenty odd miles over mountains and into valleys was a champion. He sure gave us thrills. When we reached our hotel at Jerusalem, the "Allenby" by name, I heard a jazz band across the street playing all the latest jazz music. The poorest people in Jerusalem are the Christians. The richest are the Jews. All government employes are Jews. The population is about 100,000, of which 80,000 are Jews, 12,000 Christians and 8,000 Mohammedans. Jerusalem is the most extraordinary of all places of the world. No embellishments. Just a dull dust phalanx of stone and mortar and Arabs and camels, except that you ride in a Buick car and once in a while see a Singer Sewing Machine sign. At all hours of the night, you hear the din of traffic and Arabs travelling from Bethlehem to Jericho. They drive their goat and sheep herds and pack animals through the streets, shouting, chanting and laughing, so that it is impossible to sleep, even if you had a good room to sleep in. Did you gather I said a "good room"? You should have seen the room Cadden and I had, and Sadie's was awful. Jerusalem, in spite of its drab look, is a progressive city. Yet, seven or ten years ago, it was not. Then, to go by carriage to the river Jordan, it took three days. Now, they take you there and back in a few hours. Even the Arabs have cars. The principal street is David street. No street like it in the world. Worth the trip alone. A street of the quaintest bazaars. It is built on a hillside, and, to shop, you go down hill step by step. There are no sidewalks, and walking space is only ten feet wide and Arabs, camels, donkeys, dogs and cows mingle with the people. The city of Jerusalem is built on four hills—Moria, Zion, Acra, Bethesa. The walls of Jerusalem have seven gates—Jaffa, Damascus, Herod's, Golden, Zion, St. Stephen's and New gate. Now they have a railroad to Jerusalem which was built in 1919 by the British soldiers. The train is a marvelous convenience. Now you take the holy pilgrimage up Bethlehem road to the Well of the Three Wise Men, Rachel's Tomb, the Church of the Nativity, and the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. Here they tell you you are on the spot where Christ was born. Then to Judea, where David lived and to the Mount of Olives. I sat in the car, Sadie and Cadden went to the tower. They stopped the car in front of an Arab coffee house. It was just a cave. Arabs were sitting around playing cards on low stools, smoking bubble bubble pipes and drinking Turkish coffee. One of these Arabs is a farmer, another has a donkey and carries fruit. A gramaphone is playing weird music all the time. After the Mount of Olives you visit Christ's Tomb, and the tomb of the Kings, the convent of the Carmelite Sisters, the Church of the Lord's Prayer and the Holy Rock where Abraham brought his son Isaac to offer him to God, the Golden Gate, through which Christ passed on Palm Sunday, the Garden of Gethsemane and Mount Temptation, where the devil tempted Christ, Elijah's Fountain, the spot where Joshua made the salt water sweet, Bethany, the Hills of Judea, Tombs of Tazanus and the ruins of the House of Mary and Martha. We saw the road to Nazareth, Jacob's Well, the old Jewish synagogue, and the cave where Elijah lived. What an experience!

One of our greatest surprises was our trip to Tel Aviv. Tel Aviv was founded in 1900 by Jaffa Jews, and the population in 1911 was 550, 3,000 in 1922, 12,000 in 1925 and 40,000 today. In 1914 it had 182 houses, in 1926, 2600 houses and it has the distinction of being the first town in the world built and populated wholly by Jews and self administered. We were there on Tuesday afternoon and at 4.30 the whole town was closed up, even the postoffice.

Now we go back to Cairo and, out of the car window, you see Sampson's cave on the side of the hills of Judea. Now over the Sinai desert, the frontier of Palestine and Jerusalem and you see Arabs living in hay stacks—a great sea of sand. Then a new scene—the Mediterannean sea on one side and a sea of sand on the other. What a contrast! Through one window you see barrenness and through the other cool, billowy water. The train plows its way through the desert like a camel—the most unpleasant and strangest train journey in the world. We reach Kantara, cross the Suez canal on a ferry boat, jump on a waiting train, and we are off to Cairo. Fourteen hours on the train that day. Were we tired? I'll say we were! We reached Cairo and Shepherd's hotel at eleven o'clock at night and we entered the train at eight in the morning.

We will be in Naples on the seventh of April. After that Rome, Florence, Venice, Munich, Nuremberg, Frankfurt, Berlin, Paris and London. We sail for home on the Homeric, May 16th.

Love to all,

FINED IN COURT FOR NOT FILING CERTIFICATE

At the city court session Monday morning Joseph W. Carlevale, proprietor of the Norwich Barber Supply Co. was fined $15 and costs for failure to file a certificate with the town clerk, listing the owner or owners of the company. He pleaded ignorance of the law requiring such a certificate but was informed that this was a poor excuse as the statute has been published in the local papers on several occasions.

Carlevale's appearance in court followed a fire early Saturday morning at his place of business on Boswell avenue. At that time it came to light that he was the proprietor of the supply company and investigation revealed the fact that he had not filed the required certificate. He was summoned to court Saturday afternoon by the local police.

STATE OFFICERS SPOKE TO REAL ESTATE BOARD

The Norwich real estate board held its annual meeting Monday noon at the Wauregan hotel with the entire membership present. The regular reports were received and accepted and the nomination of officers was postponed until the next meeting. Theodore F. Nuhn of Waterbury, president of the state association and Henry Musch, Jr., of New Haven, secretary of the state association, addressed the meeting on real estate matters.

CHIMNEY FIRE IN CHESTNUT ST. HOUSE

The fire department received an oral alarm at 7:15 o'clock Monday evening for a chimney fire in the house at 19 Willow street, a short distance from the central fire station. Several men from there responded with four chemical tanks and put out the blaze, using 12 gallons. The house is owned by Thomas Burns of 250 Broad street and occupied by Andrew Banker and family.

Oculists' prescriptions filled at half price.

Headaches and nervousness and other troubles far remote from the eyes are oft-times the direct result of an eye strain, which if corrected with the proper glass, would give immediate relief. It is not necessary for the eye to be sore to indicate their need of glasses. In many cases the eye may be perfectly healthy but glasses may be needed for the reasons which are only apparent to the physician or skilled oculist.

Caution about the Use and Selection of Spectacles

1. Persons having normal vision will be able to read this print at a distance of 14 inches from the eyes with ease and comfort; also will be able to read it with each eye separately. If unable to do so your eyes are defective and should have immediate attention. When the eyes become tired from reading or sewing, or if the letters look blurred and run together, it is a sure indication that glasses are needed. The lenses sold in the chain goods are of unequal density and have incorrectly formed surfaces. Continued use of these poorer lenses will result in positive injury from the constant strain upon the muscles of accommodation to supply the defects in the glass.

Put An End To Eczema Tortured Skin

Remedy That Costs But Little At Any Drug Store Never Disappoints.

When your skin itches and is fiery and eczema tortures you night and day why not go to your druggist and get a 35 cent box of Peterson's Ointment?

For many years its mighty healing power has been of great benefit to sufferers from eczema and we are sure that one box will prove it to you.

Read what Temple Carter of Gary, Ind., writes—It proves what a blessing Peterson's Ointment is for skin troubles.

"My whole face was ruined with livid splashes, blackheads and patches. I could get no relief from anything I used. After using the sample box of Peterson's Ointment the ugly skin began to disappear, so I got a box from my druggist. My skin is now like glass, smooth and clear, and I look like I did 15 years ago. With pleasure you are permitted to publish these wonderful results. I cannot praise Peterson's Ointment enough. I hope this will help all skin sufferers."

Thieves Get Into Filling Station.

The filling station conducted at Yantic by Roger Foote was broken into over Sunday night and a quantity of automobile accessories were stolen. The same thing has happened several times before at this station which is located near the railroad crossing. The state police were notified.

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect. To be beautiful and to keep youth the system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation which often causes dizzy spells. For 20 years, Dr. F. M. Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Known by their olive color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have sallow complexion, dull eyes, coated tongue, throbbing headaches—all signs that your bowels are clogged, liver is torpid. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. They act smoothly and without griping. How much better you'll feel and look! Everywh

CYGNET A. C. OF PORTCHESTER WILL SEND TEAM FOR DUWELL ROAD RACE

The first full team entry for the Duwell 19 mile road race to be run here on Memorial day, May 30, was received yesterday with word from East Portchester that "Bill" Kennedy, veteran marathoner and a full team from his club the Cygnet A. C., would positively appear in Norwich for the third annual event. The Cygnet team regarded as one of the strongest in the country, during the past few years has copped off the point trophies in practically all of the big runs from five miles to the marathon distance. In both 1926 and 27 Kennedy brought several of his athletes here but this year will be the first that a full regulation team will cover the Norwich course. Just who will accompany Kennedy is not known as yet but it probable that Ben Russell winner of second place last year and Laurence Michealson, brother of the famous "Whitey" Michealson will be among those present.

Whitey Michealson a former member of the Cygnet club is now running under the Milrose. A. A. colors out of New York city and may possibly be here should the Milrose A. A. accept the Duwel invitation. Frank Titterton, winner of the 1927 race is a member of the Milrose and has also been invited to run here again.

Kennedy Popular

The announcement that Bricklayer "Bill" Kennedy will appear here again, no doubt is good news to everyone as he has made hundreds of friends in this city and is well liked by everyone. Well over 40 years of age, Kennedy is making a hard struggle for an Olympic berth this year and the Duwell run will be one of the very few races other than the official Olympic tryouts in which he will take part this spring. The gray haired veteran was forced out of the B. A. A. marathon at Boston during the past week with a sore hip and is now looking forward to the Long Beach marathon, scheduled for early in May to redeem himself in the eyes of the Olympic committee. Bill won the Boston marathon in 1917, finished among the first five on several other occasions and last year romped home an easy third. Realizing that his running days will soon be over, he is putting everything into his final bid for the Olympics.

Local interest in the annual Duwell affair which reaches a fever heat during the final few days before the race each year is beginning to warm up and at this very early date there is every indication that the 1928 race, which will be run for the first time over a ten mile course, will be made bigger and better than ever through local co-operation.

Three Clubs Offer Help

Although the letters to the various organizations about the city asking for donations of prizes were only sent out last Monday, word has already been received from three different sources guaranteeing prizes. The Norwich lodge of Elks which for two years has donate a handsome bronze figure, at a meeting held last Thursday night voted to assist the Duwells again this year in arranging their prize list. The Robert O. Fletcher Post, No. 4, American Legion also a donor of prizes in 1926-27 has voted to again contribute the official American Legion gold medal as a prize. It is understood that the Legion will also make a special effort to have Clarence De Mar a member of the Melrose, Mass., American Legion run in the coming race. With co-operation such as this the 1928 Duwell race is bound to be a success.

POLYDOR WINS AT JAMAICA; FLY HAWK AT HAVRE DE GRACE

NEW YORK, April 23—(AP)—William Ziegler's Polydor, ridden by Mack Garner, galloped off with the Paumonok handicap, $5,000 added, feature event of the opening of the Metropolitan racing season at the Jamaica track today.

Apparently liking the heavy going, the son of Golden Broom showed the way over the six furlong route to Harry F. Sinclair's Rancocas stable entry, Sweepster, and R. L. Gerry's Parmaticus. Five other horses ran. The time was 1:14.

Despite a heavy rain, 5,000 attended. At Havre de Grace, William Haer's chestnut gelding, Fly Hawk, with L. Morris up, raced through a sea of mud to win the Hampton Roads handicap worth $1,500. Fly Hawk beat Prickly Heat to the wire by four lengths. The Sagram stable's Wandering Minstrel was third.

The Phoenix Hotel handicap, feature at Lexington, went to Luxembourg with Acirema, second, and Wildmount, third. Luxembourg, with S. Bond up, covered the Futurity course in 1:12 4-5.

Taking the lead at the start, Servant Seth captured the Elks handicap, feature of the second day's card of the Beulah Park spring meeting. Parole II, which won the Inaugural handicap Saturday, was second, a length ahead of Polar Sea. The winner ran the six and one-half furlongs in 1:21.

ENTRY BLANKS FOR COLLEGE CHAMPIONSHIPS MAILED

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 23—(AP)—Entry blanks for the 52nd annual I. C. 4 A. track and field championships at the Harvard stadium, May 25 and 26, were mailed today to the colleges of the association by B. T. Thompson, Jr., Harvard track manager. Ticket applications are being issued to 30,000 Harvard graduates and additional thousands are being sent to other alumni groups. This year an attempt will be made to seat the spectators by college groups.

PETE LATZO BEATS MARULLO IN LIGHT-HEAVY BOUT

NEW YORK, April 23—(AP)—Pete Latzo, doughty coal miner from Scranton, Penn., who once held the welterweight championship, whipped Tony Marullo, of New Orleans, in his ten round debut here tonight as a light heavyweight. Latzo weighed 165 1-2, Marullo 171.

A. A. U. Board Resigns At Bridgeport Meeting

BRIDGEPORT, April 23—(AP)—Asserting that the Connecticut A. A. U. does not truthfully care to carry out rules concerning amateur boxing and that the same rules cannot honestly be lived up to by individuals competing in the sport, the registration board of the state organization resigned in a body here tonight during a conference with President William J. Kennedy.

Joseph M. Wirtz, chairman of the board, who was the target of charges immediately after the lid was blown off the amateur situation here by the death of Aliff Ferguson, of Meriden in a bout here, was the first to resign and was followed by Mark Dunn, of Hartford and Louis E. McAvoy, of Portchester, the other members of the board.

The members in their individual resignations attack the board of governors for having seen "fit to consider various clubs under investigation as athletic clubs," despite proof that they were operated "purely on a commercial basis." This action of the board of governors came during a meeting in New Haven last Friday night.

It is also pointed out in the resignations that individual members of the registration board "cannot with amateur rules in mind, vote for a sanction to be issued to any of such clubs" that to their minds are commercial enterprizes.

President Kennedy announced after the meeting that a special meeting of the state body will be held shortly to elect a new registration board. He also announced that the five state champions said to have been ruled out by the national A. A. U. in the first move to clarify the amateur situation in this state, were really crossed off the lists by the resigned registration board.

AGGIES OPEN BASEBALL SEASON ON WEDNESDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, April 23—With the opening game of the season against Williams at Williamstown only two days away it seems almost certain that Willard C. Eddy '28 of Simsbury will start on the mound for the Connecticut Aggies. This will mark the third season that Eddy has pitched for the State College nine, and he is already hurling in good form.

The Aggies played a practice game with the Willimantic Town team Saturday, winning by a 6-2 score. Eddy twirled for five innings, during which time he was touched for only one hit, a two-bagger. Arthur V. Williams '28 of Danielson hurled the remaining four frames and was hit safely six times, all singles. Williams, it will be remembered, was converted from a catcher to a pitcher last season, and he gives promise of performing on the mound well for the Aggies this year.

Tombari At Short

Against Willimantic the Aggies made four errors, all in the infield. Coach Sumner Dole is working his inner defense hard in his efforts to have all in readiness for the opening game. At this writing it still looks as though Pinky McCombe at first, Dinty Moore at second, Walt Hooper at third, and Pheno Tombari at short will get the first call.

SINCLAIR'S HORSES AGAIN ELIGIBLE ON MARYLAND TRAC

BALTIMORE, April 23—(AP)—Race horses owned by Harry F. Sinclair were once more free to appear on Maryland tracks by action late today of the state racing commission.

A ruling which barred Sinclair's horses, including those of the Rancocas stable in which the oil man holds a part ownership, was rescinded by unanimous vote of the commission, as a result of Sinclair's acquittal of charges on which he was tried at Washington. Chairman James A. Latane and Jervis Spencer, Jr., democratic members of the commission, voted the resolution in a meeting today at which John F. Mudd, third member, was not present, but they announced that he had concurred in their action by telephone from Havre De Grace.

A letter to the four major tracks in the state, At Pimlico have De Grace, Bowie and Laurel, sent by the commission said:

"The recent trial of Harry F. Sinclair in Washington having resulted, in his acquittal of the charges against him, the ruling in regard to the starting of his horses contained in our letter to you or March 20, is hereby resigned."

ARMY AND ILLINOIS MEET ON GRIDIRON 1929-30

WEST POINT, N. Y., April 23—(AP)—The United States Military academy and the University of Illinois will play home and home football games in 1929 and 1930, it was announced officially here today.

The 1929 contest is to be played at the Illini stadium and the 1930 game either at West Point or New York city. Although both contests are to be staged in November, the exact dates have not yet been set.

Arrangements for the home-and-home series were made at a conference at Urbana, Ill., April 11, between representatives of the two institutions.

Formal approval of the negotiations was received yesterday from the secretary of war.

AL SCHOONER KAYOD BY GITLITZ IN FOURTH

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., April 23—(AP)—Murray Gitlitz, New Haven, knocked out Al Schooner, Hartford, light heavyweight, in the fourth round here tonight.

NO REPORT ON QUINN OR KOZIOL AT PRESS TIME

Up to 2.45 no word had been received from the Boston amateur boxing tournament about either Al Koziol or Jimmy Quinn, local fighters, who are striving for the national titles in the lightweight and featherweight classes, respectively, and the subsequent place on the American Olympic team. At press time, les sthan 50 of the scheduled 135 bouts for the first night had been fought.

'BOUT SPORTS

Exception is taken to a statement in the Bulletin recently that Warren high of Bridgeport lost three baseball games last spring. In fairness to this school the Bulletin today publishes a letter to that effect in the hope of rectifying any wrong. Harding, of late, has become one of the Academy's greatest rivals.

The letter follows:

Sports Editor:

I have noticed with great interest the very fine sporting page which you have in the Bulletin, and also how well you cover the high school events, not only in your own city, but throughout the state. Your paper is on file in our public library and I know our pupils read it as any other.

You made a statement in your high school column yesterday which is incorrect. Our baseball team did not lose two games last year, besides the game which we lost to Norwich Free Academy. Our only defeat was the one at Norwich on Memorial Day when we lost by a score of 4-3. We won eighteen out of nineteen games, and defeated such teams as Crosby; Commercial; Hillhouse, 10-3; Central, 2-0 and 9-4; Stamford, 10-5; Naugatuck, 8-0; Wilby, 11-0; and the strong Greenwich team, their only high school loss of the season, 12-4.

After the game in Norwich it was agreed by both schools to play a series of three games between Norwich and Harding for the championship of the state. Hillhouse was not included because they had lost to Harding and one other team; Naugatuck. Two days later Norwich called us on the phone and asked to call off this championship series because some members of their team had been in a serious automobile accident. Under the circumstances, we gladly agreed to this arrangement, and the championship of the state was really left unsettled. Of course, Harding at this end of the state, naturally claimed the championship, and Norwich claimed it at that end of the state.

In determining the championship the character of the opponents, the place where the game is played, and the number of games on the schedule should be taken into consideration. We played many of our games away from home, while I understand that the Norwich team played the majority of their games on their home field.

We are bringing these facts to your attention because we know that your paper receives the recognition throughout the state. We are grateful for the consideration you have given us in the past, and will be glad to cooperate with you in every way in the future.

Enclosed you will find a schedule of our activities for the spring.

Very truly yours,
J. M. RICKER,
Directors of Athletics

RUTH BY IDLENESS, DROPS TO LAST PLACE IN "BIG SIX"

(By The Associated Press)

A day of rest forced on him by the weather put Babe Ruth in last place in the "Big Six" standing. Harry Heilmann's one hit in three times at bat gave him a tie for third place with Kiki Cuyler, one point ahead of the Babe. Cuyler failed to hit safely in three attempts. The leaders, Cobb and Hornsby, were also idle because of the weather but their positions remain unchanged.

Getting three hits in five trips to the plate, Paul Waner advanced into the .300 class but failed to disturb the two leaders.

The standing to date:

	G	AB	R	H	Pct.
Heilmann, Tigers	13	48	6	10	.208
Ruth, Yankees	8	29	7	6	.207
Cobb, Athletics	6	27	3	12	.444
Hornsby, Braves	7	28	8	11	.393
P. Waner, Pirates	9	40	6	13	.325
Cuyler, Cubs	13	48	4	10	.208

GRANVILE AND GARDNER LEAD "BUNION" RUNNERS

WAYNESVILLE, Mo., April 23—(AP)—Two Negroes, Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., and Ed Gardner, Seattle, paced the transcontinental foot racers into the 51st control here today.

Their time for the 51.9 miles from Conway was 7:42:06, Granville, the fourth place man in the race has covered 1936.9 miles in 366:16:05, and Gardner, fifth place man, has done the same distance in 367:13:34.

Oill Wenttinen, New York, was third in 7:53:09 and his elapsed time is 372:37:31. Giusto Umek, Italian champion, romped in fourth in 8:04:51, elapsed time 377:30:20.

Louis Perrella, Albany, N. Y., was fifth in 8:29:04, elapsed time 371:13:17.

Mike Joyce, Cleveland, and John Cronick, Saskatoon, finished in a dead heat for sixth place in 8:47:56. Joyce's elapsed time was 369:12:05 and Cronick's 376,09:07.

Samuel Richman, New York, came in in 8:56:34 and his elapsed time was 551:10:25.

STONINGTON HAS MANY VETS FOR GAME HERE TOMORROW

The Academy had no practice Monday because of the cold and dampness. Weather permitting, the team will get out today for their last workout before the Stonington game Wednesday here at the campus.

Stonington comes with practically an all-veteran team, which opened its season impressively Saturday by beating South Kingstown 13 to 2. She has high hopes of winning over the Red and White, something which in fact is desired by many and many schools.

The Academy has fared rather poorly this school year in her athletic relations with Stonington, losing the one football game and twice in basketball. The Wildcats' only victory came in cross-country.

Neither starting pitcher has been announced as yet but it seems likely that Lloyd Jarvis will take his regular turn on the mound for the locals while Roever or Godomsky are practically certain to be the chief aspirants for the Stonington hurling assignment.

Hillies Drop Pat Shea

PITTSFIELD, Mass., April 23—(AP)—Pat Shea, former New York National pitcher, was released by the Pittsfield club of the Eastern league today. Shea failed to round into form quickly enough to impress Manager John Collins, who preferred to take a chance on a younger pitcher.

McGorgary Wins

NEW YORK, April 23—(AP)—Babe McGorgary, of Oklahoma, won a judge's decision over Anedee Dubus, of Belgium, in the ten round feature bout at the New Broadway Arena tonight. McGorgary weighed 170; Dubus 155 1-2.

CARDS REPLACE PIRATES AS FAVORITES

NEW YORK, April 23—(AP)—Although major league regulations against betting have been made so drastic that club owners are not permitted to wager a hat on the outcome of a game or series, the unrestricted fan is still taking a chance with his money.

$1,000 Ruth Won't Hit 50

A Wall Street firm today reported a wager of $1,000 at even money that Babe Ruth will not hit 50 home runs this season. At the same time shifting odds were reported on the two pennant races as a result of the first ten days of play.

Favored to repeat before the season opened, the Pittsburgh Pirates have been lengthened to 3 1-2 to 1. The same figure quoted against the New York Giants, with the St. Louis Cardinals installed as favorite as 2 to 1. Four to one is being offered against the Chicago Cubs with the Cincinnati Reds held at 8 to 1. Brooklyn is quoted at 10 to 1, Boston at 25 to 1 and the Phillies the longest shot of all at 100 to 1.

Although Cleveland is leading the American league, Wall Street bettors think the Indians are a 6 to 1 while the Philadelphia Athletics, bringing up the rear at the moment, are 2 1-2 to 1.

Yanks At 4 to 5

The Yankees continue an odds-on favorite at four to five with Washington 4 to 1 and Detroit 10 to 1.

The sprightly start of the St. Louis Browns has cut the odds on them to 15 to 1. Chicago is marked up at 20 to 1 and the Boston Red Sox at 100 to 1.

HARRY DEVINE WINS FIRST BOUT IN 126-POUND CLASS AT BOSTON MEET

ARENA, Boston, April 23—(AP)—Tommy Lown, of New York, the national 147 pound amateur boxing champion, satrted impressively here tonight in the A. A. U. national tournament by scoring a speedy knockout with Frankie Miller, of Buffalo as his victim.

Without wasting any time, Lown stepped outside of one of Miller's rigid hooks and landed a terrific left hook on the Buffalo boy's jaw. Miller dropped for the full count. When Lown entered the ring nine other pairs of 147 pounders had displayed their wares and it was evident that the champion would have but little difficulty in retaining his title.

The 147 pounders were the boys that displayed the fighting spirit and each of the bouts at that weight was filled with action. Charles McDonnell, a clever youth from San Francisco, appeared the most formidable of those trying to uncrown Tommy Lown. The San Francisco boy had but little difficulty in beating Eddie Burke of Chicago, but revealed that he had nothing resembling a knockout punch.

Ensign John A. Charlson, of the U. S. Naval academy, appeared to be the best of the 135 pound class. He drew Robert B. Beattie of the U. S. Military academy as his first opponent and he dropped the cadet for the full count with a right cross to the jaw in the first round. The navy boy had softened the army battler with a similar punch but an instant before. George Russo, the New England 135 pound champion, showed up well in his bout with Emery Arnett, of the University of Washington. Russo was awarded the decision for his aggressive attack.

Worcester Boy Has Little Trouble

In the 126 pound class, Chester Karston, of Grand Rapids, Mich., had but little trouble eliminating Peter Pecora, of Buffalo, N. Y., and Harry Devine, of Worcester, the New England champion, dispatched Ralph Johns, of San Francisco, with little trouble.

Frankie Flynn, of Boston, New England's 160 pound champion, started well by defeating Frank Fallan, of New York. Another New England champion who fared well was Gene Bianco, of Boston, the 112 pound titlist. He defeated A. Iovlano, of Pittsburgh. Clifford Doetzel, St. Louis, 112 pounder, proved he was a capable performer by outpointing Ted Miller, of the University of Florida.

The tournament opened at 4 o'clock and seven hours later 33 bouts of the 135 scheduled for tonight had been run off. There were nine knockouts and one bout ended suddenly because of a foul.

HOPPE LEAD JOHNNY LAYTON AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, April 23—(AP)—Willie Hoppe of New York had a 100 to 92 lead over Johnny Layton of St. Louis, national three-cushion billiard champion, at the end of the second block of their 600-point three-cushion exhibition match tonight.

Layton took the first block today, 50 to 44, but Hoppe overtook him tonight. The match is being played in blocks of 50 points each and will end Saturday night.

Interscholastic Sports

This weather is not so good for the high schools to get started on their spring activities.

However, with the hope that it will much improve within the next few days, the Academy and Chapman plan to open the eastern Connecticut track season Friday at Morgan park, New London.

The first baseball game between these schools this season comes Saturday, also at Morgan park.

Windham plays Putnam high Thursday afternoon for its second game of the season.

Chapman Tech has been idle since April 7, when she lost to Deep River. She had a game scheduled for the 14th with Pratt high, but rain interfered.

The Academy faces two of its six league games this week, with Stonington here tomorrow and Chapman Tech there Saturday.

MAYS GETS DECISION OVER VALGER

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Conn., April 23—Cagey Old Benny Valger the veteran lightweight of New York took a ten round trouncing from Bobby Mays the New England champion at the Thames A. C. show at Lyceum hall tonight, before a record house. It was easily apparent that the New Yorker is sticking to the fight game purely for the monetary remuneration and not for any glory as he did in the days gone by. Bobby was swinging on the gate when Benny first donned his gloves, and the way Valger fights there is probably some child now playing marbles in the back yard that will some day grow up to fight him. Benny manages to take pretty good care of himself in the ring, takes few chances and doesn't care about taking any championships away from some rising young fighter.

The semi-final bout lasted two rounds and would have ended sooner if Young Raymond of the Coast Guard had stopped running in his fight with Jimmy Rossi of Westerly.

The second preliminary between Kid Wagner of New London and Pete Aquinaldo of the Coast Guard was the bout of the evening and for down-right fighting has never been equaled in a New London ring.

Gene Pecheeni of Norwich won by a big margin over Lou Murphy of New York in the opener.

The Main Go

Bobby started the fighting, did most of it, and won the decision, on aggressiveness and willingness. Valger took it easy and was content to bring in a short right to the jaw while in close. Occasionally he led with a sweeping left to the body and then stepped back. There is no doubt Mays is a hard man to fight, but with all the experience that Benny has had he didn't seem to get in many hard blows. Bobby kept on top of him throughout; leading with his right and bringing in his left to the body or face and had Valger backing up a good part of the time. Mays' snapped in his right when Valger least expected it although the blows did not hurt the veteran and he saw to it that many of them landed on the arms or shoulders. Mays had an edge in most of the rounds, and everybody was satisfied to see him win although it was a rather uninteresting bout.

Raymond Quits

Young Raymond, the southpaw Coast Guardsman, seemed frightened to death of Jimmie Rossi, and although he managed to slip one or two rights to Jimmie's jaw he bicycled away with Rossi hot on his trail. Jimmie managed to catch up with him, shot a right to his jaw and down went Raymond for a nine count. From then on he was on the floor the most of the remainder of the fight, going down every time Rossi hit him. After the sixth down and in the third round the referee stepped in and declared a halt which satisfied Raymond and the crowd. He weighed 157 to Rossi's 155 1-4 pounds.

A Tough Battle

The battle between Wagner and Aquinaldo had the fans in a uproar and it was mighty unfortunate that it had to end the way it did. Two battlers never went at it any harder. It was rumored that it was to be a grudge affair and there was certainly no doubt of it. They threw all caution and preliminaries to the winds and drove rights to each other's head and body. Wagner caught the Philipino with a terrific right to the jaw in the first round and Aquinaldo went down for the count of two, but hopped up and kept fighting back. In the second round he dropped Wagner and had the New London boy rather tired at the bell. Again in the third he set Wagner down but the kid came back strong to earn an even round. From the fourth round on, Wagner took the lead and had an edge until the referee disqualified Aquinaldo in the sixth for butting after warning him several times. It was certainly a great fight and everyone present hope to see them in action again. Wagner weighed 127 and Aquinaldo 128 1-2.

Pecheeni Plasters Murphy

Gene Pecheeni looked good in disposing of Lou Murphy. The latter had a nice left jab, a lot of gameness and that was all. Pecheeni landed with everything and had Murphy in bad shape in the third round but seemed unable to bring over the finisher. He had the New York lad down three times in the last round and the referee was counting over him when the final bell rang, this robbing the Norwich boy of a genuine K. O. although there is no doubt he would have finished him in another minute.

Jigger McCarthy refereed and Sid Taylor kept time. Even the bad weather did not keep the fans away and another show with a less careful fighter against Mays, a return match between Wagner and Aquinaldo, and a rough and tough man for Rossi should continue to keep them coming.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 23—(AP)—The big international whirl for 1928 is beginning to take on definite color and shape as the American talent either heads for foreign fields of action or starts mobilizing at home.

In the vanguard of the tennis troupe is Helen Wills, acknowledge queen of the courts, now on her way to France, accompanied by Penelope Anderson for a tour that will take them through four or five countries before the main climax at Wimbledon.

They will be joined later by other American stars for the Wightman cup matches while the Davis cup team, granting success at home, will be taking up the battle on French soil.

Jones Absent But Many to Fill In

The golf brigade is on its way over for the British open. Bobby Jones, after two successive triumphs abroad won't be among those present for this classic but the talen from the United States will be well represented by Walter Hagen, Jim Barnes, Tommy Armour, Bill Mehlhorn and Gene Sarazen—a group that holds all the major titles on this side of the water not possessed by Jones.

Hagen not only will attempt to repeat his victories of 1922 and 1924 in the British open but also seek the scalps of Archie Compston and Aubrey Boomer, two of Britain's best, in special matches. "The Haig" likes competition and will get lots of it.

Meanwhile, at home, the Walker cup team has just been selected for the tussle with the British at Chicago later this summer. It is headed by Jones, Von Elm, Sweetser, Evans and Ouimet, five seasoned stars who have shared eight national amateur championships among them. Britain never has won the Walker cup and will have anything but an easy task trying to upset this all-star American group. The other members of which are Watts Gunn, Roland Mackenzie and Harrison Johnston.

There doesn't seem to be much prospect that any woman tennis player in Europe will stop the sweep of Helen Wills. At 22, the California girl has developed the hardest-hitting game feminine ranks have ever known. When, as she demonstrated, she can frequently hold her own and occasionally defeat men players of the "top ten" there isn't much doubt of the power of her game.

By now Miss Wills is nearly as much at home on European courts as she is in the United States. She was undefeated anywhere last year. In fact she dropped only one set in singles all season. That was to Miss Gwyneth Sterry, the young English star at Wimbledon, but it was just a passing lapse.

Helen Wills May Meet Stiff Tests

The American and Wimbledon champion may meet keener opposition than she did last year but her own game, competent critics agreed, is a notch or two higher. There will be keenest interest perhaps in how beaming Betty Nuthall, 17-year-old English star fares against Miss Wills! Senorita de Alvarez, Eileen Bennett, Miss Sterry and Elizabeth Ryan, the veteran American star, are others who may at least make it interesting for the Californian.

There will be plenty for the American tourist to chee rabout abroad this year—first and probably at Sandwich for the British open, again at Wimbledon during the tennis tournament, possibly at Paris for the Davis cup challenge round and unquestionably at Amsterdam, where the big Olympic jamboree will be on in full blast from July 28 to August 12.

There's hardly a sport worth cataloguing in which America won't take a conspicuous part somewhere in Holland, France or England this summer.

KREMER GIVES BUT THREE HITS AND PIRATES WIN

CHICAGO, April 23—(AP)—The Cubs were unable to connect with Ray Kremer's invincible pitching today and the Pirates took a 6 to 0 victory.

Only three hits were made off Kremer. Malone pitched eight innings for Chicago and struck out seven. Wright hit a long ball into center field bleachers for a home run in the first inning. Score:

OWEN CARROLL BLANKS CHI. SOX WITH FIVE HITS

DETROIT, April 23—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers shut out the Chicago White Sox 3 to 0, delivering flashy infield support to Owen Carroll, former Holy Cross pitcher in the second game of the series here today. It was Carroll's second victory of the season and the Tigers' second shutout.

Cissell's wild throw to the plate in the eighth, inning let in two of the Tigers runs after Sweeney had scored on Gehringer's sacrifice in the third.

REACTIONARY MARKET RESULTS IN ALARM OVER CREDIT SITUATION

NEW YORK, April 23—(AP)—Pronounced reactionary tendencies developed in today's stock market on selling inspired by speculative uneasiness over the credit situation. Although a number of alls, rails and specialties were bid up in rather impressive fashion, final quotations disclosed a long list of net declines ranging from 1 to 12 1-2 points. Total sales ran slightly above 2,500,000 shares.

Raising of the St. Louis Federal Reserve rediscount rate over the week end and the advance in the Richmond bank rate today, coupled with an increase in call money from 4 3-4 to 5 per cent stimulated heavy profit-taking by both large and small traders, and a resumption of bear attacks against supposedly vulnerable issues. Pools apparently sold heavily on some of the recent speculative favorites.

Acute weakness of the tobacco shares, based on a sharp cut in cigarette prices by some of the leading manufacturers, was one of the day's features. Liggett & Myers A and B broke 12 1-2 and 9 1-2 points, respectively. American Tobacco issues fell about 9 points each; Lorillard 8 1-4 and Reynolds Tobacco B 3 1-2. Final prices were around the lowest of the day, despite the reassuring statement of President Hill of the American Tobacco company that lower prices invariably have resulted in larger profits through increased sales.

General Motors and General Electric each broke about 5 points to 183 5-8 and 161, respectively, closing near the bottom. U. S. Steel common showed a net loss of 1 3-8 at 144 1-4. Radio opened 7 points higher at 179, dropped to 170 and rallied to 173 1-2.

Selling pressure also was quite effective against such issues as American Hide & Leather preferred, American Machine & Foundry, Baldwin Locomotive, Collins & Aikman, Dunhill International, Dupont, Electric Auto Lite, Greene Cananea Copper, Ludlum Steel, Standard Milling, Union Carbide and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, all off 3 to 10 points.

New York tractions were strong in the early trading on buying influenced by expectations of a favorable U. S. court decision on the application for a 7 cent fare, but sold off later. Hudson & Manhattan ran up over 6 points to a new top at 68 5-8 and then sold down to 66 1-4. Several of the oils also were in brisk demand, Mexican Seaboard advancing more than 4 points to a new peak at 27 3-4. A. M. Byers, Union Tank Car and Southern Dairies B also were conspicuously strong.

Delaware & Hudson was the feature of the railroad group, soaring nearly 23 points to a new 1928 high at 215 1-2 on buying influenced by unconfirmed rumors of a guaranteed dividend when the eastern consolidation plan is approved. New York & Harlem issues soared about 30 points each in odd lot trading.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were slightly easier, Sterling Cables being quoted around $4.88 7-32.

With the exception of sugar futures which held steady, most of the leading commodity markets pointed upward. Wheat futures advanced nearly a cent a bushel on unfavorable weather reports. Cotton showed net gains of 6 to 11 points with bad weather the chief market influence. Coffee prices showed slight gains.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, April 23—(AP)—Fractional irregularity ruled the bond market today, but there was a firm undertone despite tightening credit conditions. Increase of the Richmond Federal Reserve bank's rediscount rate, the fourth raise in less than a week, contributed to a feeling of hesitancy and some profit-taking. While time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged, there was a rather wide belief that an advance of the New York rediscount charge this week, or next, was likely.

A moderate amount of realizing was apparent in several high grade issues which have been selling close to high record prices. Central Pacific 4s were offered rather freely, and Chesapeake Corporation 5s fell back fractionally after duplicating their previous high at par. There were a few bonds of this class, however, which moved forward, including Rock Island 4s, and Delaware & Hudson 4s.

St. Paul bonds were traded in heavily, but at fractionally lower prices. Nearly $2,000,000 of the two 4 per cent issues changed hands. Seaboard liens lost ground. Recently popular New York Traction Mortgages were in demand in the early dealings, but gains were reduced in late selling. Convertible bonds, particularly Anaconda Copper 7s, again rose briskly. Park-Lexington Lease 6 1-2s, which leaped into prominence last week sold at 101 1-4, the first time this year they have crossed par.

The market for foreign obligations was broad, but there were few outstanding features. United Kingdom 4s, listed last week, were quoted in eights of a point instead of 32nds, as heretofore.

United States government securities generally were firm, with a few soft spots in the treasury group.

Public offering probably will be made Wednesday of $50,000,000 Cities Service company 5s. Prompt oversubscription was reported of the $5,000,000 Agricultural Mortgage Bank (Colombia) 6s, offered this morning.

First quarter profit of Piggly Wiggly Western States Co. rose to $104,561 from $84,482 in the first quarter last year.

Business of the Otis Elevator company is keeping up surprisingly well, W. D. Baldwin, chairman, reported to stockholders. While there has been a falling off in business in certain sections, increases in others have more than compensated for these declines, he said. Directors were re-elected.

W. S. Barston, president of General Gas & Electric informed stockholders that operating results thus far this year were satisfactory and he expected another favorable year with further steady improvement in the system's operations and results. Directors were re-elected.

Volume of miscellaneous freight and general merchandise on the Lehigh Valley railroad is coming back to normal, says E. E. Loomis, president. The recovery of business was slow compared with former years, he said, but expected the current year to be normal. Anthracite dealers were making a more vigorous effort to sell their product and the movement of this commodity was improving slowly. April earnings should show improvement over previous months, he said.

The cotton exchange memberships of C. W. Shepard and W. C. Hicks were bought by Malcolm E. Deacon today for $29,500 and $28,700 respectively.

The Union Pacific is now the largest holder of Baltimore & Ohio railroad stock with 52,141 common shares in addition to its preferred holdings. The road owned 35,941 shares of B. & O. common and 8,360 preferred prior to the offer to stockholders of record June 30, 1927, to subscribe to the extent of 30 per cent of their holdings to 632,425 shares of additional common at $17.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, April 23—(AP)—Drought-stricken wheat in large sections of Nebraska, Oklahoma and Kansas showed no moisture relief today, and wheat prices here took a decided upward swing. Other crop reports, both domestic and foreign, were also bullish, and especially as to states east of the Mississippi, but profit-taking sales brought about reactions as the day drew to an end.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 1-2c to 1 1-8c net higher, with corn 1 1-4c to 1 1-2c up, oats 1-8c to 1-2c off, and provisions at a rise of 12 to 32c.

About the most pessimistic crop news received today came from a leading Chicago authority who said in a dispatch dated North Platte, Neb., that throughout the western third of Nebraska more than 1,000,000 acres are in a critical condition, and that if rains there are delayed much longer the wheat crop on that amount of land will be a total loss.

Bullish sentiment due to drought news was intensified by an official forecast of continued dry weather and by announcement that Poland had withdrawn restrictions on imports. Moreover, the condition of winter wheat in Germany was reported to be at only 84 per cent of a ten-year average, the lowest level at this time since 1922. It was also current talk that spring seeding has been delayed over most Europe.

Corn sympathized with wheat strength, July and September corn establishing a new top-price record for the season. Weather was generally too cool for corn planting. The corn visible suply total decreased 2,672,000 bu. for the week, and is now 37,383,000 bu., against 40,171,000 bu. a year ago. Liquidating sales both of old and new July oats unsettled the oats market.

Houses with eastern connections were fair buyers of lard, and this circumstance gave an upward trend to meats as well, despite a sag in hog values.

THE CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, April 23—(AP)—Prices sagged on the curb market today. Apprehension over the credit situation generally and an increase in the call money rate in particular furnished the impetus for the selling movement, which was augmented by the bearish influence of the "big board." A few scattered issues moved against the trend, but the close found all groups lower.

Philip Morris issues declined on announcement of a reduction in cigarette prices. Bancitaly slumped more than a point and losses as great as 6 points were sustained by Tubize Art Silk, Deere & Co., Ruberoid, International Shoe, General Baking, American Rolling Mills and others.

Some of the chain store issues, such as Neisner Brothers, Interstate Department Stores and Sanitary Grocers, made substantial gains. Baxter Laundry A., American Solvents, Hugo Stinnes, Seiberling Rubber and New Jersey Zinc touched new peaks.

The motor and accessory shares generally closed lower, Auburn Auto losing nearly 3 points and Marmon 1. Marvel Carbureto and Brockway Motor Truck, however, reached higher ground.

Losses as great as 5 points appeared in the utility group. Electric Bond & Share resisted selling early in the day, but was forced down more than a point before the close. United Electric Certificates advanced to a new high territory.

Gains of the pipe lines and a few oils were outstanding. Darby Petroleum reached a new peak on expectations its forthcoming 1927 report would be favorable. Improved business conditions brought buying support to the pipe lines, lifting Eureka, Southern and others to higher levels. Gulf, Humble, Standard of Kentucky and Prairie Oil recovered after early weakness and advanced 1 to 23 points. Penn Mex. Fuel sagged about 4 points.

LEGAL NOTICES

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the District of Norwich, on the 23rd day of April, A. D. 1928.

Present, NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

Estate of George A. Gardner, late of Norwich, in said District, deceased.

Mary I. Gardner, of Norwich, Conn., appeared in Court and filed a petition praying for the reasons therein set forth, that an instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased be admitted to probate.

Whereupon, it is Ordered, That said petition be heard and determined at the Probate Court Room in the City of Norwich, in said District, on the 27th day of April, A. D. 1928, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, and that notice of the pendency of said petition, and of said hearing thereon, be given by the publication of this order one time in some newspaper having a circulation in said District at least three days prior to the date of said hearing and that return be made to this Court.

NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.
Attest: HELEN M. DRESCHER, Clerk.

CAPT. H. G. HAMLET, U. S. C. G. RECALLED FROM FLORIDA TO NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, April 23—Capt. H. G. Hamlet, commandant of the local coast guard force, will take command of the forces of this city at an early date. The captain, with his wife, has been spending the winter in Florida. Telegraphic orders which left this city today recall the captain to this port. In replying to the orders, he stated that upon his return here he would take command of the flagship Argus. For several months Captain Hamlet has been in charge of a fleet of government boats waging warfare against the rum runners off the Florida coast. During his command here more than 100 rum runners were seized in the locality patrolled by his command.

WILLIAM STINSON'S DEATH AT HIS HOME IN GROTON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 23—William Stinson, 68, who died Saturday night at his residence, 443 Thames street, Groton, had been ill for some time. He is survived by his wife, two sons, William E. Stinson, Mystic, and Joseph F. Stinson, Hartford; four daughters, Mrs. Mary Ricetti, Palmer, Mass., Mrs. Henry Beers, Jewett City, Mrs. Burton W. Jopson, of Norwich, and Mrs. Frederick Grant, of Hartford. A brother Edward Stinson, Westerly, and a sister, Mrs. Louise Taylor, of Norwich, also survive. Mr. Stinson was born in Stonington, Feb. 3, 1860, the son of Joseph and Phoebe Ellson Stinson, and for 18 months had been employed as the day watchman by the New London Ship & Engine company.

The funeral of Haldor E. Hansen, of Sherman street, was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at 48 Shapley street, the services being conducted by Rev. W. B. Chapman. The bearers were Lawrence, Theodore and Olaf Olsen and Lars Larsen. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

Mrs. Nelson Brown, of Noank; Mrs. Archibald Chester and infant son, 29 Broad street, Groton; Mrs. Walter Church, and infant son Oakdale; Mrs. Frederick Holland, Stonington; Miss Annie Sankow, Lyme; Miss Mary Ford, 495 Ocean avenue; Mrs. William Ryon, Mystic; Frank Johnson, Oakdale; Mrs. Ebert Barnes, Groton; Mrs. Stephen Tilly, Essex; Miss Jane McCourt, Stonington and Harold Roach, U. S. C. G. destroyer McDougal, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were discharged Sunday and today.

Michael J. Lynch, 45, son of Patrick J. Lynch, of 3 Harrison street, died Saturday at the City hospital, Boston, where he had been a patient about a week, for heart disease. Besides his father, Mr. Lynch is survived by his wife, Lillian, two brothers, John Lynch of Bridgeport and David Lynch of this city, and by a sister, Mrs. Mary A. Twiles, this city. Mr. Lynch went to Boston about ten days ago to visit his wife and it was while there that he suffered from a weakened condition of the heart. When Mr. Lynch's condition did not respond to medical treatment he was taken to the hospital. Mr. Lynch was employed for 20 years in the Central Vermont Railroad freight service and was a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Railroad Veterans' association.

Morris G. Furth, 90, died Sunday night at his residence, 19 Prospect street, after a lingering illness. Mr. Furth had long been incapacitated because of infirmities resulting from his advanced years. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. James N. Sterry, of this city. Mr. Furth for many years and until his health declined, was employed as a sewing machine salesman.

Bernard P. Clark, 53, died Saturday night at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. James O'Neill, 28 Morse avenue. He is survived by his wife and five daughters, Mrs. O'Neill and Misses Mary, Lillian, Bernadine and Frances Clark of this city, and by a son, James Clark of Hartford. A brother, James Clark, of Hartford, also survives. Mr. Clark was born in Brooklyn and had been employed as a machinist by the New London Ship and Engine company.

John Lane and Rose Daniels were married Sunday by Rev. Sinclair Grimstead, pastor of the Shiloh Baptist church.

Joseph Curtis, of Douglass street and Laura Fulford of 18 Stony Hill, both colored, were jointly charged with intoxication and breach of the peace in the police court today. The case against Curtis was disposed of a fine of $10 and costs being imposed, but in the case of the Fulford woman a continuance was ordered until next Thursday. Curtis could not pay his fine and costs and was remanded to jail. Curtis and Mrs. Fulford, who is a widow were together Saturday afternoon and they enjoyed each other's companionship to the extent that they drank freely of liquor when they went to North Bank street, ostensibly to go to a Douglass street house, the couple engaged in a row when approaching the house. When Curtis struck the woman, the latter went to the highway and arming herself with stones she started throwing them at Curtis. None of them reached their mark, but Curtis continued to attack the woman, inflicting a number of bruises and a laceration of the ear. While the battle was at its height, the police were notified and Acting Sergeant Augustus Ray and Automobile Patrol Officer Clarence Martin arrived and arrested the pair.

Frank Corcoran was presented on a charge of theft and intoxication, the former charge being noiled as there was not sufficient evidence upon which to establish a conviction. Corcoran and Daniel Reidy were at the home of Annie Cuddy, on Potter street Saturday and all had been drinking. During the stay of Corcoran at the house a coat was stolen and Corcoran being accused of the theft, he was arrested by Patrolman Clarence Wells. A short time after Corcoran had been locked in a cell, the Cuddy woman and Reidy went to police headquarters and endeavored to obtain the prisoner's release. Today, when there was no evidence in the possession of Prosecutor Danie M. Cronin, that official moved for a nolle of the theft charge, which was granted and Corcoran was fined on the drunkenness charge. However, Corcoran admitted the theft of the coat and said that he sold the garment for $2 to someone he did not know.

Organization of junior branch of the Loyal Order of Moose took place yesterday afternoon at Moose hall, in the presence of more than 200. Installation ceremonies were in charge of Mrs. Margaret Dahl, of Waterbury, deputy grand regent of the grand lodge of Mooseheart legion.

Miss Mattie Goss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Goss, of New street, became the bride Saturday night of Arthur Daniels, son of James Daniels, of Bishop street. The ceremony took place at the parish house of the First Baptist church, Rev. Chester C. Howe officiating. Following the ceremony, the parents of the bride held a reception at their home, at which over 50 guests were present.

Members of Murphy-Rathbun post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, held a meeting Saturday night in Union lodge rooms. Over 200 guests were present. The party was a masquerade and the costumes proved extremely interesting to the guests. Prizes were won for the best comic costume by Mrs. William Nichols and Carl Williams, both of New London. The prize was a $2.50 gold piece.

At the entertainment given the juniors of Connecticut college Saturday afternoon by the members of the 1928 graduating class, over 200 students were in attendance. Miss Eleanor Woods, of Philadelphia, opened the ceremonies and complimented the undergraduates on the manner in which they have conducted themselves during the past scholastic session. The reception was followed by a banquet at the Mohican. Over 200 persons attended the affair.

As foretold in Saturday's Bulletin, motor traffic on Bank street, between Tilley and State streets, was closed today. Work of laying the double track of the Connecticut Power company which began Saturday morning, necessitated the discontinuance of traffic over the route. Trolley service ceased there Friday and at that time it was predicted that auto traffic would be diverted from that thoroughfare. Repair work on this street will be completed within 30 days according to estimates of the city manager.

CITY TREASURER HUNTLEY TO WED MISS BACHERT

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 23—City Treasurer Herbert J. Huntley will retire from the role of bachelor this week for he will wed Miss Elsa Bachert, of Connecticut avenue, for several years employed as typist by Attorney Arthur B. Calkins. Saturday night, a number of Mr. Huntley's friends tendered him a bachelor dinner at O'Leary's. The affair was entirely informal and during the course of the evening Mr. Huntley was presented a handsome traveling bag.

FRAUD CHECK-PASSER BROUGHT FROM PITTSFIELD

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 23—Arthur Bradford, wanted in New London on two charges of passing fraudulent checks, will be presented in the police court tomorrow morning. Detective Sergeant Nelson Smith is en route with the prisoner from Pittsfield, Mass., to New London tonight. There is no doubt that the officer and his prisoner will reach here during the night, for Sergeant Smith went to Pittsfield this morning to take charge of Bradford. Bradford was in New London last February, at which time he negotiated checks of no value on the City Coal company, Bank street, and the Walkover Shoe store, State street. At the coal office a check was tendered calling for the payment of about $60. Bradford ordered a ton of coal to be delivered at a specified address on Franklin street. The check was cashed, with the price of the coal deducted, but when a truckman went to deliver the coal at the address given, it was found that there was no such address. Bradford then went to the shoe store, where he purchased a pair of shoes and in payment tendered a check of about $50. Three days after the transactions the checks were returned to the negotiators with the information that they were worthless; the checks were drawn on the New London City National bank and Bradford did not have an account there. Several days afterwards the New London police ascertained that a crook had perpetrated a similar trick in Pittsfield and had been arrested. An investigation by the New London police revealed that Bradford was the same crook who operated here. In the Pittsfield court Bradford was given 90 days in the house of correction. His term expired yesterday and as a warrant had been sent to the prison authorities at Pittsfield, Bradford was detained until the arrival of Sergeant Smith this forenoon.

Miss Mildred F. May, a senior at Lesley Normal school, Cambridge, Mass., has spent the vacation at her home, 53 Montauk avenue.

Chief Thomas Shipman of the New London fire department today had Box 312, which has been located on Pearl street, transferred to the big telephone pole, corner of Green and Pearl streets, where it is more conspicuous than in its previous location.

Patrolman William Riordan today reported the existence of several dangerous places in the highway on Williams street, between Main street and Mohegan avenue. The city recently contracted for the widening of the street between those points and with the work already in course of construction, depressions have been made in the highway which are dangerous to auto drivers. The defective places were reported to the highway department.

Leonard Hansen, a stranger, was in the police court today, charged with train riding. He was not penalized, being given his discharge. Hansen was detected Sunday afternoon stealing a ride on a Central Vermont freight and was arrested by Special Agent S. J. Ploof.

TODAY'S EVENTS

One hundred and fifty years ago today occurred the historic battle between the American ship Ranger and the British ship Drake.

In three states—Ohio, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts—primaries will be held today for the choice of delegates to the two national conventions.

In Pennsylvania the voters also will name candidates for United States senator for the seat now occupied by David A. Reed, republican.

Primaries will be held in Alaska today for the election of delegates to represent the voters of that territory in the national conventions.

Republicans of Oklahoma are to hold their state convention today to elect four delegates-at-large to the national convention at Kansas City.

Kansas democrats in convention today will elect 20 delegates to the Houston convention and Nevada republicans will choose nine delegates to Kansas City.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Strand Theatre

One of the most delightful pictures shown here in many a day is "The Speeding Venus" a new Metropolitan production starring that clever luminary, Priscilla Dean, and featuring Robert Frazer and Dale Fuller, which was displayed with exceptionally satisfactory results at the Strand last night and which has its final showing tonight. Miss Dean's portrayal of the heroine, a brave girl who races an automobile across the continent with skill and daring, proved eminently artistic and pleasing to her admirers. Robert Frazer as the inventor of a gearless motor, and Dale Fuller as a telephone operator of the new school were wholly adequate in their portrayals. The picture teems with dramatic action and there is a thrill in every scene. Don't miss it!

"Dizzy Dancers" a laugh provoking Fox comedy full of plenty of good clean comedy and action, is another attraction on this interesting bill.

"Roaming Around the Caribbean" is an attractive and instructive color scenic.

Palace Theatre

One prince and two Russian generals who fled from their land because of the revolution, are among the players supporting John Gilbert and Greta Garbo in "Love," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's film version of Tolstoi's "Anna Karenina," which is now playing at the Palace theatre. They are Prince Youcca Troubetzkoy and Generals Theodore Lodi and Michael Pieschkoff both formerly of the Russian army.

Gilbert and Miss Garbo play the tragic lovers in the vivid drama of Russia, which Edmund Goulding directed with George Fawcett, Brandon Hurst, Emily Fitzroy, Philippe De Lacy and a notable cast.

The Paramount news reel showing the first pictures of the German transcontinental fliers and their plane "The Bremen" at Greenly island will be shown at the Palace today and tomorrow. There are five hundred feet of these pictures taken by Cameraman Fernstone who flew more than twenty-five hundred miles through storm and fog to make their showing possible.

Tomorrow a double feature program will be shown at the Palace. Shirley Mason, Gaston Glass and Ben Turpin will be seen in a hilarious comedy entitled "The Wife's Relatives" and Ted Wells will be starred in a real wild and wooly western, "Desert Dust".

Wednesday night is Gift night at the Palace and twenty-five dollars in gold and ten valuable presents will be given away free.

Palace Theatre

The constant warfare between the newsreel companies is almost as acute as the warfare that once existed between newspapers. Each attempts to outdo the other in bringing strange and up to the minute events to the screen. A shining example of the daring and speed with which they accomplish this is in the current news reel at the Palace theatre showing the only photographs of the German and Irish fliers at Greenly Island together with the new famous plane "Bremen".

The Paramount cameraman, Fernstone who took these pictures, flew twenty-five hundred miles through fog, snow and storm to reach Greenly island. These pictures will be on the screen at the Palace theatre until Wednesday evening and since there are more than five hundred feet showing intimate pictures of the fliers and their plane, all who are interested in this remarkable flight will want to avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing them.

Breed Theatre

At the Breed theatre tonight the Fox comedy feature called "Silk Legs" will conclude an engagement of three days. It is a hilarious story of modern salesmanship methods in which girls compete against men in the business world. Madge Bellamy, in the leading role as a saleswoman for a firm of silk hosiery manufacturers, demonstrates her line of goods with satisfying results and a wealth of humor. This picture plays to capacity audiences here and it seems to please them all young and old alike. James Hall plays the masculine lead as a competing salesman.

EAST HADDAM

Mrs. Grover C. Williams has returned from Florida, where she spent the winter, and is putting her home in readiness for occupancy.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph I. Bailey were visitors in East Hampton Sunday.

Miss Hoen Clark of East Hampton is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Hall.

Mrs. Harry P. Gates has been seriously ill with an attack of asthma, from which she has suffered some time.

Miss Eleanor Bigelow is spending two weeks in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Frank S. Davison, who has been at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles A. Russel, in Haddam, since her return from the hospital, is now at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rogers and daughter Betty of South Manchester were recently at the home of Mrs. A. M. Cook to see their grandmother, Mrs. James E. Emmons, who is boarding there.

NORTH STONINGTON

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey M. Taylor and children have moved to the Gulle farm in Ashwillett.

The April meeting of Club No. 6 of the Social Corner was held here Tuesday. The dinner was in charge of Mrs. Cressingham L. Gray. The afternoon program had been arranged by Mrs. Lucian Drury. It was of a diversified character and included vocal and instrumental music, readings, an illustrated sketch, an original paper, tableaux, fancy dancing by the 6 year old daughter of Mrs. C. E. Gray and a recitation by her 4 year old son.

Elmer E. Maine is in poor health.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Sweetser of Jewett City and Mr. and Mrs. Appleton Main and Mrs. Charles H. Babcock of Poquetanuck were in Iowa Tuesday.

Housewife, society leader, doctor, aviator—every one of us, no matter who we are, may offend unknowingly.

Intimate facts about body odor

Try this delightful toilet soap—it deodorizes

THERE'S no hiding body odor. The faintest hint of it is sure to betray us—and prejudice people against us.

You know yourself what a poor opinion you have of any one who offends. But do you realize that not one of us is safe from body odor?

To live, we must perspire. Even on cool days, our millions of pores continually give off invisible perspiration—often as much as a quart of waste every 24 hours.

Stop taking chances

This body moisture, whether visible or not, is always odorous. And there's no escaping it. Every one of us—from laborer to society leader—may offend unless we take precautions.

Nor can we tell when we are guilty. For, once an odor becomes familiar to us, our own sense of smell becomes deadened to it.

Yet it's simple to avoid offending. Just wash and bathe often with the delightful toilet soap that millions enjoy—Lifebuoy—it deodorizes.

The same bland and abundant antiseptic lather that helps protect health by removing germs—prevents body odor by purifying pores. Keeps complexions so fresh and clear, too. Millions favor Lifebuoy for all purposes.

Note its hygienic scent

You will learn to love Lifebuoy's pleasant clean scent, which tells you Lifebuoy purifies, yet which quickly evaporates after rinsing. Use Lifebuoy a week and you'll use it for life. Get some today.

The members of the Greeneville Ideal Bridge club pleasantly surprised Mr. and Mrs. William Prescott at their home, 566 Boswell avenue, Thursday evening in observance of their tenth wedding anniversary with 25 members present. The first part of the evening was devoted to bridge with the first ladies' prize being awarded to Mrs. Anthony J. Bernard with a score of 1360 while William Winterbottom was the winner of the first gentlemen's prize with a score of 2150. The consolation prizes were awarded to Mrs. William Winterbottom and Paul Brown. After cards a social hour followed with singing, games, victrola and radio selections. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. William Winterbottom. The dining room was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the color scheme of white and gold being used. Mr. and Mrs. William Prescott were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. The bridge club presented Mr. and Mrs. Prescott with a very pretty lustre set. The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Anthony J. Bernard at her home, 565 Boswell avenue, Friday evening.

Married at Stafford Springs

Varicose Veins

Reduced Or Money Back

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results.

If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of running sores, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is such a powerful, penetrating antiseptic oil that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you and all druggists sell lots of it.

AUTOMOBILE GUEST RIDER SUES

TWO FOR $10,000 DAMAGES CLAIMED

Simon Balk of New York city who was riding on July 17, 1927 in the automobile owned and driven by Maurice Kimball of Springfield, Mass., has brought suit in the superior court for $10,000 against Kimball and against Dr. Morton E. Fox of Montville. He sues for the injuries he received in an automobile accident, these including cuts on the face requiring 16 stitches, permanent disfigurement over the right eye and through the eyebrow and on the forehead, fracture of the nose, and other injuries. Balk claims that he spent $110 for medical services, was unable to continue his employment as a salesman for eight weeks at which his average earnings were between $70 and $80 per week, had a $65 suit of clothes ruined and suffered permanent facial disfiguration.

On the afternoon of the day named, it is claimed that the Fox machine and the Kimball machine were proceeding along the New London-Hartford highway when the Kimball car speeded up to pass the Fox machine from the rear and just as this move was made by Kimball, Dr. Fox suddenly made a left hand turn to enter the highway to Chesterfield at his left, this blocking off Kimball's car and causing him to run his machine into an embankment on the extreme left of the highway.

It is alleged in the complaint that the defendant Kimball was especially heedless or in reckless disregard of the rights of his guest, Balk, in operating his motor vehicle at an excessively high rate of speed while approaching an intersection and at a time when another car was about to turn into this intersection, the defendant, Maurice Kimball, knowing or ought to be in a position to know that his car was not equipped with any brakes and as a result of having no brakes, could not be brought to a quick stop. The negligence charge made against Dr. Fox is that he did not give due warning of his intention to make a left hand turn into an intersecting highway from the main thoroughfare; by failing to operate his car to the right of the center of the highway; failing to keep a proper lookout for other users of this thoroughfare by suddenly without any warning taking a left hand turn across the highway directly in the path of the Kimball car, so placing the Kimball machine in position of colliding with the Fox car or the embankment.

The suit is returnable in the superior court in May.

Seek Divorce for Desertion

Divorce and the custody of two minor children, a daughter aged 11 and a son aged 8, are sought in a suit brought in the superior court by Mabel Corey Wright of Groton against Henry Wright of Richmond, R. I. She alleges desertion on Dec. 13, 1924. They were married Aug. 12, 1915. This suit is also returnable before the superior court in May.

The first meeting for the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1928, was held at Bridgeport Saturday by the board of managers of the Sons of the American Revolution and about 15 of the board were in attendance. Six members were elected, Kenneth P. Britton, Talcottville; Leonard A. James, Danielson; Albert J. Pope, Russell H. Pope, Oakville; William R. Smith, Meriden, and Clarence G. Wadhams, Torrington.

The following delegates to the national convention at Washington, May 20, were named: George S. Godard, president; William W. Buckingham, vice president; Robert F. Bradley, secretary; Frank A. Corbin, historian; Leverett Belknap, necrologist, and John M. Parker, Jr., Seymour N. Robinson, Herbert H. White, Hartford; F. Joseph Chatterton, Wilson H. Lee, George C. Ross, Hon. Earnest C. Simpson, New Haven; Frederick A. Doolittle, Bridgeport; Orland H. Brothwell, Stratford.

Other members will be named later as the Connecticut district is entitled to 51 members, although but 19 attended last year at Richmond.

The report of the registration for the Connecticut society as forwarded to the registrar general showed a net gain of 184 during the past fiscal year, the largest in its history. The present membership is, active members 1146, life members 101, honorary 7, associate 3, total 1257.

HUBBARD'S NEW YACHT IS SPLENDIDLY EQUIPPED

The auxiliary yacht Lou, built at the Ferguson yard in Groton for James L. Hubbard of this city and launched on Saturday is completed except for the installation of masts which are at the shipyard and will soon be placed in the boat.

About 100 people were present for the launching and an orchestra from Willimantic furnished music. As the boat slid from the ways into the water the owner's wife broke a bottle of champagne over the bow.

The Lou is 63 feet over all, with a beam of 15 feet, five inches and an eight foot draft. Capt. Charles Ferguson of Groton designed the craft and he with Mr. Hubbard supervised her construction. The carpenter work was all done by employes of Mr. Hubbard.

Especially selected native oak has gone into the frame and keel of the yacht. Mr. Hubbard personally selected oak trees which were cut to supply timber for the boat. The trees were felled in the vicinity of Ledyard and were ripped up into shape for the boat by Thomas Baudro of Allyn's point.

The plankings of the craft are of yellow pine and oak. The deck is of Oregon pine. Deck houses, bulwarks and interior trim are all of African mahogany, 3,000 feet of this choice wood having been imported direct from Africa. The deck houses are of two inch solid mahogany.

Three compartments, each separated from the others by a watertight bulkhead, are in the interior of the boat. The after compartment contains a state room for the captain and mate of the boat. The crew's toilet is also located there.

The engine which will be used to furnish motive power for the craft is a 65-horsepower Lathrop, built at Mystic. It is in the after compartment, as are an auxiliary engine and electric bilge pump, electric fire and water service pumps and a dynamo. Two gasoline tanks, an oil tank and a kerosene tank are also located in the after compartment. The tanks are all of copper.

To insure fire fighting effectiveness a carbon dioxide gas outfit has been installed. In the extreme stern end of the after compartment, a large cylinder has been placed. Piping runs from the cylinder to all parts of the boat. A pressure of 1,000 pounds will be continuously applied in the tank, and if fire breaks out, the man at the wheel may pull a lever, allowing the gas to escape to all parts of the boat and extinguish any falmes.

Masterful workmanship reflects in the highly polished mahogany and old ivory enamel in which the walls of the saloon are finished.

Adjoining the engine room is the living room and two berths for guests. Forward of the living room is the owner's quarters, the inside sealed with solid mahogany. There is a double berth and solid mahogany lockers. The owner's toilet, in the main compartment, is finished in solid mahogany.

Another room in the main compartment contains three berths for the owner's sons. A radio apparatus, constructed by Mr. Hubbard will be installed in the main compartment.

The Lou will carry a crew of five men, including the captain and mate. Three of the crew will be quartered forward in a compartment which is also finished in mahogany. In the forward compartment is a kitchen sink, a six lid shipmates' stove and an icebox. Water will be heated, to be available in all parts of the boat, in the forward compartment. Water tanks are under the cabin floors.

All of the plumbing in the boat was done by a Groton man under Mr. Hubbard's personal supervision. Brass piping was used throughout.

The electrical work was done by Mr. Hubbard's men. Every wire is lead covered, none being exposed. Porcelain electric fixtures have been installed.

MISS NEW LONDON IS BRIDE OF NAVY MAN

Helene Belmont Austin, assistant city clerk of New London for the past two years became the bride Monday of Lieut. E. E. Yeomans, Annapolis graduate and at present a student at the submarine school at the Submarine Base. The ceremony was performed in the rectory of St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, Monday morning by Rev. T. M. Crowley. They were attended by Ensign John Sanford, Jr., and Miss Olga Cuneo of New London.

Miss Austin is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Austin of 150 State street, New London. She attended the public schools in New London and Chapman Technical high school. Later she studied at business college.

Seven years ago last October she entered the employ of the city and almost immediately became assistant city assessor, which position she held for five years. Two years ago she became assistant city clerk and still holds that title.

Miss Austin, one of the most popular of New London's younger set, was chosen Miss New London, representing the city at the fair of the New London County Agricultural society at the Norwich fair grounds last fall.

Lieutenant Yeomans is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Yeomans of Linton, Indiana. He was a member of the 1924 graduating class at the United States Naval academy at Annapolis.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Yeomans will not take any extended honeymoon at this time due to the fact that the officer will be engaged at the submarine school until some time in June. They will, however, take a short trip to New York city and other points, making the trip by motor.

Mrs. Yeomans will continue her duties as assistant city clerk for the present until her husband has completed his course at the submarine school and until his future orders are known.

Sportsmen to See Pictures

The Norwich Fish and Game association is to have a banquet follow its annual meeting which will be held at the Wauregan hotel on Wednesday evening.

During the evening a series of moving picture reels made by Senator Frederick C. Walcott, president of the state board of fisheries and game, will be shown. They will include "Scenes at the State Hatchery at Burlington"; "The Childs-Walcott Sanctuary at Norfolk" and "Enemies of Game". Several colored lantern slides made by Mr. Walcott of scenes in the Colorado and California mountains will also be shown.

TAFTVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Laramie of Plainfield were weekend guests of Mr. Laramie's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Smith of North B street.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Heselton and children Kendall and Revella of North B street spent the weekend with relatives in Attawaugan.

Rev. Frederick Bunker of Wilton occupied the pulpit at the Taftville Congregational church Sunday morning. The enthem after the offertory sung by the choir under the direction of the organist Miss Nellie S. Howie was "Like As the Hart." In the evening there was the regular meeting of the members of the Young Peoples Society of Christian Endeavor in the church vestry.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gley of Preston City have been spending a short time with Mrs. Gley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Meyer and family of Blissville.

Robert Gelino has been discharged as a patient at the William W. Backus hospital and has returned to his home in Blissville.

Miss Lillian Laramie was surprised Saturday evening by a number of her friends at her home on North B street in observance of her birthday. Games of various kinds were played, the first prize for the donkey game going to Miss Effie Gravelin and Miss Rose Legare won the prize in the balloon blowing contest. Lunch of sandwiches, cake and soda were served by Mrs. Wilfred Smith. The guests included Miss Dora Savageau, Miss Effie Gravelin, Miss Ovalina Champagne and Miss Rosilda Champagne of Occum, Miss Alice Legare, Miss Antoinette Legare, Miss Helen Legare, Miss Rose Legare, Miss Cecile Legare, Miss Yvonne Caron, Miss Couranna Paradis, Mrs. George U. Smith and Mrs. William J. Smith.

The regular meeting of the Taftville post of the American legion was held Monday evening with Commander Edward Kelly presiding. The committee on the social to the auxiliary on Thursday evening made a report on the completed plans and a large number is expected to attend. All boys who intend to tryout for the legion team are requested to meet Thursday evening at 6 o'clock. It is planned to give a benefit entertainment for the team early in May. The post also announced that it would give medals to the boys in the eighth grades in the Wequonnoc and Sacred Heart schools for the highest average in spelling.

Plans for Memorial Day were discussed and are underway. The legion will hold exercises at Memorial park on the day at which time bronze tablets will be unveiled. The Ponemah company gave the park to Taftville and the care of the park will be turned over to the American Legion.

WEDDINGS

Benoit-Marsan

Miss Adella Marsan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Marsan of Hunters avenue and Joseph Delzica Benoit, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Benoit of Providence street were married Monday morning at Sacred Heart church at 8 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. Frederick R. DesSureault. The bride wore a gown of white satin with pearl trimmings and her veil of tulle was caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended as maid of honor by her sister, Miss Anne Marsan, who wore a gown of yellow satin and georgette and carried an arm bouquet of yellow rose buds. The best man was William Bagley. After the church ceremony there was a reception followed by a breakfast for the immediate families at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marsan. There was lavish display of gifts. The groom's gift to his bride was a white gold wrist watch and the bride presented the groom a gold piece. Mr. and Mrs. Benoit left during the afternoon upon a wedding trip which will take them to New York and upon their return they will reside at a newly furnished apartment on Hunters avenue.

Girard-Therrien

The marriage of Miss Florette Marie Therrien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hormidas Therrien of Terrace avenue and Emile Girard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Girard of South C street was solemnized Monday morning at a solemn high mass at Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock. Rev. Omer T. Mandler officiated at the ceremony and was celebrant at the mass which followed. The bride had as her attendants, her sister, Miss Lucienne Therrien and Miss Julia Mailhot. She wore a gown of white satin crepe and Spanish lace, her bridal veil being caught with pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses with a shower of white sweet peas. A reception and wedding breakfast followed at the home of the bride's parents on Terrace avenue. The newly married couple left on a wedding trip to Providence and they expect to be at home to their many friends after May 15th.

NORWICH TOWN

RURAL ASS'N OPPOSES CITY-TOWN CONSOLIDATION

With reference to the petition which has been circulated proposing consolidation of the town and city, for which a city meeting is to be held during the latter part of this month, for the purpose of discussing this matter, it was suggested that the Rural association go on record for or against consolidation, according to the wishes of the majority of its membership.

In response to letters sent out signed by the president and secretary, with accompanying postal cards on which to indicate one's approval or disapproval of consolidation, out of 80 votes, thus far, 58 were against consolidation, and only two in favor of the project. That this is a matter of utmost importance to every resident of the town was evidenced by many of the personal letters which accompanied the votes in the negative when forwarded to the secretary of the Rural association. A general request has been made that all interested, attend the city meeting.

"Broadcasting" was the theme of the Sunday morning sermon at the Norwich Town Methodist church, by the pastor, Rev. George Warren Potter, who chose for his text, Matthew 12:35. A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth good things; and an evil man out of the evil treasure bringeth forth evil things. Rev. Mr. Potter in broadcasting the theme of his sermon, tried to point out how much good can be accomplished by the right way of daily broadcasting, also some of the evils that come from the wrong kind. Most everybody these days is interested in listening in on the many things over the air, and someone must broadcast them.

At the close of the morning worship, a special meeting of the pastor and officials was held, to discuss changing the Sunday morning hour of worship. It was the opinion of Rev. Mr. Potter that short sermons, right to the point, would be far more interesting and better appreciated, than long-drawn-out discourses. It was decided that the hour for worship be 10:45 in the future, instead of 10:30. Because daylight saving time goes into effect next Sunday, the Methodist service will begin at 9:45 o'clock, standard time, and continue so through the summer months. All activities at this church will be in conformity with the new time.

Rev. Mr. Potter was in charge of the children's service Sunday afternoon. Plans are under consideration to organize this company of little folks. The Methodist C. E. meeting Sunday evening in the vestry was in charge of Acting Superintendent Lewis M. Aldrich. The topic was, "Why and How Should Christians Support the 18th Amendment?" Exodus 21:28, 29; Proverbs 23:29-32.

The Methodist C. E. society is to hold a meeting Friday evening at 7:30, which will be followed by a social hour. At this church, Saturday evening, the boys of the parish and Sunday school, will meet in conference with the pastor and the acting school superintendent, Lewis M. Aldrich.

Rev. George H. Strouse, pastor of Bozrah Congregational church, preached an impressive sermon at Sunday morning worship at the Congregational church, in exchange with the pastor, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey. Rev. Mr. Strouse spoke from Acts 27: 10-11. And said unto them, sirs, I perceive that this voyage will be with hurt and much damage, not only of the lading and ship, but also of our lives. Nevertheless the centurion believed the master and owner of the ship, more than those things which were spoken by Paul. "I Will Praise Thee" (Rosecrans), was the anthem given by the choir.

James F. Connolly, supervisor of schools, spoke interestingly to the Junior C. E. society of the Congregational church, Sunday afternoon, in the chapel. His theme was, "The Girls and Boys of the Philippines," with many of whom Mr. Connolly had been in close contact when a teacher on these islands. Ruth Avery was leader of the meeting. The Congregational C. E. meeting, Sunday evening, was held under the auspices of the Good Citizenship committee. Arthur Avery presided. A good number was present to hear the interesting address on the 18th amendment by Rev. Myron E. Genter, who is a strong supporter of prohibition. The speaker was much pleased with the interest shown, having held the close attention of his congregation, especially the young men present. Special music was provided by Ralph H. Marsh, violin, and Miss Elizabeth Avery, piano.

The Lenten series in the Fellowship of Prayer concluded at the Congregational mid-week service, Thursday evening. For this week, the topic assigned is, "The Social Conscience." Romans 13:8-10. I Corinthians 12:1-30. How Is Christianity a Social Faith? Alternative topic, The Apostle Mark. Acts 15:22-41.

R. Huntington Woodman, prominent organist, returned Saturday morning to his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., having been the guest Friday and over that night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Yerrington, of Peck's Corner, following his delightful recital in the Norwich Town Congregational church. Ushers that evening, under the direction of George F. Hyde, were Arthur Avery, William House, George Durr and Robert Stott.

William C. Eff, Jr., who rebuilt the organ and who came to Norwich Town Friday, accompanied by a friend to attend the recital, returned to New Haven Saturday morning.

HOOVER SWAMPS WILLIS SLATE IN OHIO PRIMARY; SMITH LEADS POMERENE

Early Returns Indicate the Election of the Entire Slate of Hoover Delegates—In Massachusetts There Have Been Sweeping Majorities for Hoover and Smith—Delegations Elected in Pennsylvania Are Uninstructed—In Alaska the Smith Slate of Delegates Had Clear Sailing—Lowden-Curtis Coalition Ticket Has Won in Oklahoma.

LATEST RETURNS FROM BAY STATE

BOSTON, April 24—(AP)—Returns from 856 precincts out of 1608 in the state for presidential preference give:

Republican: Hoover 60,098; Coolidge 4205. Dawes 1136, Fuller 899, Lowden 569.

Democratic: Smith 16,609, Walsh of Montana 139, Reed 36

(By The Associated Press.)

Presidential primaries were held yesterday in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Alaska, while republicans in Oklahoma and Nevada and democrats in Kansas, at conventions, were selecting their delegate representation at Kansas City and Houston.

Early returns failed to show conclusively how the delegation of 51 from Ohio would line up at the republican convention. Reports from one-seventh of the precincts in the state showed the entire slate of Hoover delegates-at-large in the lead, with incomplete returns giving a lead to 28 district delegate candidates pledged to the commerce secretary and to 16 originally committed to the candidacy of Senator Frank B. Willis, now dead.

Hoover led from the start on the republican preferential vote, the result of which is not binding, while incomplete returns showed that democrats had written in the name of Gov. Smith more than that of any other presidential possibility. The Ohio democratic delegation of 48 is pledged to support former Senator Atlee Pomerene at the outset of balloting at Houston.

In Massachusetts, Hoover and Smith had commanding leads in the preferential voting under a new law which permitted the writing in of names. The result as in Ohio, is not binding, and the Massachusetts delegations of 39 at Kansas City and 36 at Houston will be uninstructed.

Hoover supporters, however, claim a majority of the Bay state republican delegates, while Smith adherents predict the New York governor will have virtually the solid support of the Massachusetts democratic delegation.

In the Pennsylvania primaries, 76 republican delegates and a democratic delegation with 76 convention votes were selected. Both delegations are uninstructed.

In Alaska the Smith slate of six delegates had clear sailing, while the republicans named two delegates from a field of five.

In the Oklahoma republican convention, a Lowden-Curtis coalition had the whip hand, indicating that the state's delegation of 20 at Kansas City would be ready to aid either of them in the convention.

A new "favorite son" candidate for the democratic presidential nomination was put forward by the Kansas democrats who instructed their delegation of 20 to support at Houston Representative Ayres, the only democrat in the Kansas congressional delegation.

SMITH 2 TO 1 FAVORITE AMONG OHIO DEMOCRATS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 24—(AP)—Gov. Al Smith of New York was better than a two to one favorite among Ohio democrats at today's presidential primary as indicated by returns from about one-sixth of the state.

The New York executive had a clear majority of more than a thousand over some eight other entries in 1437 of the state's 3559 precincts. All names, including Smith's, had to be written in by voters as there was no formal democratic entry in the presidential contest.

Smith's closest rival was former Senator Atlee Pomerene, to whom the delegates to the Houston convention are pledged as first choice. Smith's vote was 4622 to 3059 for Pomerene, Gov. Donahey was third in the race with 1210. Approximately 200 votes were scattered among other prominent democratic leaders.

HOOVER IS LEADING IN THE OHIO PRIMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 24—(AP)—With returns in from one-seventh of the precincts in the state, the entire slate of Hoover delegates-at-large, voted on in Ohio's presidential primary, had shot into the lead tonight over the seven candidates listed on the ballots as pledged to the late Senator Frank B. Willis.

Earlier in the count five of the seven Willis pledges were slightly ahead but reports from Cleveland, Cincinnati, Toledo and other populous Hoover strongholds, turned the tide to the commerce secretary.

Returns from 1186 precincts out of 3559 in Ohio, as tabulated by the Associated Press, showed Frank A. Brown leading the Hoover slate with 15,908. Edward Orton, Jr., was low with 14,459, or nearly 4000 ahead of the high man on the Willis ticket, Carmi A. Thompson, campaign manager for the Willis forces, led his slate with 10,645, with A. Lee Beaty, the Negro candidate for delegate-at-large on the Willis ticket, low with 8840.

A half dozen rural counties where the Willis delegates had expected to show strength were not included in this count.

The returns represented scattered reports from the other 82 counties in the state.

On the republican preferential count, Hoover had 22,575, Willis 11,702, and Olin J. Ross, of Columbus, 1259 on returns from 1409 precincts. The result will not be binding on the Ohio delegates to the Kansas City convention.

The names of Hoover, Willis and

HOOVER AND SMITH VICTORIOUS IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 25—(AP)—Returns from 6,086 precincts out of 3,559 in Ohio for the republican preference for president give: Hoover 148,076; Ross 6,033; Willis 58,775; Dawes 1,937; Lowden 1,354

Returns from 3,253 precincts out of 3,559 in Ohio for the democratic preference for president gave: Smith 10,828; Pomerene 4,836; Donahey 2,830; White 199; Reed 157; Moody 43; Walsh 42; McAdoo 27.

Ross were listed on the republican preferential ballot, but none were listed on the democratic.

Returns from 649 precincts, however, showed that 1841 democrats had written in the name of Gov. Smith of New York, 909 the name of former Senator Atlee Pomerene and 526 Gov. Donahey's name. Senator Reed of Missouri, who was born in Ohio, received 20 votes.

The democratic delegation of 48 at Houston is expected to vote for Pomerene on the first ballot, but most, if not all, of the delegates, are counted on as potential Smith supporters.

BAY STATE IS STRONG FOR HOOVER AND SMITH

BOSTON, April 24—(AP)—Sweeping majorities for Hoover on the republican ticket and Smith on the democratic ticket were shown in early returns of the presidential preference vote in the Massachusetts presidential primaries tonight. Returns from 299 precincts out of 1603 in the state, not including any Boston figures, gave the leading candidates:

Republican: Hoover 17,567; Coolidge 1,349; Dawes 424, Fuller 242; Lowden 263.

In some of the cities, including Boston, election officials announced that because of the intricacies of the preferential balloting, in which voters were permitted to write in any name they chose, the count of these votes probably would be deferred until tomorrow.

The preferential balloting showed many freaks. Hoover's name was written on some democratic ballots and Smith's name on some republican ballots. Some of the other candidates were interchanged between the two parties.

Lindbergh received two votes among the early returns. There were scattering republican votes for Hughes, Borah, Mellon, Longworth, Chairman Butler of the national committee, Senators Moses, Curtis, Norris and Gillett and others. On the democratic side the overwhelming Smith sentiment led to few scattering votes but among candidates whose names appeared were Ritchie, McAdoo, Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, Underwood and Baker.

The regular slates of the two parties for delegates at large to the national conventions appeared assured of victory over an independent candidate in each case. Returns from 669 precincts, including Boston complete, showed Mayor Lawrence F. Quigley, of Chelsea running more than 9,000 votes behind the lowest candidate of the eight on the democratic slate and Rev. Frederick L. Anderson, of Newton, 12,000 behind the lowest of the republican slate of seven.

Senator David I. Walsh, heading the democratic slate, had 17,418 votes in these precincts as compared to 4,147 for Quigley. Chairman Butler, at the top of the republican slate, had 41,304 to 18,005 for Anderson.

The vote was very light throughout the state. The republican party machinery in Boston was upset by the outcome of the contest for district delegates in the 11th congressional district, where Charles H. Innes, long recognized as the party leader in Boston, was defeated with his running mate, Walter R. Meins. The successful candidates were Henry W. Parkman, Jr., city councillor, and G. Gordon Watt. Parkman received 8,055 votes to 6,017 for Innes.

The republicans elected seven delegates at large and 32 district delegates, all unpledged and each with a full vote. The democrats, virtually all of whose candidates were pledged to Smith, elected eight delegates at large and 64 district delegates, each with a half vote.

R. W. STEWART DENIES DISTRIBUTION OF BONDS

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—Recalled to the witness stand this afternoon by the senate Teapot Dome committee, Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, reiterated that he had nothing to do with the distribution of the Continental Trading company's liberty bonds.

Stewart was recalled after spending a greater part of the morning on the witness stand during which he said $759,500 of the Continental profits had been turned over to him but that he placed it in a trust fund for his oil companies.

MAN WAS KILLED BY TRACTOR WHILE PLOWING

SUFFIELD, April 24—(AP)—Eric Kuhne, 22, was killed here today when a tractor with which he was plowing turned over and pinned him to the ground. The tractor toppled sideways when it struck a mud hole in the field and Kuhne fell beneath the heavy machine. All of hi sbody but his head and shoulders was crushed into the mud and he died of suffocation while several men working with him tried futilely to lift the tractor.

He is survived by one sister of Suffield, and a brother, a sister and a brother residing in Hartford.

During the recent cold spell he addressed several meetings, and it is to this that his illness is attributed. He has been forbidden by his physician to address any meetings for the present. His condition is said to be improving.

CAUSTIC COMMENT ON PROHIBITION IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—Prohibition in its biblical, political and legal aspects came in for discussion in the senate today for the first time in several weeks when Senator Bruce, democrat, of Maryland, spoke up in the face of admitted hints that the "soft pedal" the question in view of the approaching campaign.

Denouncing the unnamed parties who he said had advised him to "pussyfoot" on the prohibition issue because of the pending presidential elections, Senator Bruce declared he did not care what the parties did at their conventions but he expected the democrats to declare "unequivocally for personal liberty, and sectarian tolerance."

The Marlander said that Governor Smith of New York "would not be sweeping over the country like a fire in a broomstraw field were it not for the fact that the people know he will enforce the law as long as it lasts, and that he will make every honest effort to end the most awful violation of personal liberty since the time of slavery."

Senator Tydings, democrat, of Maryland, was on his feet frequently interjecting Jesus Christ, God and the Bible into the debate with arguments that religion made no demand for prohibition. Senator Caraway, democrat, of Arkansas, finally suggested that "the Maryland senators may well leave out of the discussion anything about God's plans."

ther drys were also interposing frequent quips to the dialogue of the two Marylanders. Senator Sheppard, democrat, of Texas, to the statement by Bruce that prohibition arrests had increased, replied that it showed the law was being enforced more strictly than ever, rather than that there was an increase in drunkenness.

"Everything goes the anti-prohibition way between elections" Sheppard said, "but everything goes the prohibition way on election day."

Senator Tydings declared that "even if Christ himself were on earth today He would be put in jail for returning water into wine." He added that many people favoring prohibition "think that God is with them: that it is gody and Christian-like to put poison in alcohol, and to go into the lives of people who mind their own business."

Senator Borah, republican, of Idaho, asked Bruce if he expected either party to take the sand on prohibition and the MYarylander replied that the parties were "pusllanimous" in their attitude on this issue.

PLANE BREMEN AGAIN CONSIDERED AIRWORTHY

LAKE ST. AGNES, Que., April 24.—(Canadian Press.)—The German trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen, repaired and again considered airworthy, tonight was poised on the river ice off Greenley Island awaiting only favorable weather for the resumption of its flight to New York.

This information was brought to the Lake Ste. Agnes airport today by two fliers who made a non-stop hop from ice-locked Greenley Island with Paramount-Associated Press photographs. The fliers said the hop of the Bremen to Lake Ste. Agnes might be made tomorrow, or might be delayed until Thursday, the take-off depending entirely on favorable weather reports.

Although the two fliers, William Winston and Harry Cuthbertson, reported there was good weather at Greenly Island, and for some distance along the north shore of the St. Lawrence river, the district within a radius of 199 miles from Lake Ste. Agnes was being lashed by a snowstorm of mid-winter intensity. More than six inches of snow fell on the late today.

The report of Winston and Cuthbertson came during a day of uncertainty at this airport, and followed hours of close watching for the possible arrival of the German trans-Atlantic plane.

After the arrival of the Ford relief plane at Greenly Island Monday, the fliers said, the entire party enjoyed a chicken dinner, with wine and delicies taken to the marooned trans-Atlantic fliers by the Ford ship. Those at the dinner included Baron von Huenefeld, Captain Herman Koehl, and Major James Fitzmaurice, of the Bremen; Dr. Cuisinier, French pilot who with Charles A. "Duke" Schiller flew the first relief plane to Greenly Island after the Bremen landed; E. Koeppen, Junkers mechanic, and Brent Balchen, who flew the Ford relief plane.

When the meal was finished the work of reconditioning the Bremen was begun.

LILLIAN GISH WINS $5,000,000 BREACH OF CONTRACT SUIT

LOS ANGELES, April 24.—(AP)—Lillian Gish, screen actress, won the $5,000,000 breach of contract suit brought against her by Charles Duell, producer, today. A jury verdict for the defendant in the trial was returned when the court instructed that such a verdict be rendered on the grounds that all the issues of the case had been adjudicated previously in the federal court in New York.

Duell had contended that during Miss Gish's period of film work under his employ he had raised her to stardom and fame, and that she had broken a contract with him to become employed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. In the New York action Duell sought and was denied an injunction to prevent Miss Gish from being employed by anyone other than himself, the court having held that the contract had been breached by both parties.

CANDIDATE FOR SENATE ON A WET PLATFORM

STAMFORD, April 24.—(AP)—Alfred N. Phillips, Jr., announced his candidacy for nomination as U. S. senator from Connecticut in an address at a meeting of the Democratic club here tonight. Mr. Phillips inserted a wet plank in his platform, declaring that he would back any movement to obtain the return of light wines and beer.

Lindbergh Flies Fast In Rain and Snow

Carried Supply of Serum to Quebec for Treatment of Bennett, Fellow Airman

QUEBEC, Que., April 24—(Canadian Press)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, driving his fast army plane through rain and snow, brought to the bedside of Floyd Bennett tonight a supply of life-saving anti-pneumonia serum in less than four hours after a take-off from New York.

Lindbergh landed on the Plains of Abraham at 6:50 p. m., completing his flight of more than 500 miles from Curtiss Field, N. Y., in three hours and forty-two minutes. He immediately jumped into a waiting automobile and rushed to Jeffrey Hale hospital, where hospital officials reported Bennett was hovering between life and death.

Bennett was stricken with pneumonia at Lake St. Agnes, Que., while en route with Bernt Balchen in a Ford plane to the relief of the marooned crew of the German trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen. He was brought by airplane to Quebec and specialists were hurried from New York to his bedside.

Physicians attending Bennett today decided the special anti-pneumonia serum was necessary for the treatment of the patient and telephoned to New York a request that a supply be rushed. Told of the need, the first man to fly across the Atlantic to Paris immediately prepared for the start.

Accompanied by a representative of the Rockefeller Research Institute, he took off from Curtiss Field, N. Y., at 3:01 p. m., in an army plane that has a maximum speed of 150 miles an hour. Montreal was said to be his destination and a special train was prepared at that point to carry him to Quebec, a party of civic officials awaiting at the air field to rush him to the train.

However, Lindbergh, apparently deciding that the emergency brooked no delay, drove his plane through rain and snow direct to Quebec. He flew most of the route over strange territory, encountering visibility so poor that he could have distinguished landmarks only with the greatest difficulty.

At the start from New York it was estimated that the Lone Eagle's probable speed for the hop would be 120 miles an hour. Observers here pointed out that he must have maintained a speed slightly greater than that and flew straight to his objective without deviation from his course.

Lindbergh declined to discuss the hop. His only comment was "We had a very good flight."

PRECAUTIONS TAKEN AGAINST FLOOD DISASTER

ATLANTA, Ga., April 24.—(AP)—Every precaution was being taken tonight to avert disaster as the crest of the most devastating flood in many years bore down upon the flat coastal lands of Georgia, Alabama and northwestern Florida.

After causing unestimated millions of dollars damage to the upper plains and taking at least four lives, the raging currents piled into the torouous beds of the lower rivers and spread widely over the fertile lowlands, inundating or threatening towns and villages and compelling evacuation of the populace.

Flood warnings were broadcast to inhabitants of the lower valleys of the Ocmulgee and Oconee rivers in Georgia, while the population of Newton, Ga., on the Flint river, fearing a repitition of 1925's disaster, fled.

Flomation, Ala., was menaced by the rising waters of the Escambia river and tributary streams and 20 miles to the north, Brewton, wealthy lumber and creosote city, was inundated with nearly a thousand persons driven fro mtheir homes.

Nearly a hundred miles east of Flomation, the little town of Caryville, Fla., evacuated last night, was under from six to twelve feet of water with at least four additional feet expected before the crest of the Choctawatchie river is reached.

Estimates of the homeless varied from 2,000 to 6,000 persons with many others expected to seek higher ground during the night. Many others exnight. Many places have been isolated two days and nothing is known here of the plight of many rural communities.

As the waters receded in the upper reaches of the rivers today, repair crews labored feverishly to restore communications and some railways began moving trains. Blakely, Ga., however, had had no trains since Sunday and not a highway leading to the city is passable.

The Atlantic coast line had long stretches of track washed out in southeast Alabama and the Louisville and Nashville railroad was broken from Flomatition to several miles above Brewton. Fast passenger trains between New York, Chicago and New Orleans were marooned and afterwards detourned into Mississippi.

GUILFOYLE FOUND GUILTY SECOND DEGREE MURDER

HARTFORD, April 24—(AP)—Dr. Harold N. Guilfoyle, veterinarian of this city, tonight stood convicted of the second degree murder of Mrs. Maximin Gaudet, on January 18, outside the apartment where he and his wife lived and where Mrs. Gaudet had been a guest a few short moments before. After a motion to set aside the verdict had been denied, Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin, presiding justice, imposed on Guilfoyle the maximum sentence possible under the Connecticut statutes—life imprisonment. An appeal will be taken from the pudgment of the court.

Guilfoyle paled slightly as he heard the sentence, then turned and walked with steady step to an ante room where he lighted a cigarette. He was joined by his wife and parents. All three were sobbing.

A few moments later, the court room where for a week, hundreds of persons have fought for admission, was deserted.

Mrs. Gaudet and her little daughter Mary Patience were dinner guests of the Guilfoyles on the night of January 18. After dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Algermon Sidney Way, former friends dropped in. Everything was apparently peaceful when the party broke up but while Way and Mary Patience, who had preceded the others out, were on the sidewalk according to the state's theory, Mrs. Way and Mrs. Guilfoyle were turning out lights in the building, three shots were heard.

Guilfoyle and Mrs. Gaudet were found wounded, the woman died not many hours later, and Guilfoyle lost the sight of his right eye.

American Killed by Nicaraguan Rebels

George Marshall of New York, Assistant Manager of Mine, Seized Last Week.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 24—(AP)—George Marshall of New York, assistant manager of the La Pus y Los Angeles mine seized last week by Sandino and his followers was reported to have been killed by the rebels in a radiogram received today by Clifford D. Ham, collector general of customs from W. J. Crampton, collector of customs at Puerto Cabezas.

SANDINO IS LEADING FORCE OF 500 REBELS

BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, April 24—(AP)—Small marine detachments near the headwaters of the Prinzapolca river are reported tonight to have made contact with a force of 500 rebels, thought to beu nder direct command of Augustino Sandino and to be the same band as that which robbed the Bonanza and La Luz mines.

Due to the overwhelming force of the rebels, no attempt was made to give battle, but reinforcements were requested and additional marines are en route.

The rebels are said to have been augmented by a large number of laborers who were recently discharged from employment at Bonanzmans Bluff, near Puertt Cabezas.

George Marshall, Amphlett's assistant, who was reported in advices in Managua to have been killed by the rebels, was unaware that Sandino was in striking distance of the mine.

This was shown in a letter he sent 10 days ago, just before the raid, to his mother, Mrs. H. M. Marshall of the Bronx, a public school teacher.

"My son had absolutely no idea Sandino was anywhere near the mine," she said. "He told me in his letter that he and his companions kept in touch with the liberal leader's movements only through the American newspapers they received many weeks after publication.

Marshall was 48 years old and had been in Mexico and Central America for 20 years. His mother said he knew the country and people as few foreigners do and always made it his policy to avoid taking sides in political matters.

NATIONAL CONVENTION OF COTTON MANUFACTURERS

PROVIDENCE, April 24—(AP)—About 700 representatives of cotton mills in various sections of the country will attend the two-day convention of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, opening here at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Biltmore hotel. Registration of delegates will take place at 11 o'clock in the morning.

Methods of lowering production costs will be the chief topic at tomorrow's session, while Thursday afternoon's session will be given over to advertising and the cotton industry. The 100th anniversary of the invention of ring spinning will be celebrated during the convention.

Col. G. Edward Buxton, of Providence, president of the association, will welcome the manufacturers at the opening of the convention, while John L. Burton, of New Bedford will introduce the technologists and textile engineers who will address the gathering. Thomas Hagan, of Boston, will speak on "opening and cleaning of cotton" and his paper will be discussed by Robert W. Boys, of Holyoke, Mass.

SENATE COMMITTEE IS PLANNING $210,000,000 TAX CUT

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—Casting aside the tax reduction programs of both secretary Mellon and the house, the republican majority of the senate finance committee today advanced a new plan calling for a total cut of $210,000,000.

Only on the matter of paring down the $290,000,000 house bill did the republicans follow the advice of the secretary, who had set $200,000,000 as the outside limit the treasury could stand in the way of reduction. The majority members, who will formally place their schedules in the bill on Thursday when they meet with the democrats who are preparing a $300,000,000 program, override the treasury in its appeal for retention of the 3 percent automobile tax and the present rate on admissions.

Repeal of the automobile tax is provided by the republican program, as voted by the house and urged by senate democrats.

EXPANSION OF NATIONAL CITY BANK OF NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 24—(AP)—Stockholders of the National City bank of New York today approved increases in the capital stock of the bank from $75,000,000 to $90,000,000, the National City company from $25,000,000 to $45,000,000 and the surplus of the company from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000. The increases were proposed by the board of directors.

The $60,000,000 new capital will be provided through the issuance of 150,000 shares of stock of the bank which will be offered to stockholders on record at the close of business April 28, 1928, at $400 a share on the ratio of 1 share for 5 shares held. Subscriptions will be payable in full on or before May 31, 1928, the date when subscription rates and warrants expire.

TO DISCONTINUE STAFFORD SPRINGS-ROCKVILLE LINE

STAFFORD SPRINGS, April 24—(AP)—Next Tuesday the Stafford Springs-Rockville line of the Connecticut company will cease operation and state highway department men will start making over the road bed for the new road between Rockville and Stafford.

At the state capitol today a hearing was held on petitions for a bus route for the New England Transportation company from Stafford to Hartford through Rockville, and a decision is expected soon and operation of a bus line will start at once if the franchise is granted.

28 VOTES FOR HEFLIN CAST IN SPRINGFIELD

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 24—(AP)—Senator T. J. Heflin, democrat, of Alabama led Governor Alvan T. Fuller, of Massachusetts by four votes in the presidential preference vote of republicans of Springfield, complete reports of the 45 city precincts showed tonight. The vote was Heflin 29 Fuller 24. Hoover was the popular republican choice by about 10 to 1.

SENATE FLOOD CONTROL BILL PASSED BY THE HOUSE

Measure Was Adopted by a Vote of 254 to 90—89 Republicans, 167 Democrats and One Farmer-Labor Voted for the Bill—Negative Votes Were Cast by 85 Republicans, Three Democrats, One Farmer-Labor and a Socialist—Vote Showed 34 More Members Supporting the Bill Than Would be Needed to Override a Presidential Veto—Bill Will be Returned to the Senate to Pass Upon the Numerous Changes Made.

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—The senate-Jones bill proposing a plan for curbing the flood waters of the Mississippi river was passed by the house today with President Coolidge's attitude toward it remaining problematical.

The vote was 254 to 90, one of the most overwhelming given by the house this session on any measure that precipitated such a protracted fight as that which marked this bill's legislative journey.

On the final show down, 86 republicans, 167 democrats and one farmer-labor joined in support of the bill, while 85 republicans, three democrats, one farmer-labor, and a socialist lined up in opposition.

The vote also found 34 more members supporting the bill than would be needed to override a presidential veto, but in the event of the measure receiving White House disapproval it would be doubtful if the measure again could muster this strength.

It is believed that an unsuccessful last minute attempt by Rep. Frear, republican, Wisconsin, to substitute a compromise flood bill for the senate measure more early indicated the line-up that would take place in the event of a veto. Frear was defeated by a vote of 206 to 139.

Among those supporting the bill on the final vote were Chairman Madden of the appropriations committee and Chairman Snell of the rules committee, two of the administration stalwarts who for ten days participated in negotiations to revise the bill to meet the president's objections.

The measure now must be returned to the senate for that body to pass upon the numerous changes approved by the house. A number of these revisions were accepted by supporters of the bill in an effort to bring it in line with the views of the White House.

On other revisions desired by the president, the measure's supporters refused to accede.

It was admitted during debate today that the crux of the difference between those supporting the bill and Mr. Coolidge hinged on the question of whether the states or the federal government should assume responsibility for damages that might be sustained by land owners in the proposed floodways and spillways.

Shortly before final passage the house by a vote of 119 to 67 defeated an amendment sponsored by Rep. Tilson of Connecticut, the republican leader, to provide that compensation to land owners could be obtained only through federal court action. He said this was in line with the White House position.

Immediately after rejecting the proposal, the house without a vote accepted an amendment by Chairman Reid of the flood control committee, who was in charge of the bill, to require the federal government to buy flowage rights over the proposed spillway and floodway areas. Reid contended that this revision would protect the government and indicated that he thought it would meet presidential approval.

This fight over the damage section of the bill was preceded yesterday by another battle between the two opposing forces on the question of state or federal payment for levee rights of way on spillway ad floodways, and assumption of damages by local interests on the proposed New Madrid riverbank floodway and the Bonnel Carre spillway at New Orleans.

Under Reid's leadership the house refused to amend the bill to have states shoulder the costs of these projects. This question also had been regarded as a major difference between the White House and the opposition camp.

Today, however, Chairman Madden, who had led the opposition's fight against Reid, took the floor and announced that after a conference with the president he had changed his position and would support the bill. This he subsequently did.

Madden explained that the change had been brought about by a fuller understanding of the disastrous effects that might result to the whole control project if the federal government failed to assume this part of the burden. He added that he believed the president would accept this provision of the bill.

The bill as finally approved would create a board composed of the chief of army engineers, the head of the Mississippi river commission and a civilian engineer to be appointed by the president.

For carrying out the control program the bill would authorize an appropriation of $325,000,000. This money, however, would be available for use only for the lower Mississippi valley except $5,000,000 which would be allotted to carrying out flood control surveys and flood control reservoir investigations of the tributaries, and another $5,000,000 to be set aside as an emergency relief fund.

Besides dealing with the Mississippi valley project, the house also approved a rider attached to the bill which would place one-third of the cost of the Sacramento valley, California, flood control project upon the federal government with an estimated federal share of $17,000,000.

Another amendment to direct the secretary of agriculture to study the effect of reforestation upon floods likewise was adopted.

STATUS OF NICARAGUAN CONTROVERSY IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, April 24—(AP)—The senate row over administration policy in Nicaragua failed to come to a head today, due to Senator Borah's discovery that the pending anti-intervention rider to the naval appropriation bill might tread on the toes of treaty obligations with respect to China, Haiti, Cuba and Panama. At Borah's request, the naval bill went over until tomorrow to permit him to study this question as chairman of the foreign relations committee.

The Blaine rider had been changed previously with its author's assent to forbid expenditures under the naval bill for any intervention purpose after Feb. 1, which would permit holding o the Nicaraguan election under marine corps supervision. Blaine also accepted the Pittman amendment to authorize the president to employ force in protecting Americans and their property from physical attack without specific assent of congress. Senator Borah's intervention from the treaty angle brought up an entirely new question in the debate however, which may influence the final outcome in the senate.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, another of the republicans, insisting upon a limitation on executive power in use of naval or military forces, introduced during the day a substitute for the Blaine rider which would narrow its application specifically to Nicaragua. It would deny use of naval funds "in connection with acts of hostility against that nation, or any intervention in the domestic affairs of that nation, unless war has been declared by congress," but includes the Pittman safeguarding clause.

READING AIDED COUNSEL FOR THE DECIMO CLUB, INC.

BOSTON, April 24—(AP)—Attorney General Arthur K. Reading, aided the New York counsel for the Decimo Club, Inc., to prepare papers and affidavits to be used by the club in defense of the suit brought against it by Attorney General Ottinger, of New York state, Joseph V. Stuart, former club official, testified today before the special legislative committee investigating Reading's conduct in office.

The day was devoted to cleaning up final details the state's case. It was announced at the opening of the session that if the presentation of evidence was completed by the state during the day the sesion would adjourn until tomorrow and Reading would be the first witness for the defense. As Stuart did not complete his testimony today it was believed that Reading would not appear until Thursday.

SENATOR M'LEAN WILL NOT ACCEPT RENOMINATION

HARTFORD, April 24.—(AP)—United States Senator George P. McLean of Connecticut will not be a candidate for renomination this fall, and he will not accept if such nomination is tendered, he says in a letter acknowledging receipt of a resolution adopted by the recent republican state convention asking him to reconsider his decision to relinquish office.

BUDGET PRESENTED IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

LONDON, April 24—(AP)—Revealing that under the Dawes plan Great Britain's receipts from debt settlements and reparations would nearly equal this coming year the amount which she must pay to the United States, Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, today told a crowded house of commons the condition of Great Britain's public purse.

In a three-hour speech which David Lloyd George and Philip Snowden afterwards declared was the most brilliant performance of Churchill's career, the chancellor of the exchequer called upon motorists to immolate themselves by paying a tax of four pence a gallon pertol for the benefit of the country's industries. He said that taxation on the industries would be reduced accordingly. He thought that considering the rapid fall in the price of petrol in recent years, this was an opportune time to impose the tax and he hoped it would not result in a reduction of consumption.

The address was so long that Mr. Churchill took a 30-minute rest interval in the middle of it to fortify his voice for the concluding section.

Concerning the Dawes plan receipts, he said, that the coming financial year would show an aggregate of nearly 32,000,000 pounds. He pointed out that this would not be far short of the 32,847,000 pounds which would be paid to the United States.

The total revenue for next year was estimated at 812,497,000 pounds (approximately $3,956,860,800). The expenses he thought would amount to 806,195,300, giving a surplus of about 6,300,000 pounds as compared with this year's surplus of 2,600,000 pounds.

Unemployment, he said, remained obstinately at the dismal figure of 1,000,000 persons but he hoped that his plan for industrial relief would do away with the long stagnation in the "basic industries which formerly were the glory of this island and vital to our export trade."

14 INCHES OF SNOW IN ONE SECTION OF MAINE

PORTLAND, Me., April 24—(AP)—A northeast snow and sleet storm sweeping over Maine had deposited up to 14 inches in one section and was still adding to a ten inch snowfall in Aroostook county tonight.

Communication and power lines went down under the soggy blanket, the Baldwin and Sebago Telephone company at Sebago reporting the worst storm damage in thirty years. Several days will be required to restore service.

With a ten inch fall during the day, it was still snowing at Caribou tonight. A 14 inch snow blanket since Saturday at Skowhegan had been reduced to eight to ten inches by milder weather today. Wires were down and sleighs were again in commission.

Automobile travel was considered hazardous in many sections. Weather experts said the danger of floods had been averted by the snowfall instead of rainfall.

Pierce, supervisor of secondary education will be in charge. At the opening dinner the speakers will be Dr. J. J. Tigert, U. S. commissioner of education and Dr. A. B. Meredith, state commissioner of education. G. S. Buck, Roy H. Walsh, Robert H. Earley and Dr. Arthur C. Sides will participate in a discussion of measurement of high schools Friday forenoon. This will be followed by a meeting of the Headmasters' association of Connecticut at 11 a. m.; luncheon at 12:15, speaker Dr. Clyde M. Hill; and general discussion of new type tests in high schools led by Roger M. Thompson at 2 p. m. The main discussion for Saturday forenoon will be on supervision and will be led by Worcester Warren and Egbert A. Case.

REV. H. S. McCREADY IS SPEAKER AT ROTARY CLUB

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 24—Rev. Harry S. McCready of Portland, Me., former pastor of the First Congregational church, rekindled friendships with his former associates of the Willimantic Rotary club at the weekly meeting held in the Nathan Hale hotel this noon. Upon being introduced by President Richard E. Dodge, Rev. Mr. McCready displayed his characteristic eloquence with a message of love and appreciation of mankind and nature. In answer to a call by Kenneth N. Hillhouse, chairman of the boys' work committee, several members volunteered to give one hour a day of their time to assist in the free swimming campaign at the Y. M. C. A. next week. Several guests who were invited in honor of Rev. McCready were: Rev. A. H. Wheelock of Auburn, Mass., father of Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock, Charles N. Branch of Springfield, N. Y., Wilson S. Wilmarth, Earl J. Arnold, George S. Elliott, H. Clinton Lathrop, Frank H. Foss and Charles W. Hill.

Erwin S. Collins of Columbia, died Monday night after a two weeks' illness. He was a native of Columbia, born March 25, 1850, the eldest son of the late Warren A. and Ella J. Collins. He was a member of the First Congregational church and Orient lodge No. 62, A. F. and A. M., of East Hartford. He was also affiliated with the Columbia Grange P. of H., and served as assistant steward of this organization. He was registrar of voters and a member of the board of assessors of Columbia for several years. Surviving the deceased are four sisters, the Misses Eva M. Collins and Myrtle M. Collins and Mrs. Raymond Lyman of Columbia and Miss Lura E. Collins of East Hartford, and three brothers, G. Cleveland Collins and Ernest W. Collins of East Hartford and Herbert C. Collins of this city.

The appeal for the Near East Relief was received locally through circulars sent through the mail today. Willimantic's quota is $1,800 and the time limit for raising the money is fixed as July 1, 1929. The request is made that pledges be forwarded to the local treasurer, H. Clinton Lathrop. The committee for Willimantic's drive in the campaign is composed of: Mrs. Katherine K. Lathrop, chairman; Alfred P. Abbe, John F. Ahern, Earl J. Arnold, Louis H. Arnold, Christopher C. Case, Mrs. Herbert R. Chappell, Edwin J. Donnelly, Mrs. Robert H. Fenton, Judge Frank H. Foss, James B. Fullerton, George H. Gurley, Justice George E. Hinman, Roland B. Jordan, Mrs. H. C. Lincoln, Mrs. George C. Moon, Raymond A. Parker, Mrs. David Reid, Mrs. John Reilly, Morgan R. St. John, George H. Shafer, Mrs. Albert B. Smith, Patrick J. Twomey, Mrs. Arthur B. Wheelock and Mrs. Frederick C. Williams.

Charles Justin, 56, colored, and Miss Eliza Hewitt, 48, white, were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Clarence Barlow of the Ashford town court this afternoon on charges of fornication. They were fined $35 and costs, amounting to $38.73 and sentenced to 30 days in jail. They were unable to pay the fines and will work them out in a jail sentence. The couple came to Westford from Willington some three years ago and lived as man and wife. It is understood that the woman left Justin and for the past month has been keeping house for Everett Talbot of Warrenville. The arrests were made by Sergeant Harris Hulbert and Officer Frank A. Starkel of the Stafford Springs barracks. The case was prosecuted by Grand Juror Otto Hattie.

Captain Jean B. Paulhus caretaker of the state armory at Hartford and former local resident, was a visitor in town today.

Additional visitors who came for the Congregational church centennial included Rev. E. P. Ayer of Branford, Mrs. Frank W. Cennedon and daughters, Mrs. Truman Woodard and Mrs. George Wilson of Wapping and Miss Ella Webster of Hartford.

Mrs. Frank W. Martin is entertaining Mrs. Charles L. Willis of Scotland.

Friends acted as bearers; from the Krakusow society were Jozef Glowacki, Stanislaw Boduch, Ludwig Papinski, Mateus Milunas, Piotrs Grzela and Maciej Koloolzeji. Mr. Kozlowski leaves his wife, children, brothers and sisters, besides many friends, who deeply mourn his death.

An interesting item in the American Red Cross News Service states that 28 exiled Russian children, pupils of a Russian school at Pestchera, Bulgaria, by voluntarily depriving themselves of sugar rations for two days, have raised the sum of five dollars to be used for the relief of American children who suffered in the New England floods last November. The contribution was forwarded to the American Red Cross, through the committee for the education of Russian Youth in Exile, with headquarters in Boston. It will be used in the reconstruction program which the American Red Cross is bringing forward toward completion in the flood-swept area. A letter from the head master of the Russian school transmitting the contribution explained that the children had no money to donate and only through their personal sacrifice could the amount be raised. He explained also that the action was entirely voluntary, the suggestion originating with the children themselves.

NOANK

E. Cini, who is painting Armstrong's new cottage on the boardwalk, at Groton Long Point, on Monday morning saw a large airplane flying about 25 feet above the water, bound for New York. Workmen on the boardwalk came running out to see it. Young Cini thought it was the Bremen making for Mitchel field from Greenly Island. About 20 workmen cheered and threw their hats in the air and lost about 30 minutes of work, to think that the two Germans and the Irishman made the trip O. K. from Greenly. Later they found it was another plane carrying the mail from Boston.

Miss Mae Sutherlund became the bride of Ellison Carroll this week, the ceremony being performed by Rev. P. L. Carruing at St. Mary's rectory. Arthur Van Wie was best man and Miss Regina Kilby was bride's maid. The bride wore a blue traveling suit and carried pink roses. The bridesmaid was attired in pink and carried white roses. Miss Sutherland is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roman Sutherland and is a graduate of Mystic high school. Mr. Carroll, when on the old Belmars baseball team several years ago was one of the best outfielders around this section. He was ready to try out for the big league but had to give up on account of being on a fishing trip. He is a molder at the Standard Machine company plant in Mystic and was given a substantial check as a gift from the company.

Following the ceremony there was a reception and wedding supper. Many from out of town were present. The office girls of the Mohican Co. in Pawtucket, R. I., came and presented her a breakfast set consisting of an electric percolator and dishes. Mr. and Mrs. Carroll left on a short auto honeymoon trip to Pawtucket, R. I. They will make their home in the village.

The dance at Unity hall given by the Fire Co. was attended by a large crowd including many from out of town. Hamyes' Singing orchestra of Niantic played. Floor Manager Sam Carson put on the Virginia Reel and four sets were on the floor. Prof. Jack Ellis called off. The old dances are coming back strong. Hanney with the violin put on a farmer's outfit and made music as in the good old times. Hanney got a big hand from the crowd. During intermission, H. Bracci dressed like Mary Anna and Arthur De Biaisi like Uncle Bim did the black bottom, while Douglas Wilbur of Providence sang Mary Anna and they were called back twice.

The champion trout fisherman of the village, John Allen Jr., claims he caught the largest trout of any other brook fishermen in Noank. Ben Chesebro a young fellow who is learning about trout fishing went with Flash McDonald to a brook in Ashwillett, found that the speckled fish were running good and biting like a horse fly in the summer. He caught one that was 12 inches long and weighed 1 3-4 lbs. so he holds the record for the largest trout and Champion Allen had to take off his hat to him. Young Chesbro said at first he thought it was a Big Ben alarm clock and it gave him a battle for several minutes but it did not get away. He got six more fish. Flash, his pal, took home seven trout for his supper.

Miss Eliza Laurence of Nantucket, Mass., is spending a few days with Miss Bessie Morgan.

Boat Betty C. with Capt. Chris at the wheel, came from fishing around Newport with a catch of 40 barrels of flatfish. Capt. Chris had only one day to fish as on the other days there was too much wind and rough weather. The boat stayed in Newport for a week, came home Monday and forwarded the fish to New York by truck. Reports come from Fulton market that prices are high and to ship all the fish that the fishermen can catch.

Maxson Langworthy left for New York on Monday to help his father Capt. Henry Langworthy bring back the fishing schooner, William Morse, of which Capt. Langworthy is the owner. The boat is to have a general overhauling which will take two weeks. It carries a crew of 14 men; they have been tile fishing all winter at Georges Banks. Capt. Langworthy encountered many bad days and the boat was tied up for a week at the dock in New York.

Prevent Flu—Check All Colds the Modern Way

Families in Norwich Urged to Be Careful.

While grip and influenza are so prevalent local people are urged to use this modern way of checking little colds before they become big:

Have a jar of Vicks VapoRub on hand ready for instant use at the first sign of every cold. When rubbed on throat and chest, or snuffed up the nose Vicks releases its ingredients in the form of medicated vapors which are breathed in direct to the infected parts.

In addition Vicks acts like a poultice and thus helps the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

To prevent colds lowering the vitality and thus paving the way for flu and pneumonia, they should be treated direct and instantly—as you would an infected finger.

DANIELSON

MEETING OF GRAND JURY AT WILLIMANTIC FRIDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, April 24—Willimantic will witness next Friday morning at 11 o'clock the preliminary court procedure that is expected to lead eventually to the trial in this county of Roland G. Lalone and Albert G. Raymond for the murder of State Officer Irving H. Nelson.

This preliminary will consist of a grand jury presentment of all the evidence that state officers from the Danielson barracks have been able to accumulate tending to demonstrate that Raymond and Lalone are fugitives from justice in this state and that there is sufficient ground for the convening of a grand jury to consider this evidence and determine whether it should return true bills against the prisoners, which would involve indicting them for the killing.

Today Sheriff Charles A. Gates was in consultation with State Attorney Howard C. Bradford relative to the convening of the grand jury, which the sheriff will personally select. State Attorney Bradford said that the personnel of the grand jury, which will include an attorney and a physician, in addition to sixteen other jurors likely will not be made known until Friday morning. It is understood that it likely will be representative of various sections of the county.

During the presentment to be made to this grand jury a number of witnesses will testify, including, it is anticipated, some of the state officers from the Danielson barracks.

Starting the Connecticut proceedings against Raymond and Lalone calls to mind that it was in Willimantic that the car in which Lalone and Raymond are alleged to have been riding on the night State Officer Nelson was killed was first seen in this state and that from Willimantic came the telephone call to the Danielson barracks that sent Officer Nelson, and other officers, from the Danielson barracks on what proved to be a fatal trip.

A new angle of considering just how to handle the Lalone-Raymond case was put forward today by a Windham county attorney. It has to do with whether it would be best to try them for the crimes they are alleged to have committeed in Massachusetts, with a practical certainty of the prisoners receiving life sentences, or to bring them back into Connecticut, where a death penalty awaits them if they are found guilty of murder in the first degree.

Strong as the case against them appears to be in this state, there is always the chance, this attorney points out, of their slipping out of the net that appears to be so tightly drawn around them, and thereafter arises the difficulty of trying them for alleged crimes in Massachusetts after that state had turned them over to Connecticut for trial here. All in all, this angle seems to be one for lawyers to ponder over, and not so much the layman.

As matters stood today, the program seemed to be to go ahead with the arrangements for the convening of a grand jury at Willimantic next Friday morning and with the presentment that it is planned to make.

One who browses over such matters calls attention to a detail in connection with using the town tax lists for making assessments of borough properties that has not occurred to the average citizen. It has to do with taxing motor vehicles and represents a little difficulty.

The contention is that the value of a motor vehicle, of any kind, this spring, is not what it was last October 1, when the town assesments were handed in. The value of such vehicles, it is held, is not as high in almost any case, either for sale or taxation purposes, now as on October 1 last. Therefore, it is claimed that the borough should make concessions on motor vehicles assesments from the values fixed on them by the assessors for the town last fall. Several hundred motor cars are owned within the limits of the borough of Danielson. The assessed value of them runs into scores of thousands of dollars. That's why motorists will look to borough officials to consider this when making up the borough tax list. It is held by the man who pays to be an important point.

It appeared to be clearly indicated this afternoon that the adoption of daylight saving will be general by manufacturing concerns thoruxhout the town of Killingly the coming week. Two plants of Powdrell and Alexander here and their plants at Attawaugan, Ballouville and Pineville all will adopt the fast time. Another big plant here that will be on the faster time is that of the Quinebaug company. At Dayville the Assawaga Woolen company will be operating on daylight saving time next Monday morning, and so also will be the mill of the Killingly Worsted company at Elmville. Two plants at East Killingly, those of the Acme Products company and of Davis and Brown also will abandon standard time for the faster time the first of the week. The change has no effect upon the big plant of the Goodyear Mills, Inc., for there is a day and night operating arrangement there that has been in effect for years.

It was also indicated this afternoon that the industrial communities of the town of Plainfield also will be on the fast time. All plants have not made announcements as to their plans as yet, but some of them will change from standard to daylight time for operation. Among those that will change to the fast time is the big plant of Aldrich Bros., at Moosup.

Here's a proposition. Several years ago the state released some brown trout in streams hereabouts, some of them within the town of Killingly. If anyone has ever caught any of these trout, they never have been publicly exhibited in Danielson. Having that in mind, a sportsman who prefers to remain anonymous authorizes The Bulletin to state that he will pay $1.00 per pound for the first brown trout brought in. It is to be delivered to the writer, who, in turn, will pass it on to the man who thinks it's worth so much and who really wants to find out whether the big trout lived or perished. This looks like a good bet for a fisherman who likes fun and is liable to get paid for having it. This is not to be regarded as a fish purchasing business, contrary to the law. Rather the money will be as a reward for knowledge and not as a per pound purchase arrangement, though that will be the basis of settlement. And it only applies for just one fish.

Beginning next Sunday, Rev. Albert Abbott, the pastor announced today, services at the Methodist Episcopal church will be scheduled on daylight saving time.

Friday evening of this week there is to be a meeting of the Quinebaug Valley Circuit league at the town hall in Oneco.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Sacks of Providence were visitors with friends in Danielson today.

If you ask the youngsters, they will tell you that next Tuesday is prospectively a big day for them—the first of May, with its promise of May baskets, parties.

The third ceremonial meeting of the Wakitatina Camp Fire Girls was an interesting event for the members.

Fishermen who went out for trout this morning returned to toil of meadows being overflowed with water after the almost steady storming since last Saturday night.

Among the plants in this community that is running splendidly just now is that of the Assawaga Woolen company of Dayville.

Several hundred dogs in Killingly remain to be registered before next Tuesday night if their owners would escape paying the extra assessment that goes with payment delayed beyond that date.

J. Carl Witter and N. A. Witter were in Providence on a business trip today.

Steady progress is being made when weather permits on the construction of the new highway bridge over the Moosup river at Central Village.

Recent releases of trout hereabouts by the state fish and game commission is assurance of interesting catches as soon as suitable weather arrives.

No definite information was available here today as to the new train schedule effective early next Sunday morning, but announcement as to this is assured for later in the week.

In connection with the various changes effective next Sunday on account of the return of dyalight saving time, the postoffice will open an hour earlier than at present, on a standard time basis, but this will not change the hours for the public who have their clocks or watches set on daylight time. And the same applies to closing time.

It is anticipated that work on the cut-off for the Providence highway, starting from Main at Hutchins street will be underway in from two to three weeks. The work will not be completed until well into the summer.

PUTNAM

RAYMOND WING TO BE NEW COUNTY AGENT

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 24.—A meeting of the special committee appointed by the directors of the Windham County Farmers association to recommend a new man to succeed County Agent Frank L. Davis, was held Monday afternoon at the rooms on Main street. Of the three applications presented the committee appointed Raymond Wing of Doylestown, Penn., to take over the position of county agent for the association. The directors of the association met last evening and approved of Mr. Wing's appointment as head of the local farm bureau. The new agent is a graduate of Connecticut Agricultural college, class of 1924. Since his graduation from Storrs, Mr. Wing has been actively engaged in the direction of agriculture in Connecticut, and previous to coming to Putnam, Mr. Wing has been teaching in a national agricultural school in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Wing will succeed County Agent Frank L. Davis, of Putnam, who resigned April 4, after having been head of the local farm bureau for over eight years. Mr. Davis will leave Putnam on May 1 for Boston where he will be connected with the Boston food and dairy council. Mr. Wing is now in Putnam for a few days but will not assume his new duties until June 1.

Monday at Putnam High school was college choosing day and was under the direction of County Secretary L. Edwin Hill of the Windham County Y. M. C. A. Mr. Hill had secured men and students from the various New England colleges to come to Putnam and talk on the way in which a high school graduate should pick out his school of higher learning. Colleges that sent representatives were: Holy Cross, Worcester, Mass.; Brown college, Providence, R. I.; Northeastern university of Boston, Mass.; Connecticut Agricultural college of Storrs, Conn.; Bryant Stratton Business school of Providence, R. I.; Connecticut College for Women of New London; and Boston university, of Boston. Each representative spoke on his college and spoke individually to Putnam students interested. The college men have also spoken at the schools of Killingly and Plainfield and the statistics show that from these graduates will go to the following colleges: Brown 60, Northeastern 21, Holy Cross 23, Connecticut Aggies 24, Bryant Stratton 46, Boston University 14 and Connecticut college for Women 4.

Mr. Hill felt that this is one of the outstanding aids for the choosing of a school that could be worked up by the officials of the school.

Plans for the gathering of the state checker champions at Putnam on Saturday to compete for the 1928 honors in Eastern Connecticut have all been completed. The meet will be held Saturday at the Masonic Club rooms on south Main street, beginning at 3 o'clock and will continue until the championship has been won. The local players that are sponsoring the meet have adopted the single knockout plan and four games will constitute a round of play. Suitable prizes will be awarded to the victors.

Members of the Putnam checker club are expecting contestants from Norwich, Willimantic, Salem, North Franklin, New London, Killingly and North Grosvenordale.

C. E. Hallen, Lebanon, now champion of Eastern Connecticut, will defend his title at this meet. William P. Warren, of Putnam, who is rated as an expert on the checker board and holder of state second place honors, looms up a possible winner Saturday. Many other Putnam men who hold high ratings in the checker circles are slated to be in the race for honors on Saturday afternoon.

Members of the Putnam fire department were called out at 6:15 Monday evening to answer the 52nd alarm of the year. Monday's fire was of the chimney nature and was a four stroke call, at the home of A. Magnant, at 21 Battery street. After pouring large volumes of chemicals into the chimney the firemen thought that the flames had become extinct. They returned to fire headquarters on Main street and were recalled in a few minutes to the same building. This time the firemen cleaned over fourteen barrels of soot from the chimney. No damage was done to the dwelling house.

Chief Thurston stated Tuesday that 1928 has been one of the worst years for fire alarms since he has been at the head of the department. There has been an average of 13 calls a month since the first of the year, nearly a 50 percent increase over last year's number of fire calls.

Word has been received from Private Henry Bugbee of the United States Marine Corps now stationed in Haiti. Private Bugbee gave a vivid description of life in the marine corps in the sunny south. Private Bugbee has compared the weather of Haiti to that of the New England spring weather. He states that the climate at Cape Haiten is now equal to that of Putnam's hot balmy summer days, and has described the work that the government is doing through the marines for the betterment of living conditions in Haiti.

Putnam police are still working on every possible clue in order to apprehend the burglars who entered the store of Noel Dupre on Main street last week. On Tuesday, Captain Jarvis of the Putnam police issued circulars containing information that will lead to the arrest of the looters, to police departments in surrounding cities.

Through a stock report police have obtained a good description of every piece of the merchandise taken. This has greatly aided the police in their search. Captain Jarvis stated Tuesday that no new developments had been discovered in the case.

Many interested spectators attended the annual "Open Night" of the students of the State trade school. All departments of the school were in full operation during the evening. The large institution of learning was beautifully decorated with long strings of electric lights. Lights forming a canopy at the entrance were all installed by boys of the electrical department under the direction of James McCormick of the department. The decorations added beautifully to the appearance of the large buildings from the street. The 11th annual celebration was considered by Director H. H. Ellis, of the school, the most successful ever held.

EPIDEMIC OF MEASLES AT NORTH GROSVENORDALE

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 24.—It was reported in Putnam Tuesday that an epidemic of measles had broken out among children of North Grosvenordale. Eighteen cases of the disease were reported to the health officials of the town this morning. The officials are now carefully guarding against a general spread of the disease. North Grosvenordale, which is only a short distance from Putnam, is the first town in the county to have such a sudden outbreak of the disease. Health officials of Putnam, in checking up among school children, have found the city to be free from measles.

Information was received in Putnam Tuesday by officials of the Putnam sporting club that no settlement in the recent A. A. U. boxing dispute has been reached and bouts that are scheduled will still be further postponed until the ban has been permanently lifted by officials of the state commission.

The Putnam water question is again before the public as the committee of both sides have again taken issue on the question. The action taken by the Water commissioners saying that they are now agreeable to any action the city council might take on the question to improve the city water system. Their statement that they would not engage any other engineer to draw up plans means that the water committee or the mayor might have to draw another plan for improvement and this will probably mean another series of long drawn out discussions that will delay construction. As was the case a few months ago the city water problem has again become the topic of general interest to any gatherings.

THE CAUSE OF MANY ACCIDENTS

One of the deplorable facts in connection with the large number of highway accidents and fatalities is the many children who are struck down and killed. In most of the instances they represent needless deaths, the crushing out of the lives of those who should be numbered among the future citizens.

Despite the efforts which are made to impress upon children the dangers of the highways and the importance of protecting themselves, they are in so many instances found courting injury. Frequent are the instances where they are found jumping heedlessly into the street in pursuit of one thing or another without paying any attention to the vehicles that may be near them. Others when given ample warning that an automobile is approaching move reluctantly while there are those who will rush up to a machine to see how near they can come to the wheels without getting struck. In an attitude of defiance some will stand in the center of the street and invite trouble.

While there are too many instances where children are hit and injured, the conduct of some of them is such that the wonder is that the number isn't much larger than it is.

The instructions which are given to school in behalf of safety and the part which they must play themselves in insuring it are well directed. Unfortunately in some instances such efforts get no more heed than some of the other lessons, but it is not to be expected that the children are to get all their warnings from the teachers. There is a responsibility resting upon the parents and until that is exercised to the full extent there will always be those who will be found throwing themselves into danger instead of keeping out of it.

The problem of the auto driver endeavoring to meet present day conditions is not a slight one. He most certainly has his responsibilities and restrictions, but he also has reason to expect that others, including children of school age, will be sufficiently concerned in their own welfare to avoid acts which will place them under the wheels of an auto. Not until everyone does his part for his own safety can it be expected that there will be a reduction in the number of accidents and fatalities.

ADVANTAGES QUICKLY RECOGNIZED

What the acquisition of the Cape Cod canal by the government and the opening of it to all vessels means to shipping is indicated by the fact that since the change went into effect and tolls were dropped there have been about 100 vessels a day using the waterway. This means, of course, that some have gone through out of curiosity quite the same as every new attraction is inspected, but there is no doubt but what many which would otherwise have circled the cape have taken advantage of the safe and short cut.

If there are 100 a day which have made use of the canal within the month it is effective evidence that even larger numbers can be expected as small vessels plying along the coast and not requiring deeper water will take advantage of the benefits provided. That is only natural and it is what is anticipated. This waterway, like an improved highway which permits of better time at less expense, is bound to be used and the regret of those which do not take such a route will be that the depth of water forces them to go round the cape.

But while the canal is serving an increased number of vessels during the first month it is opened to all and it is not entirely prompted behoovment must give attention to the deepening and widening of the waterway. This is not a sudden demand and it is not entirely prompted because of the recent grounding of a large passenger vessel within the canal. It has been recognized for sometime that it was not possible to give the right amount of attention to the maintenance of the canal under private ownership. The patronage was not sufficient to provide funds to go into improvements such as were needed, but now that the government has taken it over it will be expected to give it the same attention that it does others.

Surveys will be necessary to determine just what is required in the way of dredging and widening. Likewise the use to which the canal is put will determine to a considerable extent the changes needed to better accommodate the vessels using it and those which would take such a short cut if they could.

SEADROMES

The idea of establishing a floating landing place, or several of them, out in the Atlantic for the purpose of facilitating the establishment of an airplane service between this country and Europe is not a new one. It is revived again, however, at a time when increased interest is being taken in long distance flying and the problems involved in crossing the ocean.

The plan would be to construct and anchor a large platform that would be raised above the waves but float on the ocean on which flying machines could land in case of trouble or lack of fuel. One fantastic view has been to establish hotels at such points for those who want to stop over and get the ocean breezes.

There has been no great amount of enthusiasm awakened by such a scheme, although it is always possible to present proof and convince the doubting Thomases, that is quite a necessary thing before much faith would be placed in such a huge floating platform and hotel, for such a structure placed out in the briny and subject to all kinds of storms and conditions hardly inspires confidence.

Interest will center of course on proving the feasibility of establishing and maintaining such seadromes. If one can be built and made to stand the buffeting it would be certain to get there would be a greater willingness to endorse the project and that is what needs to be done.

In these days of doing next to the impossible one hesitates to declare that what appear to be dreamy ideas cannot be put into operation. Doubt can be eliminated by proving the claim. If the backers of the seadrome idea can set one up 400 miles or so off the coast, or out in midocean and give it a test under all conditions that are certain to be experienced it could be quickly demonstrated how effective such a scheme would be. It is quite evident that such proof will have to be produced before any such filling or relief station for flying machines will be leased out in the broad Atlantic.

M'LEAN'S DECISION

From the statement which has been made by Senator McLean it became apparent that the report which circulated a few months ago was well founded. The decision is one that will be learned throughout the state will sincere regret.

Senator McLean has been a most valuable representative of the state of Connecticut in the upper house of congress. His services have been conspicuous and the standing he has gained is not excelled. It was inevitable that Connecticut should desire his return for another term and had he been willing to accept a renomination there is no question but what he would have received it and also the election.

When the recent state republican convention adopted a resolution urging him to accept a renomination it was hoped to influence such a decision as well as to express the sentiment of the republicans in convention assembled. Senator McLean has, however, sought to retire from the duties at Washington before the time has apparently arrived when there is only one answer, regrettable as that may be. In his statement of the case he leaves no question but what his decision is final.

In the acceptance of that decision, however reluctant it may be, Connecticut recognizes the high grade service which Senator McLean has rendered to his state and country. Placed upon committees of the greatest responsibility his judgment has always received the highest respect in Washington and his retirement from the senatorship will be learned with quite as keen regret in that body as it is in his own state.

Connecticut has sent many prominent men to the United States senate and conspicuous among them is bound to be the name of George P. McLean.

CHAUNCEY DEPEW'S GIFT

In the gift of a million dollars to Yale university Chauncey M. Depew displayed through his will that same high regard for his alma mater that he did through life. Possessed of the means he used it in a worthy manner. It was as if he intended it should discharge some of the debt which he felt he owed the institution for the advantages which it helped to place in his way.

He is not the first to have made such a remembrance to Yale or other similar institutions. Others have even given more, but a conspicuous feature of this gift is that it is without strings. It is to be used for such purpose, or purposes, as the institution sees fit.

Perhaps Mr. Depew experienced on various occasions the effect of gifts made for a specific object and found that through the changing years there came a time when a restricted fund was a serious handicap. It would almost seem as if it was his purpose to avoid anything of the kind. Evidently he was satisfied to entrust the spending of the gift to those who have the best interests of the institution at heart, and realized that those who had occasion to employ any part of it a decade or a quarter of a century from now would better understand the needs and requirements of the university then than is possible today. Likewise it is possible such an institution to be overloaded with funds for definite objects without having sufficient means for meeting important requirements.

It was evidently the purpose of Mr Depew to help Yale as a whole, not some particular feature of it, and he took a most effective metohd of doing it.

THE THIRD CYLINDER

Susanna's slow, unwilling feet were carrying her relentlessly toward the office of Marvin & Co., and she wished they weren't. Going to the office of Marvin & Co. this morning did not mean as much as it had meant yesterday morning or the morning before that. Something big had gone out of Susanna's life.

Yesterday her salary had been $18 a week, and she had been working harder than any girl ought to work for that amount. But there had been compensations. Each afternoon she had been called into Mr. Thayer's office to take his dictation, and there she had sat, making precise little marks mechanically while her heart palpitated under her jersey dress and her eyes wandered from Mr. Thayer's curly black hair to the cleft in his chin, then to his even white teeth, and so back to his hair. And each morning she had sat at her machine and transcribed those notes with a touch as loving as it was rapid!

That had been yesterday. Yesterday she had gulped her breakfast down and hurried to her train, happy and eager to be going to the job that paid only $18 a week because of the compensations.

But today was today. And those afternoons with Mr. Thayer were a thing of the past. Yesterday some men had come to the office, and when they had left there had stood beside Mr. Thayer's desk a new, shining dictating machine. No more personal dictation; no more glances stolen at wavy, black hair, at a cleft chin! Only a thin voice coming unnaturally through a set of ear phones.

Having reached the office, she sat down to her machine, dusted her desk and listlessly prepared to take off a cylinder. But her mind could not slough off its memories nor her heart its burden of gloom.

There had been that afternoon when he had dictated only a few letters, and they had talked for a few minutes before quitting time.

"I am certainly fortunate in having such a stenographer, Miss Wells," he had said with a brilliant smile. "You are almost perfect, I think." How she had blushed! But she had managed to thank him and stammer:

"I love to take your dictation, Mr. Thayer." He was pleased at that, and soon they were conversing like old friends. She had told him of some of her parties, of how she loved to dance, while he had listened indulgently and smiled his interest.

"I'll wager you're as graceful as a fairy on the dance floor," he had said admiringly, his eyes twinkling. "Some time we must dance together, mustn't we?" She had almost swooned, and from that day on she was more his devoted slave than ever. Of course, he had never gone any further with that suggestion, but they had other little talks, and he had shown her by all sorts of little ways that he liked to be near her. With a sigh of despair she started the machine. Mr. Thayer's voice came, low and distinct. Of course, Mr. Thayer had a perfect dictating voice.

But there was no thrill in it for Susanna. Mechanically she took off that cylinder, then another, and a third. Then, toward the end of the third, her head, bent over the typewriter, was raised suddenly.

"—— will return your invoice as soon as possible. Very sincerely yours, ——." And then—"Hello, Miss Wells. That's all for this time. And say, Miss Wells, I hate these dictating machines. It's not nearly so nice as talking to you. In fact, I'm going to miss not talking to you. And we've never had that dance together, have we?" There was a low laugh. "So, Miss Wells, if you'd do me the favor of letting me take you to dinner tonight, type me a little note and put it with my mail."

As Susanna jumped from her chair and dashed out the door one of the other stenographers said excitedly: "Heavens, girls, is Susanna sick? She looked like she was crying!"—Chicago News.

YOUR HEALTH

CROSS EYES.

By George Francis Suker, M. D., and Beulah Cushman, M. D., Chicago.

Crossed eyes or strabismus are terms used when the eyes do not move co-ordinately and may be either internal or external. In the former the one eye turns toward the nose and in the latter it turns outward, while the fixing eye follows the object viewed. The suppression of vision takes place in the turning eye to avoid seeing double, and is the great handicap in internal strabismus, probably less so in the external form. Strabismus may be due to paralysis of the muscle that turns the eye in or out. In such a case the eye with the paralyzed muscle cannot turn as far as the other eye in the direction of the paralyzed muscle. In strabismus not due to a paralyzed muscle, each eye can turn in or out as far as the other, when tried separately.

The non-paralytic strabismus is due to the development of one eye, and in eyes which are quite markedly farsighted the general rule is for one eye to be used in preference to the other, because it is less farsighted or less astigmatic and does not tend to fix therefore turns, and usually inward.

This condition may show up any time from birth up to 12 or 13 years of age, but in general becomes noticeable when the child is tired or sick and frequently shows up after such illnesses as whooping cough and measles. The illness has not caused the condition of the eyes, but the poor fixation in the one eye becomes noticeable. It gradually becomes more evident until it is more or less constant.

The vision in the eye that crosses is usually less than the straight one, although in some cases the vision may be the same in each eye, then one eye is used for near work and the other for distant vision. In these cases the eyes often alternate. First one eye turns in or out, then the other.

The treatment in such eyes is a thorough examination and, in the majority of cases, glasses and exercises will correct the condition and permit the development of the unused eye, if the treatment is started early. Otherwise the unused eye is as a blind eye for practical purposes, and, although it may be developed to some extent later in life, it never becomes an eye with normal vision. The treatment of strabismus due to paralysis of eye muscle must be directed toward the original cause, which is usually an infection after diphtheria, influenza, or brain tumor.

The eyes can be straightened by operation any time for cosmetic results. It is seldom that the vision is improved by operation, but the psychological effect on the child or adult is of great benefit many times.

Finally, let us emphasize the need of early and immediate care of children, when the eyes begin to turn, in order to keep the vision in both eyes more nearly equal, thereby preventing a lifelong handicap and the possibility of operation later.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Matter of Consolidation.

Mr. Editor.

It is true that 13 years ago to meet the strongly organized and fortified drive of certain powerful special interests seeking to divide the town many citizens appeared before a legislative committee in Hartford and declared themselves some on one condition and some on others against the annexation of any part of the town to the city.

At that time I was one of counsel for the city and have a complete stenographic report of all the testimony then offered. It is likewise true that all sorts of overtures were made by both the city and the town for an amicable agreement and adjustment as to differences of opinion on public and economic policies involved in the question of either a subdivision of the town or the annexation by the city of all or part of the town.

It is further true that such overtures were spurned, not accepted or in any way received or met by those seeking to divide the town in order that a possible annexation of some part of the town to the city might be forestalled or indefinitely postponed.

The issue was squarely and hotly contested with sharp division of opinion until the committee on new towns and probate districts by a very narrow margin after a spirited executive session voted to reject and disapprove the petition for the creation of the town of Old Norwich.

There can hardly be anything more innocuous than the following resolution which will be offered at the special city meeting on Thursday evening:

Resolved: That the mayor, senior alderman, corporation counsel, president of the board of water commissioners, chief of the fire department and president of the gas and electric commission all ex officio with seven other electors of the city to be forthwith chosen by the plurality vote of the foregoing shall constitute a commission to devise, consider and report to a special city meeting to be called and held not later than October 15, 1928, its conclusions, advice, suggestions and recommendations as to the wisdom, justice, propriety and equity of the annexation of any part of the town of Norwich to the city of Norwich or the annexation of the entire town to the city making the city boundary lines coextensive with the town lines.

Said commission is further empowered and directed to recommend to said special city meeting the terms and conditions of any annexation advised by said commission and if the annexation of any part of town by the city be approved by said commission then it shall report its recommendations as to a referendum on said question also on the matter of the creation of taxing districts or other provisions and conditions which may to it seem fair and equitable together with a plan whereby any private corporations within the town and operating public utilities may be fairly compensated for such utilities upon the finding, appraisal and award of a judge of the superior court or otherwise.

Surely the city electors do not want to absolutely forego their right and privilege of consideration and deliberation any more than the residents of the town outside of the city want to enjoy the utilities and protection of the city without incurring obligations therefore.

By the passage of the above resolution at the special meeting on Thursday next an opportunity is afforded for full and free discussion and careful consideration. Ample time is allowed and the opportunity to be heard will be afforded so that all interests can be safeguarded and none placed in jeopardy.

EDWIN W. HIGGINS.

Asks For Legend of the Fairy Fuel.

Mr. Editor:

I wish to thank J. T. sincerely for his kind interpretation of my pen-name, and would like to hear his version of the legend of the fairy fuel, the glow of which draws back the wandering hearts to the hearth fires and rose covered thatched cottages. Though waves divide and friends betide us, we come back, tired and weary, down the long road of rough cobble-stones, to gather once more with the loved ones at close of day, to look deep in the embers of the peat fires, these seeing the well-remembered faces of those who have gone west.

THE BINSHEE.

Plainfield, April 20, 1928.

The Smoking Evil.

Mr. Editor: The Honorable Joseph Choat addressing the Bankers Association of New York a quarter of a century ago, employed in his eloquent plea on behalf of high professional ethics, the classic phrase of Edmund Burke, "The chastity of honor which felt a stain like a wound."

As I read this morning in the Los Angeles Times that the Methodist clergymen of the New York East conference had recommended a memorial be sent to the general conference that that body eliminate the clause in the discipline of the church requiring prospective clergy to say they will not use tobacco, I felt the church at large must feel that it had received a cruel wound, for the "chastity" of their religion had received a stain it would be impossible to remove. The Methodist church and the Seventh Day Adventists have been the only religious organizations except the W. C. T. U that have openly acknowledged nicotine to be a poison, therefore to be shunned by their followers.

The Greek philosophers, Plato, upon whose writings much of our present day philosophy has been built, said, "Good education is that which gives to the soul and body all the perfection of which they are capable." It is known beyond dispute that nicotine in any form is a poison and there can not be a "prospective clergyman" ignorant of the fact; for it has been taught in all the public schools in our country for many years. It is indeed sad to find that there is a section of this church that has stood out against this vice of the flesh and the devil that has in this intelligent age fallen from grace. It is unthinkable that the church at large will endorse the action of the N. Y East conference.

Recently I asked some college students, whom I had known in Sunday School, why they did not go to church any more. They replied, we were taught as boys, that the use of tobacco was a sin and we do not smoke, and we do not propose to listen to the gospel preached from lips stained by it for most ministers do smoke. Is it strange that our young people are straying away from our churches when they see how many of the ministers and members of the churches use a poison that has been scientifically proven to weaken the heart, mars the delicate cells of the brain and weakens the nervous system! How can they have confidence in their sincerity when they see them indulging in this vice! It is time to do some serious thinking if America is not to perish as other countries have. The general tendency today is downward.

I have heard doctors say that when women smoked the race was doomed. The increase in women who smoke is rapidly on the increase. Let us take to heart Plato's beautiful thought: "Good education is that which gives to the soul and body all the perfection that they are capable of."

Time To Do Something

Mr. Editor: Why is it the town does not want to be annexed to the city? Is it because they have only one tax to pay and get every privilege we city taxpayers have, except sewers, and not all city taxpayers have the sewer yet?

Why should the town have the right to our city water, our electric light and gas plant paying the same rates that we city and town tax payers do, also getting the benefit of the 40 per cent April reduction on their bill that the city taxpayers on the plant got for April? If they have the use of our water, gas and electricity let them pay a bigger rate than the double taxpayers do. Why are our city taxpayers buying land, houses and buildings outside the city line? For the reason they can get city improvements for one tax. I believe they should pay the same as the taxpayer who has to support the running expense and pay off the debt of these city improvements for which they pay only one tax while we city property holders pay two taxes. Let them come in the city and pay equal, or if they stay as city and town give them a higher rate for city improvements. I am in favor of a new city charter also.

We have got away from the old days of hoop skirts and long dresses. Let's come down to modern times with our charter. The candle is blown out, electricity is here, why not be up to date?

Stories That Recall Others

B. V. D'S.

Harold and Martin, aged four and five, digressed from an animated talk on automobiles into the school question.

"I'm five an' old enough to go to kindergarten," Martin said, "and when you go to school you got to say your B. V. D's."

Ain't Teachers Just Like That

Junior is a kindergartener, and usually comes home beaming with the joys of his days. Still "into each life some rain must fall; some days must be dark and dreary."

Said Junior arrived at his parental putting-up place one afternoon, and his face was as serious as Lindy's when addressing a girls' school.

"Why, Junior, dear! What's the matter?" exclaimed the amazed mamma.

No answer.

Finally the young man was led to a corner and an explanation demanded.

"Well, mother, you see it was like this," he began, using the caution so familiar in his sex. "Teacher pinched me and then led me around by the pinch!"

Little Talks on Thrift

Teaching of Thrift in Schools Rapidly Gaining Headway Throughout Nation.

More and more interest throughout the country is being shown in the introduction of thrift teachings in the schools. In hundreds of cities and towns throughout the country, educational authorities a this spring definitely considering the problem, and it is a safe statement to make that literally thousands of school pupils within another year will be studying thrift along sound scientific lines.

This work is supplementary to the development of the school savings bank, and this is one of the important reasons why children should be given instructions in real thrift. The school bank is an excellent medium through which the child may be taught the value of saving money, but saving money is by no means all there is to thrift.

A prominent school authority recently brought out the point that the school savings bank gives the child an increased appreciation of its own possessions but does not do anything to foster an appreciation of the possessions of others. The school bank also does not develop an appreciation of the value of eliminating various forms of waste. It has been demonstrated, too, that children of the earlier grades, where the school savings bank has been introduced, are enthusiastic savers but that when they get into the higher grades where the temptations to spend are greater, they give up their savings habits.

Additional proof might be brought forth to show that, while the school savings bank is absolutely above criticism and is an indispensable feature of the modern school, it does not go far enough.

The children of our schools today are entitled to a broader thrift education than they can secure through the school bank alone.

It is to be noted with much interest, therefore, that The American Society for Thrift has now prepared and issued a definite outline for the study of thrift in the schools, which can be followed in any of the grades from one to eight, exclusive. With their definite outline, the development of the school thrift movement from now on should be rapid.

It is to be remembered that the children who, within the coming year, will begin studying thrift on sound lines, will within another decade or so, be taking their places as men and women in the world, with the full responsibility of business and home life resting upon them. It will be of incalculable value to them that ere such a day they will have learned the full value of thrift.—By B. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

Actions speak louder than words, but they do not speak as often.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Scienitfic and Useful

Denmark now receives electricity from Sweden by submarine cable.

Chairs and other articles of furniture are now made entirely from old newspapers pressed into rolls and varnished.

Film coating made from wood-fibre cellulose instead of gelatine may revolutionize photographic methods. It is said to permit ten-minute development, including drying of the wet negative.

A vacuum tube with a power of 15,000 watts, sending out wireless waves of only six metres in length, than can light electric lamps without wires or sockets, produce a warmth in nearby spectators, and cook sausages in a glass tube without fire, is one of the latest wireless wonders.

"SALADA" TEA

Overtake the "72"?

...well, hardly!

If CHRYSLER "72" were merely more beautiful—if it were just an average good value—it would deserve no special consideration from the buyer.

But it clamors for his consideration and demands his attention by reason of a gauge and proof of greater value which cannot be escaped.

CHRYSLER "72"

All cars today seek to approximate Chrysler "72" performance by patterning after Chrysler engineering. But after three years of striving, how close are they to the "72" today? No closer than they were three years ago.

As they have struggled to approach, Chrysler "72" has pulled away and gallops around and past them with more than the ease of the old original Chrysler sensation-car of 1924.

There may be pocketbook reasons for choosing cars of lesser price than the "72." There simply cannot be a valid reason for paying as much or more for any car other than the "72."

Illustrious New Chrysler "72" Prices—Two-passenger Coupe (with rumble seat), $1545; Royal Sedan, $1595; Sport Roadster (with rumble seat), $1595; Four-passenger Coupe, $1595; Town Sedan, $1695; Convertible Coupe (with rumble seat), $1745; Crown Sedan, $1795. *All prices f. o. b. How Much Water Should Baby Get?

A Famous Authority's Rule

By Ruth Brindze

Baby specialists agree nowadays that during the first six months babies must have three ounces of fluid per pound of body weight daily. An eight pound baby, for instance, needs twenty-four ounces of fluid. Later on the rule is two ounces of fluid per pound of body weight. The amount of fluid absorbed by a breast fed baby is best determined by weighing him before and after feeding for the whole day; and it is easily calculated for the bottle fed one. Then make up any deficiency with water.

Giving baby sufficient water often relieves his feverish, crying, upset and restless spells. If it doesn't, give him a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. For these and other ills of babies and children such as colic, cholera, diarrhea, gas on stomach and bowels, constipation, sour stomach, loss of sleep, underweight, etc., leading physicians say there's nothing so effective. It is purely vegetable—the recipe is on the wrapper—and millions of mothers have depended on it in over thirty years of ever increasing use. It regulates baby's bowels, makes him sleep and eat right, enables him to get full nourishment from his food, so he increases in weight as he should. With each package you get a book on Motherhood worth its weight in gold.

Just a word of caution. Look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the package so you'll be sure to get the genuine. The forty cent bottle contain thirty-five doses.

PLANNING TO OPEN WEST SIDE RECREATION GROUNDS

The West End Community association is making plans for the opening of the recreation field in the West Side section of the city. At a business meeting of the association held Monday evening at the Elizabeth street school house Frank I. Royce, Frank Fields and Horace Corning were appointed a committee to arrange for the opening of the field. Although there is some work to be done at the recreation field before it will be in first class condition, it is available at the present time for base ball games.

Charles Parsons, president of the association, presided at the meeting. Leonard Partridge submitted his reports as secretary and treasurer and Miss Dorothy Holden made a report of the Valentine party. Frank Fields reported on the minstrel show which netted the association treasury a good sized sum.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Hugh Henry Osgood

With a very large attendance of relatives and friends, the funeral of Mrs. Hugh Henry Osgood was held at the Osgood Memorial parish house Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The body lay in state at the parish house from Monday afternoon up to the funeral hour. Rev. Samuel H. Howe, D. D., pastor of Park Congregational church, conducted the service at the parish house. The very large attendance included relatives and friends from Hinton, Iowa, New York city, Philadelphia and Boston and there were present delegations from the Lee & Osgood Co., the W. W. Backus Hospital Alumnae association, the executive board of the Woman's Federation of Park church, Faith Trumbull Chapter, D. A. R. Inc., and many other local people.

The mourners were ushered to their places by Weston C. Pullen, Benedict C. Pullen and W. Manley Eastwood. There was a wealth of very beautiful floral tributes.

The burial was in the family plot at Yantic cemetery and the committal service was conducted by Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, pastor of the United Congregational church. The honorary bearers were William B. Young, Roy D. Judd, B. P. Bishop, Henry A. Tirrell, Philip A. Johnson, James L. Case, Arthur M. Brown and Charles Coit. The Henry Allen & Son Co., had charge of the funeral arrangements.

In his brief eulogy, Rev. Dr. Howe spoke as follows:

"Of Sir Christopher Wren, who with consummate art, built St. Paul's cathedral, and a score of beautiful churches and a number of municipal buildings in London, it was said: Si monumentum conspice circum. 'If you would see his monument look around you.' And we can repeat the words with full appropriateness here today. If you would see her monument you have only to look around you. It would be difficult to find a benefaction and a service to the city to which she has not contributed beyond her share. This beautiful parish house which has been a perpetual joy to us, the Young Men's Christian association, the United Workers, the Backus hospital, and to every charity that is operated here, to all she gave with lavish generosity. And to educational work in colleges in many states, she bestowed munificent gifts. These and other worthy objects bear witness to a faithful and even an ideal stewardship. With a complete dedication of her resources and with wide and studied discrimination of the objects to which she gave, she has given an example and of ideals of Christian stewardship, seldom found even in larger communities. Only the Recording Angel has preserved the record of the variety and universality of her benefactions.

"Few lives have been so worthily organized for a studied and faithful employment of their resources for helping and blessing others and all without ostentation or self-advertisement. She did not seek honor or human praise or court distinction for what she accomplished. We may well honor her memory and voice our appreciative appraisal of a life so well worth living, and of a career that has done high honor to our community. And we cannot do less than to lay this inadequate tribute on this casket today."

OBTUARY

Mrs. Alfred C. Jahn

Mrs. Hattie Cherrilla Bromley Jahn, wife of Alfred C. Jahn, died at her home, No. 27 Hedge avenue, Tuesday morning at 10:15 o'clock. Mrs. Jahn was sick only a few days, death being caused by pneumonia.

Mrs. Jahn had been a resident of Preston and Norwich practically all her life. She was the daughter of Harley A. and Lucy A. Barnes Bromley and was born in Preston January 15, 1866. She was united in marriage with Alfred C. Jahn at the Central Baptist church.

Surviving Mrs. Jahn are her husband, her mother, Mrs. Lucy Bromley, who recently observed her 92nd birthday, a daughter, Miss Frieda E. Jahn and two sons, Allan T., and Carl P. Jahn. Mrs. Jahn was a loving wife and mother and was greatly attached to her home and family. She was of a thoughtful and kindly disposition and was ever ready to aid her neighbors and friends when called on. She was well known among the residents of the East Side section of the city and her death is deeply mourned by all who knew her.

Dr. Thomas P. Walsh

A summer visitor to Ocean Beach with his family for a number of seasons, Dr. Thomas P. Walsh, 51, died after an attack of acute indigestion Saturday night, at his home in Middletown. The funeral was held Tuesday morning. For 25 years Dr. Walsh had served Middletown as health officer.

He is survived by his wife, Lucille Walsh, two daughters, Mary Lucille, a student at Trinity college, Washington, D. C., and Elizabeth at home, six sisters, Mrs. Mary Brubacker of New York, Mrs. James Galligan, Middletown, Mrs. Thomas J. Spellacy, Hartford, Miss Elizabeth R. Walsh, Middletown, Sister Mary Cecilia, Bridgeport and Miss Regina Walsh of Philadelphia and a brother F. De Sales Walsh of Hartford.

POPULAR RADIO ANNOUNCER COMING FOR NORWICH PROGRESS EXPOSITION

Graham McNamee, internationally known radio announcer and singer, has been engaged to appear in person the opening night of the Norwich Progress exposition at the state armory, Thursday, May 10.

This announcement was made Tuesday by Sheldon H. Fairbanks, managing director of the exposition, when he received contracts for the appearance of the popular star from Sam L. Ross, manager of the WEAF Artists bureau of the National Broadcasting Company, Inc., in New York.

McNamee has won numerous contests as the country's most popular radio announcer and is noted for his versatility in covering, as a radio reporter, such outstanding events as the national political conventions, football games from coast to coast, world series baseball games and boxing championships. In addition, McNamee has been heard many times as a singer. He has an exceptionally fine baritone voice and will render a number of selections at the Norwich Progress exposition. He will also take his audience behind the scenes in many studios and recount many interesting experiences and anecdotes of his exceptionally varied and colorful career.

Prior to his radio career, Mr. McNamee was a teacher of voice and many stars began their careers under his tutelage. Mr McNamee is a personal friend of Mr. Fairbanks and has been associated under his management in many other cities. Were it not for this fact, it would have been impossible to obtain his services for Norwich as he was booked in another part of the country.

Another attraction tentatively booked by Mr. Fairbanks is Bill Tassillo's orchestra of Hartford. This well-known band is scheduled to play at the show Friday evening, May 11, probably following a local orchestra on the opening night.

Steps were taken Tuesday by Walter H. Pilcher, secretary of the Norwich chamber of commerce, under whose auspices the exposition is being conducted, to bring Governor John H. Trumbull to Norwich for the official opening of the show. The governor opened the Home Progress exposition in Hartford, of which Mr. Fairbanks was managing director, and it is hoped that the chief executive will be able to visit Norwich for a similar purpose.

Many new exhibitors have been added to the growing list in the last week and the show is now more than eighty per cent sold out. The list of exhibitors follows:

Norwich Gas & Electrical Dept., 34 Shetucket street, booths 44, 45, 46 and 47.

REV. DR. HOWE FAINTED AT FUNERAL SERVICE

Seized with a fainting spell, Rev. Samuel H. Howe, D. D., pastor of Park Congregational church, collapsed Tuesday afternoon while conducting the funeral service for Mrs. Hugh Henry Osgood at the Osgood Memorial parish house. Dr. Howe had completed the service and was about to conclude with the benediction when he collapsed. He was assisted to a chair and revived Dr. W. T. Browne attended the clergyman who was taken to his home in an automobile. He was able to walk from the machine into his residence on Williams avenue.

Rev. Dr. Howe was greatly affected by Mrs. Osgood's death and the heavy scent of flowers at the church contributed to bring on the temporary fainting spell.

Rev. Alexander H. Abbott conducted the committal services at the grave in Yantic cemetery for Mrs. Osgood's funeral.

PECK-WHEATON WEDDING IN STORRS FRATERNITY HOUSE

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Conn., April 24—Ralph H. Peck, '29 of Cheshire, one of the most prominent students at Connecticut Agricultural college, was married to Miss Helen Wheaton of Putnam in the Phi Mu Delta fraternity house last Saturday, it was disclosed here today. Dr. Henry K. Denlinger, head of the department of history in the college, who is a Presbyterian minister, performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by a small group of Peck's fraternity brothers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Wheaton of 28 Bradley street, Putnam. She was attended by Miss Mildred Hattin, of Pomfret, a close friend.

Peck is president of the junior class at Connecticut Agricultural college, and has won honors both for his high scholastic standing and general participation in undergraduate activities. Two weeks ago he was elected to Gamma Chi Epsilon, the honory scholastic fraternity at C. A. C. He is a member of the varsity football squad, playing end, and at the presetn time is managing editor of "The Connecticut Campus," undergraduate newspaper at college. In his senior year Peck will become editor-in-chief of that publication.

Andrew N. Dall '29 of Hartford, a classmate of Peck's in the college, acted as best man. Others in attendance, most of whom are fraternity brothers of the groom, include Carl G. Bjork '28 of Startford; Nathan B. Gatchell '29 of Andover; Walter C. Aschenback '29 of Hartford; Attilio E. Sappo '30 of New Haven; Robert H. Tiers '30 of Winsted; Anthony J. Lynch '28 of Hartford; Mark A. Quinn '30 and Walter A. Wheaton, Jr., of Putnam, brother of the bride.

Buys West Main St. Building

Louis Rosenberg, proprietor of the West Side garage, at 194 West Main street, has purchased the two-story building adjoining his garage property from the Richard Rubin Soda Water Co., with a view to enlarging his garage accommodations. According to his present plans Mr. Rosenberg is to tear down the front of the soda water building, and erect a new front, at the same time connecting the building with his present garage, providing many additional feet of storage space. There are three garages in the rear of the soda water building and the land on which it stands has a frontage of 52 feet and a depth of 128 feet. Mr. Rosenberg has been in Norwich 32 years and during that time, from a small beginning, has increased his business to its present proportions.

SUIT BROUGHT ON NOTE SETTLED OUT OF COURT

The suit of H. Watchinsky of New London against Charles Glassenberg, which was assigned to be tried Monday in the common pleas court at New London was settled out of court. The plaintiff sought to recover $450 paid out on a note, belonging to A. Watchinsky, and endorsed by the plaintiff and Glassenberg. According to the complaint, the note was given by A. Watchinsky to the Windhron Trust Co. for $1,000 on May 1, 1926. The sum of $520 was paid, but when the balance was not paid H. Watchinsky paid the $480 balance and the papers state that although demand was made upon Glassenberg, the amount was not forthcoming.

$285,000 ALLOTMENT FOR THAMES RIVER IMPROVEMENT

Allotments for five Connecticut river and harbor works have been made by the secretary of war, according to the war department. The allotments have been made from available funds provided by the war department appropriation act which was approved March 23. For the improvement of the Connecticut river below Hartford an allotment of $17,000 is made; the Thames river, $285,000; Bridgeport harbor, $25,000; Norwalk harbor, $65,000, and Southport harbor, $1,000. An allotment of $68,000 is made for the improvement of the Pawtucket, R. I., and $27,200 for Dorchester bay and Neponset river, Mass.

FED HORSES ON MUSTY GRAIN FROM NORWICH FIRE

Edward A. Isaacson, a Hartford truckman, was fined $50 and costs in the Hartford police court Tuesday, on a charge of feeding musty, wet grain, to about 30 horses in Hartford barns and other horses in Wethersfield barns, owned by him. The alleged mouldy grain, containing charcoal stones, nails and glass, about 20 tons in all, was purchased by Isaacson in this city, following the fire at the Norwich Grain company's place of business on Water street. H. E. Hitchcock, of Warehouse Point, agent for the Connecticut Humane society, testified at the trial that information had come to him that 40 tons of the mouldy, fermenting and indigestible feed had been purchased by Isaacson in Norwich. When Mr. Hitchcock paid an unexpected visit at the barns recently he found the feed in mangers, but hardly touched by the animals, which "were just nosing over the stuff." The grain in the nose-bags was "heating," the agent for the society said. Samples were obtained on different days during the month of March.

Testimony was also offered by George R. Parker, an officer of the Connecticut Humane society. Isaac Nassau, counsel for Isaacson, asked Mr. Parker if it were not true that horses usually select the wholesome food during feeding and reject the foreign substances. Mr. Parker replied that hungry horses have been known to swallow nails and other substances when they were offered improper food.

Dr. George H. Nudins, a veterinarian, declared in his testimony that none of the food provided the horses was fit to eat. These horses would suffer sooner or later if they continued to eat this type of grain," he said.

Dr. John J. Kavenek, another veterinarian called by the state, also testified that nervous and stomach disorders and cases of paralysis have frequently resulted from improper feeding of horses.

GAVE MINSTREL REVUE FOR MERCIER ASSEMBLY

The regular meeting of Mercier assembly, No. 12, Catholic Ladies of Columbus, held Tuesday evening in the rooms on Broadway, had a minstrel revue for the social part of the programme, this being put on by the members under the direction of Miss Helen Twomey, who was the interlocutor, and Miss Mary Weller had charge of the orchestra. The chorus included the Misses Elizabeth O'Neil, Agnes Terrington, Agnes O'Neil, Marie Gadile and Catherine Winnegar.

The programme was cleverly carried out as follows: Opening chorus, entire company; Kiss and Make Up, Eleanor Ludwig; Is She My Girl Friend? Marie Desmond and Loretta Gadle; dance, Farina, alias Betsy Sullivan; The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, Francis Kelly; Me Too, Nonie Nagle; Stay Out of the South, Helen O'Neil; Side by Side, entire company; Dream Kisses, Marguerite Driscoll; I'm Gonna Dance Wit de Guy What Brung Me, Catherine Hallahan; Hallelujah, Betsy Sullivan; Louisville Lou, Nonie Nagle; finale, entire company.

The assembly voted to have its annual communion at St. Patrick's church on June 3.

CONTINUANCE TO MAY 14 WITH "ICE BOX" BANDITS

The hearing of the "ice box" bandits, Roland G. Lalone and Albert J. Raymond, which was to have been held in the Springfield, Mass., police court, was continued there until May 14. The continuance was sought by both sides, the defense counsel desiring more time in which to prepare their defense, and the prosecutor seeking to give the Connecticut authorities more time in which to perfect plans for having the men returned to Connecticut to stand trial for the alleged murder of State Policeman Irving H. Nelson, who was shot to death on Good Friday night at Pomfret.

In the Springfield police court Lalone and Raymond were charged with assault with intent to kill, assault and robbery while armed, carrying revolvers without permits, and being fugitives from justice. The last charge is the one in which Connecticut is concerned, the Connecticut state police preparing to seek the extradition of the Worcester youths and secure an indictment charging them with murder.

Given Surprise Shower

A very pleasant evening was spent Saturday, at the home of Mrs. Florence V. Lockwood in Westerly, when a surprise shower was given Miss Ida Barrett, of this city, in honor of her approaching marriage to Otis Main, of New London.

The bride-elect received many useful gifts. A buffet lunch was served, and music and dancing were enjoyed by all.

Among those present were George Main, Mrs. Florence V. Lockwood and children, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Busch, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brauer, Mrs. Thomas J. Talley and children and Miss Ida Barrett and Otis Main.

Accuses Connecticut of Bad Faith

The attorney general of North Carolina accuses the state of Connecticut of bad faith and "of attempting to evade the prohibitions of the 11th amendment to the Constitution in seeking to sue North Carolina for payment of $291,000 on bonds issued by vote of the legislature of North Carolina in 1868 and 1869. The bonds were given by Daniel Griswold, of Greenwich, Conn., to the state for use of the Mansfield, Conn., hospital. He charges that the state does not own the bonds, but is being made a catspaw for an individual.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

This week the Monday Bridge club met on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Charles B. Lee, of Williams street. The prize was won by Mrs. Archibald Mitchell, Jr.

Mrs. Frank C. Turner, who has been in the south and has spent some time in Philadelphia, has returned to town and has opened her home, 15 Broad street.

The Tuesday Afternoon Auction club was entertained by Mrs. Laurence E. Miller. Mrs. James F. Drew was the prize winner.

Friends have been given the opportunity this week of inspecting the 50 paintings of Miss Helen F. Newton, at her apartment, Pinehurst, 154 Washington street. Tuesday from 3:30 to 6, those who accepted Miss Newton's invitation were particularly interested in the collection of canvases in Miss Newton's studio—a dozen or more which have been shown at the Paint & Clay club, New Haven, also at the Eastern Arts exhibit, in Hartford. A number of these depict local scenes. Late in the afternoon tea was served informally.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund W. Perkins, whose son, Edmund, is a student at Berkshire school, motored to Sheffield, Mass., at the week-end to attend the Berkshire-Deerfield ball game.

Mrs. Thomas J. Talley of 490 Main street and children Mabel, Betty and Junior returned home after spending the week end at the home of her sister, Mrs. Florence V. Lockwood in Westerly.

JIMMY QUINN LOSES DECISION TO HARRY DEVINE IN BOSTON TOURNEY

ARENA, Boston, April 24—(AP)—Tommy Lown, of New York, the national 147 pound champion, advanced into the quarter finals of the A. A. U. national boxing championship here tonight by knocking out Melvin Benckert, a rugged Cincinnati welterweight, in two rounds.

Benckhert carried the battle to the champion in the first round and was attempting to rough him up when Tommy floored him with a straight right which did not travel more than three inches. Benckert was on his knees when the bell sounded. Lown caped across the ring and caught Benckert on the jaw with a right hook. He then dropped the Cincinnati boy three times before he was counted out.

Carmen Lonzatino, Los Angeles, welterweight, made up for the poor exhibitions of some of his California teammates by knocking out Rollo Roland, of New Haven, in the first round.

Ensign John A. Charlson, of the Naval academy, had a difficult task entering the quarter finals in the 135 pound class. He drew a willing battler in Harry Pinti, of Rome, N. Y., and their battle was a good draw at the end of the third round. The sailor found Pinti's head and middle with rights often in the extra session and was awarded the decision.

Russo Easy Victor

George Russo, of Boston, New England 125 pound champion, gave Jacob Graswick, of St. Louis a sound thrashing. The referee stopped the bout in the third round to save Graswick from further punishment.

The first pair of boxers entered the ring today at 5 p. m. Solly Schuman, of Chicago and Manny Gelb, of Scranton, Pa., in their second round bout in the 112 pound class. The Chicago boy won the decision easily.

Madeire Vallarreal, of Tulsa, Okla., and Lester Quilian, of Grand Rapids, followed for a similar class bout and the Tulsa boy was awarded the decision. Anthony Decarlo, of Buffalo and Frank Almarez, of Gary, Ind., both 112 pounders, then followed, with Decarlo getting the award. Hyman Miller, Los Angeles, 112 pounder who drew the supposedly fatal "13" for a competitors number, proved that he was not jinxed thereby defeating Vito Mazzeo, of Cleveland.

Gene Bianco, of Boston, the New England 112 pound champion advanced by outpointing Clifford Doetzel, of St. Louis in a fast bout.

Earl Duquette, of Pittsfield, gave the other flyweights in the tournament something to think about when he knocked out Al Rivers, Chicago, 112 pounder, in the second round with a barrage of left and right hooks to the jaw. Earl dropped the Chicago boy three times before he was finally counted out. Duquette's attack was the best seen in his division so far in the tournament.

The Quinn Bout

Harry Devine, of Worcester, fared well in his second round bout in the 126 pound class. He easily outpointed Jimmy Quinn, of Norwich, Conn.

Ralph Untegraft, 126 pounder from Tulsa, Okla., was the victim of poor officiating after he fought an extra round bout, the first one in the tournament, against Johnnie Colli, of Gary, Ind. Both boys battered each other evenly for three rounds and though Untegraft appeared to have the best of the going in the fourth, the officials ruled for the Gary battler.

Ensign Daniel Weintraub, one of the 126 pounders on the Naval academy boxing team, was forced out of the competition by Chester Karston, of Grand Rapids after a tame bout.

George White, New York, opened the battling in the 135 pound class by knocking out Herman Bressler, of Baltimore, by landing a terrific right to the latter's chin and dropping him for ten.

147 pound class, second round:

J. McTiernan, Pittsburgh, defeated Murray Israel, New York.

Charles McDonnell, San Francisco, defeated Merton Wood, Ilion, N. Y. by default.

160 pound class, second round:

Bob Gurnsey, Gary, Ind., defeated Charles Teel, Tulsa, Okla.

Franklin Flynn, Boston defeated Louis Orr, Cedar Falls, Iowa.

HORNSBY TAKES COBB'S PLACE IN "BIG SIX" LEAD

(By the Associated Press)

Ty Cobb, going hitless as his team ran wild against the Red Sox, surrendered the "Big Six" leadership yesterday to Rogers Hornsby, who remained idle because of rain in Boston. Cobb drove in a run with a sacrifice fly, but his average dropped to .387, six points below Hornsby's mark.

Babe Ruth furnished the real feature of the "Big Six" yesterday with his two home runs against Horace Lisenbee of Washington. The Babe climbed to fourth place, but his average remained well below .300.

The standing to date:

Hornsby, B.	7	28	8	11	.393
Cobb, P.	7	31	3	12	.387
P. Waner, P.	10	43	6	14	.326

Athletics 11, Red Sox 6

PHILADELPHIA, April 24—(AP)—The Athletics hammered the Boston Red Sox for their first home victory of the season today by a score of 11 runs to 6.

Starting on Pitcher Herbert Bradley a recruit right hander and wading through his successors, the Athletics scored in five successive innings.

Joe Hauser hit two home runs for the second time this season in one game and ran his total of circuit blows to four. Mickey Cochrane also hit his second homer of the year. Ossie Orwoll weakened in the eighth after holding the visitors to four hits and had to be relieved. Score:

Hoppe Takes Lead Again

CHICAGO, April 24—(AP)—Willie Hoppe, veteran 18.2 balk line billiard player, tonight again took the leadership in his three-cushion exhibition match with Champion Johnny Layton, when he won the fourth block 55 to 39 in 53 innings. Layton had taken the lead by winning the afternoon match 55 to 45.

Hoppe now leads Layton 200 to 139 in the 233 innings of play. Each had a high run of five in tonight's block.

STRONG CARD ARRANGED FOR DANIELSON SHOW

(Special to The Bulletin)

Danielson, April 24—Twenty-four entries have been accepted for the amateur boxing show to be staged by the Casino A. C. and National Guard at the Danielson state armory on Friday evening. Four of these boys will come from the Newport Naval Training station, one of them being Ben Smith, who is slated to take on Big Boy Burlap of Westerly in the feature bout of the evening. Burlap's team mates, Joe Russo and Young Chappee, will also be on deck, while Waterbury is sending out four good battlers who have had plenty of experience. The remainder of the card will be made up from the Danielson, Jewett City and Moosup stables. At least eight bouts will be staged.

One new feature which the management has arranged for will be orchestra music before the opening of the fights and between the bouts if there is any slight delay. The bleachers will furnish an ample number of excellent rush seats and the doors will be open at seven o'clock for the benefit of the early birds. The boys participating are to weigh in at 7:05 p. m.

Full announcement of the entries in the several classes will be made in The Bulletin on Friday morning.

PUTNAM TRADE TEAM WANTS A FEW MORE BASEBALL GAMES

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 24 — The State Trade school has arranged the following schedule of games to be played during the baseball season. The first game scheduled and played on April 20 was with the Putnam high nine, resulting in a victory for the industrial boys by a score of 3-2. The remainder of the slate follows: April 25, Plainfield at Putnam; May 2, Killingly at Putnam; May 4, Putnam at Putnam; May 11, Plainfield at Plainfield; May 16, Killingly at Killingly; May 23 Woodstock at Putnam; June 6, Woodstock at Woodstock. The trade school nine has also a few open dates left and would like to fill these with fast high school teams of Eastern Connecticut. Any manager desiring a game should write Director H. H. Ellis, State Trade School ,Putnam.

TAFTVILLE A. A. MAY GO INTO STATE BALL LEAGUE

At the meeting of the Taftville A. A. this evening at 8 o'clock in the Ponemah hall the matter of the association putting a club into the state league will be discussed. The Taftville team, which was one of the leading teams in the eastern part of the state, has been invited to represent the east in the league. Manager Troland and the directors are considering the matter very seriously as Taftville will have a strong aggregation which will include players from Riverview, J. R. Martin and the Taftville A. A. teams. So far Manager Jim has signed Harry Mills and Lefty Dugas, formerly with Riverview, Carlie Krauss of the J. B. Martin team, Lloyd Jarvis, Enos Eccleston and Rabbie Gauthier of the Taftville A. A.

RUTH CLOUTS TWO HOMERS AS PENNOCK BLANKS NATS, 4 TO 0

NEW YORK, April 24—(AP)—Babe Ruth got his big war club into action here today as Herbert Pennock held the Washington Senators to three hits, and the Yankees won, 4 to 0. Ruth's contribution consisted of two home runs into the right field bleachers, giving him a total of three this season and putting him one up on Lou Gehrig. The bases were empty for each of the drives. Tonny Lazzeri accounted for the two remaining Yankee runs in the first when he singled. Ruth drew two bases on balls.

Pennock, winning his third victory of the season, held the Senators helpless at all times. Two of the three Washington hits were infield scratches and the third, a double by Lisenbee, was made possible when Ruth slipped on the wet grass. Pennock walked none, and faced only thirty batters. Score:

JESS PETTY PITCHES FIRST WIN OF YEAR OVER PHILS, 18 TO 7

BROOKLYN, April 24—(AP)—Supported by a batting attack which gave him a dozen runs, Jess Petty turned in his first victory of the season for Brooklyn here today, defeating Philadelphia by 12 to 7. Petty got off to a bad start in the first when three runs were scored, but the Robins overcame this deficit for him in their own half of the first. The veteran southpaw, winning his first easy game in two years, let up at the finish, and permitted Philadelphia to collect four runs in the ninth on five hits.

Harvey Hendrick, with two triples and a single and four runs batted in, led the Brooklyn attack, which made itself felt against three Philadelphia pitchers. Score:

The Academy and Stonington high open the eastern Connecticut-western Rhode Island interscholastic league season this afternoon at the campus in the first of their two-game series.

Both teams are undefeated so far this year, being the only clubs in eastern Connecticut to boast such records.

Plenty of interest is being attached to this game as the Academy has won in but one sport this school year, cross-country, from Stonington, the latter having been successful twice in basketball and once in football. This is the down-starters biggest run of victories over the Wildcats in many years and the locals are determined to put an end to it this afternoon.

Lloyd Jarvis, local southpaw ace, is expected to go to the hill in the big effort to decisively turn back the men of O'Brien. He will be supported by practically the same team that started the two previous games this year. However, Johnny Greene may get the assignment although it is Jarvis' turn to pitch and if Greene does get the call then there is just as much trouble for Stonington.

Both teams have shown a strong hitting attack ni their starts to date. Stonington won its only game from South Kingston by 13 to 2, getting 18 hits while in two games the Academy has 32 hits, 13 of them off the famous Walter Linder.

The game will start at 2:30 and a large crowd is expected. Conn. Aggies officials will handle the game, as they will all league games this year.

SPORT SLANTS

(By Alan J. Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 24—(AP)—The A's seem to have it if southpaws are to cast the deciding vote in the American league pennant race.

The Yankees have as resourceful and reliable a portsider as any in the business in Herb Pennock but the Athletics have two of them, Mose Grove and Rube Walberg.

Grove and Walberg may turn the pennant scales if they continue to perform the way they did in trimming the world's champions on successive days and allowing Ruth & Co. only one run in 18 innings.

The aces of the Athletics are each only 28, six years under Pennock's mark. Both can stand considerable more work than the willowy star of the Yankee staff.

Grove is reputed to have as fast a ball as any in either league with the possible exception of Dazzy Vance, but Walberg's is declared by many to be even faster. Both have a world of stuff but like most southpaws are inclined to be erratic. Up to date Grove has been the steadier but Walberg may now have mastered the control that leads to greater consistency.

The general tendency among the track and field observers is to concede everything in a pole vault way to the United States, with Sabin Carr holding world's record heights beyond 14 feet and Lee Barnes, of Southern California, flirting with that dizzy height.

They may be overlooking a real threat in Victor Pickard, now performing for the University of Pittsburgh but a native of Canada and slated to represent the dominion in the Olympics.

In the opinion of no less an observer than Lawson Robertson, the American Olympic head coach, Pickard is an outstanding menace to the supremacy of Carr, Barnes and other American stars. The Canadian finished fifth in the 1924 Olympics, scaling 12 feet, 5 1-2 inches, but he has been doing better than 13 feet this spring.

It will be interesting to compare Carr and Pickard when they meet in the Penn relay carnival this week end.

Leon Lermond, the stout hearted and stout limbed young distance runner of the Boston A. A., is unquestionably America's best prospect now for the Olympic 5,000 meters but the University of Illinois has a young star who will bear additional watching in Dave Abbott.

Running his first year for Illinois Abbott has turned in a fine record. On the same day, at Los Angeles, in the dual meet with Southern California this youngster ran the mile in 4:19, tying with tw oteam mates, and then won the two mile run in 9:35.8. His best time for two miles, apparently his favorite route, is 9:27.5 registered in the western conference indoor meet. He hasn't lost a two mile test, nor has he been pressed over this distance so far this year.

LOCAL FANS DISAPPOINTED AT BOSTON AMATEUR SHOW

The twenty or more fight fans who went to Boston on Monday to see Jimmy Quinn and Al Koziol, two local amateur boxers perform, were disappointed when after sitting through some fifty bouts they were forced to come home. Quinn drew a bye and was scheduled to fight in the 58th bout but the show was called off at the 56th bout. Koziol was refused entry as he came as an alternate to Russo of Boston and Russo decided to fight. Those who went from Norwich were: Jackie Wilson, James Osten, Mickey Guinan, James S. Quinn, James Sheridan, Eddie Mack, Johnny Williamson, the Pedace Brothers (Dommy, Billy and Jimmy,) Forest Lewis, Al Bilnderman, Walter Carrigan, John and Barney Keenan, Joe Kudlik, Joe Leahy, Jimmy Shenke and the two boxers. The crowd did not return to Norwich until shortly before seven o'clock Tuesday morning.

PAYNE HOLDS SLENDER LEAD OVER GAVUZZI IN TIME

ROLLA, Mo., April 24—(AP)—Andrew Payne of Claremore, Okla., retained a 36 minute lead over Peter Gavuzzi, England, in the transcontinental foot race when they tied with two other runners for tenth place in today's run of 22.4 miles from Waynesville to Rolla, the fifty-second control. Their time was 5:37:50.

Philip Grunville, Hamilton, Ont., and Eddie Gardner, Seattle, both Negroes, finished in a tie for first place for the second successive day. Their time was 4:39:37. They retained fourth and fifth places in the race.

John Salo, of Passaic, N. J., third in the race was twenty-seventh today, requiring 7:23 flat.

FAST COLORED TEAM IS BEING ORGANIZED

A fast colored team is being organized in the city and at the first practice on Sunday about 15 reported from whom the team will be picked. Those reporting included Henry Harris, who has been pitching star for the past few years and Felix DeBarros, old time player who will be seen at the second base berth this season. The colored boys report that they expect a fast infield and an exceptionally good pitching staff.

WESTERLY

COMMANDERY ENTERTAINS—DINNER AND THEATRE PARTY

WESTERLY, R. I., April 24.—The annual ladies' night of Narragansett Commandery, No. 17, Knights Templars, Robert Hazard, commander, was observed Tuesday evening with a dinner party and theatre party and closed with dancing in the commandery armory and card games in the large lodge room. There was an attendance of over one hundred and fifty guests, sir knights and including members from Wakefield, Peacedale Stonington and Mystic.

The dinner was held at Elm Tree Inn and was served at five long tables. At a head table were seated five of the ranking officers of the commandery. Following was the menu: Tomato bisque, cucumbers sliced, watermelo. rind, roast stuffed chicken with dressing, mashed potato, baby lima beans, lettuce salad, French dressing, vanilla ice cream, cakes, coffee.

Following the dinner adjournment was taken to the United Theatre where in the center section of the house seats had been reserved. The attraction was "The Checker Girls," with specialties in dancing, singing, comedy, twenty-five members in the cast. This was followed by the Raymond Griffith comedy motion picture, "Wedding Bells," and news reel films.

Later in the asylum of Narragansett Commandery there was dancing and card games until midnight. Music for dancing was furnished by a three-piece orchestra, Mrs. George O. Murphy, piano; George O. Murphy, violin, and Simon Kinney, drums. The committee included P. E. Sir Arthur N. Nash, chairman, P. E. Sir Carl E. Burdick, Generalissimo David A. Lowry, Adjutant William Mitchell and Warder John R. Oppy. The council of Narragansett Commandery includes Em. Sir Robert Hazard, commander; David A. Lowry, generalissimo, and Francis M. Johnson, captain general.

The following transfers have been recorded in the office of the Westerly Town Clerk:

April 11. Rose Kronold, widow of Hans Kronold, Sophie Kronold and Nora Kronold Carroll, daughters, of New York, to Otto Kolstad and wife, Edith M. Kolstad, of Holyoke, Mass., Lot No. 15, formerly Musicolony, now Shelter Harbor, with all buildings and improvements, furniture nad furnishings.

Earl Clinton Fisher to William H. and Servine Baldwin, land on the southerly side of Winnapaug road and along the easterly side of proposed Mastuxet avenue.

Florence B. Talbot to Frank Morrone, Joseph Turco and Josephine Turco, an undivided one-half interest in land bounded northerly and easterly by lands now or formerly of Joseph H. Macomber, together with buildings and other improvements.

Florence B. Talbot, guardian of the estate of Ella May and Donald T. Talbot, children of the late Truman P. Talbot, to Frank Morrone, Joseph Turco and Josephine Turco, an undivided one-fourth part of each ward in above described property.

Edward W. Murphy and wife, Margaret A. Murphy, two lots of land on the extension of Spruce street, Lots Nos. 20 and 21 on Plat showing extension of Prospect, Oak and Highland streets, together with all buildings and improvements.

The east-bound New England express of the New Haven road, when leaving the Westerly station Tuesday at 8:54 a. m., broke a steam pipe connection between two sleeping cars in the middle of the long train of passenger cars. The train was brought to a stop until a brakeman examined the extent of the break and then proceeded to Boston with rear cars on small head of steam.

Mrs. Sarah V. Larkin, of Wakefield, widow of J. Roger Larkin, died suddenly Monday morning while visiting friends in Wakefield. Some time ago while visiting her sister, Mrs. William Nichols, in White Rock, she was taken ill and received treatment at Westerly hospital. She had resided in South Kingston for many years, living a long time at Matunuck Beach. Surviving are four sisters, Mrs. William Nichols, of White Rock; Mrs. Arthur Wood, Slocum; Mrs. Augustus Larkin, Matunuck Beach, and Mrs. Byron Church, of Nyack, N. Y.; also two brothers, Bradford B. Moore, El Monte, Calif., and Nathan L. C. Moore, residing in New Jersey. Mrs. Larkin was a past matron of Nestall Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

It was late Tuesday afternoon when the jury was charged in the case of assault begun in Washington County Superior court at West Kingston Monday before Judge Walsh, State, vs. John Maligrino, Westerly barber. The testimony was all in at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, then followed the arguments of the attorneys and judge's charge. Maligrino is charged with making an assault on Mrs. Nellie M. Russell in his barber shop on Canal street, Westerly, March 8, last.

Witnesses called by the state were Mrs. Russell, her husband, John Russell, and Officer LeRoy Norman of the Westerly police force. John Maligrino, the defendant, was on the stand for an hour Monday afternoon and also testified Tuesday morning. Other witnesses for the defense were Mrs. Theresa Trevisacci and Mrs Giovina Malagrino, wife of the defendant. Pasquale Salimeno, of Westerly, acted as interpreter for Malagrino and his wife who testified in Italian.

Westerly Woman's Community association, Miss Lillian Russell, president, is to hold a meeting this (Wednesday) evening at Peckham's Inn. There will also be a social. This may be the last annual meeting of the organization, inasmuch as a plan is under way for the newly formed Young Men's Christian Association to absorb the woman's club. Membership in the Y. M. C. A. is open to both men and women.

Officers and members of Narragansett Commandery Thursday evening will go to Providence as guests of Calvary commandery, No. 13, of Providence, to witness an exemplification of the Malta degree work by the officers of Milford, Mass., commandery.

Westerly High School Glee club under direction of Musical Instructor Robert Valentine, is to give its annual concert in conjunction with the High School chorus, in the school auditorium. The chorus will be assisted by: Miss Kathleen O'Brien, soprano, of Providence; Harry Coleman, tenor; Harold M. Nicholas, violinist; Miss Emilie Zangrandi, Mrs. Frank G. Ahern, accompanists.

John C. Kebablan, of New Haven, arrived Tuesday afternoon to proceed to Watch Hill to inspect improvements on his hotel, The Plimpton.

Frank Richardson, of Newport, R. I., was a Westerly business caller Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold Kenyon left Tuesday morning for Boston.

Arthur L. Perry was a business caller in Boston Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cirwein, of Wakefield, were in Pawcatuck Tuesday evening.

MYSTIC

WAR MEMORIAL DESIGN ACCEPTED BY COMMITTEE

The war memorial committee met in the office of L. E. Vatel Monday evening. The architect was present and submitted plans for the memorial. They were accepted and call for a granite block about eight feet high with bronze tablets containing the names of the boys who served in the World war. On the right and left sides will be placed small granite wings and on top of the large block a 6-foot bronze eagle, two feet high. The committee is pleased to have the memorial nearing completion. The project was inaugurated by the D. A. R., with all organizations and individuals contributing and the money has been on interest in the bank. The delay has been due chiefly to securing a suitable location for the memorial and the legal formality necessary. The site opposite the Baptist church has been given by the state.

Members of the Epworth league of the Methodist church went to Noank Monday evening and gave their play, Aaron Slick of Pumpkin Crick for the benefit of the Methodist church.

The Ladies' Aid society of St. Patrick's church is to meet to sew Thursday afternoon. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Peter Flynn and Mrs. Farrel Smith.

GOODYEAR TIRES

You don't pay much attention to tires until you have trouble with them. But did you ever stop to think how important it is to have your car equipped with tires that will grip the road and STOP when you apply the brakes, and grip the road and START when you apply the gas?

The new Goodyear will do both these things better than any tire we know of.

A simple way to demonstrate this is to place the palm of your hand, flat on top of the tread of the new Goodyear and press down firmly. You'll feel the tread grip and pinch the flesh of your hand. It grips, and actually pinches, the road in the same way.

Come in and try this yourself whether you need tires now or not. We want to explain this and the other reasons why the new Goodyear is called The World's Greatest Tire

New LA SALLE

FIVE-PASSENGER FAMILY SEDAN $2350 f. o. b. Detroit

—with the surpassing performance of a CADILLAC-built engine

All the world knows the amazingly different performance results of which the 90-degree, V-type, 8-cylinder, Cadillac-built engine—and only this engine—is capable.

It has demonstrated in the hands of over a quarter of a million thoroughly contented owners that it will yield long years of the most luxurious kind of motoring—in continuous high-speed service and under conditions to which no other motor could be successfully subjected.

All La Salle models—including the new five-passenger family sedan at $2350 f. o. b. Detroit—are powered with this famous Cadillac-built engine—developed to new heights of performance—and all are now offered at substantially lower prices.

Five additional new models make the La Salle line conspicuously complete — so that no matter what your motoring requirements the ownership of a Cadillac-built car now becomes a reality for you.

Other models up to $2875 f. o. b. Detroit. Only a small initial financial outlay required under General Motors liberal payment plan. Appraisal value of your present car acceptable as cash.

Every La Salle is complete with all modern equipment, much of which is usually obtainable on other cars only at extra cost.

STIFFENING OF MONEY RATES WAS CAUSE OF IRREGULAR STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 24—(AP)—Frequent shifts of speculative sentiment characterized today's stock market in reflection of the general uneasiness over the recent stiffening of money rates. Prices sold off at the opening, rallied briskly before the end of the first half hour, sold down again in the early afternoon and turned sharply upward at the close. Final quotations were irregular, but gains predominated.

Total sales fell below the 2,000,000 share mark for the first full session since March 9.

Quarterly reports of the United States Steel and General Motors corporations were published after the close of the market. Steel earned $2.11 a share on the common against $1.68 in the last quarter of 1927 and $3.52 in the first quarter of 1927, which was prior to the distribution of the 40 per cent stock dividend. General Motors earned $3.56 on the common as against $2.90 in the same period a year ago. Both stocks were in brisk demand at the close, Steel showing a net gain of 1 1-2 at 148 3-4 and General Motors ending the day four points higher at 187 3-4.

Marking up of the renewal rate on call money to 5 per cent followed by the calling of about $10,000,000 in loans, had a tendency to dampen bullish enthusiasm. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged. Raising of the Richmond federal reserve rediscount bank rate to 4 1-2 per cent followed by similar action by the Minneapolis institution after the close, brings the number of increases to five and leads to the belief that the higher rate will be put into effect by all central banks. There is some difference of opinion, however, as to whether the increase in the New York bank rate will come this week or next.

Tobacco stocks, which turned weak yesterday on the announcement of cigarette price cuts, were again under pressure today despite reassuring statements of leading executives that the reductions probably will lead to increased profits. Schulte Retail Stores was in brisk demand, preceding the announcement of a 2 per cent stock dividend, after the close of the market, payable 1-2 per cent quarterly. Except for the Liggett & Myers issue, which sank to new low levels for the year, the losses in the tobacco were held to a point or two.

Violent fluctuations took place in some of the high-priced industrials and rails. Delaware & Hudson opened 1 1-4 points lower at 212, rallied to a new 1928 high at 221 3-4, broke to 208, rebounded to 215 and then sank back to 213 5-8. Wright Aeronautical rallied from the opening price of 124 1-2 to 136 and then eased to 134, up 3 1-2 points net. New York & Harlem opened at 250, sank to 230, rallied to 300 and eased to 293, up 46 points net, in odd lot trading. Radio rallied from a low of 172 to 179 and closed at 177, up 3 1-2 net.

Selling pressure today was most effective against such issues as American Radiator, Bethlehem Steel preferred, Coca Cola, Commercial Solvents, Midland Steel Products preferred, Southern Dairies B and Standard Milling.

Few peak prices for the year, or longer, were registered by more than 20 stocks, the list including Mexican Seaboard Oil, Hudson & Manhattan, Park & Tilford, U. S. Leather common and the "A" stock, Cushman, Interboro Rapid Transit, Third Avenue, Loews preferred, Yale & Towne and several of the ordinarily inactive rails.

Foreign exchanges moved lower with rather sharp declines in the Spanish, Japanese and Portuguese rates. Sterling cables ruled 3-32 of a cent lower around $4.88 1-8.

Wheat futures advanced 1 to nearly 2 cents a bushel and cotton futures advanced 50 cents to $1 a bale on buying influenced by adverse weather reports. Coffee prices eased slightly and sugar quotations held steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, April 24—(AP)—Report abandonment of 90 per cent of 2,500,000 acres of winter wheat in northwestern Kansas did much to lift wheat values today. Unfavorable crop advices from other parts of the United States winter wheat belt were also at hand, together with word of adverse conditions in a good deal of spring wheat territory.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong, 1 1-4c to 2c net higher, with corn unchanged to 3-4c up, oats showing 3-8c to 2c advance, and provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 22c.

At first, the wheat market here was bearishly affected by predictions of showers in western Nebraska and elsewhere in the middle and northern plains states. Besides, the Liverpool wheat trade was unresponsive to advances in price on this side of the Atlantic. Rallying power soon showed itself here, however, and as the day progressed the market advanced vigorously on account of bullish domestic crop reports the new from Kansas in particular which was sponsored by a leading Chicago authority, and was afterward confirmed in a general way by the Kansas official crop review.

Drought was the chief reason given for the reported northwest Kansas disaster. In addition, European advices indicated that sharp rallies in wheat values were expected abroad owing to damage done in American soft winter wheat states and because of uncertainty as to new crops in large areas of Europe.

Corn owed its strength largely to announcement that lake vessel charters had been made to move 2,000,000 bu. of corn from Chicago and 500,000 bu. for more northern parts. Generous shipping sales of oats here tightened up the oats market.

Provisions moved up with hog values and with grain.

POETRY

A Living or a Life

Man, you are leaving the old home today
Looking to carve out your fortune, you say.
Life is there waiting to give you a place
Now you are restless to enter the race
Boy, what's your aim as you enter the strife,
Making a living, or making a life?

Lad, don't you hear how the busy streets call?
Calling for youth, and they're asking your all!
Calling for you with a prize called "success"
Bidding you leap into life's whirling press.
Look, are you plunge where temptation is rife
Shall I make a living or build me a life?"

Man, you have been in the thick of the fight,
Spending your all that you may win the height;
Battle-scarred fighter, pray tell us the truth,
What is your word to these clamoring youth?
What is the true goal in the maddening strife,
Making a living, or making a life?

Man, you are grey, and your race nearly run,
What is the spoil and the prize you have won?
What are you taking beyond the sunset
Treasure to balance the scars you have met?
Answer, old friend, as you're quitting the strife
Won you a living, or won you a life?

—Rev. W. L. Bone, in The Presbyterian Advance.

Blue Squills

How many million Aprils came
Before I ever knew
How white a cherry bough could be
A bed of squills, how blue.

And many a dancing April,
When life is done with me,
Will lift the blue flame of the flower
And the white flame of the tree.

Oh, burn me with your beauty, then,
Oh, hurt me, tree and flower,
Lest in the cold death try to take
Even this glistening hour.

O shaken flowers, O shimmering trees,
O sualit white and blue
Wound me, that I through endless sleep
May bear the scar of you.

—By Sara Teasdale.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

"So your wife's down south for her health. What did she have?"

"A thousand dollars her father gave her."—Detroit News.

Teacher—Where is your pen wiper today?

Bobby—Oh, I'm wearing my black suit.—Exchange.

Father—The question is, can the young man support you?

Daughter (yawning)—Well, father, he can keep me up.—Boston Transcript.

The Artist (to model)—Well, why don't you come out? Don't you want to pose?

The Model—Y-yes—but you must promise not to look.—Buen Humor (Madrid).

"That's a thundering queer looking old Ford you've got," called a neighbor. "What did you give for it?"

"Am, I ain't so poor as you think I am," responded Tobe Sagg of Sandy Bush. "This old flivver don't belong to me."—Punch.

The Girl—Darling, tell me that you love me.

The Boy—I have, at least a hundred times today, dearest. Don't you believe it?

The Girl—Yes, but I want you to—late.

A woman got on the trolley car and, finding that she had no change, handed the conductor a $10 bill. "I am sorry," she said, "but I haven't a ticket."

"Don't worry lady," said the conductor, "you'll have just 199 of 'em in a minute."—Vancouver Province.

Hardware clerk to lucky stockbroker: I suppose you've pulled off any amount of good things lately?

The stockbroker: I picked up a good thing recently. It stood at 44 when I discovered it, and last week it touched 5.

Good heavens! What was it?

A thermometer!—Good Hardware.

The street railway in Cleveland, O., is going to equip its repair men with belts studded with red reflectors with the expectation that when they are working at night the belts will flash up in time to keep automobiles from running over them.

By a singular coincidence, a birth, a marriage and a death occurred in the family of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Whiting of Saco, Me., within a few hours of each other, and word of the three events was received by them almost at the same time.

Recently elected to the presidency of the Arkansas National bank of Hot Springs, Ark., F. N. Rix of Pike, N. H., becomes, so far as is known, the youngest bank president in the United States. He is 26 years old and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Bertram Rix of Pike.

Mrs. Ella Lindfag of Asbury Park, N. J., was shot by Joseph Ribino, her landlord, following an argument over the rent. After the shooting Ribino offered a two-year rent-free lease and $100 in cash. Mrs. Lindfag accepted the money and executed the lease and then reported the assault. The court fined the offending landlord to pay that fine and spend six months in jail.

The mouth of East bay, Lake Champlain was the scene of unusual fishing activities following a prize catch by Patrick J. Harvey. He hooked firmly seated sailing bug of English history, believed to be more than a century old, while grappling for his catch hit, which had fallen overboard from his boat. Harvey was fishing at the spot where the English brig Confidence was sunk by Commodore Macdonough after the battle of Plattsburg in the war of 1812.

HAROLD T. ROBINSON,
Collector

Dated at Norwich, Conn., April 19, 1928.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the District of Connecticut.

In the matter of John Vohales, a Bankrupt. In Bankruptcy No. 9274.

To the Creditors of the above-named Bankrupt, of New London in the County of New London, District aforesaid, Bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that on the 21st day of April, A. D. 1928, the above-named was duly adjudicated a bankrupt; and that the first meeting of his creditors will be held before the undersigned, at his office, 58 Church St., Norwich, in said District, on the 5th day of May, A. D. 1928, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which time said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint trustee, be heard as to orders of Referee for care of property of the estate and disposal thereof, at auction or private sale, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

THOMAS M. SHIELDS,
Referee in Bankruptcy.
Norwich, Conn., April 24, 1928.

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Norwich, within and for the District of Norwich, on the 21st day of April, A. D. 1928.

Present, NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

Estate of Addison T. Gardner, late of Norwich, in said District, deceased.

The Administrator with the will annexed appeared in Court and filed a written application alleging that said estate is now in settlement in said Court, and praying for an order to sell certain real estate belonging to said estate, fully described in said application.

Whereupon, it is Ordered, That said application be heard and determined at the Probate Court Room in the City of Norwich, in said District, on the 28th day of April, A. D. 1928, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and that notice of the pendency of said application, and of said hearing thereon, be given by the publication of this order once in some newspaper having a circulation in said District at least three days prior to the date of said hearing, and that return be made to the Court.

NELSON J. AYLING, Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.
Attest, HELEN M. DRESCHER, Clerk.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Strand Theatre.

A western drama bubbling over with tense excitement and stirring incidents is the attraction playing at the Strand tonight and Thursday night. Buddy Roosevelt plays the part of Rom Rawlins, a young man who has fallen heir to a ranch left to him by his uncle. His papers are stolen and he is unable to identify himself as the rightful owner. He is accused of murder and robbery, and there is talk of lynching him. This is undoubtedly one of the most thrilling westerns that have come this way in many months. Alma Rayford is particularly charming in the role of leading lady. This picture is from the story by Walter J. Coburn, and makes a piece of screen entertainment well worth seeing.

In "The Gay Old Bird" Louise Fazenda plays the leading part, portraying the role of a maid. The gay old bird, master of the house, receives word that his rich uncle, who has never seen birdie's wife and twins, but has promised to give him $100,000 if he is happily married, is coming. Now, only an hour before the wife arrives, wifey has taken the twins and flounced off home to ma, in a tantrum. Finally to save the day Louise Fazenda is pressed into service and causes a riot, when she tries to get in slim wifie's clothes. It is around this housemaid that the comedy is built. It is one of the most amusing comedy roles ever projected on the screen, and it is impersonated by the comedienne who was born to play it. The supporting cast includes John T. Murray, Jane Winton, Ed Kennedy and Frances mond.

"Signs of Spring" is a beautiful color classic.

SOUTH KILLINGLY

Clark Whaley of Groton was a recent caller at The Oaks.

A. E. Phillips is installing a water system to supply water to his barns and hen-houses.

Mrs. George Slater returned from the Day Kimball hospital Monday. She is much improved in health and expects to be able to attend to her regular duties soon.

P. C. Bliven was a caller at The Oaks one day last week.

Byron Wood of Foster was a caller at P. H. Coffey's Sunday.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Speaker for Community Meeting

Dr. Albert Levitt will be the speaker at the Community meeting to be held in the United Congregational church on Sunday evening, April 29, at 8 o'clock, D. S. T.

Dr. Levitt was born in Maryland in 1887 and combines in an unusual way both talent and training. Among the higher institutions from which he has received degrees are Columbia, Harvard and Yale. In 1914-15 he represented the Standard Oil company in India. A member of the bar of the District of Columbia, also of the bar of the United States supreme court, until recently Dr. Levitt was professor of law at Washington and Lee university. He is now teaching law in New York city, and is counsel for one of the large New York Banks. During the World war he filled various offices in the American army overseas. Having participated in the offensives of Oise-Aisne and Meuse-Argonne in 1918 he was wounded and gassed. As author and editor, Dr. Levitt has been associated with the Central Law Journal, Collier's Weekly, Current History, together with many other leading reviews of the country.

DR. ALBERT LEVITT

The subject on Sunday evening will be "Governor Ritchie and Prohibition." As a speaker, Dr. Levitt is said to combine an attractive personality with clear, forceful thinking and utterance.

State's Attorney Arthur M. Brown will preside at the meeting. The special music of the evening will be under the direction of Dr. J. Lawrence Erb of Connecticut college. At 7:45 D. S. T., he will give a short organ recital and during the service will conduct the double quartette composed of the members of the United Congregational and Central Baptist choirs. Owing to the change in time the service proper will begin at 8 o'clock, D. S. T.

HANDCUFFED ESCAPES FROM OFFICER BRINGING HIM TO NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 24.—Arthur Bradford, under arrest and being brought from Pittsfield, Mass., to New London to answer to a charge of fraud in passing forged checks, escaped from his captive Sergeant Nelson Smith of the New London department today, in Hartford. Bradford is still at large although departments throughout the state have been requested to be on the lookout for the fugitive. Bradford recently completed a term of 60 days in the House of Correction on a similar charge and when he was about to be released Sergeant Smith re-arrested Bradford. The officer and his prisoner started for New London and arrived in Hartford during this forenoon. At the bus station where Smith and the prisoner were to take a bus for New London, Bradford requested permission to go to a lavatory and the request was granted. When Bradford did not return to the waiting room within a reasonable time, Smith went to the lavatory, to discover that his prisoner had outwitted him, for Bradford had slipped through a door that led to a garage and passed out on a main street. Sergeant Smith went to Hartford police headquarters and reported the loss of his man and officers were assigned in an effort to intercept Bradford, but he was not recaptured.

REFERENDUM PETITION WITH 450 NAMES FILED

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 24.—The referendum petition requesting that a special city election be held to permit voters of New London to have an opportunity to approve or disapprove the action of City Manager William A. Hall in employing Tax Collector Hibbard N. Alexander at a salary of about $2,000 for work that will not occupy the new collector more than 18 months, was filed with City Clerk Julian D. Moran this afternoon, by Harry Gordon, law student in the office of Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin. The other circulators were P. LeRoy Harwood, treasurer of the Mariners Savings bank and Guy V. Punam, a State street store clerk. City Clerk Moran will determine the validity of the signatures, which number 450 and the document will go to the council at the next regular meeting of that body, May 7. At that time a date for the special meeting will be held. Tax Collector Alexander was appointed to the office about three weeks ago. At the time there was a general expression of disapproval of the action of the city manager, for it was believed that the former collector, Allen C. Richards, could do the work equally as well as Mr. Alexander, since the latter is not given any greater power than that bestowed on former Collector Richards, especially so because Mr. Richards was retained as a clerical assistant to Mr. Norman. The matter was fought out on the floor of the council chamber with Mayor James A. May opposing the Alexander appointment most strenuously. He was defeated in his attempt to prevent the appointment of Mr. Alexander for the council members supported the city manager. As soon as Mr. Alexander's appointment became known, Messrs Harwood, Putnam and Gordon circulated the petition and quickly obtained a sufficient number of signatures to make it mandatory that a special election be held, to determine whether Mr. Alexander will be hired and paid the money that will go with the city manager's appointment.

WOMAN ATTENDS AUCTION, HAS $35 STOLEN FROM BAG

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 24.—Mrs. C. R. House, of 106 Green street, reported to the police this morning the theft of $35 from her purse while she was attending an auction sale in the store at 16 Main street. She reported to Sergeant John J. Cavanaugh and Patrolman George C. Perkins that at the time she entered the store it was crowded and she recalls having been jostled against several times. When she had need to reach for her pocketbook it was open and the money was gone. Two colored women, standing near, were arrested by Patrolman Frank Linehan. They were taken to the police station where they were closely questioned and searched. Failure to find the money on them resulted in their immediate release.

Eighteen candidates were initiated by the Independent Order of B'Nai Brith in Union lodge rooms at the last meeting. Over 250 members witnessed the ceremonies which were in charge of a degree team from Springfield, assisted by a marching squad of twenty members of the local lodge. After the initiation, members of the auxiliary served a supper.

Impressive ceremonies will be held Friday night by Palestine commandary, No. 6, Knights Templars, when it will exemplify the illustrious order of the Red Cross and the order of Malta. Eminent Sir Morris W. Ruoff, commander, will be in charge of the work

BRUSHES AGAINST A SAW—WORKMAN LOSES FINGER

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 24.—David Carroll, of 44 Washington street, lost the little finger of his left hand this morning when he accidently brushed against an electric saw at Shaw's cove bridge, where he is employed. He, together with another employe, was using a large electric saw to cut off tops of poles. After he had received treatment from a physician, he returned home.

Two drivers of autos had their licenses suspended today by Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel. Joseph G. Hyzanzan of 63 Golden street and Mary Bastas of the United States Coast Guard. Hyzanzan about two weeks ago drove a hired car containing six occupants at such a high rate of speed that it overturned. None was injured, however.

Funeral services for Michael A. Lynch were held at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church. A large gathering of mourners attended the services. The mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Michael Reagan. The bearers were Frank Ryan, Napolean E. Cote, Michael L. Spellman, S. E. Culombe, John F. Falvey and John F. Murphy. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Three owners of property on Jay street have returned to sell to the city of New London at the price being offered. The owners are Idelle Beagaw, Blanche Eggleston Ferris and Mary E. Moran. Owing to the difference between the owners and the city, a committee to set valuations on the properties has been named. James R. May, Arthur H. Shurts and Thomas S. McGinley. These men are to report to the board of compensation next Friday at 10 a. m., at which time a public hearing on the matter will be held in the city council chamber. Several property owners who have sold their land to the city did so without questioning the offer made them.

Morris Furth, whose death was noted in this morning's Bulletin, was 91 and up to a short while ago was possessed of much vigor. Two years ago he had a severe case of pneumonia, he recovered however, and had perfect health until two weeks ago when he suffered a heart attack. Mrs. James N Sterry, a daughter, attended the aged man until the last. Funeral services were held this afternoon at his residence, 19 Prospect street, Rev. J. Beveridge Lee officiating. The bearers were Charles E. White, Charles Munger, Edwin W. White, Alfred Colt. Interment was in Jordan cemetery.

Patients discharged from the Lawrence-Memorial hospital today were Mrs. Lawrence Harris, 202 Vauxhall street, Mrs. Herbert Grant, Quaker Hill, Richard Butler, Montville Harold Smith, 24 Pleasant street, Thomas Kehr, 317 Ocean avenue and William Fritz, of 259 Huntington street.

Funeral services for Bernard P. Clark were held this morning in Groton at the Sacred Heart church at 10 o'clock. A high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. William J. Fox. The bearers were Harry Fardy, James Edgeley, Andrew Bruno, Bernard Sitcer, Charles Silva and James Hanson. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, this city.

The funeral of William Stinson took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock at his home, 443 Thames street, Groton, Rev. George R. Atha officiating. Burial was in East Church cemetery, Stonington.

A telephone pole on Lower Boulevard was struck by an auto sometime last night with such force that it was snapped completely off close to the ground. Club robes pole was discovered by Patrolman George Labote. The driver of the car after striking the pole, evidently ran into another one on the street, doing but little damage, however. The driver of the car has not been located.

An automobile carrying Connecticut registration 27-6758 yesterday afternoon collided with a government truck. The driver of the car failed to stop and ascertain the damage done. The affair was reported to the police by Warrant Officer Miller of the United States Coast Guard. The owner of the license was Warern Reynolds of Fairy Lake farm, Salem.

John Cohalan, owner of the confectionery store Candyland, 86 Bank street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. His liabilities amount to $5,468.15 with assets of $2,000, which include fixtures of the store.

Friends of Miss Mary Silva, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Silva of 629 Main street, gave a surprise shower for her last night, but in turn received a greater surprise. Miss Silva, shortly after the arrival of her guests, made it known that she had been united in marriage with Martin Chapman, of 144 Monument street, Groton, on January 31. The shower had been arranged in anticipation of her marriage. After the announcement was made the bride invited her friends to visit her newly furnished home, 13 Morse avenue, Groton.

Miss Perrilee M. Jenkins, who has been ill for over four weeks, returned this morning to her duties as assistant city assessor. For the past month the young lady has been suffering from a bad attack of grip and has been confined to her bed most of the time. She lives at 107 Ocean avenue.

Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sabol, Flanders, was married yesterday to Joseph Burdett, of Clement street this city. The marriage was solemnized at St. Mathias' church in Flanders by Rev. Edward Flynn. Miss Margaret Wino of Flanders was maid of honor. The other attendants were Misses Agnes Sabol, Susie Valko and Eleanor Tvesdak. George Sabol, brother of the bride was best man. Michael Beck and George Coles of this city were ushers. After a honeymoon trip in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, Mr. and Mrs. Burdett will reside at 2 Clement street.

BLOCKED PHYSICIAN'S CAR—DRIVER'S MACHINE TAGGED

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 24—The police get many complaints because of drivers of automobiles parking them in front of driveways, so that cars can neither enter nor leave. Tonight one driver parked his machine in front of the driveway to the residence of Dr. Julian Ely, 41 Huntington street, the car being parked so that the physician could not drive to the main thoroughfare. Automobile Patrol Officer Elwood Bailey was sent to where the car was parked and tagged it so that the owner will be ordered to present himself in the police court tomorrow.

In an effort to raise the sum of $14,500 to supplement the fund derived from membership dues the local branch of the Y. M. C. A. will have a drive from May 1 to 7th General chairman of the drive will be F. Valentine Chappell. Division managers will be William W. Johl, A. C. Woodruff and Ward T. Ailing. Team captains are Lewis P. Bailey, Elbert R. Barnes, Frederick L. Newton, Morris Lubchansky, G. L. Bilderbeck, Edward S. Huntley, Waldo L. Miner, Lawrence B. McEwen, R. E. Quaintance, Ralph W. Matteson, F. J. O'Connor, Charles Eglies Jr., Henery Holt Smith, Frederick J. Smith, George H. Garlepy, Louis Kaplan, C. S. Bailey, Vincent Ryan and Frank A. Comstock. The drive is launched for the purpose of securing sufficient funds to meet expenses to the end of the fiscal year.

Members of Amoma circle, No. 11, of the First Baptist church were entertained last night by Mrs. Alexander MacPhail, of 33 West Pleasant street. Before a pleasant social session those present joined in a discussion as to the best method to employ to improve the aid the organization is giving to the church.

Members of New London chapter, No. 56, National Sojourners attended a meeting last night held in the mess hall of the marine corps barracks, at the submarine base. President Carey Condon presided. The meeting was a social one and after supper was served those present enjoyed an evening of games and music. Thirty were present.

Owing to the repairs being made on Bank street, traffic on Tilley was ordered closed today. However autos coming down the street into Bank can do so by crossing over the corner of the lot on the north side of "Doc" Thomson's garage, thence into the main thoroughfare.

William Golding, contractor, who is having a house erected on Henry street, reported to the police today that several windows there had been smashed and he suspected mischievous boys residing in the neighborhood of doing the damage.

An automobile driven by Warren E. Hewlett, 84 West Colt street, struck and knocked down a colored youth this evening, corner of Hempstead and Truman streets. The boy was taken to the office of a physician where an examination revealed that he had sustained only minor bruises. Neither the driver of the automobile nor the physician obtained the name of the boy.

A bridge party in honor of Miss Laura J. Coml, of Groton was held last night at the home of Mrs. Richard H Forsythe of Thames street, Groton. Miss Coml is to be married on April 30. Prizes were won by Miss Coml and Miss Ermina J. Banfield. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Members of Circle No. 10, of the First Baptist church, presented Mrs E. N. Lyon, retiring president, a beautifully decorated fireplace wood basket at a meeting of the organization last night. The presentation of the gift was by Mrs. Frank R. Johnson, in behalf of the members. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Foster M. Marsters. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Malcolm C. Brown and Mrs. Jules A. Racine.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre.

The best way to describe First National's new feature picture, "The Poor Nut," which heads the double feature bill today and Thursday at the Breed theatre with Jack Mulhall in the title role, is to say that it will be enjoyed by everyone, from mother and father to the last kiddie.

"The Poor Nut" is the screen version of the stage play of the same title which ran for a year in New York. It is a clean, extremely funny story of college life built around a young man who suffers from an "inferiority complex" which is finally removed through the work of a pretty co-ed and his own victory as a runner on the cinder track.

A real track meet, the big annual affair of the University of Arizona, is shown in the picture and is one of the outstanding features of the film. Real athletes instead of the usual "trained" motion picture athlete takes this sequence out of the usual run.

"The Poor Nut" was directed by Richard Wallace. In the cast, in addition to Mulhall, are Charles Murray Jane Winton, Jean Arthur, Cornelia Keefe and many other prominent screen players.

Fashionable apartments, haunts of millionaires and magnificent Long Island estates of the idle rich form the settings for one of the most sensational dramas of the year, "Women Love Diamonds," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer romance of city life, showing today and tomorrow at the Breed. It is a vivid story written and directed by Edmund Goulding, with Pauline Starke, Owen Moore, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Lionel Barrymore and other famous screen players in important roles. Miss Starke plays the heroine, a social butterfly with a terrible secret.

Palace Theatre.

Columbia has produced another winner in "The Wife's Relations," a hilarious comedy of the complications of married life. The plot revolves around a young inventor and his marriage to a beautiful heiress, who has run away from home and become an elevator operator in order to avoid a union with a man, who is distasteful to her. Into the action are introduced a cross-eyed crook, a penniless actor, an unknown author and an artist of uncertain merit. They all struggle along together on the estate of the heroine's former sweetheart. The wife's parents visit their son-in-law and are received in great style by the versatile quartet, who play chauffeur, ladies' maid, footman, butler and cook. They are making a strong impression when the former lover returns and then the fun begins.

Shirley Mason gives an excellent portrayal of a wayward girl, who always gets her own way. Gaston Glass makes an ideal husband and struggling inventor. Ben Turpin, holds the center of the stage with his antics and Arthur Rankin keeps the audience in good humor with his impersonations as a maid.

Ted Wells is the star in "Desert Dust," the co-feature. Its a western of the old school, crammed with the free spirit of the carefree west and reeking with the tang of desert air and sagebrush.

Today will be the last opportunity of seeing the Paramount News which shows over five hundred feet of the first pictures to be taken of the new famous "Bremen" and its crew at Greenly Island.

The Purity of Cuticura Makes It Unexcelled For All Toilet Purposes

Myrna Loy, Warner Bros. Star, and the luxurious bathroom designed for her rare, auburn-haired beauty!

"THE MOST APPEALING CHARM of all is a lovely, smooth skin. A screen star's must be the genuine article to triumph in the searching close-ups. Only the slightest make-up can get by those lights—the skin must be smooth."

Howard Bretherton, Director for WARNER BROS.

Nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap! It cares for their skin the true French way. The great film companies have made it the official soap in their studio dressing rooms. Enjoy—even in hard water—the instant lather you loved in French soaps but until now could only get at 50¢ or $1.00 a cake—now it's just TEN CENTS!

Lux Toilet Soap certainly leaves my skin beautifully smooth—I think it's wonderful."

Magnificent new smartness . . . a big brute of a Pikes Peak Motor . . . the great safety of Westinghouse Brakes . . . and the famous "One Shot" chassis lubricating system . . . . .

HERE'S news—big news—good news—to every family now on the verge of buying a new car priced anywhere around a thousand dollars: A new six-cylinder, four-door, five-passenger Special Sedan by Chandler at $995!

The price is remarkable because it's the price of a Chandler—and the car is remarkable in a good many ways . . .

Remarkably beautiful—a magnificent car outwardly and inwardly—elegantly upholstered and appointed—exceptionally roomy and comfortable.

Remarkably powerful—a big brute of a Pikes Peak Motor that gives you hair-trigger action in traffic—easy mastery of the steepest hills—and worlds of stamina for the open highway.

Remarkable ease and safety of control. Westinghouse Vacuum Brakes make this car phenomenally easy to stop. At any speed in any weather, a mere touch on the pedal with the tip of your toe brings you to a quick, smooth "cushioned" stop.

And think of this—when you want to lubricate the chassis you simply press your foot on a plunger. That's the great advantage of Chandler's "One Shot" centralized lubricating system.

Scores of advanced features, all the way through the car. An oil filter. A pre-heating manifold vaporizer. An automatic thermostat in the cooling system. Self-adjusting noiseless spring shackles. Feature after feature you would only expect of a high-priced car.

Come look at this car. Come drive this car. Compare this car with anything else within title range of the price!

Regular business was transacted with the president, Mrs. Fitch A. Dolbeare, in charge. It was voted at the meeting to hold a bean and salad supper in the near future. A supper committee was then appointed by the president to take official charge of the supper. After the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed followed by serving of refreshments by the entertaining committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mountan and daughter Margaret, have returned to their home at Schenectady, N. Y., after spending a few days with relatives on Fifth street.

HANOVER MAN'S MACHINE IN CRASH IN WORCESTER

Hugh Kane, of Hanover, celebrated his birthday by getting into an automobile accident in Worcester and banging up his brand new Packard, according to a report filed Monday at the police traffic bureau in Worcester.

Neither Kane nor Mrs. Kane, nor Doris Crowder, of Hanover, passengers, were injured in the crash, which took place at Madison square, and the Hanover resident was satisfied with that angle of the case. His lament, however, was that his automobile was hardly a week out of the display rooms and that it was a tough way to celebrate his birthday.

FOUR UNCONTESTED DIVORCES ON SHORT CALENDAR DAY

Four uncontested divorces are on the short calendar list for trials at New London on Friday of this week with Judge John Richards Booth presiding.

CLUB WOMEN ARE TOLD NEED OF GETTING OUT THE VOTE FOR ELECTION

In the absence of Miss Bishop, Mrs. William S. Birge presided at the April meeting of the Woman's City club, held in the Wauregan ball room at three o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Birge was also the five minute speaker, her subject being Getting Out the Woman's Vote. She said, in substance, that the women's vote needs enlarging, for women have not availed themselves of their suffrage privilege as they should have done. Statistics show that in England 75 per cent is the average of the combined vote, in Germany 75 per cent, in Australia until recently it has been 57 per cent. Owing to the determination of Premier Hughes, who fined the voter 250, unless he had a very good excuse, the voting average was not long since raised to 91 per cent.

In the town of Norwich out of a registered list of 10,520 the women number 4,422 and in the city that number is 900 less. The percentage of women voting has been 50 per cent, last year it went up to 70 per cent.

City elections take place in June and in the fall will come the presidential elections. Those that have not registered should do so at once. The only qualifications are a year's residence in the state, six months in the town, and four months in the city. Application must be made before the committee either by correspondence, writing, or in person. Voters are made about the middle of October, and announcement is always made in the newspapers previously. Vote yourselves, see that your friends and family do so and phone the committee at the court-house if you are prevented from going to the polls.

The secretary's report of the March meeting was read by Mrs. Frank S. Bunnell. The statement of the treasurer, Mrs. Albert S. Comstock showed a good working balance on hand, and receipt of $190 from the current events department.

Mrs. Witter K. Tinkley, parliamentarian and chairman of by-laws committee, brought up changes in the constitution, for consideration, prior to the action to be taken at the annual meeting in May. These changes have been carefully discussed by the committee, and concern duties of the recording secretary and assistant recording secretary, duration of term of office, slight modifications in connection with payment of dues, and passage of amendments, and more latitude in regard to board meetings of the club. Quite a bit of discussion followed these proposed changes, and some necessary points of view were brought out.

Mrs. Charles T. Bard, chairman of the nominating committee, being unable to attend the meeting, Mrs. C. B. Gilbert read her report, which will be posted on the bulletin board. The slate shows only two changes to date in the list of officers for next year—Miss Elizabeth Huntington, as chairman of civics and Mrs. John Conway, as house chairman. According to the constitution, other nominations may be placed opposite the name of any nominee, if ten people so desire it. There will be no nominations from the floor in May.

Mrs. Birge announced that the woman's chorus of the club has joined with the men to form the choral union which will give its first concert in Slater hall. She urged the support of all club members and friends.

In reporting the civics department accomplishments, Mrs. Charles B Gilbert announced the formation of a new committee to be active in work among the girls of the city, with Mrs. William H. Dawley as chairman. Since there is no Girl Scout band, or Y. W. C. A. in Norwich, such a committee would seem to be a vital one.

The civics committee feels that it may take half the credit for having voting booths placed on the first floor in the court house. The rest of the credit belongs to the League of Women Voters.

The civics department has taken no stand regarding petitions recently circulated in the city, feeling that any definite attitude would not represent the club at large.

It is still necessary to have in mind the saving of the pines in the large grove south of the hospital, and support from members who have this matter at heart may be required at any time.

The child study group will meet for a round table under the leadership of Mrs. Ronald Nelson, on the evening of April 30th, at 7:30 in the city club room.

It was voted by those present to make the annual meeting on May 15 a dinner meeting with business session following. The house committee will be in charge of preparations.

At the close of the business meeting Mrs. Birge introduced Mrs. Richard Snow, who read a very interesting and carefully prepared paper on the history of textiles.

She said that weaving is a very ancient art, having been known and practiced by the Egyptians at a very early date. The materials used were linen, cotton, wool, silk, silver and gold. Gold and silver were usually combined with silk or cotton. She described the type of loom used in early times and the jacquard loom, invented in 1725 and perfected about 1800, since which time very minor improvements have been made. Silk weaving in China is lost in the mists of antiquity, and was introduced from China into Japan.

The art of weaving was first practiced in Europe in the sixth century. Later very beautiful fabrics were made in Sicily, in Florence, Venice, Genoa, and in Spain, France, Flanders and England. Norwich and Worcester were great centers of the industry in England, the weavers coming from France and Flanders. The paper was illustrated by colored plates from the fine collection owned by Slater museum.

WILL OBSERVE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDINGS TOGETHER

Married at a double wedding on Saturday, April 27, 1878, in Monson, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Curtis, Center street, Stafford Springs, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Neff, of Crystal Lake Rockville will celebrate their golden wedding at Crystal Lake on that date this year.

Mrs. Curtis was Nettie A. Neff, daughter of Ansan and Sarah Anderson Neff. Mrs. Neff was Jennie L. Lewis, daughter of Ira H. and Alice A. Lewis. Mr. Curtis was a native of Mystic. They were all married by Rev. O. Coleman, pastor of the Monson Congregational church, at the home of Loren Squires, an intimate friend of Mr. Neff. Both families lived as neighbors at Crystal Lake practically all the 50 years. The Curtis family having moved to Stafford Springs about four years ago, after Mr. Curtis had sold his lumber business to his son, Embert. Mr. Neff is a farmer and conducted Prescott farm at Snipsic Lake from 1912 to 1921, after which he farmed his own place at Crystal Lake.

The Curtis family includes one living son, Embert, of Stafford Springs, three grandchildren and one great-grandchild. The Neff family has three children, Mrs. Edith Busher, of Rockville; Mrs. Bessie Conklin, of West Stafford, and Warren, of Crystal Lake; 11 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The celebration of the 50th milestone of married life will be held at Rau's pavilion, Crystal Lake, to which 200 invitations have been sent out. The old couples will entertain, and there will be dinner, an afternoon of frolic and an evening of entertainment. Friends are expected from Putnam, Norwich, Hartford, Wethersfield, Mystic, Rockville, Stafford Springs, Somers, Ellington, Lee and Pittsfield, Mass.

In the family of Mrs. Neff there have been four golden weddings: Mr. and Mrs. Ira H. Lewis, 1885; Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Lewis, of Hartford, 1919; Mr. and Mrs. A. U. Charter, 1921, and her own.

The day upon which the two couples were married was a real April day with alternate showers and sunshine. The couples drove to Monson in a carriage. Both brides were dressed exactly alike.

Mrs. Neff cast her first vote in 1920. She is 67, Mr. Neff is 71. Mrs. Curtis, 70, and Mr. Curtis 71.

TWO CONTRACTS AWARDED ON KILLINGLY ROADS

HARTFORD, April 24—(AP)—Bids for 13 state highway contracts, the total cost of which will total more than $918,000, were opened by the state highway department this afternoon in the hall of the house at the state capitol.

Although the contracts will be awarded at a later date by the department to the lowest bidders, the apparent low bidders on contracts in this part of the state were as follows:

Relocation of Summit and Lakeview streets in the town of East Hampton, 1,037 linear feet, trap rock macadam pavement, Peter Suzio for $8,497.25.

Reinforced concrete pavement on the Norwich-Putnam road in the town of Killingly, 7,534 linear feet, M. A. Gamino Construction company for $68,998.

Section of the Danielson-South Killingly road in the town of Killingly, the E. L. Gobele company for $61,063.

Section of the Grosvenordale-North Grosvenordale road in the town of Thompson, 10,530 linear feet of reinforced concrete pavement, James H. Kerr for $77,754.30.

FRED N. CASH WILL JOIN CARNIVAL COMPANY

Fred N. Cash leaves Norwich today to join the Wallace Bros. Carnival company at Buffalo, N. Y., and with this company will tour Canada and the provinces during the coming summer. Mr. Cash is owner of one of the concessions of the company and during the next four weeks will be in Buffalo and vicinity before going across the border. On Tuesday evening a number of Mr. Cash's friends held an informal party for him at which he was the recipient of the best wishes for good fortune from a host of friends.

ROUND TABLE MEETING; MRS. GILDERSLEEVE HOSTESS

The Norwich Round Table was entertained Tuesday evening by Mrs. C. C. Gildersleeve as hostess at her home 29 Lincoln avenue with a good attendance to answer the roll call, the response to which was given by a coster song, story or street cry. The paper of the evening was by Rev. C. F. Bailey upon "Derelicts of American Progress" and at intermission there were pleasing musical numbers in a duet by Miss Amie March and Miss Dorothy Gildersleeve and a solo by Donald Gildersleeve. Miss Bessie M. Grant gave an entertaining reading from Dallas Lore Sharp's "Seed Catalogues" and dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

NORWICH TOWN

When Ralph H. March provided special music on the violin Sunday evening at the Congregational Young Peoples' Christian Endeavor service, Miss Louise Avery played the piano accompaniment.

Mr. and Mrs. William Weaver, of Huntington avenue, had as guests over the week-end, the former's nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Senter, of Natick, Mass. Mr. Senter, a son by a former marriage, with his wife, was called to Norwich Town by the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. Rosa Kinney, who makes her home with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kinney. Mrs. Kinney has been confined to her bed for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Connolly and daughter, Miss Margaret Connolly, of Sentry Hill, motored Saturday to Saybrook, where they formerly resided, and were the guests of friends. They were accompanied by Mrs. Connolly's aunt, Mrs. Clara Price, of Custer, South Dakota, who is their guest.

Mrs. John L. Browning and youngest child, have returned to their home on West Town street, following several days' stay in New York, where they were called by the illness of a sister of Mrs. Browning.

In the absence of Frank E. Sterry, who is taking a rest from Sunday duties, Dr. Charles H. Lamb, tenor, is singing in the quartet at the First Congregational church Sunday morning. Dr. Lamb sang Sunday April 15th, also sang again on the 22nd.

NEW ENGLAND BUSES MAKING SAFETY RECORD

Due to the well planned safety regulations imposed by the Connecticut public utilities commission and the even more iron-clad rules laid down by the company itself, the New England Transportation company which operates 212 buses on 42 routes in southern New England enjoyed an enviable safety record during the year of 1927. According to accident reports submitted to the public utilities commission, not one person was killed and only 23 were injured by N. E. T. coaches during the entire year.

In total, New England buses were involved in only 221 accidents, practically all of a minor nature. This is an average of slightly more than one accident for each coach despite the fact that each travels between 100 and 300 miles every day in the year. Of the 221 accidents, only 20 involved personal injury and only 23 injuries. The other 201 mishaps were entirely free from broken bones and bruises.

Sacrifice of speed and schedules for safety is the important regulation which has cut New Engalnd accidents to a minimum. Bus drivers are instructed to make safety their primary objective. Their speed is limited to 30 miles per hour and this is enforced by the use of a speedometer which records the maximum speed attained by each bus during its day's run. If the indicator shows that the bus has been run more than 30 miles per hour, the driver is subjected to penalty. Rules are laid down for wet weather driving, rounding curves, descending steep grades, approaching railroad and trolley crossings, stopping and starting, and for every conceivable contingency which might arise. Schedules are devised so that operators may exercise extreme caution and yet arrive at their destinations in time.

CONNECTICUT WOMEN IN CONVENTION AT CHICAGO

From the moment the eighth convention of the National League of Women Voters opened Monday in Chicago the Connecticut League representatives were acive. There are fifteen delegates and four alternates from leagues in this state.

Fastidious Women Approve
The appearance and comfort advantages of the New Kotex
BECAUSE corners are now gently tapered and rounded, the New Kotex may be worn without in any way altering slim, modish lines. Thousands of fastidious women are writing in praise of this cleverly wrought change, which affects not only appearance but peace-of-mind.
Naturally, the new cut-to-fit shape is much more snug and comfortable; and the gauze is softer, the filler even fluffier than before. Chafing and irritation are avoided.
Regular Price was ~~65¢~~ NOW 45¢
KOTEX
Women physicians and nurses, who supervised these changes, are enthusiastic in their endorsement.
Absorbency, protection, disposability are identically the same. The same effective area is retained. And appearance is considered, for the first time in a sanitary napkin.
Greater demand has doubled production, so the regular price has been greatly reduced—permanently. Buy a box of Improved Kotex today, at any drug or dry goods store

HOOVER NOW ASSURED OF 31 OF OHIO'S DELEGATES

It is Considered Unlikely That Any of the Willis Delegates Will Give Hoover Aid at the Kansas City Convention—The Best the Willis Slate Could Do Was to Win 20 Delegates—The Democratic Delegates Are to Vote For Pomerene on the First Ballot at Houston and Then the Votes Will Be Cast For Gov. Al Smith.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 25—(AP)—Herbert Hoover came out of his first primary fight with 31 of Ohio's delegates to the Kansas City convention. He also rolled up an overwhelming lead yesterday in the preferential vote.

In the democratic primary, which was rather tame because contests were lacking, Governor Smith of New York romped away with honors in the preferential count. The state's delegation of 48, however, with the exception of one anti-organization member committed to Smith, will line up for former Senator Atlee Pomerene on the first ballot at Houston. Belated primary returns, nearly complete tonight, showed that the commerce secretary had captured all seven republican delegates-at-large and 24 others from 12 populous districts in the state. The best the Willis slate could do was to win 20 convention seats by carrying ten districts.

Where the strength of the anti-Hoover delegates will be thrown at Kansas City remains to be seen. Originally pledged to Senator Frank O. Willis, who died while campaigning for the presidential nomination, they now are virtually uninstructed.

Some look with favor on Vice-President Dawes, who is a native of Ohio. There are leanings also towards Lowden, Curtis, Hughes and Coolidge, and it is not unlikely that the Willis battalion will split its strength when the convention balloting gets under way.

It is extremely unlikely that any of the Willis delegates will give Hoover aid.

The primary campaign was too bitter for that to be probable. There is a fight on for control of the republican organization in the state and fears are entertained by some republicans that factional strife may militate against the party and in the November election and perhaps force some unusual alignments in the August primaries when two nominees for the senate and candidates for congress and various state offices are to be named.

As for results yesterday, 3087 precincts out of 8559 in the state on the preferential ballot gave Hoover 210,654, Willis, whose name was listed despite his recent death, 78,395, and Olin J. Ross, a Columbus lawyer, 7803.

The name of Dawes was written in by 2821 republicans and Lowden's by 2304.

In the democratic preferential count, all names having been written in, gave Smith, in 6502 precincts, 82,694; Pomerene, 9589; Governor Donahey, 5271; Reed, 432; Walsh, of Montana, 151, and McAdoo, 37.

Aside from what it may show as to popular sentiment, the preferential result in Ohio has no weight, as it is not binding on delegates.

LATEST RETURNS FROM MASSACHUSETTS PRIMARIES

BOSTON, April 25—(AP)—Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover and Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, continued to pile up their lead over all other presidential candidates in the preference vote cast in Massachusetts yesterday as additional returns of the state presidential primary were compiled tonight.

With the city of Boston complete and only 58 of the 1603 precincts in the state outstanding, Hoover had a lead of more than ten to one over other candidates voted for by the republicans. Smith's margin was even wider. The figures were:

Republican: Hoover, 96,646; Coolidge, 7017; Fuller, 1598.

Democratic: Smith, 39,874; Senator Walsh of Montana, 264; Reed, 56.

The city of Boston with 339 precincts gave both Hoover and Smith greater majorities over the other candidates of their parties than the outside towns and cities. The unofficial city vote was:

Republican: Hoover, 11,934; Coolidge, 1319; Fuller, 422; Smith, 183.

Democratic: Smith, 9406; Senator Walsh of Montana, 45; Reed, 12. Hoover received 39 democratic votes, Coolidge five and Fuller eight.

SMITH STANDS STRONG WITH PENN. DELEGATION

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 25—(AP)—Returns received today from yesterday's primary in Pennsylvania showed that six candidates favoring the presidential nomination of Governor Smith of New York and two opposed to his candidacy were leading in the field of 13 for the eight places as delegates-at-large to the democratic national convention.

Despite the fact that there was a contest on for the eight places, the vote cast for delegates-at-large was extremely light, and it may take the official canvass to determine the first eight.

Today brought no further claims from the followers of Governor Smith as to the strength of the New York executive in the delegation. Joseph F. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, democratic national committeeman claims that Governor Smith will have at least 66 of the 76 votes in the convention and probably more.

POSSIBILITY THAT G. B. MARSHALL IS STILL ALIVE

NEW YORK, April 25—(AP)—The possibility that George B. Marshall, assistant manager of La Luz y Los Angeles mine reported to have been killed by Sandino rebels, is still alive was suggested in a Bluefields Nicaragua dispatch received today by the Associated Press.

The dispatch, filed from Bluefields at noon today said: "Marshall reports being well treated as long as Giron (commander of the rebel force which seized the mine several days ago) stays by him."

There was no mention in the dispatch of any reports that Marshall had been killed.

The Bluefields dispatch is as follows: "Harry Amphlett, manager of La Luz mines is at Puerto Cabezas. Assistant Manager Marshall is held by General Giron, who commands the raiders. All commissary supplies, mules and ore were taken. Marshall reports being well treated as long as Giron stays by him.

"The Bonanza mine was looted. An attempt is being made to work the same by the raiders; it is thought that Marshall is being held to assist.

"Tebba (first lieutenant U. S. marines) made contact, but had to retire, due to overwhelming opposition. He is out again with a larger patrol. All supplies the raiders couldn't take from both mines and natives were destroyed. The band was made up of Hondurans, Costa Ricans and Nicaraguans and the raiders were well armed and mounted. The nature of the land makes operations difficult."

METCALF GRANTED DIVORCE FROM MADGE BELLAMY

LOS ANGELES, April 25—(AP)—Logan F. Metcalf, four-day husband of Madge Bellamy, film star, was granted a divorce from her here today. He told the court that his brief period of married life was one of great humiliation to him because his wife failed to keep appointments with him, used abusive language toward him in public and completely ignored him at times.

Metcalf said he married the screen actress in Tijuana, Mex., Jan. 24 last, and separated from her after a honeymoon of four days.

FURTHER EARTHQUAKES OCCURRED IN CORINTH

ATHENS, April 25—(AP)—Further violent earthquakes occurred in Corinth today and torrential rains beat upon the wretched homeless.

The collapse of a wall killed a woman said to be 120 years of age. Fierce winds blew down huts and tents where many of the destitute had found shelter, exposing them to the furious storm.

Officers and men of British warships which have arrived, are affording every possible assistance.

OBITUARY

George M. Egan

WATERBURY, April 25—(AP)—Ex-Superintendent of Police George M. Egan, died at his home here tonight. Mr. Egan was appointed a patrolman on the Waterbury police force in 1876 and was named chief of police in 1884. He served as chief until 1905, when he was retired on pension. Ex-Superintendent Egan was a Civil war veteran and was well known in police circles throughout New England.

THREE AMERICAN WOMEN TO FACE TRIAL IN TURKEY

BROUSSA, Turkey, April 25—(AP)—In a Turkish court in this ancient city three American women faced trial today on charges of religious propaganda-explaining the teachings of Christianity to Turkish girls.

"Regarding religious propaganda," she said, "I have never taught religious music or allowed religious discussions during classes. We have always been careful to obey Turkish law and make girls better Turkish citizens.

The lawyer for the defense admitted that Miss Sanderson and Miss Day had talked about Christianity outside the school, but declared this could not constitute an offense under the new Turkish laws, especially since the state had become completely secular with the recent removal from the constitution of the clause: "The religion of the state is Moslem."

Another Turkish lawyer, defending Miss Jennie Pilson, who is 60 years of age and who for 16 years has been director of the school, produced three medals awarded to her by the government in recognition of her services. He declared that she was not aware of the teachers' private discussions on Christianity.

DR. GUILFOYLE TAKEN TO WETHERSFIELD PRISON

HARTFORD, April 25—(AP)—With a wave of good-bye to his loyal little wife after a tearful scene at parting, Dr. Harold N. Guilfoyle was removed from the county jail to the state prison in Wethersfield this morning by Sheriff Edward W. Dewey to begin the serving of a life sentence for the murder of Mrs. Clare Cavanagh Gaudet, of New Haven in a Maple avenue apartment house last January.

His removal and the announcement of his senior counsel, John T. Robinson, that he would ask the supreme court to review all the evidence on which the three judges convicted the veterinarian, were the chief aftermath of the trial which for five days had attracted society folk, lawyers and the curious to the old court house on Trumbull street.

Dr. Guilfoyle arrived at the state prison shortly after ten o'clock. Before the morning was over the prisoner was inducted into the prison routine, and today he will start working in the shirt factory.

JUDGE MARVIN WILL CHARGE JURY IN PUTNAM FRIDAY

HARTFORD, April 25. (AP)—Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin will go to Putnam on Friday to charge the grand jury in the cases of Roland Lalone and Albert Raymond, charged by the state of Connecticut with the murder of State Policeman Irving H. Nelson, of New Haven, on Good Friday. Lalone and Raymond are held in Springfield, Mass., for the Connecticut authorities.

State's Attorney Howard C. Bradford, of Putnam, was in Hartford today, presumably with reference to making application for the extradition of the two accused.

HOUSE CONSIDERING THE HAUGEN FARM RELIEF BILL

WASHINGTON, April 25—(AP)—Turning to another of its major legislative problems, the house late today took up the Haugen farm relief bill, companion measure to the McNary bill already approved by the senate.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 25—(AP)—Another international opium conference appears a possibility unless the experts now gathered at Geneva work out a clearer understanding of the Geneva opium and narcotic convention.

RIO JANIERO, April 25. (AP)—Replying to an invitation from the World League of Cities for the coming tercentenary of the founding of the city of Boston, the prefect of the federal district has given assurance that Rio Janiero will be represented.

MUNICH, April 25—(AP)—Gustav Stresseman, German foreign minister, was howled down by nationalists, in a public address tonight and finally forced to abandon a speech he had prepared. Police cleared the hall with difficulty after the near riot, despite liberal clubbing.

FLOODS ARE RAVAGING THE SOUTHERN STATES

ATLANTA, Ga., April 25—(AP)—Devastating floods which have ravaged wide valleys in southern Georgia, Alabama and northwestern Florida continued their destruction as they raced nearer the sea tonight across the great coastal flats.

Brighter pictures were presented through most of the affected areas in Georgia and Alabama but acute conditions still prevailed in most of the Florida territory where more than 1,000 families were homeless and some 300 additional families ready to flee rising waters.

With the residents of Caryville Fla. quartered at Vonitay where food and shelter has been provided pending recession of waters which now course twelve feet deep in the little Choctawatchee river town, the populace of Westville, across the river from Caryville, prepared to evacuate.

It was believed that flood warnings generally had been obeyed in the valleys of the Ocmulgee and Oconee rivers in Georgia. The flood crest still was many miles from the sea but the regions adjacent to the rivers are swampy. Aside from damage to crops, highways and railways little danger was seen for the area.

Estimates of the homeless today ranged from 3,000 to 5,000, but the death list stood at six, all Alabama Negroes. Property damage still was unestimated but declared to be several million dollars in addition to losses to crops.

Relief work generally has been taken in hand by local authorities and no appeals have been made for outside aid.

READING TO TAKE STAND IN HIS OWN DEFENSE TODAY

BOSTON, April 25—(AP)—Attorney General Arthur K. Reading will take the stand in his own defense at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, it was announced today by counsel defending him during the investigation into his conduct in office by a special legislative committee.

The state completed its case at noon. Joseph D. Webster, former vice president of the Decimo Club, Inc., of New York, whose retainer of $25,000 to Reading to act as counsel led to the investigation, was the first witness for the defense.

The surprise of the day came with the introduction with evidence by the state of a deposition by Louis A. Wolfe, former president of the United L. A. W. Acceptance corporation at Worcester, in which he said Reading threatened him with criminal prosecution unless he consented to a settlement between the Worcester company and its subsidiaries, which Reading represented. The deposition was made at Jerusalem on March 30 and was signed by J. Thayer Gilman, United States vice consul at Palestine, as witness.

TO CLARIFY TESTIMONY OF ROBERT W. STEWART

WASHINGTON, April 25—(AP)—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, may find himself in more difficulties as a result of his testimony before the senate Teapot Dome committee during his three appearances in February and April.

Members of the committee at informal conferences today practically agreed to ask the senate tomorrow to certify certain portions of his testimony to the district attorney of the District of Columbia for study to determine whether charges of perjury should be made.

At the same time the committee will recommend that the warrant on which Stewart was arrested on February 3 after his refusal to answer two questions propounded by the committee be dismissed in view of the fact that he made answer to those questions upon his third appearance yesterday.

Favorable action by the senate on both proposals was predicted by members of the committee.

TO CONFER WITH COOLIDGE ON FLOOD CONTROL BILL

WASHINGTON, April 25—(AP)—After conferences tomorrow with President Coolidge and members of the commerce committee, Senator Jones, republican, Washington, will decided whether to ask the senate to concur at once in the house amendments to his $325,000,000 Mississippi river flood control bill, or to request a conference with the house.

The chairman of the commerce committee said he had not yet had time to study carefully the changes made by the house but added that a first examination indicated that none of them constituted a fundamental change in the measure as it was passed by the senate after only two hours of consideration.

Before reaching any conclusion, Senator Jones wants to ascertain whether amendments put in the house are objectionable to the chief executive as he is anxious to get the legislation through speedily and in such form as to insure presidential approval.

WOMEN FIGHTING FOR CITY MANAGER PLAN IN CLEVELAND

CHICAGO, April 25. (AP)—Encouraged by what they termed their victory in defeating an attempt to do away with city managership in Cleveland, where league members were the most active supporters of the manager plan, the national league of women voters today began determination of new policies to support.

The league has been a champion of the city manager plan, the Cleveland election gave it an opportunity to actively support one of its chief measures.

Several speakers at the opening session of the general conference mentioned the successful defense of the city managership at Cleveland as an indication of what organized women voters can accomplish at the polls.

Bennett to be Buried in Arlington Cemetery

Heroic North Pole Flier Died of Pneumonia Contracted While on Mission of Relief.

WASHINGTON, April 25—(AP)—Naval officials said today after telephonic conversation with Commander Richard E. Byrd in Quebec that Floyd Bennett would be buried in Arlington cemetery here. Byrd was consulted upon receipt of earlier word that burial would be in Brooklyn.

The navy already had made detailed plans for the burial, calling for interment as near as possible to the grave of Admiral Peary, discoverer of the north pole. The plans call for departure of the funeral party from Quebec tomorrow night, with an escort from New York city to accompany it from the Grand Central Station to the Pennsylvania railroad station.

The services are expected to be held in Arlington late Friday.

BENNETT UPHELD FINEST TRADITION OF THE AIR

QUEBEC, April 25—(AP)—Floyd Bennett, north pole flier, died today upholding the finest tradition of the air

He died because he put the welfare of others before all thought of himself and went to the aid of airmen in distress though he himself was wracked with sickness.

He did not even know the men he gave his life for, but they were comrades of the air and so he went to their relief despite all obstacles.

Bennett died at 10:50 o'clock this morning in Jeffery Hale hospital of double pneumonia contracted after he had flown through feverish hours from Detroit to Lake Ste. Agnes in an effort to carry assistance to the marooned trans-Atlantic fliers on Greenly Island.

He was brought here by airplane from Lake Ste. Agnes on Sunday but the most expert treatment failed to loosen the hold that sickness had taken on him.

At 10 o'clock this morning the New York specialists who had come to Canada to tend him announced that all hope was gone. Bennett, they said, was in a coma from which he would in all likelihood never rouse. At 10:50, with his wife who had herself left a sickbed in New York to come to him and Commander Richard E. Byrd, his closest friend, at his bedside, he passed quietly away.

Plans were made for Mrs. Bennett and Commander Byrd to accompany the body to New York on a special car attached to a train leaving at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Everything possible was done in the effort to save Bennett's life. When he became so ill at Lake Ste. Agnes that Bernt Balchen, his co-pilot in the relief expedition, had to push on without him, Miss Herta Junkers, daughter of the manufacturer of the plane whose crew Bennett had flown to help, arranged for his transport to Quebec in a newsreel plane.

Yesterday the Rockefeller Institute in New York offered its aid and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh flew to Quebec from New York with which it was hoped Bennett's life might be saved. It was found, however, that Bennett was suffering from a type of pneumonia for which no serum has been discovered and Lindbergh's dramatic race through the air was all in vain.

Commander Byrd stayed with Mrs. Bennett all day and refused an offer telephoned by friends in New York to send a plane to take him home.

"I will stay with the wife of my very good friend," he said, "until she is back at home."

In the meantime messages of condolence poured in seemingly from everywhere.

Bennett emerged from the ruck of routine work as an airplane mechanic in 1925, when he was 35 years old and had been in the navy for eight years. At that time Commander Byrd selected him as a member of the expedition to Greenland with Donald MacMillan and during that summer the two became inseparable friends.

When Byrd decided to attempt to fly over the north pole in 1926 he selected Bennett as his chief pilot and Bennett justified the confidence placed in him when he guided the Josephine Ford from Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, over the north pole and safely back again.

After the return from the north pole Bennett, though still but a navy warrant officer, was awarded the distinguished service medal and the Congressional Medal of Honor. The highest honor in the power of the government to bestow.

He was to have been chief pilot of Byrd's flight to France last summer, but injuries sustained in a test flight prevented. He would have been second in command of Byrd's projects flight over the south pole had not death intervened.

GOV. AL. GOING TO REST AT NEW JERSEY COUNTRY CLUB

NEW YORK, April 25—(AP)—Governor Smith left this afternoon in the private car of William F. Kenny for the Sea View Country club, Absecon, N. J., where he will spend several days resting and playing golf.

The governor said that he was going to the Jersey resort purely for rest and recreation, which he failed to obtain on his recent trip to the south.

Bremen Crew May Arrive in N. Y. Friday

Flight From Greenly Island Will Be Made in Three Motored Ford Plane.

LAKE STE. AGNES, Que., April 25 (AP)—Having abandoned plans to continue their flight in their Junkers trans-atlantic plane the crew of the Bremen today were awaiting weather conditions that would permit the safe take off of the Ford relief plane to bring them out of their exile.

Mild weather was reported to have softened the ice surrounding the island to a degree dangerous for any airplane to take off today. Early reports said that the dangerous conditions for a take off and landing had induced the transatlantic flyers to abandon their own plane, but later reports from the island mentioned engine trouble as the reason for the decision to continue the flight in the Ford relief plane piloted by Bernt Balchen.

This plane had carried parts and supplies to the lonely island where the transatlantic ship had been repaired. Photographers who returned here by airplane said that the Bremen had been reconditioned and moved from the island to the surrounding ice in preparation for the take-off

The Ford plane is a giant three-motored craft with a cabin capable of holding the three of the Bremen crew with the fliers and mechanics [illegible] them.

Should the party leave tomorrow and make only a brief stop at Murray Bay, they would arrive in New York on Friday soon after the body of Floyd Bennett, who died today of pneumonia contracted on the relief expedition. Bernt Balchen, who piloted the Ford plane, was associated with Bennett in Commander Richard E. Byrd's South Polar expedition.

Captain Hermann Koehl and Major James Fitzmaurice of the Bremer crew, if their departure is delayed two more days, would not reach New York before their wives who today were in mid-Atlantic on the liner Dresden which is due Sunday, postponement of the New York welcome celebration to next Monday in tribute to Bennett will enable the women to share in the honors paid to their husbands.

NEW YORK MOURNING THE DEATH OF FLOYD BENNETT

NEW YORK, April 25—(AP)—New York's day of welcome to the crew of the trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen will be turned into a day of mourning for Floyd Bennett.

The city's plans for elaborate welcoming ceremonies to the Bremen crew were ordered cancelled today when news of Bennett's death in Quebec was received, and Mayor Walker ordered all city flags set at half staff as one of the initial tributes to the hero pilot.

The harbor pageant, parade and ceremonies at the "Eternal Light" memorial were deferred until Monday and the city dinner was postponed until Tuesday evening. Should the German and the Irish aviators arrive before Sunday they would have an opportunity to attend the funeral services of the man who died on his way to their aid.

Mayor Walker, Governor Smith, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who sent anti-pneumonia serum to Quebec in an effort to prolong the flier's life, and men prominent in aviation, voiced their sorrow over the passing of Bennett, hailed everywhere as one of America's greatest heroes of the air.

COL. LINDBERGH HAS RETURNED TO MITCHEL FIELD

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., April 25—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh landed here at four o'clock today from Quebec, where he flew yesterday to carry serum for the treatment of Floyd Bennett. He left Quebec at 11:20 o'clock this morning, half an hour after Bennett died, but he was unaware of Bennett's death until he arrived here.

Lindbergh circled twice about the field where a crowd of about 200 persons was gathered and then landed, taxiing almost to the door of a hangar. Reporters informed him of Bennett's death.

"I'm very sorry to hear that," he said. He then signed some papers an officer handed him, believed to have something to do with his having been loaned an army plane for the Quebec flight.

LAVISH ENTERTAINMENT BY MR. AND MRS. WALTER A. MAY

PARIS, April 25—(AP)—Sixty-three friends and Kinsfolk of Mr. and Mrs Walter A. May of Pittsburgh arrived in Paris tonight with plenty of Mr. May's money in their pockets and nothing at all to worry about.

They are guests of the Mays on a big free conducted tour, arranged by their hosts in honor of their silver wedding anniversary, April 27, and landed at Cherbourg this morning from the Aquitania. From Cherbourg they took the boat train to Paris under the sponsorship of a representative of Mr. May, who insisted on paying everything and said his instructions were not to let the guests be out so much as "one red cent."

BANDITRY IS RAMPANT WHILE CIVIL WAR IS BEING WAGED IN CHINA

The continued drive of the southern forces in China, with the capture of Ssinan; refugee accounts from Hankow of the slaughter by bandits of 5,000 men, women and children at Kingmen, a mission station; the killing of an American, superintendent of the Presbyterian board of foreign mission hospit alat Tsinin, and the report of another killing of an American missionary by nationalists made up the sum of tragedies as reported by dispatches from various Chinese centers Wednesday.

The drive of the southern forces has carried them another step nearer Peking. Advices from both Shanghai and Nanking tell of the capture of Tsinan, capital of Shantung, by the forces under Feng Yu-Hsiang. Sixty thousand rifles and 110 field guns are reported to have been seized.

The bandits who raided Kingmen, a city of 600,000 inhabitants in Hupeh province, were made up of army deserters and a peasant organization. Refugees reaching Hankow gave appalling descriptions of the sacking of the town and the massacre.

Tens of thousand of northerners who were driven from the city of Tsinan are trekking back along the roads, with brigandage rampant.

Dr. Walter F. Seymour, superintendent of the Presbyterian Board of Missions hospital at Tsining, Shantung, has been shot and killed by a Chinese soldier.

From Tokyo comes a report that an American missionary was killed by nationalists at Yenchowfu. This is only about fifteen miles from Tsining and it is thought possible the two cases are identical.

The nationalist central executive committee at Nanking has protested against the dispatch by the Japanese government of troops to Shantung.

SENATE HAS PASSED THE NAVAL APPROPRIATION BILL

Measure Carries Approximately $363,000,000—Rejected Amendments Intended to Withhold Funds For Use of Marines in Nicaragua—Senator Heflin's Plea to Protect American Youths From Death in Nicaragua Failed to Impress the Senators, and His Amendment Has Rejected 60 to 15.

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—Rejecting by decisive majorities all amendments designed to circumscribe the president's freedom of action in maintaining marines in Nicaragua, the senate late today passed the annual naval appropriation bill, carrying a total of $363,000,000.

Discussion of the Nicaraguan situation had held up final action for ten days and resulted in many alterations of the original proposals to prohibit the use of any money appropriated by the measure for the maintenance of marines in the Central American republic after the inauguration of the new administration to be chosen in the elections next fall, which the marines are to supervise.

The principal proposal, framed jointly by Senators Norris, of Nebraska, and Blaine, of Wisconsin, republican independents, was rejected, 52 to 22 with seven democrats joining 15 republicans in support and 19 democrats combining with 33 republicans in opposition.

As was explained by Chairman Borah, of the foreign relations committee, who voted against the amendment, and by other senators, the vote could not be construed as one in support of the administration's policy in intervening in Nicaragua and supervising the forthcoming election there. This policy at its inception was opposed by Borah and many other senators who voted against the amendment but after the pledge to supervise the elections had been made these senators took the position that the national honor required that it be kept.

Senators Norris and Wheeler, democrats, Montana, took an opposite view as to the effect of the senate vote, asserting that it constituted in effect a blanket indorsemen of the administration's policy.

While Senator Borah and others favored the general proposition of requiring that the Marines be brought out by next February 1, as proposed by the Blaine-Norris amendment, they voted against it because they contended that its effect would be to make Comptroller General McCarl the judge of how the amendment should be executed.

After the roll call on the Blaine-Norris amendment the senate by an even more decisive majority, 53 to 20, voted down an amendment by Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, which would have required the consent of congress for the maintenance of the marines in Nicaragua after February 1, except that the president could land troops temporarily for the protection of lives and property "under international law or the Monroe Doctrine."

With that amendment out of the way the senate made short shrift of one by Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, despite the author's impassioned appeal to protect American youths from death in Nicaragua. His amendment was rejected, 60 to 15. It would have prohibited the use of any appropriations made in the act "in connection with acts of hostility" by United States marines in Nicaragua unless and until the president shall obtain from Congress consent to keep them there."

With the passage of the naval bill the senate cleared its calendar of the last of the annual supply measures and so can devote its time now wholeheartedly to general legislation. Several of the appropriation bills still are in conference for the ironing out of differences between the two houses and the naval bill probably will be sent to conference tomorrow.

R. W. WATKINS CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLING $167,000

HARTFORD, April 25—(AP)—A bench warrant charging Roger W. Watkins, formerly of West Hartford, with embezzling $167,000 from the National Associated Investors, Inc., for which he was fiscal agent, was issued by Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin in the superior court late this afternoon on the application of State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn.

The application by Mr. Alcorn was made on information and belief, he said, that the money had been embezzled by Watkins on or about April 10. In an interview he said that an attempt would be made at once to locate Watkins and bring him back to answer to the charge. He told the court that the last heard of Watkins he was in Chicago, Ill., and his wife and two children, according to his last report, were in New York.

As fiscal agent for the National Associated Investors, Inc., Watkins sold its stock. He is said to have either sold it or converted it to his own use without making an accounting to the National Associated Investors, Inc.

EARTH SHOCKS ROCKED HOUSES AT RUMFORD, ME.

RUMFORD, Me., April 25—(AP)—Two sharp earthquake shocks that rocked tenement houses here and drove scores of people to the streets in fright tonight, were felt throughout western Oxford county and over the New Hampshire line as far as Gorham where a violent tremor was reported. No damage had been done as far as could be learned.

Plateglass windows in the business section of this town were seen to buckle as the earth heaved beneath the windows. Goods in some stores that were open trembled on the shelves and in some cases fell to the floor.

The first shock at 6:37 tonight, which lasted for two or three seconds, was felt distinctly in Auburn, where dishes drummed a tattoo in China closets. The second tremor came hard on the heels of the first.

Reports from outlying communities told of the wide area touched by the shocks. Apparently the path of the tremors reached from the White Mountains and followed down the west side of the Androscoggin valley as far as Auburn, Gorham, N. H., reported that buildings there had been rocked.

Kennebago, Farmington, Oquossoc, Rangely, Canton and other towns felt heavy shocks. Bethle reported that the heavy shocks. Bethel reported that the pronounced tremors caused the annunciator drops on the telephone switchboard to drop. At Norway the shocks rocked houses.

DISGRUNTLED DEMOCRATS HOLD MEETING IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, April 25—(AP)—Anti-organization democrats from the various Connecticut districts met here today to complete their plans for a campaign at the state convention in Hartford next Monday and Tuesday looking towards the removal of James J. Walsh, chairman of the state central committee; Thomas J. Spellacy, national committeeman, and A. S. Lynch, secretary of the state committee.

John A. Cornell, town chairman of Bridgeport, presided at the meeting, which was the final of a series of conferences which have been held during the last three months.

TWO BOYS, BROTHERS, GUILTY OF SECOND DEGREE MURDER

VAN BUREN, Mo., April 25—(AP)—Two brothers, 12 and 14 years old were found guilty of second degree murder in the Carter county circuit court today and were sentenced to 10 years imprisonment in the state penitentiary. The boys are Leslie Secrease, 12 and his brother Lee, 14 of Ellsinore, Mo.

They were found guilty by a jury of the murder Dec. 12 last, of Arthur Haldebrand, 10, a farmer lad. County authorities said they believed they were the youngest boys ever given a penitentiary sentence in Missouri. Haldebrand was shot and killed on a hunting trip.

BLOWOUT OF TIRE CAUSE OF FRANK LOCKHART'S DEATH

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 25—(AP)—Frank Lockhart, youthful racing driver, was catapulted to his death today when a tire blew out while his automobile was speeding 200 miles an hour in an attempt to set a new record for land travel over the sands of Daytona Beach.

The accident occurred as Lockhart approached the grandstand. His Stutz Blackhawk Special swerved back and forth, rolled out of control 350 feet and left the ground.

Two photographers and a newspaper man narrowly missed injury as the car hurtled over their heads to land again and bounce sideways 550 feet before taking another 300 foot jump and hurling Lockhart to the sands.

Pitched from the driver's seat, Lockhart was flung 20 feet. Spectators found him stretched out, face downward, bleeding from nose and mouth and breathing heavily. He died before a hospital was reached.

Otis Porter, official timer of the American Automobile association, described how the two photographers and T. R. Gill, Associated Press correspondent, missed death by inches.

While the car was in the air on its mad leap it hit one of the photographers. The other photographer ran, leaving his machine. Gill was close to the man and the automobile passed over his head, not above 18 inches. I do not know how he escaped injury."

Hans Orte, Daytona Beach, was the photographer struck. He suffered bruises.

Many of the spectators believed Lockhart might have broken the record had he not met with the accident.

Ridges in the beach were blamed in part for the disaster. The beach was said to have been in the worst condition of the past week with parallel ridges left by adverse wind conditions.

Lockhart was driving the same automobile in which he narrowly escaped death Feb. 22 last when it went out of control and dashed into the ocean.

Mrs. Lockhart witnessed her husband's death. The Lockharts lived in Indianapolis. They had no children.

SOUTHINGTON MAN PLEADED GUILTY TO SLAYING HIS SO

HARTFORD, April 25—(AP)—John Gaynor, 55, of Southington, was sentenced to state prison for 8 to 12 years on the charge of manslaughter, by Judge Marvin of the superior court late this afternoon. He pleaded guilty to slaying his son, Matthew, 32, while under the influence of liquor, February 6.

In recommending the sentence adopted by the judge, State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn said that Gaynor was a chronic alcoholic. On the day of the crime, said Mr. Alcorn, Gaynor had earned $5 slaughtering hogs, came home in an intoxicated condition and got in a fight with his wife and two sons over the money.

What happened after the quarrel is not certain, said Mr. Alcorn. All that is known is that Gaynor went out in a shed, got an old shotgun and blazed away in the general direction of his wife and Matthew, the son getting the full load and dying soon afterward. After the shooting Gaynor hid in the cellar of his house where police officers found him.

MRS. BANTA SURRENDERS ON KIDNAPING CHARGE

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 25—(AP)—Mrs. Gertrude Banta of Boston, indicted recently by the Westchester county grand jury on a charge of kidnaping, surrendered voluntarily to the district attorney today. She was arraigned in county court and released in $2,500 bail to await trial.

Mrs. Banta is accused of taking her grandchild, Edward Banta, seven years old, from a private school in Briarcliff where he had been sent by his guardian and maternal aunt, Mrs. Herman Lindino of Ossining. Authorities said Mrs. Banta took the child to Boston where her son, the boy's father, also lives.

Banta's first wife, mother of the boy and a sister of Mrs. Lindino, died about five years ago.

BAN ON SOLICITORS IS PLACED BY CHAMBER

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, April 25—Among the many so-called harbingers of spring the solicitor, representing various lines of merchandise and advertising propositions, is making his annual appearance. Reports coming in at the chamber of commerce show that these unwelcome visitors have been active here in past years and are returning for another harvest. One business man reported that he had spent $200 last year in magazine advertising and he was now convinced that he had not had one cent of return on his investment. He said that a salesman called on him again this year with his purported signature. It was a fake and when questioned the salesman departed. He had not returned and having failed to land an easy victim probably will not be seen again. The investigating committee of the chamber is lending every assistance possible in warding off unprofitable contracts between local people and such solicitors. The matter was taken up at the meeting of the board of directors held tonight with President Frank P. Fenton presiding. It was decided to secure the co-operation of city officials and the police in making the ordinances covering the issuing of permits and licenses more effective.

A short calendar session and assignment of cases in the Windham county superior court will be held here Friday of this week at 11 a. m., with Judge Christopher L. Avery of Groton on the bench. Normal School Notes

At the assembly of the student body Wednesday, Miss Mabel Friswell and Mr. Carl Schultz of Boston university school of education spoke on the need and possibility of higher education for teachers. Miss Friswell who is secretary of the university entertained with several solos. Morgan R. St. John accompanied her at the piano. Rev. Harry S. McCready of Portland, Me., and former pastor of the First Congregational church of Willimantic was the next speaker on the program. He gave an inspiring description of his trip through the Yosemite valley and Alaska. The conclusion of his talk was a poem by Robert Service.

The swimming club met Tuesday at the Y. M. C. A. pool under supervision of Miss Paulita Clark. In order to get an emblem it is necessary for members to accomplish certain water feats. The girls are now working hard on these. Miss Lillian Loeffler of Waterbury, representative of the Junior class gave a talk to the students in a house meeting in the living room at Residence hall after dinner Tuesday evening. The humorous and personal elements of the report won the undivided interest and attention of the audience. The speaker told of conversation with girls from various other normal schools within and without the state. She said that she could not do justice to the enumerable courses at the banquet held in the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York city, but it was obvious that she did justice to her fellow classmates back in Connecticut. The report was concluded with the hope that next year our state would be better represented and that a larger delegation from the Willimantic State Normal school might be sent.

It has been customary of late for the students of the school to allow their hair to grow and suffer the consequences of keeping in vogue. With the oncoming warm weather several have anticipated the discomfort and extra effort they will undoubtedly be compelled to undergo. Miss Carolyn Palmer of Windsor and Miss Sylvia Johnson, Baltic, are among those who recently submitted to the shears of the tonsorial artist.

Tuesday evening being the regular weekly night for the club meetings at the school, many members availed themselves of the privilege of attending the various sessions. The Glee club under the direction of Morgan R. St. John convened at 7 o'clock. At 8 p. m. the Literary club met and discussed the purchase of the next book from the Book-of-the-Month club. Poems were read by Miss Mildred Davis of Willimantic. Reports on literary works were given by Miss Carolyn Palmer. The Art club, which had a membership of 70 at the beginning of the year has decided to discontinue the meetings until next year. Miss Flora Keech of Danielson was given a party Tuesday evening in honor of her birthday. Those present were, Mrs. Ida Whittica, Mrs. M. Crasman, Mr. and Mrs. James Keech, Mr. Roy Ayers and Miss Betty McGorty, all of Danielson; Miss Helen Lendrecan of New London, Miss Marian Bates of Putnam, Miss Dorothy Grace of Middletown, Miss Lillian Gallagher of Naugatuck, Miss Frances Tusca of New London. Miss Keech was the recipient of many lovely gifts. Luncheon was served.

The Music club met Tuesday evening. Members of the club were given their parts for the coming operetta Carmen to be given in June.

Miss Marion Cleland, registrar of the school, returned Wednesday after a day's illness.

The senior E. P. division is getting ready for vacation. Housecleaning is going on in their session room.

DANIELSON

MEMBERS OF ST. JAMES PARISH RAISING FUNDS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, April 25—Groups of members of St. James' parish are interested at the present time in raising funds among the members of the parish in aid of the development of the Apostolic school that the Missionary Order of LaSalette is establishing at Enfield, N. H. For the past thirty three years these missionaries have administered the affairs of St. James' parish with the greatest success and continue to do so. The parishioners are appreciative of this, and giving expression to that appreciation by arranging whists and other little private social events to raise funds to aid the new school, which will open next September, with about 25 young men who are students for the priesthood in attendance.

This new school will be an adjunct or, more accurately, a duplicate of La Salette college at Hartford, where many young men have studied for the priesthood. It will be under the direction of Rev. Zotique Chouinard, M. S., who has done some parish work in Danielson, as superior and with Rev. Wilfred Boulanger, M. S., as his assistant. Fr. Chouinard has been at Enfield since December and is constantly engaged, and will be throughout the spring and summer, with preparations for the opening of the school, which will specialize in the teaching of languages.

Children of the public and parochial schools of Danielson are makers of slogans this week. They are submitting to a committee of the Chamber of Commerce slogans for use during Clean-up week, which begins on Saturday. Pupils submitting slogans deemed particularly appropriate and effective, as a means of interesting the public, are to receive special awards. It is said that the young people have turned in some remarkably good suggestions, about which more will be heard later.

A notable contribution to Clean-up week, and in advance of that period, has been the cutting away of the thickly set shrubbery around St. James' rectory on Water and Furnace streets. This shrubbery had attained a density in the course of a score of years that made it difficult to keep in trim. It has been replaced by an orderly arrangement of cypress trees, the last of which were set out this afternoon.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY IN E. KILLINGLY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, April 25.—The past week at their home in East Killingly Deacon and Mrs. Luther Smith observed the golden anniversary of their marriage. So many of their neighbors and friends came to pay them honor that the anniversary observance took on something of a community affair. Greetings, gifts and good wishes were showered upon them, and among other things they were presented with a purse of gold.

Rev. C. J. Armstrong, pastor of the Baptist church at Danielson, made the presentation of the gold in a felicitous speech. The purse was made up of gifts from members of Mrs. Smith's Sunday school class of the United Baptist church at East Killingly, from members of the church and from relatives and friends in East Killingly and other communities hereabouts.

The golden wedding anniversary came as a very complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Smith. Neither of them had gained the slightest inkling of the plans. Mrs. Smith was engaged with her household duties and Deacon Smith attending to some matters about the grounds when the first of the visitors arrived. When all who came had assembled there were about 60 in attendance.

Singing and readings given during the evening added to the enjoyment of the party. The guests brought a great bounty of food stuffs and there were gifts of beautiful flowers and other remembrances.

Deacon and Mrs. Smith are both natives of East Killingly and have spent a great many years of their lives in that community. Both were born in 1855, Mr. Smith already having passed his 73rd birthday, while Mrs. Smith is approaching hers. They were married April 20, 1878.

During his early life at East Killingly, Deacon Smith was clerk in a store and later had a store of his own. The greater number of his active years however, Mr. Smith spent as a mill man, and for a long time was superintendent of the spinning department of the huge Social mill in Woonsocket. Prior to filling that position he had been with a mill at Northbridge, Mass.

Since his retirement from active life, in 1915, Deacon and Mrs. Smith have lived in East Killingly, a community in which they are held in the utmost respect by all who are so fortunate as to know them. Both are enjoying normal good health for persons of their years and find life quiet and beautiful on the hilltops of the town.

Those who know their ancient Danielson were recalling today that the site now being excavated for the new bank building was at one time partly occupied by the Burlingham cok stables and the cows kept there grazed in the area now occupied by Hawkins street and that vicinity. That was a matter of more than 70 years ago, when Danielson's business section was just beginning to develop.

From some source a story has gained circulation in Danielson that all passenger trains were to be removed from the local line with the introduction of the new schedules next Sunday, but this yarn was laughed out into the street today by those who have occasion to be at least partly informed about what the schedule is to be. The boat train is to remain, it is said, making its daily north and south trips and carrying mail and express mater, as well as the milk cars.

PUTNAM

MAYOR JIMMY WALKER MAY VISIT IN POMFRET

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 25—A rumor that has gained much circulation in Putnam is to the effect that New York's popular mayor, James J. Walker, is planning to spend a few of his summer days in Pomfret this summer at the home of Vincent Fredby, New York theatrical producer. Although Mayor Jimmie's visit has as yet turned out to be nothing but a rumor it is hoped by many that it turns out to be so. Many of the sportsmen have it that the mayor has been reading about the real luck local fishermen are having in the fields this season and he is just eager to get to Pomfret to cast his line in a local stream, while others say that he wants a rest from the mayoralty duties of the city and he has decided on the hills of Pomfret. Still another has it that Mayor Walker probably has been reading of Putnam's recent water dispute and he has decided to come to voice an opinion on how it may be settled. Still another has it that Jimmie Walker has never heard of such a place as Putnam, Conn., and probably never will come to visit in its locality; of course there are always joy killers.

PUTNAM IS VISITED BY REAL SNOW STORM

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 25—With May 1 only five days away residents of Putnam were given a real winter surprise this morning to look on what seemed to be a raging snow storm suitable for a real January day. However, it proved to be only a light squall and soon ended without leaving any trace. A snow storm on the 25th of April seems to be the record so far as the city elders can remember. The cold wintry April weather has kept nearly all of the planters behind in setting out their seeds and plants. Farmers in the outlying districts have forecast that native garden produce will be exceptionally late this year owing to the lateness of the warm weather.

Putnam's sportsmen, reading an article in the Danielson column of Wednesday's paper, left early in the morning for brooks said to contain brown trout that were released in the brooks some years ago by the fish and game authorities. Fishermen commenting on the article in sport circles today said that they had never had such species of trout bite on their lines. The offer of a Danielson resident of $1.00 per pound for brown trout was eagerly taken into consideration by Putnam anglers, who made it their business Wednesday to be on the lookout for the rare specimen of the brooks.

Many members of the Windham County Farmers association were on hand Tuesday and Wednesday to greet their new county agent, Raymond W. Wing of Dolestown, Penn., who was in Putnam on those two days to look over his new duties. Those who have made acquaintance with Mr. Wing feel that he is a type of man fully capable of handling the agricultural problems of Windham county. During his college days at Connecticut Agricultural college Mr. Wing became familiar with the conditions in Connecticut and he feels that his school day experience will greatly benefit him in his new undertaking.

Delinquency on the part of taxpayers in paying 1927 town taxes is now proving to be costly as liens and warrants for the collection of the funds are being issued by Town Tax Collector T. H. Miron. In many instances it has meant that property has been taken into custody by deputy sheriffs to pay off property tax. Attorney Miron stated this morning that there are a few who have let last year's taxes slide and when the law stepped in to collect the money its methods have been a lesson to the unpaid party to adopt the paying attitude next year.

Surprise was indicated by Putnam people when it was learned the proceedings are now made to bring Roland G. Lalone and Arthur G. Raymond of Worcester now being held in Springfield in connection with the pistol duel with Officer Gallagher of the Springfield police, to Connecticut for a hearing before the grand jury. It is thought by Putnam men versed on the subject that the Willimantic procedure will be only a formality that will lead to the prisoners being indicted for the murder of State Policeman Irving H. Nelson on the night of April 6 near Pomfret. Conferences between State's Attorney Bradford of Putnam, County Investigator W. E. Jackson and Commissioner of State Police Robert T. Hurley of Hartford have been held in Putnam during the week in an effort to throw light onto the case of the two men now being held in Springfield.

It is further thought that all information gathered by officers of the Danielson barracks, regarding the fatal shooting of Officer Nelson will give enough evidence to warrant the issuing of extradition papers that will bring Lalone and Raymond to Windham county to stand trial for the murder of the policeman.

MRS .C. T. WELLS DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, April 25—Mrs. Charles T. Wells of Hartford, died this morning at the Day Kimball hospital after an illness of but a few days. Mrs. Wells was born in Berlin, Conn., on August 12, 1866. Mrs. Wells is survived by two daughters Mrs. James F. English, wife of Rev. James F. English of the Second Congregational church at Putnam and by Miss Esther Wells, who is now the district nurse of the Putnam public health service, who resides at the English home on Grove street.

Trout streams throughout the countryside today were greatly overflowing their banks due to the recent heavy rains.

The regular noonday luncheon of the Putnam Rotary club was held Wednesday noon at the Putnam inn. During the luncheon the Rotarians were entertained by the Putnam high school orchestra under the direction of Miss Leonora Dugan of Webster, formerly of Putnam. The orchestra played many selections and received much praise for the work. The speaker this week was Judge M. H. Geissler of the Putnam Building and Loan association. Judge Geissler confined his talk to the methods used by the association in aiding families to own their homes on the loan association. The judge also typified the manner in which the association is used by subscribers to save money. Judge Geissler through years of experience has acquired a style and his short talks before clubs have proved interesting. Karl T. Phillips and Warren Averill who were delegates to the Rotarian conference held last week in Waterbury reported on their trip to the district gathering of the Rotarians.

W. Harold Schoonover, manager of the Eastern Connecticut power company's office at Putnam was taken to the Day Kimball hospital Tuesday suffering from an infected foot. Mr. Schoonover was reported Wednesday as not serious and resting comfortable.

A report from Dr. G. T. LaMar she of the city health department Wednesday showed that only two light cases of measles have been reported and are now on the list. Both of these showed to be at the County Home on the outskirts of the city, and are said to be light cases. After a reported epidemic of the disease in North Grosvernordale where six more cases were reported today, a thorough check-up was made in the schools by the school health department showed no signs of the disease. Putnam has been very fortunate in being kept free from contagious diseases as only a few have been found during the year and those were of a light nature.

NOANK

Groton Long Point will swing open its gates around the first of May. Nine new cottages have been put up during the winter. Again Miss Irma Dougherty will be the post mistress at the pose office, making ten years for her as postmistress at the point. The office will be open the first of May and Miss Dougherty will meet the early arrivals. She likes to tell her Norwich friends, who have cottages at the shore and spend the summer at Groton Long Point that the post office will be open for business. She knows when anybody comes for mail; all they say is "Good morning," and she knows who it is. The summer people never have to ask for mail. Miss Dougherty has seen over three-quarters of the point build up. She served in the office under Claude Chester, the post master, back in 1915. The lights will be on and many cottage owners are planning to come down and clean up their cottages before Memorial day. Men from Groton Long Point Water company are working hard to have the water on. But the weather has held them back.

A three-act comedy was given at the Daughters of America hall recently for the Epworth league of the local Methodist church. The play was under the direction of Mrs. Ellery Burdick and she put on the best play the fishing village has seen in many years. The name was Aaron Slick from Pumpkin Crick. Davis' four-piece orchestra played. Rosa B. Berry was Pauline Keiners, a widow; Sis Riggs was Mrs. William Crowcker, a country girl, always getting into trouble. She gave the crowd many good laughs. Wilbur Merriden as Thomas Brown, the young man who came from Iowa to buy the farm from widow Rosa for $12,000 with plenty of oil on the farm; Gladys May Merriden was Miss Gladys Barber. She was chased by Daisy, the cow, up an apple tree and ruined a new dress. She wanted her uncle to take her back to the city but he said, "Not until fe buy the farm!" Aaron Slick's part was taken by Chester Gremly. He wore a farmer's rig and had whiskers on his chin like a cough drop twin. He was trying to win the hand of Widow Rosa but did not have nerve to ask her. Clarence Green was Harold Mallory, a fellow from Pittsburgh. The last act was in a cabaret in a Chicago hotel; the guests were Earl Wallace, of West View, Harry Board of North Stonington and Miss Evelyn Burdick of Potter Hill. Harold Mallory was the waiter. The girl in red was Miss Lillian Lankes, who knew her onions around the city. But she did not fool Aaron Slick in his dress suit by taking things from his pocket. He was too slick for her.

Lloyd Frazer is chief gunner's mate on the battle ship Florida, now tied up at Boston. Gunner Frazer paid a visit in the village after being in Cuba for seven months and he told several young fellows at the waiting room Tuesday evening about his trip. He said "It was hot weather and I was on the deck of the ship in my shirt sleeves all winter, while you fellows had to have an overcoat. We did lots of practice with the 16 inch guns and several times hit the taget. Believe me, we have a quick gun crew! They hold a record for quick firing over two other battle ships. We ran across a former Noank boy on the Texas, Peter Terry, second class fireman. He has been in the navy ten years and around the world twice. He was some glad to see a fellow from the fishing town, and asked if the lobstermen are catching big lobsters yet—two would make a salad for five. Also if John Ashby is still getting the mail in that little green cart. He said 'I guess that job is good for life for John! I have not been in Noank for almost five years.'" Young Frazer said "You will not know it when you pay that 1929 visit! It seems good to be home again for a few days and have a piece of mother's apple pie with cheese! I have seen almost every place in the world now, have been in Uncle Sam's navy going on eleven years and expect to do 20 years, then quit and return to Noank for awhile where a fellow can swim in the summer time and meet old friends!"

Ruth Carpenter is ill at her home on Elm street.

All grades at the village school opened on Tuesday morning after a vacation of ten days.

Raymond Rathbun has left for a short visit in Bristol, R. I.

Willis Smith has returned to New York.

THOMPSON

It is given out by the town health officer that with the cooperation of the state department of health and the local town officials, there will be a free clinic during May for vaccination with toxin-anti-toxin for the prevention of diphtheria of all children over six months. Dr. R. C. Paine and Dr. J. A. LaPalme will make dates to meet the children at the several school houses or at their office at any time during office hours. The children have to be vaccinated three different times, about one week apart. No child will be vaccinated without the consent of the parents and the physicians have printed slips which they will distribute for the parents to sign before the childre will be vaccinated.

F. M. Knight was in Hartford attending the republican convention the past week.

TONIGHT'S CITY MEETING

The call of the special city meeting called for tonight contains matters of particular importance to the entire community, and matters upon which there should be an expression from as many of the citizens as are able to get there.

The chance for the city to bring about a much needed improvement in its own property at the corner of Bath and Chestnut streets and transfer from that locality the city barn which has been a crying need for years should not be neglected. If there are any features of this proposed change which are not understood it is to be expected that there will be those officials of the city who will be present to furnish the explanation.

The remaining questions in the call involve matters of vital concern to the community. It is not to be expected that they will be left to the judgment of a few, and they ought not to be. Some of them involve expenditures while others do not. Some of them are preliminary to future action. But from the top to the bottom of the list Norwich has every reason for turning out in large numbers for the purpose of having these matters decided by a representative gathering of citizens.

From all indications it is to be expected that there will be opposition to some of the proposals. In each and every case, however, it is desirable that there shall be a full statement of what is involved, what the conditions are that prompt the changes and what the position of the city is at the present time in regard to them, so that it will be possible for the citizens to be able to pass judgment upon what is asked. It is thus expected that both sides will be heard with a presentation of obligations and consequences as well as benefits.

Each and every city meeting deserves the attention of just as many citizens as are able to attend. Tonight's meeting is particularly important for what ought to be done as well as, perhaps, what ought not to be done.

GIVE SOME REAL HELP

Out in Detroit the police have had placed on the pavements, at such points as they consider the most effective, white letters which read "Obey and Smile."

The point seems to be to remind the street users that there are regulations and that the regulations should be obeyed without protest. "Grin and Bear It" might have been alternated along the thoroughfares.

The idea does not get a good reception from the Detroit News. It believes that "what the citizen wants from the police or from any other employe is not gratuitous advice containing more than a grain of impudence. All he wants is service, and he prefers that to be intelligent and helpful. It would be to the point if the money used in painting those wholly useless signs were expended as far as it would go in a plainer marking of stop streets, so that such streets might be identified readily by night or day."

Without a doubt much better results would be obtained in getting respect for regulations if the users of the highways were more clearly instructed as to what is expected of them, if conspicuous street signs were places, if good sized direction signs were erected, if visible stop and go signs were established, if instructions as to turns were provided and if some effort was made to clearly indicate those unusual features of traffic which prevail in most every city.

"Obey and Smile" would be gladly accepted by many motorists if they could be given some inkling as to what is expected. If there should be no other use for the city's funds after doing some of the things which have been enumerated it might be possible to paint the streets with mottoes every few feet, but it seems to be dodging what is needed and giving attention to the needless when time and paint are wasted in trying to attract the attention of drivers without telling them anything worthwhile. It is not surprising that the Detroit News thinks it a useless effort. The wonder is that Detroit is so flush with funds that it is willing to see them used in such a manner.

PROPERLY REBUKED

The efforts which have been made in congress for the purpose of preventing the use of navy appropriations in connection with operations in Nicaragua can be looked upon solely as having been made for the purpose of embarrassing the administration.

Such moves have been sponsored and backed by those who have previously displayed such an attitude. The policy which has been followed by the administration in Nicaragua is entirely above board. All the talk about imperialism is simply talk. There isn't and never has been any such thought in the mind of the president. There are responsibilities involved which need to be met. The government is acting in such a manner as it believes it is justified in doing. It is endeavoring to help a republic, some of whose citizens may not be desirous of help, but for the peace and contentment of the region it is a desirable thing. The hope is that there will be a real and lasting benefit just as there has been in Santo Domingo and other republics where the influence of this country has been brought to bear for peaceful adjustment of internal questions instead of constant bloodshed.

Just at the present time when the preparations are underway for the supervision of an open election in that country, the obstructing influences are proving the need of having marines in that country for the protection of American lives and property. One report infers that a British subject might also be involved in the recent raids by Sandino. That being the case the United States will be expected to give its attention to the safety of other foreigners in that country for that is the responsibility it assumed under the Monroe doctrine.

It is small business for members of congress, regardless of the party to which they belong to undeavor to embarrass the government when engaged in acts, which it would prefer not to do itself, but which are necessary because of circumstances and which are justified by plenty of precedents. The endeavor to attach a rider to the navy bill which would attempt to tie the hands of the president deserves the rebuke which it got.

A HOOVER DAY

When it is declared by the managers of the candidacy of Herbert Hoover that his nomination at Kansas City is practically assured, it indicates the importance which they attach to the results which have been obtained in the primaries in the states of Massachusetts, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Perhaps such a claim may be charged up to over enthusiasm. It is to be expected that such manifestations of satisfaction will be forthcoming under such circumstances for while there had been expectations that the voters of Massachusetts and Ohio would declare for Hoover they did so in excess of political anticipations. That in itself is a straw which is bound to get recognition.

In the declaration made in Massachusetts it is to be realized that sentiment would have been quite different had the president permitted the use of his name. As it was there were those who could not be turned from supporting him and it is believed that Massachusetts is even now at heart for Coolidge.

In Ohio the bitter fight that has been carried on there results to the advantage of Hoover and bears out the claims of those who insisted that his name should be entered in the primary there. Getting more than a majority of the Ohio delegates shows the extent of Hoover sentiment in that commonwealth, especially when it was accomplished against the strong machine opoition of the deceased senator who was running as a favorite son.

These results combined with the favorable sentiment in Pennsylvania the delegation from which state will go uninstructed are such as to give encouragement to those who claim it Tuesday will have to be put down as a Hoover day.

FLOYD BENNETT

In the midst of the aviation achievements, with a westward crossing of the Atlantic and the crossing of the polar region, attention is once more halted by the manner in which efforts have been made to not only rescue those who have been stranded but to save the life of a prominent aviator who sacrificed his life in aiding others.

Widespread regret will be felt over the death of Floyd Bennett at Quebec. Going to the aid of the Bremen crew he encountered conditions which sapped his strength and caused his death. Unhesitating was his response to the plight of the stranded aviators and equally self sacrificing was that flight made by Colonel Lindbergh as he carried serum from New York to Quebec in the endeavor to save the life of Bennett. This flight through snow, late in the afternoon, was made in the same skillful manner that has characterized other flights by the Lone Eagle and with the same absence of ostentation. When they turned to Lindbergh to make the flight they sought someone in whom there was the utmost confidence and he did his part. Could there have been a better expression of brotherly feeling in either case?

The death of Aviator Bennett eliminates one of those fliers who has had a position of prominence in aviation for a long time. What value was attached to his ability is shown by his selection as second in command for the flight which Commander Byrd has planned across the south pole. He had established his skill in the north pole flight and would have crossed the Atlantic with the commander but for an injury received in a take off. His contributions to aviation have been many and it is regrettable that death should have ended his career at this time.

THE MOVING FINGER WRITES

"This will acknowledge yours of the 16th inst. and in reply will state——" Betty's pencil made chicken tracks across the narrow columns of the red-ruled page and paused as the new boss, Aaron Brown, thumbed through a pile of papers on his desk, picked out a price folder on steam boilers and compared it thoughtfully with the letter in his hand.

Betty wondered if he were married. A hasty glance around the office assured her that there were no framed family photographs on the walls and that he wore no wedding ring. He most certainly did not look henpecked or family trodden, and, anyway, his finger nails were manicured, not the high-glow manicure that a drummer would have, but just a well-kept bachelor trim and polish.

She observed further that he was quite presentable, not bald, no signs of a bay window, nice brown eyes.

"* * * If, however, you feel that you can meet these terms on your boiler quotation——" He dictated too fast, but probably that indicated he was not married. Married men usually remembered that after all a girl is human, so she promptly forgave his speed. In the interval that followed she was just a shade disappointed to find that all his visible buttons were intact, but then she reflected that tailors and laundries take care of buttons for bachelors nowadays.

"* * * we should be very much pleased to hear from you further." He opened his desk drawer to pull out another letter. Everything was very neat there, as though a wife were used to looking after his own things.

"In the meantime we will await your reply before taking definite action."

Betty was convinced that Aaron Brown would not stand for the flowered teacups in Marson's window, probably preferring lusterware, and that he would insist on walnut instead of mahogany for the dining room. Yes, he was too serious for a married man.

"While there is no great rush, it is imperative that"—they usually kidded you along more—"the installation be completed by the 15th of next month." It would be slower at first getting him interested, as you simply could not rush the stern ones. Very demure would be the best line, and after she had been there longer she could ask his advice about something, making a place for herself in the business world, maybe.

Then some night, when she was working late he might invite her out to dinner. She was sure he was the kind who would like to live in Suburbia, and she could train him not to expect you to be a human machine and all that is, not to dictate so fast, though, of course, it would be something else then. Something like expecting you to make the children hang up their coats and leave their skates on the back porch, provided it were glassed in so that the skates would not rust.

She felt encouraged that he did not seem conscious of her. Betty, though really vain, knew that married men would have at least noticed that the new stenographer was rather pretty and would have wondered whether she lived north or south and if her home were in Chicago.

"Thanking you for the favor of an early reply"—she wondered how much he made and felt confident that with this big private office and the brass smoking stand it must be at least enough for one of those adorable bungalows in Suburbia with a trellis and window boxes—"I remain, Yours very truly." That settled it! Betty was positive that a married man would have said "sincerely" and was glad that she had worn the pink smock after all.

"That will be all for this morning, and by the way, will you get my wife on the phone, please," said Aaron Brown, turning to a report of the sales convention in Des Moines, adding absently, "The number's Hotella 0200."

Oh, well, they all were! Betty shrugged her pretty shoulders and decided that she might change her mind and go dancing with Jimmy tonight, even if he was only a shipping clerk. And, anyway, he'd be sure to like the flowered china teacups!—Chicago News.

YOUR HEALTH

THE CHILD'S APPETITE

By Agnes Fay Morgan, Ph. D., Berkeley, Calif., Professor of Household Science, University of California.

Many people still believe in the fallacy that the appetite is a good guide to food needs, and that food which is forced on one who does not desire it will be of no value. On first thought this point of view sounds plausible since it is in line with the belief that the untrammeled ways of nature are best. But on further consideration it appears that in many respects man has greatly improved upon the crude and merciless workings of the law of natural selection.

Premature and artificially fed babes are now saved by medical intelligence and care, sweeping epidemics are prevented childbirth mortality is lowered, and living and working conditions are immeasurably more comfortable and efficient than was possible in the "state of nature." Similarly intelligent choice of food has been shown to produce healthier better developed children than the haphazard diet dictated by economic necessity or the whims of appetite. Again the stomach and intestines recognize no difference between the foods which are eaten with or without desire.

To be sure, a somewhat more rapid stomach digestion may accompany good appetite, although no serious failure of digestion or absorption follows the ingestion of food without appetite. The cultivation of good appetite is greatly to be desired and is perhaps even indispensable to the physical training and health education of children. Perhaps such appetite development may be impeded by insistence upon consumption of foods not desired, but the physical growth and good health which depends upon these foods will be obtained in any case.

The conscientious parent is thus confronted by a dilemma, whether to refrain from close supervision and control of the child's food intake and perhaps thus bring about better appetite but uncertain growth, or to exercise such control and perhaps delay appetite development but ensure physical well being. Of course some children will eat proper foods with appetite and there is no problem but that of intelligent choice of diet for the fortunate parents of such children. But for the others the only safe ground is on the uncomfortable middle course, in which as much choice as is safe is given the child, but constant and unobstructive oversight maintained.

A comparison of most casually selfed children with those who have had milk, orange juice, and other fruits, cod liver oil, egg yolk vegetables, and whole grain cereals as regular constituents of the daily diet will convince the most skeptical that small children need another guide than appetite for their best development.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Against Consolidation.

Mr. Editor: A recent letter in the Norwich Bulletin calls for a town resident to defend his position in the matter of consolidation.

I live quite a distance from the city of Norwich itself, and enjoy that privilege, although most city residents would think they could not exist without convenient trolleys, police and fire protection and sewerage disposal.

In regard to the electric lights would say that electric current is not furnished excepting at a profit, and should the city of Norwich see fit to discontinue many of their outside lines, it would probably be only a short time before the Eastern Conn Power Co. would be furnishing current at just as low a figure. The same thing is true regarding the income from water supplied by the city to residents conveniently situated along their mains.

But police and fire protection, etc are all direct expenses with no revenue attached.

I travel daily for some distance over as good a roadway as any one might ask for, but with no credit to the city of Norwich for the roadway is maintained, and in a very efficient manner, by the state.

I therefore see no reason why the constantly rising tide of city debt and apparent spending without efficient results should be saddled upon the scattered residents of the town. I believe the town tax payers, for the most part, pay for all they get and the city tax payers pay for some things that they only think they are getting.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Peter Uses Prickly Porky

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Use your friends; that's what they're for;
They'll quickly even up the score.
—Peter Rabbit.

A surprising thing happened over there on the edge of the Old Orchard. It was when the Old Orchard joins the Green Forest. Peter Rabbit, Bobby Coon and Prickly Porky the Porcupine had been listening to the stories Scrapper the Kingbird has been telling about the Jungle and the people who lived there. Now, it isn't like Peter Rabbit, or like Bobby Coon, to be wholly careless. It isn't like either of them to fail to look around once in a while. But this time they had forgotten that there might be danger.

It was the rustling of a leaf that caught Peter's attention. Turning, Peter was horrified to see Reddy Fox almost within jumping distance. Crafty Reddy had stolen up while the others had been listening to Scrapper.

Now, of course, Bobby Coon was not afraid of Reddy Fox. Neither was Prickly Porky. And Reddy Fox was not the least bit interested in either of them. He knew very well that Bobby Coon was altogether too big. Reddy is very careful not to bother any one he is not sure of whipping. Reddy can fight pretty well himself, but Bobby Coon is a still better fighter, and, of course, Reddy wasn't at all interested in Prickly Porky. No, indeed! Reddy long ago learned not to meddle with Prickly Porky. It was Peter Rabbit that Reddy was interested in, and if Peter hadn't turned just when he did I suspect there would have been an end to all Peter Rabbit stories.

But Peter did turn. His first thought was to run. But he didn't run. Just in the nick of time he remembered that right there was no hiding place, and he knew that Reddy was too fast a runner to race with, unless there was a hiding place near.

Peter's wits worked fast. He couldn't climb a tree. In fact, it looked as if there was nothing he could do. But there was, and Peter did it. He hopped right over Prickly Porky's back. He got Prickly Porky between him and Reddy Fox. And then Peter kept close to Prickly Porky. He kept just as near him as he dared. You should have seen the face of Reddy Fox. He showed all his teeth in the ugliest kind of a snarl. He tried running around Prickly Porky. But Peter ran around also. Do what he would, Reddy couldn't get on the same side of Prickly Porky that Peter was on.

Now, Prickly Porky is slow of foot. Everyone knows that. But when Prickly Porky gets angry, he gets very angry, and he is likely to stay that way for some time. Prickly Porky was too slow of wit to realize what Peter was doing. He actually thought that Reddy Fox was pretending to attack him. Prickly Porky lifted the thousand little spears hidden in his coat. My, such a prickly looking sight as he was! And every time that Reddy came anywhere near him, Prickly Porky would lash at him with his tail.

Meanwhile, Bobby Coon resented the presence of Reddy Fox. "You get away from here," growled Bobby. "We don't want you around."

"I'll get away from here when I get ready, and not before," Reddy Fox replied.

"Then it will be best for you to get ready pretty soon," declared Bobby, and moved over toward Reddy.

Now, Reddy couldn't try to catch Peter and at the same time keep watch of Bobby Coon, so finally he gave up. Peter grinned at him.

"You're safe this time, Peter Rabbit," snarled Reddy, "but I'll get you yet. Just you watch out!"

"I'll watch out," said Peter.

Stories That Recall Others

Immune.

Last summer Martha was much disappointed when she heard that the camping trip that had been planned by her camp of Girl Scouts had been postponed because some of the girls had got ptomaine poisoning on a hike the week before.

"That's silly," she declared. "Why, I was out where it was growing all over the hills and I didn't get poisoned!"

Reason Enough.

He is a man of means, a well groomed fellow who has reached what one might call the favorable 50s. He spends quite a lot of time glancing around at his properties. He lives however, in the smallest town in which he owns a factory. Recently while he was visiting a friend of his the friend said: "But why do you stay in such a one-horse town?"

"Perhaps because I happen to be the horse," he replied modestly.

Picture of a Flying Cloud of 1929

looking for the right kind of owner

The Flying Cloud Coupe in the picture is afraid that it may be unhappy.

It might get an owner that would not be just the right kind.

Not that this Flying Cloud is conceited. But it knows how good it is. It knows that it can show even the twenty thousand dollar kind a few things about going from here to there in this country.

So it wants an owner that will let it step out once in a while.

There's a figure on the speedometer dial quite a ways above seventy that this Flying Cloud likes to flirt with now and then.

It wants an owner that likes to go places, with smart people, and get there a little bit ahead of the rest.

Now and then this Flying Cloud enjoys loitering down a side road bathed in summer's smiles.

A high hill just makes it chuckle, and it's still looking for a mountain that it can really call a hill.

It doesn't much care whether it's on pavements or in ruts, whether the road is dry or slippery.

In fact, it wants the right kind of owner. One who gets a lot of fun out of traveling and will know it when he drives a car that feels the same way.

Perhaps you're the right kind of owner for this car.

If so, you'll know it the minute you try it out. The more miles you cover, the more sure you'll be that this Reo Flying Cloud of 1929 is your car.

But you'll have to get acquainted to find out.

So we're inviting you to come down today, just to see if you're the kind of owner this Flying Cloud wants.

The strap carried down to the sole of the shoe is a very popular fashion and two such straps are doubly smart, when they are developed with the lightness of line achieved here. Furthermore, their position is carefully worked out, down to the last sixteenth of an inch, to combine with the flexible Cantilever arch in giving support to the foot.

Every Cantilever Shoe is made with a flexible shank, so that the important foot muscles can gain strength through exercise, thus correcting or preventing weak arches and kindred ills. By keeping the foot well balanced and permitting it to function naturally, Cantilever Shoes enable you to go gaily through a busy day.

These new models fit perfectly at the heel; they hug the ankle; they fit the arch; and they provide room for the toes. They give you a beautiful fit—and a beautiful foot.

WEDDINGS

Main-Barrett

Otis T. Main of New London and Miss Ida Barrett of No. 51 Freeman avenue, were united in marriage Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at Christ Episcopal church, by the rector, Rev. C. Montgomery Budiong. They were unattended. The nuptial service of the holy eucharist followed the wedding ceremony which was performed in the presence of many guests. The altar was beautifully decorated, and the vestments were of white and gold. The bride was charmingly gowned in light tan and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for a wedding tour and on their return will reside in New London. Both have many friends with whom they are popular and who extend them hearty good wishes for a happy married life.

FUNERALS

Frank Tempesta

With many relatives and friends attending the funeral of Frank Tempesta was held from his residence, 24 Pond street Wednesday morning at 9:15 o'clock. The mass was celebrated by Rev. Myles P. Galvin, who was assisted by Rev. Edward Quinn as deacon and Rev. John J. Reilly as sub-deacon. The musical programme was in charge of Henry J. LaFontaine, who was at the organ and Roderick F. Sullivan who sang Pie Jesu at the offertory. At the processional Chopin's Funeral March was played and as a waiting hymn Mr. Sullivan sang Jesus Lover of My Soul. Nearer My God to Thee, with chimes accompaniment was sung by Mr. LaFontaine at the recessional.

Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery, where Rt. Rev. Mgr. Michael H. May conducted the committal. The bearers were Dominick Quarto, Benny Quarto, Nicholas Lamparrelli and Ralph Caldarola. Included in the attendance were delegations from the United Italian societies and the Terlizzi society.

The high esteem in which Mr. Tempesta was held was manifested by the many beautiful floral tributes.

Mr. Tempesta came to this city from Italy 25 years ago. He was born in Terlizzi, Italy, September 7, 1862. Mr. Tempesta was a member of the Guisenne Garibaldi and Mutuo Soccorso Fra Terlizzisi societies. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Maria Tempesta, five daughters, Mrs. Maria Denicolo, Mrs. Nunzia Allegretti, Mrs. Teresa Barbarossa, Mrs. Clara Vasington and Mrs. Mrs. Lucy Quarto. Mr. Tempesta was well known among the Italian residents of the city who sincerely mourn his death.

Undertakers Cummings and Ring were in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Mary T. Dunn

With a very large attendance the funeral of Mrs. Mary T. Dunn was held Wednesday morning at 8:20 o'clock at her home, No. 131 Sachem street, and at 9 o'clock there was a requiem mass at St. Patrick's church. Rev. John J. Reilly, celebrant, Henry J. LaFontaine presided at the organ and at the offertory Roderick F. Sullivan sang De Profundis and Jesus Lover of My Soul as the waiting hymn. Chopin's Funeral March was played at the recessional. The large attendance included mourners from Providence, Taftville and Baltic.

Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, Rt. Rev. Mgr. Michael H. May conducting the committal service. The bearers were John Delaney, William H. Callahan, Dennis J. Brennan, Joseph P. Tracy, John P. Corcoran and James J. Finnegan. Hourigan Bros. had charge of the funeral arrangements.

REPORTED ON ROTARY CONFERENCE AT WATERBURY

Frank G. Aubrey and James L. Case, two Norwich Rotarians to attend the spring conference recently held at Waterbury, gave a report on the conference at the weekly meeting of the Norwich Rotary club at the Wauregan house Wednesday noon.

At the business session of the Rotary meeting at which Vice President James E. Roantree presided in the absence of President Clarence A. Spear, Charles Taylor was the songleader with Henry J. LaFontaine at the piano. The club voted to sponsor a concert to be given here in October by the "President's Own" U. S. Marine band of Washington, with afternoon and evening programmes.

Joseph C. Worth, chairman of the industrial exhibition, was present at the meeting and spoke briefly of the exhibition and outlined the program of entertainment.

The speaker of the day was Rev. E. C. Dunbar, pastor of the First Baptist church, who spoke interestingly of the Relations of the Businessman and Minister. Rev. Mr. Dunbar summed up his entire talk by saying that the business man should treat his pastor as a human being, not setting him up on a pedestal, nor regarding him with a feeling that he cannot enjoy the things that the average business man does.

Spoke At Montville Club.

The regular monthly meeting of the Montville Community club was held at the home of Mrs. Peter Guly. Miss Lizabeth MacDonald of Storrs college was the instructress. Her subject was the making of bandages and first aid in the home. Demonstrations were given in bandaging various parts of the body. These proved very interesting as many did not know the correct way of putting on bandages. At noon a delicious lunch was served.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY

The Wednesday club met with Miss Jane Bill, of Lincoln avenue, the hostess reading the paper on Antonio Stradivari (1644-1737), of Cremona, whose musical instruments are famous for their beauty of tone and their design. In illustration, a number of violin selections were played by George A. Gulie, with piano accompaniment by Miss Ruth Dreschler.

Mrs. Aurin Eliot Payson, of Broad street, entertained the Fesma club Wednesday afternoon with three tables of auction. The prizes were won by Mrs. Ernest E. Lincoln, Mrs. Herbert M. Lerou and Mrs. Frank W. Clapp. The decorations were spring flowers. At the tea table, following cards, Miss Annie E. Vaughn poured.

Mrs. Charles J. Twist, of Prospect street, has returned, after a visit with her cousin, Mrs. Robert Stevens, of Larchmont, N. Y. Mr. Twist went to Larchmont for the week-end, to accompany Mrs. Twist home. At a farewell party of six tables of cards given Saturday evening for Mrs. Twist by Mrs. Alfred Stevens, Mr. Twist won a prize and the guest prize was given Mrs. Twist.

TELLS NORWICH CLUB OF WORK BY STATE IN INTEREST OF SPORTSMEN

The Norwich Fish and Game association held its annual meeting Wednesday evening at the Wauregan hotel with Frederick C. Walcott of Norwich, chairman of the forest and wild life commission as a guest and speaker. Mr. Walcott gave the gathering of about 75 men an intensely interesting talk upon what the state agencies have been doing for the benefit of the sportsmen and predicted that what has been done is already beginning to show substantial results which fishermen and hunters are realizing and that there will be increasingly better conditions in the years to come.

The annual business meeting was called to order at 7:15 by President Arthur E. Story and the annual report was presented by Secretary W. W. Ives.

The following officers were elected: President, Louis J. Ortman; vice president, Dr. Harrison Gray; secretary and treasurer, William W. Ives; directors, Everett Peckham, Hermon J. Gibbs, William J. LaRochelle, Walter E. Fuller and Jean Kieffer.

Two committees were appointed as follows:

On distribution of game: William J. LaRochelle, Louis J. Ortman and Lewis M. Young; on distribution of fish, Dr. Harrison Gray, Merton Parkhurst, Joseph N. Curtiss, James M. Morton, Everett Peckham, Hibbard R. Norman, George J. Meyer and C. M. Beebe.

Arrangements have been made by the club to hold meets for trap and skeet shooting.

Upon adjournment of the business meeting which was held in one of the committee rooms in the hotel, the men gathered in the ball room for a banquet which was served at 8 o'clock, with music by Swan's orchestra and Edward T. Connelly as song leader. By invitation of Mr. Story, who presided as toastmaster, the divine blessing was asked by James M. Morton and the assemblage sang a verse of "America" before the banquet was served.

Toastmaster Story introduced the newly elected officers and then presented Mr. Walcott as the speaker, referring to the great service he was rendering as head of the state commission.

Mr. Walcott covered the subject of game in the state, both for hunting and for fishing, in a very thorough way and said that the commission has as its aim the securing of eight forests of 25,000 acres each which will serve as game refuges where grouse, ducks, pheasants and other game can be so propagated that adequate shooting will be provided in the state. He referred to the ravages which goshawks are making among the grouse and urged that everything be done to exterminate the goshawks which there is a bounty paid.

He said that the support of such organizations as the fish and game club would be of great assistance to the commission in securing appropriations from the legislature and he went on to speak particularly of the work done to improve trout fishing. There are 70 miles of streams upon which the state has secured the fishing rights forever and about 100 miles upon which the state has four-year leases.

These streams are being stocked with fish raised at the state hatchery. About 160 ponds have been stocked with perch in the last two years, the smelt fishing has been phenomenal this year, and the shad fishing in the Connecticut river has been built up in the past four years from a catch of 8,000 to a catch of 60,000 fish.

The improvement in both the smelt fishing and the shad fishing is directly ascribable, he said, to the work carried out by the state commission on fish and game.

Mr. Walcott closed his talk by showing several reels of interesting moving pictures—Scenes at the State Hatchery at Burlington, The Childs-Walcott Sanctuary, and Enemies of Game. He also showed a number of slides of beautiful views in the west and in Canada and was given a hearty vote of thanks for his entertaining talk and pictures.

SUES TO GET PROPERTY BACK FROM HUSBAND

Claiming that her husband, Matias Bizub, of New London, refuses to turn over to her, a house and lot in School House lane, in that city, as per agreement, Mary Bizub, of New London, brings suit in the superior court for an order by the court to have her husband turn over the property.

According to the complaint, Mrs. Bizub claims that she and her husband were married subsequent to 1877 and that on or about March 7, 1915, she bought from May E. Silva for the consideration of $1,800, a house and lot in School House lane.

Before the date of the conveyance of the deed, she alleges her husband agreed that if she would pay for and take title to the premises in his name, he would hold the same in trust for her and that he would turn over the property to her upon demand. She claims that she has paid all taxes to the city and that although she has repeatedly demanded that her husband keep to his agreement and convey the property to her, he has refused to do so. She asks that her husband be adjudged to specifically perform the agreement, that he be directed to convey the property to her and that she be given such further relief for costs and disbursements as the court may deem equitable.

DIVORCE SUITS BROUGHT IN SUPERIOR COURT

Two suits for divorce are in new cases for the superior court in which [illegible] have been filed here with the clerk of the court and returnable in May.

On the grounds that Oliver S. Bailey of East Lyme has been and now is, habitually intemperate, Caroline (Fairchild) Bailey of East Lyme sues for a divorce. The couple was married at Middletown, Aug. 22, 1919. There are no children.

Claiming a divorce on two counts, one of desertion and the other of intolerable cruelty, Archer E. Beckwith of Waterford has brought suit against Nellie Beckwith.

The couple was married on June 26, 1915, and desertion is alleged since Oct. 1, 1922 and intolerable cruelty from Oct. 1, 1920 to the date of desertion. The defendant's maiden name was Nellie Frances Enos.

CHARGES BROKER FIRM WITH MISREPRESENTATION

Claiming fraudulent representation, Harold B. Frost of New London has brought suit in the superior court for $1,000 damages against R. W. Watkins & Co., New London stock brokers. Frost claims that on March 10, 1918, relying upon the representations of James H. Dunn, manager of the Watkins Co., who told him of the advantage of buying National Association Investors stock, which he said could readily be sold at $40 a share, he turned over to the manager ten shares of common stock and five shares of preferred stock of the Underwriters' Finance Co., which Dunn stated could be sold for $45 a share for common stock and $100 a share for preferred.

Dunn is alleged to have bought 25 shares of National Association Investors for $34.25, which, according to the complaint, is now of very little value.

FORECLOSURE SUIT ON PROPERTY IN NEW LONDON

Foreclosure on property which secured a $2,200 note is sought by Harry Heller of Montville against John and Jesse Kinnear and Dora Snitkin of New London, in a suit brought in the superior court. The property is located at the corner of Wall and West High streets.

It is alleged in the complaint that the defendant, Dora Snitkin, on Oct. 7, 1927, was indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of $2,200 as evidenced by her note of that date and secured by a mortgage on the property before mentioned. It is further alleged that on Oct. 22, 1927, Dora Snitkin deeded the premises to the Kinnears subject to the mortgage. Dora Snitkin now claims to hold a mortgage for $600 on the land.

Will Speak On Porto Rico.

Rev. George Luther Cady, D. D., of New York city, executive secretary of the American Missionary association, is to be the speaker at the supper meeting Friday for the congregation of the United Congregational church which will be held at the Community house. He will speak on Porto Rico. Dr. Cady has recently returned from a trip there and says that the worst living conditions prevailed anywhere in the United States are to be found there. He upholds this unqualified statement on the basis of intimate knowledge of living conditions of Negroes in the south, of southern mountaineers, of Mexicans along the southwest border, and of Indians and Orientals in the west. The work of the American Missionary association is among these "under-privileged" groups.

BEQUESTS OF $177,500 IN MRS. OSGOOD'S WILL

Specific bequests that total $177,500 are made in the will of Mrs. Hugh Henry Osgood which was filed for probate here Wednesday by William B. Young, who is named executor in the will.

Of the total in bequests mentioned, the sum of $58,000 is for several public institutions. $38,500 is to individuals and $81,000 is in trust funds.

Bequests to individuals are the following: $15,000 to Irving H. Lee, a brother, of Princess Island, N. Y., $5,000 to Rev. Dr. S. H. Howe of this city; $5,000 to William B. Young and $2,000 to his wife, Mary W. Young; $8,000 to Emma Ruth Palmer of Plattekill, N. Y., daughter of James B. and Helen Palmer; $1,000 to Miss Mary Ellen Wadley; $2,000 to Miss Lillian L. Allen, a cousin, of Clinton, Ia.; $300 to Mrs. Mary O'Connell, a former employe; $200 to Ambrose Wilson, a former employe.

Bequests to institutions and organizations are made as follows:

To Park Congregational society of this city $10,000 to be held by the society as a permanent fund, the income therefrom to be used in keeping in repair and keeping properly insured the parish house erected as a memorial to Mr. Osgood.

To Kingfisher college, Oklahoma, $10,000 toward the endowment fund of the college which was a pledge made on Dec. 10, 1904.

To the Connecticut Humane society $3,000 as a permanent fund and the income to be devoted to its general usages and purposes.

To Faith Trumbull chapter, D. A. R., Inc., $20,000 for the purpose of providing suitable quarters for enlarging and maintaining the museum already established by the chapter in this city.

OBITUARY.

Justin Holden.

Justin Holden, retired business man and prominent in local and state Freemasonry, died shortly after nine o'clock Wednesday evening at his home at 13 Clairemont avenue. Mr. Holden, although in failing health for some time, had been confined to his bed for less than a week. He had been connected with the meat and retail grocery business in Norwich for 50 years, having retired about five years ago. He was widely known in Masonic circles throughout Connecticut, having been grand master of the Connecticut Grand lodge and having held many offices in the local York rite bodies.

Mr. Holden was born on Oct. 5, 1852, on the Holden farm on Corning road, the son of Walter and Lydia Wheeler Moore Holden, his mother being the daughter of a Revolutionary soldier. He descended from strong New England ancestry and his forefathers were among the original settlers of Preston. His early boyhood was spent in Preston where he attended the Long Society school and later taught in the Preston schools. Early in life he gave up the teaching of school and went to Plainfield, where he engaged in the trucking business. Returning to Norwich he became engaged in the meat and retail grocery business conducting a market in company with Charles Chapman under the firm name of Chapman and Holden. Later he was employed by Chapman and Rist and then bought out the business which for many years he conducted under his own name. His market for many years was on Franklin square, later moving to a store on lower Franklin street. About five years ago he sold out to Belt Bros., and since then has lived a retired life.

JUSTIN HOLDEN

On Oct. 7, 1874 he was united in marriage with Josephine Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Perkins of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Holden on Oct. 7, 1924, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Mrs. Holden with four children, Walter, of this city, Mrs. Caroline Adams of Worcester, Henry, Earl of Franklin and Mrs. Edith Degenaar of Panama, survive him. A son, Justin, died in 1916. There are 15 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

He was a member of Trinity Methodist church and held a number of the church offices. In 1887 he was elected to represent the town of Preston in the state legislature and was for many years a member of the Preston town school board. He was a staunch republican and at the time of his death was a member of the probate committee of which he had been a member for a number of years.

One of his chief interests was in Freemasonry to which he devoted a large part of his time until health forced him to retire from active participation in lodge activities. At the past master's night last fall he presided as master of Somerset lodge. He was honored in 1912 by being elected grand master of the Connecticut Grand lodge. His Masonic record shows that he was raised in Somerset lodge, F. and A. M., April 29, 1874. He was senior deacon in 1892, junior warden in 1893 and 1894, senior warden in 1895, and worshipful master in 1896-1897. He was deputy for New London county in 1898, 1899 and in 1903. He entered upon his work in the grand lodge in 1904 when he was elected junior steward and then held each succeeding office until he was elected grand worshipful master on January 17, 1912.

He was exalted in Franklin chapter, R. A. M., of Norwich on June 8, 1875. In this body he was first vail in 1893, third vail in 1894, captain of the host in 1895 and 1896, scribe in 1897, king in 1898 and 1899 and high priest in 1900.

He was received and greeted in Franklin council, R. and S. M., of Norwich on April 6, 1876. He was captain of the guards in 1904 and 1905, illustrious principal conductor in 1906 and 1907, right illustrious deputy master in 1908, and thrice illustrious master in 1909 and 1910.

He was knighted in Columbian Commandry, No. 4, Knights Templar of Norwich on March 3, 1901. He was a member of the Masonic Veterans' Association of Connecticut, which he joined in 1902; New London County Actual Past Masters' association, and a life member of the Masonic Charity Foundation of which he was a director for several years.

It was with a sincere feeling of sadness that the community and more especially those who were connected with him in business and fraternal life learn of his death. He was a man of sterling character, one who personified the teachings of Christianity and Masonry, highly respected and esteemed by everyone who knew him. His interest in Masonry and his home were chief in his life and his loss to the community is sadly felt.

Miss Mary F. McCabe

Miss Mary F. McCabe, of 5 Grove street, died Tuesday evening in New York, following a short illness. She was the daughter of the late Michael and Mary Sewell McCabe and is survived by three sisters, Misses Ellen S. and Elizabeth A. McCabe, of Norwich, and Margaret, wife of Francis W. Donahue, of Hartford. She also leaves a nephew and a niece of Hartford. A native of Norwich, she attended the public schools, was a resident here her entire life, and was a member of St. Patrick's church, member of St. Patrick's church. The announcement of her death brought forth many expressions of sympathy for the bereaved family.

At Westford, this season, many beautiful bunches of arbutus have been picked by the school children.

MERRITT TOOKER DROPS DEAD IN MYSTIC STORE

(Special to The Bulletin).

MYSTIC, April 25—Merritt E. Tooker, former postmaster at Montville for 50 years, dropped dead at 7:40 o'clock this evening in his store on East Main street, just across the bridge in Stonington. Death came to Mr. Tooker while he was waiting on a customer and in the presence of his wife. Dr. W. H. Gray, medical examiner, was called and pronounced death due to heart trouble, and gave permission for the removal of the body to the undertaking establishment of Harry O. Williams in Mystic.

Mr. Tooker came to Stonington from Montville a year ago last September, after purchasing the grocery store and newsstand on East Main street conducted by the late E. A. Bliven, who also dropped dead from heart trouble in his automobile previous to a demonstration before a prospective driver in Groton. Mr. Tooker had lived the greater part of his life in Montville, where he had run a grocery store in the car station in conjunction with the postmastership.

With his wife he recently returned from Florida, where he spent the winter at St. Petersburg in the interests of his health, which had been failing for some time. He was twice married. It is understood that he leaves a step-son in Norwich.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Phillips and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ass Burdick and two sons, and Clayton Rockwell attended the minstrel show given by the grange at Chaplin recently.

Thumb sucking does look sweet in a baby, but it is disgusting in the three-year-old and sometimes it hangs on until fifteen or sixteen. The habit may cause an ill-formed mouth or induce adenoids, and it always interferes with digestion. Pinning the sleeve over the hand; attaching mittens, or putting on cardboard cuffs which prevent bending the arms at the elbows, are some of the ways to stop the habit.

Another bad habit—irregularity in bowel action—is responsible for weak bowels and constipation in babies. Give the tiny bowels an opportunity to act at regular periods each day. If they don't act at first, a little Fletcher's Castoria will soon regulate them. Every mother should keep a bottle of it handy to use in case of colic, cholera, diarrhea, gas on stomach and bowels, constipation, loss of sleep, or when baby is cross and feverish. This gentle laxative over baby's system enables him to get full nourishment from his food, helps him gain

ACADEMY WALLOP TWO PITCHERS AND WIN EASILY FROM STONINGTON IN SNOW

Sending Godomsky, the veteran Stonington high pitcher, an easy target, the Academy pounded out 14 hits and an 8 to 2 victory Wednesday afternoon at the campus to jump off to a flying start in the eastern-Connecticut western-Rhode Island interscholastic league race. The game was played in the face of a bitter wind, while rain, sleet and snow fell at times. Only a fair-sized crowd attended.

However, this did not halt the work of the local team very much, who scored three times in the second, twice in the sixth and seventh and once in the eighth. Stonington scored one each in the first, fifth and ninth.

Lloyd Jarvis won his second start of the year, allowing but six hits, four of which were of a very scratchy nature. He fanned eight and passed three.

Jarvis Gets Home Run

Lloyd and Johnny Greene put on a great hitting act, getting seven safeties between them. Lloyd clouted a long home run over the fence in right center, and also got a triple and two singles in four trips to the plate, while Johnny had three singles in four steps to the plate. Tirrell, Arico and LaCroix had two hits apiece, the latter getting a double each, while Mace Goldblatt completed the local batting with one single.

Stonington hopped into the lead in the second on singles by Cragan and Goyette, intermingled with an infield out.

However, the Academy went ahead in their half of the inning with three runs, when Jarvis led off with a hefty triple into right field and came in on Greene's single; Johnny was thrown out stealing on a rather weird decision and after Gibbs fanned, Tirrell and Buck LaCroix singled into left, and when Bryer let the ball roll through his legs, Billy scored and Buck went all the way around to third. Arico's long drive to left for two bases scored LaCroix.

The Wildcats added two more in the sixth when Jarvis led off with a home run and Greene followed with a single, which, mixed up with two errors, allowed him to come all the way around. Two more came in the seventh when Arico opened with a single, and after two were out, Goldblatt was safe on an error. Jarvis singled to right and Arico scored. Greene's single scored Goldblatt. The locals closed their scoring in the eighth when Tirrell opened with a single, stole second and scored when Buck LaCroix hit the scoreboard plumb on the first inning with a two-base hit.

Stonington scored one in the sixth on a single by Goyette, passes to Bryer and Stefanski and a fielder's choice, and finished in the ninth when Cragan singled, Cella was safe on an error and Goyette singled, scoring his catcher.

WILDCAT SCRATCHES

It was worse yesterday than Saturday, and many thought that couldn't be possible. We mean the weather.

Lloyd Jarvis and Johnny Greene sure put on their "belting act" to perfection.

That circuit clout of Lloyd's was absolutely the longest on the campus in many years, if not for all time.

Lloyd, as a result, gets the fur-lined box of candy.

Buck LaCroix and Arico also came close to home runs on their doubles. Arico's would have gone through the left field gate had it been just about three feet more toward that way while the only thing that stopped Buck's was the scoreboard which it banged up against.

The team sure is slugging that ball. In the three games so far the Wildcats have manhandled five pitchers for a total of 46 hits, an average of over 15 per game.

Burnham played a nice game at short for the losers, saving many hits.

The umpiring, especially on bases, was terrible and the fans were quick to voice objections.

Chubby Gibbs made a nice try on Goyette's drive in the second but it just dropped from his fingers.

Chubby, Hamil and Cummings had touch days at bat but Arico and LaCroix took their places in banging the ball.

Neither Stonington pitcher was any kind of a puzzle. Godomsky allowed all the hits and runs while Roever started in to pass men but a double play proved a big help to him.

With a good day the Academy would have surely run into double figures with their runs.

The team now prepares for Chapman Tech at New London Saturday, another league game. Of course, the boys are now leading the league but anything can happen in New London.

MONTREAL, April 25—(AP)—Leo (Kid) Roy, featherweight champion of Canada, was awarded a ten-round decision over Peter Zivic of Pittsburgh here tonight.

RED LUCAS HURLS REDS TO 17 INNING WIN OVER CARDS

CINCINNATI, April 25—(AP)—Red Lucas went the full route to pitch the Reds to a 5 to 4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in seventeen innings today, the longest National league game this season.

Reinhart, the third Cardinal pitcher to see service, kept the Reds' batters in hand from the eighth inning until a double by Picinich with Dressen on second ended the game with two out when the winning run was scored.

The Reds took three runs from four bunched hits off Frankhouse in the fifth and scored another on two hits in the sixth.

Bottomley drove a home run into the right field bleachers t cake himself and High, after Douthit had scored on Frisch's fly. St. Louis had scored in the third and the rally tied the score. Score:

Robins 3; Phillies 2

BROOKLYN, April 25—(AP)—Butch Henline's pinch triple with two out in the ninth broke up a tight pitchers battle in Brooklyn's favor today, and gave the Robins their third straight victory over the Phillies. Henline hit Sweetland's first offering to center field, scoring Statz from third and Bancroft from first with the runs which gave Brooklyn a 3 to 2 edge.

Ehrhardt held the Phillies to five hits, while Sweetland was giving the Robins eight safeties, and seven bases on balls. Tyson hit a homer in the fifth. Score:

Westerly High Loses to Bulkeley

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, April 25—With cold weather and occasional rain and snow prevailing, Westerly high school lost to Bulkeley high of New London, in its third baseball game of the season by the close margin of 2 to 1 here today. Even with breaks favorable to the W. H. S. the necessary runs were not forthcoming for them to win. Westerly outhit Bulkeley. Score:

BIG BOY BURLAP IN DANIELSON FEATURE

In addition to the main feature—the bout between Big Boy Burlap and Ben Smith of the Newport sailors—the appearance of Joe Russo of Westerly on the card of the show to be staged by the Casino A. C. at the Danielson state armory tomorrow evening is sure to strike a responsive chord in the makeup of eastern Connecticut fight fans. Russo has mowed down about everything in the 150 pound class in this vicinity and is looking for new worlds to conquer. Although it cannot be definitely stated who his opponent will be, Mike Stevens of Waterbury is entered in the same division and would be a logical contender. These two scraps will be but two of several which will be staged with boys scaling from 150 pounds upward in the ring. Eight bouts are being advertised and with the number of entries already received, there is no question that there will be plenty of material for the matchmaker to work with.

Want More Entries

Frank Barber, who has charge of the show, states that if there are any registered amateurs in this section of the state who would like to enter it is not too late. Such entries must be filed at once and the boys will be given an opportunity in case there is an opening in their class.

Although the registration board of the Connecticut A. A. U. has resigned, Mr. Barber has been informed by officials of the association that this will have no effect on the sanction for Friday night's show, which was granted by the old board prior to the presentation of the resignations of its members.

JIMMY BONE ACCEPTS SHEIK LEONARD'S DEFI

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 25—At the boxing bouts conducted in the Lyceum theatre last Monday night, Sheik Leonard, Norwich middleweight, was at the ringside and issued a challenge to the winner of the Jimmy Rossi-Young Raymond bout. Rossi was the victor, stopping Raymond in the third round. Rossi now comes forward with the statement that he is ready to accept Leonard's challenge and Matchmaker Sullivan said today that if Leonard will affix his signature to a contract the bout will be signed up without further delay. From the attitude of Rossi and Sullivan it would appear that it is up to Leonard to go through with his challenge.

'BOUT SPORTS

It is interesting to note that the entire five high school baseball teams in Greater Hartford are captained this year by shortstops, which fact presents a situation without precedent. The names of the players and the teams they represent follow: Schlar, Weaver; Shortell, Hartford Public high; Farrell, Bulkeley; Murray, West Hartford and Stangle, East Hartford.

Here in eastern Connecticut the situation is about the opposite. Goldblatt and Cragan, catchers, lead the Academy and Stonington, respectively, Bernstein, a second baseman, heads Bulkeley, Saba, a third baseman talks to the umpire at Windham while Sawyer pitches and leads his team at Westerly. Green, shortstop is captain at Chapman Tech.

YANKS GO INTO LEAD BY TRIMMING SENATORS, 12 TO 4

NEW YORK, April 25—(AP)—The New York Yankees hit hard behind Pipgras' good pitching today, and again defeated the Washington Senators. The score was 12 to 4.

The Yankees knocked out Firpo Marberry in three innings, scoring three runs in the first and four more in the third. They continued to hit Van Alstyne freely, Durst, Koenig and Lazzeri leading the charge.

In the sixth inning Goslin stole second while Rice occupied the bag, but got away with it when Grabowski hit Rice with the ball as Sam tried to make third. It was scored as a double steal. Score:

HARRY DEVINE AND JOHNNY DALEY NATIONAL CHAMPIONS AT BOSTON

BOSTON, April 26—(AP)—George Hoffman, New York heavyweight, carried off class honors early this morning in a rugged bout with Royal Elliott, lumbering Alhambra, Calif., youngster, in the windup of the three-day A. A. U. National championship tournament here which will determine composition of United States' Olympic boxing team. Hoffman easily outpointed Elliott, who was the frequent recipient of stiff jabs. The California lad tried hard to land but most of his swings went wild.

In other championship tilts the 118-pound title went to Johnny Daley of Waltham, who outpointed Pete Mazio of Cleveland in an extra round session. Hyman Miller of Los Angeles took the 112-pound crown after a snappy mixup with Gene Blanco of Boston, while Harry Devine of Worcester helped keep championship honors in the east by disposing of another Cleveland boy, Eddie Kaufman, 126-pound artist. Both were cautious during the first round, during which they tried to solve each other's style. Devine opened up in the second and dropped the Cleveland boy after landing two left hooks to his chin. He then landed a right which opened a deep gash under Kaufman's left eye. In the final round, Devine staggered Kaufman with a left to the chin and then pasted the gritty Kaufman with lefts to the head, which closed his injured eye.

Steve Holaiko trounced George Russo, rugged Boston entrant, to take te 135-pound honors. The Buffalo boy gave Russo a bad beating in the first round, but in the second, Russo tried hard to land the knockout punch which carried him into the finals. Holaiko beat him back with stiff attack to the head and continued to pile up points.

Russo started the final round with a wild rush but Holaiko out-punched him and drew a well-earned decision.

Lown Retains Title

Tommy Lown, New York, retained his 147-pound national title by cleanly outpointing Carmen Tuzzolino, of Los Angeles. The Californian was a wild left swinger and each time he launched his favorite blow, Lown slipped inside of his guard and hooked him with rights and lefts to the jaw. Tuzzolino could take punishment and he returned ably until the bell rang. Lown jumped away out in front during the second, when he dropped the Californian three times with rights and lefts to the jaw. The bell saved Tuzzolino from a knockout. He revived during the minute rest and was swinging wildly at the champion in the third. Lown continued his jabbing and the Californian took several heavy blows unflinchingly. Lown was set to send home his heaviest punch when the bell stopped the bout.

Ensign Harry H. Henderson, of the Naval academy, a clever middleweight with a neat right hand, became the 16-pound national champion by easily defeating Al Stillman of St. Louis. The sailor, twice the inter-collegiate middleweight champion during his student days at Annapolis, piled up an early lead and dropped Stillman for no count in the second with a right to the St. Louis boy's head. Henderson stood off in the third and jabbed Stillman almost at will with a left to the jaw and a stiff right to the body which forced the victim to hold on and thus save himself from being knocked out.

Lucas Wins by K. O.

Leon Lucas of Philadelphia was the only one of the finalists to win a national title by a knockout. He took possession of the 175-pound title by knocking out Dave Maier of Milwaukee with a right square on the chin a few seconds after the bell sent the boys into action.

HAGEN-COMPSTON MATCH TO GO ON AS SLATED

LONDON, April 25—(AP)—An official of the Moor Park Golf club was waiting today at the Aquitania's gang plank to tell Walter Hagen that postponement of his special match with Archie Compston Friday and Saturday is impossible.

Hagen was told that all arrangements have been made for the 72 hole test and officials regretted that they could not comply with Hagen's wireless request for postponement.

The American smiled when he heard the news and said, "Well, I suppose I must do my best." He explained that he was engaged in making a motion picture for three weeks before sailing for England and had not had an opportunity to practice. He will get in only one day's workout on the Moor Park course before he goes against Compston Friday for the first 36 holes of their match.

Compston has been practicing steadily for weeks for the match with Hagen and is in fine condition and confident of winning.

PAULINO RANKS AMERICAN BOXERS; DELANEY TOO LIGHT

PARIS, April 25—(AP)—Here is the ranking of "American pugilists" by Senior Paulino Uscudun, of Spain.

"Godfrey, the Negro, the toughest one of all. He is a giant, a super-athlete, quick and hits hard.

"Risko is a good battler, hard and fast.

"Sharkey is the best boxer of them all but he hits like a featherweight.

"Delaney is too light and should be eliminated from heavyweight competition.

"Heeney is very courageous and sympathetic."

NORWICH-NEW LONDON TEAM AT WATERBURY FRIDAY NIGHT

A team of boxers composed of boys from Joe Connelly's stable in New London and Johnny Dosch, Mush Moriarity and one or two others from this city will fight at Waterbury Friday night.

The next Pastime A. C. show will be held a week from Friday night at Olympic hall. It is expected that a Waterbury team will be the feature attraction.

The show in Danielson, the first A. A. U. one hereabouts in some time is attracting considerable interest and it is expected that a large crowd will attend, among whom will be many from Norwich.

The semi-finals of the Golden Gloves tournament of the Coast Guard service will be held at the Academy in New London Saturday night. Pete Anninaldo, Young Reymon and Joe Sessa are expected to adorn feature bouts.

RIVERVIEW NOSES OUT BASE IN NINTH INNING

With the score deadlocked at seven-all since the seventh inning Riverview put across a run in the ninth to win from the Sub Base 8 to 7 at the State Hospital diamond on Wednesday afternoon. The game was played in a chill and drizzling rain but was close all the way. Riverview scored seven runs in the first five innings only to have the Sub Base beat out six runs in the sixth and one in the seventh to tie the score. The score:

LORRAINE BOWLING LEAGUE RECEIVES SILVER TROPHIES

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., April 26—The sixth annual banquet and entertainment of the Lorraine Bowling league this evening, was attended by more than 70 members of the league and their families, with officials of the Pawcatuck plant of the Lorraine Manufacturing company, Stuart D. Fisher, superintendent, and officials of the company. At 6:30 the diners seated themselves at tables in the Elm Tree Inn dining room, the head table at which were seated 14 league and company heads. There were elaborate menu cards, containing the list of the various teams and prize winners of the season. The decorations were deep pink carnations with ferns, palms and flowering plants. Following was the menu: Fruit cocktail, chilled celery hearts, stuffed olives, cream tomato soup, roast stuffed Webber duckling, giblet gravy, apple sauce, mashed potato, mashed turnip, peas, escalloped oysters, apple pie, French vanilla ice cream, coffee.

Prizes of silver loving cups were presented the winning bowling teams, the Fireflies of the women's division, and the Spinning Room quintet in the men's division. The former bowlers won by 88 points and the latter by 40. The Fireflies are Miss Alice Reynolds, captain; Misses Ella Reynolds, Lucinda Bauerle, Elizabeth Ledwith and Alma Dayton. The Spinning Room team comprises Tulty Sanquedolce, captain; Louis Denison, Wallace Barker, John Meldrum and Edward Beauchamp.

Honors for the season among the women bowlers went as follows: High single, Miss Ella Reynolds; high triple, Miss Alice Reynolds; high average, Miss Alice Reynolds; most improvement, Miss Helena Brennan; consolation, Miss Alice Whatwell. Honors for the ladies' afternoon teams are: High single, Miss Edith Jones; high triple, Mrs. Edith Jones; high average, Mrs. Edith Jones; consolation, Mrs. Annie Kinney.

Honors in the men's division: High single, Arthur Kenyon; high triple, Fred Richards; high average, Howard Bliven; most improvement, William Marr; consolation, Frank Gildea.

The men's teams of the 1927-28 season and their captains are: Main Office, Capt. Alex M. Blake; Loom Fixers, William Marr; Old Weave Room, Edward Martell; Slasher Rooms, Norman Lewis; New Weave Room, John Jones; Card Room, Frank Gildea; Quilling Room, Theodore Blanchette; Silk Room, Charles Foehr; Spinning Room, Tulty Sanquedolce; Machine Shop, Thomas Ibbson.

The women's teams and captains of the season are: Fireflies, Miss Alice Reynolds; Jolly Six, Miss Rita Schackner; Good Sports, Miss Laura Slatt; Sunbeams, Miss Rose Skarrow; Blue Birds, Miss Helena Brennan; Lucky Strikes, Miss Eva Smith; Regulars, Miss Martha Johnson; Invincibles, Miss Edith Jones; Ever Ready, Miss Katherine Smith; True Blues, Miss Ethel Ledwith; Violets, Miss Evelyn Dreaney; Red Rose, Miss Helen Lovett.

At 8:30 o'clock a program by professional entertainers from Hartford was presented to a large audience at the Lorraine Community house. Dancing followed until midnight. The committee of arrangements was: Directress and Hostess Miss Mary R. Damarel, Alexander M. Blake, Stuart C. Fisher and Harry C. Crandall.

The favors for the women were dainty bottles of perfume and cuff-links were given the men. At the head table, where the prizes were distributed by Supt. Fisher, the association president Alphonse Dubuc presided. Seated there also were the community association officers Harry Crandall, Alexander M. Blake, Thomas Sutcliffe, Wilfred Frechette, guests from the Lorraine plant, Pawtucket, R. I., Charles Hardegan, R. J. Robertson, George Wright, John Whittle and Prentice Chase, of the Ashland Mills Community club, Jewett City.

Granite City camp, No. 9189, Modern Woodmen of America, Richard Opie, Jr., consul, held an open meeting in Stillman's hall Tuesday evening. Consul Opie presided. The singing of America and the salute to the flag preceded a program of musical numbers beginning with a piano solo by Raymond Sidebottom. This was followed by two groups of songs by Miss Harriet Ziegler, including "Romona" and "Among My Souvenirs." Joseph Hughes, of Hartford, state director for Connecticut and Rhode Island, addressed the meeting on "Fraternity." Solos by Miss Ziegler with piano accompaniment by Miss Una Clark followed. National Lecturer E. C. Renner, of Lincoln, Neb., gave a talk on Typical Woodmen, the third largest fraternal order in the country, to which it had grown from 33 members. He also sketched the work of the Tuberculosis Sanatorium located near Colorado Springs, Colo. During the day, Consul Opie took Lecturer Renner to Watch Hill for his first view of the Atlantic ocean. A pleasing feature to the assembly was the surprise serving of refreshments by Elm Tree camp, No. 8878, Royal Neighbors of America, of which Mrs. Joseph Law is oracle. The committee consisted of Mrs. William S. Crandall, Mrs. Annie Tough and Mrs. Etta Kinney. A social time followed. The camp will be a participant in the Fraternal conclave, to be held in Mechanics hall on Monday, April 30.

Westerly Women's Community association held its annual banquet and meeting Wednesday evening at 6:30 at Harry Peckham's Inn. Nearly 100 enjoyed roast chicken, relishes, mashed potato, turnip, cranberry sauce, cake and coffee. A program of musical numbers was a feature.

Among officers reports presented was that of the treasurer, Miss Bertha Brown, read by Miss Sallie Coy, which showed a balance of some $300. Plans of the organization and operation of a Westerly Y. W. C. A. were discussed at which it was brought out that the interests could be best served by becoming a component part of a Westerly Y. M. C. A. On motion of Miss Ruth Davis, it was voted to turn over the treasury balance to this organization. The formal motion for the disbanding of the Women's Community club, made by Mrs. B. Frank Lake was voted by the association.

BARBER JOHN MALIGRINO FOUND GUILTY OF ASSAULT

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, April 25—In the Washington County Superior Court before Judge Charles A. Walsh in Kingston courthouse at a late hour Tuesday afternoon the jury returned a verdict of guilty against the Westerly barber John Maligrino, charged with an assault upon Mrs. Nellie M. Russell, of White Rock, in his barber shop on Canal street, March 8th. He was represented by Attorney John J. Dunn and a five day stay of sentence was granted to give opportunity for the filing of a petition for a new trial.

On Wednesday morning the case against Henry N. Girard, charged with setting fire to his house in North Kingston, which was begun last week in the superior court was again taken up. This case was set down for a continuance on Tuesday when the Maligrino case also took up the afternoon session.

The death of Jared Babcock occurred at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning at his home, 13 Moss street, after a brief illness. Mr. Babcock was employed for about 50 years in the press works of the C. B. Cottrell Sons Company, as a moulder. He was a member of Pawcatuck lodge, F. & A. M. Besides his wife, Kate Wey Babcock he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Ellery Burdick, of Bradford, and Mrs. William Battey, of Wakefield.

Wreckers Wednesday at the ruins of the Rhode Island Hotel block were occupied in salvaging furnishing which had been removed to the third floor corner front room, next to the Washington Trust block. The various articles were lowered by rope to the veranda and then carted away in motor trucks. During the heavy blow of the early morning hours, extra precautions were taken to protect passers-by on foot and in autos from falling rubbish that might become dislodged. At one time four men were stationed by the roped-off area in front of the sidewalk to warn all away from the dangerous zone.

Town Solicitor John Ferguson has returned from New York.

Bowling teams of Westerly veteran organizations were presented loving cups by Harry Trefes at a joint banquet held Tuesday evening in Champlin's hall. There were present for the dinner some 150 members of Harold W. Merrill post, American Legion; Harley P. Chase post, Veterans of Foreign Wars; British-Colonial Great War Veterans and Robert Brucker camp, Spanish American War Veterans. An entertainment by stars from Boston and Providence closed the evening.

Miss Helen B. Healy, a public school teacher, died in Providence Tuesday night at the home of her sister, Mrs. John W. Fanning. She had been ill only since last Wednesday. Miss Healy was born in Westerly, the daughter of Patrick and Nancy Healy. She spent the greater part of her life here. Surviving her are five sisters Mrs. Julia McGrath, Mrs. Annie Morrison, and Miss Katherine T. Healy, of Westerly, and Mrs. John W. Fanning and Miss Dela Healy, of Providence.

He is survived by his wife, four daughters, Mary Zawistowski, Mrs. Josephine Dowzynaski, Mrs. Julia Minsky, Mrs. Louniee Mioduoszewski, and by a son Anthony Zawistowski. He leaves nineteen grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Friends in Jewett City and Lisbon of Mrs. Annette Willcox will be sorry to learn of her serious illness. She is in Hackensack hospital, N. J., where she has been a patient for a month.

Ernest Larkin entered Backus hospital Wednesday afternoon and will be operated upon for appendicitis this (Thursday) morning. The young man has not been well for several weeks.

COLCHESTER

The annual meeting of the borough of Colchester was held in the parlor of the engine house Tuesday at 2 p. m. F. E. Baker was chairman and Wm. E. Adams clerk. The annual reports of the warden and treasurer were read and approved. A four mill tax was levied for the coming year. It was voted to install a telephone at the fire station, to be used only in case of fire. The steward has a room in the fire station and in case of fire he is called by telephone, sounds the alarm on the siren and has the engine ready to start at once, thereby saving valuable minutes over the present system. Several other improvements were voted.

Mrs. Josephine Agranovitch was in Hartford Monday.

Fred O. Brown has returned from a week's business trip in Canada.

The following is the schedule of baseball games for Bacon academy team this season: May 9th, Killingly at Killingly; May 16th, Old Lyme at Colchester; May 25th, Putnam at Colchester; May 30th, Lebanon at Colchester; June 2d, Lebanon at Lebanon; June 6th, Killingly at Colchester; June 12th, Old Lyme at Old Lyme. Putnam and Old Lyme are new teams for the academy. The team is putting in hard work practicing on the park grounds afternoons under the coaching of Mr. Goodrich the coach, and the outlook is bright for some snappy games this season.

Mr. and Mrs. John Powers and son of Norwich were calling on friends in town Tuesday.

Marshall J. Porter of South Windham, a former conductor on the branch railroad, called on local friends Monday.

Charles A. Daniels of North Stonington was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Higgins Tuesday.

Wm. Hyman of Norwich was in town Tuesday.

Greetings to John F. Stevens, president of the American Society of Civ Engineers and chief engineer in charg of the Panama Canal in 1905-07.

EVERY MUSICAL SHOW IN NEW YORK USES LUX to double the life of stockings

Silk and net costumes, organdie hats, extra-long chiffon stockings—all must be sparkling to make this gay chorus from Ziegfeld's "Rosalie" so adorable! Marilyn Miller, center

STOCKINGS that shimmer in the brilliant glow of the footlights—what critical scrutiny they receive! What strenuous wear!

Every woman knows what a problem it is to keep stockings new-looking — and how vitally important, when stockings cost so much.

New York's musical shows face this same problem, magnified many times over!

Wardrobe mistresses must keep thousands of dollars' worth of stockings in perfect condition. And make them last!

To find the safest way to wash silk stockings, different methods have been tried.

And the fact is disclosed that stockings washed in Lux wear twice as long! Give twice as many performances as those laundered by other methods!

This means so much in dollars and cents to the producers of New York's dazzling musical shows, that they now insist upon Lux.

They all do it

So the wardrobe mistress of every musical show in New York—without exception—specifies Lux for washing silk stockings. They buy it in the blue package you yourself buy—Lux is never sold in bulk.

MRS. BEATRICE CONIFF

wardrobe mistress with Shubert productions, says "Garter runs are more to be feared than any other stocking trouble. Anything which weakens the fabric must be avoided. That is why our laundresses use only Lux." The Shubert general manager adds: "We would use Lux if it cost $1.00 a box, for it cuts our stocking bills in half."

FAY ADLER AND TED BRADFORD

sensational dancers with the "Merry Malones." Ballet frills and satin skirts, alike, are kept new-looking with Lux, in the Cohan productions. No hosiery gets harder wear than the stockings danced to night after night—yet every musical show doubles the life of its stockings, saves money, by cleansing with safe, pure Lux.

WOMEN EVERYWHERE use Lux for silk stockings, as do the wardrobe mistresses of Broadway. Women know rubbing with cake soap may fade lovely colors—that many soaps (whether flakes, chips or cakes) contain harmful alkali that weakens fibres. So they make sure of extra wear—with Lux.

SENSATIONAL BUYING OF RAILROAD SHARES FEATURED STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 25—(AP)—A sensational buying movement in the railroad shares, based on unconfirmed rumors of important decisions in the eastern trunk line consolidation plan, overshadowed all other developments in today's stock market. Gains of three to 20 points were distributed among a broad list of rails, while New York & Harlem, changing hands in small lots, soared 187 points to 450 and closed ten points below the top.

The average of 20 leading rails compiled by the Associated Press, advanced nearly four points to a new high record for all time at 153.92.

Despite the absence of official comment, Wall street apparently took for granted reports that L. F. Loree finally had acquiesced to the four trunk line plan and had agreed to turn control of the Delaware & Hudson to the Pennsylvania and accept a $5 guarantee on Wabash common stock. Delaware & Hudson soared more than 11 points to a new high at 224 3-4 and closed within a fraction of the top, and Wabash was bid up 12 points to a new peak at 89 3-4 and then eased to 88 1-4.

New York Central, which is expected to issue valuable stock subscription rights before the end of the year, was pushed up nearly seven points to a new peak at 187. Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian Pacific, Chicago & Northwestern, "Big Four," "Nickel Plate," Pere Marquette, Pittsburgh & West Virginia, Reading, Lackawanna, Lehigh Valley, Louisville & Nashville, "Soo" preferred, Missouri Pacific common and preferred, Texas & Pacific and Western Maryland advanced three to ten points. Jersey Central soared 15 points to a record high at 315, but lost five points of its gain. A score of others advanced one to three points.

Industrials were mixed, but mainly higher. There was little in the day's trade news to influence the price movement. The weekly steel reviews indicated a falling off in production and an easing price tendency, particularly for finished steel. There was no change in the credit situation, although an undercurrent of uneasiness was still apparent over the possibility of an increase in the New York federal reserve bank rediscount rate after the close of the market tomorrow. Call money was in plentiful supply all day at the renewal figure of 5 per cent and there was no change in time money and commercial paper.

Oils gave one of the best demonstrations of group strength in the industrial list on buying influenced by stiffening gasoline prices. Atlantic Refining was bid up more than six points to a new high at 132 3-8. Richfield Oil of California again was heavily bought on reports that negotiations were under way for the sale of the property to one of the large independent companies, moving up more than two points to within a fraction of the year's high. Mexican Seaboard ran up to another new high at 33 3-4, but lost most of its gain on realizing. Advance Rumely shares each advanced about ten points to new high records and striking gains were recorded by some of the express, fertilizer, food and insurance issues.

New York Tractions, which had been bought in anticipation of a federal court decision granting the application of the Interborough for a seven-cent fare, turned weak for no apparent reason. Heaviness also was quite pronounced in Greene Cananea Copper, Liquid Carbonic, Postum Cereal and Standard Milling.

Foreign exchanges were reactionary, sterling cables easing slightly to around $4.85, with minor recessions in most of the continental rates.

Sharp advances in wheat and cotton futures, based on unfavorable weather reports, featured the commodity markets. Wheat advanced 3 to nearly 4 cents a bushel on reports that the southwest was in danger of a drought and that the west was suffering from low temperatures. Cotton advanced $1.25 to nearly $2.50 a bale. Sugar quotations held steady while coffee futures sagged 12 to 23 points.

AGAIN ATLANTIC ST. RESTAURANT, NEW LONDON, IS RAIDED FOR HOOCH

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 25.—Daniel J Reidy was arrested this afternoon, charged with violation of the liquor law, and is being held in bail of $1000 for his appearance in the police court tomorrow. Reidy is employed at the so-called restaurant, 21 Atlantic street, and which place is a speak-easy, for practically only men seeking liquor patronize the place. The store has long been known to be a drink distributing place and only about two months ago, Rocco Genivella, owner of the business, was arrested and fined charged with violation of the liquor law. Throughout this morning and early this afternoon the police observed a constant stream of men entering and leaving the "restaurant" and as most of them were known to be frequenters of booze houses, it was decided to raid the place. Detective Sergeant John Cavanaugh, Acting Sergeant William Graham and Patrolman Clarence Wells went to the building made a rush for the door and were inside the store before Reidy, who was behind the bar, realized that a raid was in progress. Reidy had a pitcher of liquor beneath the bar and he attempted to dispose of it by emptying the liquor in a sink, but he was only partially successful, for the officers seized the receptacle and saved a small amount of the booze, which is of the home-made brand. A search of the building revealed the hiding place of a bottle of liquor and this was also seized as additional evidence.

CAPT. ANDREWS TO SPEAK AT THE D. A. R. LUNCHEON

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 25.—At the annual luncheon of Lucretia Shaw chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, to be held tomorrow at the Hotel Mohican at 1:30 o'clock Captain Adolphus Andrews, commandant of the submarine base, will be the principal speaker. State and national officers are to be guests. Violin solos will be given by Miss Roberta Bitwood, accompanied by Miss Loretta Muhname.

Chapman Tech High School Alumni association plans to hold its annual dance on June 15. The date was fixed at a meeting of nine classes of the school. The committee appointed to arrange for the affair is: Donald Smith, chairman, Miss Marjorie Manion, Miss Ruth Foggett, Miss Ruth Everts, John J DeGange and John R Wylie. Prof. Frederick S. Hitchcock, principal of the school, was present at the meeting.

Detective Sergeant Nelson Smith this morning began a tour of the state in search for Arthur Bradford, who escaped Tuesday in Hartford while he was being brought to this city to answer charges of passing worthless checks.

Sergeant Smith will take two days in his search for the fugitive and is hopeful of again taking him into custody.

Student bodies at Connecticut college held a meeting last night in the school gymnasium, turned in reports for the year and held an election of officers. The meeting was called to order by Miss Eleanor Fahey, '29, of Boston, new president of the student government association. The yearly report was made by Miss Elizabeth Butler, '31, of Englewood, N. J. The entire evening was devoted to business.

Members of the Sorores club held a meeting last night at the Y M C. A for the purpose of laying plans for the activities of the organization for May and June. Readings will be held weekly until the end of June. Those present at the meeting were: Mrs William Payne, Jean Anderson, Grace Moody, Marjorie Manon, Esther Lindenstein, Mrs. Alexander McPhail, Helen Carley, Gladys Leighton, Isabel Greig, Emma Ford and Mary Johnson.

Four hundred and ninety-three signatures have been obtained to the petition for referendum, requesting the city council to either rescind its action in appropriating a possible sum of $18,000 to defray the expenses of the office of the recently appointed tax collector, Hibbard N. Alexander, or to place the matter before the voters of the city for approval. The law requires that ten per cent. of the number of electors be on such a petition. This would call for about 370 names, but the persons presenting the paper decided to secure a comfortable margin, in order no question could arise over its legality. The list will be presented to the council at its next meeting, one week from next Monday. The act of the council in allowing a four and one-half per cent. commission to Mr Alexander on the collection of all back taxes has met with the strongest kind of opposition and it is felt that the public is very much in favor of the referendum.

New London Aerie, No. 594, Order of Eagles, is to hold its meeting May 11. Plans are being made for a banquet after the business session on that date. One application for membership was received at a meeting held last night.

Mrs. Seth Gross, 533 Montauk avenue; Thomas Chaney, 626 Montauk avenue; Virginia Lekoski, Groton; Mrs Michael Hallisey, 499 Williams street and Mrs Joseph Nichols, Groton, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital were discharged today.

Archibald S. MacFarlane has sold a house and lot on Chappell street to Lena E Impelleteri.

Silas Maxson, Jr., has sold a house and lot on Riverview avenue to Louise Menzie.

James F. Sherwood, submarine base, was arrested last night by Patrolman John Sullivan, charged with violation of the state motor vehicle law, but he was not in the police court today, his hearing being set for tomorrow. Sherwood was arrested when driving an automobile and had neither license nor registration. Sherwood was released upon furnishing a surety on his bond of $50.

The Riddell family, of Hartford, have opened their residence corner of Neptune and Elliott avenues, Ocean Beach and will reside there until the latter part of September.

Patrolman George McCaskey in making his rounds on Bank street last night, discovered the front entrance to the building, 369, and used by the city as a clinic, unlocked. The officer succeeded in securing the building for the balance of the night.

Detective Sergeant John Cavanaugh this afternoon rounded up a gang of about a dozen youths, who have been doing damage to property. The youths were turned over to Assistant Probation Officer Alfred McDougall.

There was no session of the police court today, but one will be held Thursday. A fellow, who was found staggering all over the sidewalk on North Bank street this afternoon, was arrested by Patrolman Clarence Wells.

The annual ladies' night of Pioneer Hose company, Groton, was held in I O O. F. hall Tuesday night, with over 200 in attendance, who were served a turkey dinner by Home Rebekah lodge. After the banquet the party enjoyed a minstrel show gotten up under the management of Frank Silva. Musical numbers were arranged by Herbert Hart. Herbert Whitt was interlocutor. Over fifty were in the cast. After the show there was dancing.

Announcement was made today of the organization of the Metropolitan Finance Corporation, this city, with an authorized capital stock of $50,000 consisting of 5000 shares of stock at a $100 par value. The incorporators are Hattie Nathan and Samuel Harris, of 327 Ocean avenue. The new company will engage in the buying and selling of real estate and will finance mortgages and all business pertinent to such transactions.

Members of Brainard circle are making plans for the annual meeting May 22. A meeting was held yesterday afternoon in Brainard temple and Mrs Elisha B Payne was chosen chairman of the banquet which will follow the business meeting. Before the meeting it is planned to hold a whist party at the Doric club. After the meeting of yesterday a social hour was enjoyed by the members and refreshments were served by Mrs Clarence W. Perkins, Mrs. Charles L. Hadley, Mrs. Frederick J. Fielding and Mrs. John Mathewson.

BRANFORD FARMS FOREMAN ACCUSED OF STRANGE THEFTS

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, April 25—James K. Shaughnessy, employed at Branford Farms, Eastern Point, was arrested today by state police officers from Groton barracks, charged with larceny. He will be in the Groton court Monday next, in the meantime, Shaughnessy is at liberty under bail of $500. Shaughnessy was arrested following the disappearance of a brood of chickens and while he is accused of theft of the chicks, he is also accused of the theft of lumber and other property from the Griswold Hotel corporation, owner of the farms.

City Treasurer Herbert J. Huntley abandoned his duties temporarily this afternoon, for within a few days he will become a benedict, when he weds Miss Elsa Bachert, typist in the law office of Arthur B. Calkins. This afternoon Mr. Huntley was tendered a purse of gold by employes of the municipal building, the presentation being made by City Manager William A. Holt in the presence of employes of the building.

The sublime degree of master Mason was exemplified in short form at Brainard lodge, A. F. & A. M., last night. Worshipful Master Ellery N. Edwards and his assistants were in charge of the ceremony. Before the work of the lodge a short social session was held.

In an effort to incite interest in the Boy Scout movement, the Public Library of New London has purchased a complete file of the new Merit Badge pamphlets, and scouts desiring to secure them can do so. The object of the author of these pamphlets is to give scouts first-hand instructions as to the procedure of study necessary to gain the knowledge required to pass the test. The set is composed of 75 pamphlets.

Circle No. 3 of the First Baptist church plans to hold a grocery shower for the benefit of needy families of New London. This was decided at a meeting of the organization held at the home of Mrs. Henry S. Schlink, of Waterford. After the business of the evening refreshments were served by Mrs. Schlink and Mrs. Earl H. Beebe.

A surprise party in celebration of her birthday was tendered Mrs. Alphonse A. Martin last night at her home on Central avenue. Twenty-three attended the affair.

At a card party for the benefit of the Catholic Women's club, of this city, Mrs. John Holland will be in charge.

Members of the Lady Aberdeen lodge, Daughters of Scotia, and Clan Cameron, Order of the Scottish Clans, had a dance at Union lodge rooms last night. Over 75 persons attended. Both lodges held a short business session before the social began.

The Faire Harbour club held its April luncheon at the club house yesterday. Over 50 persons attended the affair. After the luncheon members present held a short business meeting which was followed by a session of bridge. Eight tables were in play and the prize winner was Mrs. John P Saunders.

At the April meeting of the W. C. T U., last night, at the Y. W. C. A., members listened to an unusually interesting account of the history of the association, delivered by Mrs. Frank A. Comstock, of Williams street. Others who espoused the cause of prohibition by reading clippings from the papers of the country were: Mrs. Amanda Rogers, Miss Emily Garde, Mrs. Abbie Thompson, Mrs. William D. Rodgers, Mrs. Josephine Albee, Mrs Elwood, Mrs. William Gaskill, Mrs. William Jones and Mrs. Sophie Wilcox. Mrs George P. Fenner, who was one of the early sponsors of the local W. C. T U., told in a very interesting manner of the way in which she had seen the organization grow to form a part of the strong national prohibition movement. Twenty-four members attended the meeting.

A private dance is to be held tomorrow night at Mercer hall by members of Groton Tennis club. Music will be by the Rainbow Music Boys.

The O. G. club of the First Church of Christ held a meeting last night at the parish house with supper, music and games. Those present were: Helen Egger, Sally Booth, Margaret Campbell, Charles Hansen, Georgina Mark, Margaret Ferell and Muriel Morrison.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Strand Theatre.

Tonight is the last showing of "The Gay Old Bird" at the Strand and we must say that it is all that it was heralded to be and more. Louise Fazenda, in a decided variation of her slavey type, keeps the house in a roar. The complications include Louise's becoming the mistress of the house while still the maid; being stormed by a barrage of twins of all sorts and conditions; beholding her beloved Irish beau, in a fit of jealousy, during which he aims at the gay old bird himself, being saved from homicide only by the deft wits of Rasenda, who has been the midst of such a whirlwind of events, that her head swims and she reels dizzily. In the supporting cast are John T. Murray and Ed. Kennedy, to say nothing of several pair of twins who do their bit towards the merriment of the occasion.

"Between Dangers" is a thrilling western picture with plenty of action, starring Buddy Roosevelt. The story centers around Tom Rawlins (Buddy Roosevelt) and his attempts to get possession of the ranch willed to him by his uncle. He is sand-bagged and his identification papers stolen by crooks one of whom impersonates him in order to get the ranch. Tom, however, follows them up and in spite of many obstacles, wins out both in war and love.

"Signs of Spring" is a beautiful pictured color scenic.

Palace Theatre.

When the list of the best pictures of 1928 is made up, "Three Sinners," Pola Negri's latest starring vehicle for Paramount, which will be the screen attraction at the Palace theatre today, tomorrow and Friday, will have a prominent place at the top.

"Three Sinners" has all the elements of popularity and, considered from every angle—plot, direction, acting, production and photography—is the embodiment of perfect screen entertainment.

Directed by Rowland V. Lee, "Three Sinners" is the story of what happens to a beautiful young wife when she makes one fatal mistake. Happy in her home, loving her husband, adoring her child, Pola Negri as the Countess Gerda Wallentin, in an unlucky moment, goes for an automobile ride with another man. Then comes the whirlwind and the reaping is a life-time of remorse, with happiness won after suffering and hardship.

It is safe to say that the average film fans will say that Pola Negri in her characterization of Gerda Wallentin, eclipses anything she has done before. It is a part to which she lends both beauty and skill and is the type of character which she interprets just a bit better than anyone else we can think of.

The vaudeville bill for Thursday, Friday and Saturday is of exceptional merit and is one that will please the most exacting theatregoer. Small's Debutantes are the headliners, with seven attractive girls in an unusual song and dance revue. Wheeler and Potter offer a pleasing comedy skit entitled "Once But Not Twice." Henry and Farnsworth put plenty of laughs in their hit called "Hokeology With Dressing." Tyler and St. Clair have an entertaining xylophone number and Jack Ryan the popular singer, shows the smartest style in song.

Breed Theatre.

Dewitt Jennings, recognized as one of the greatest character actors the legitimate stage has ever known, now is claiming moving pictures as his very own. A few years ago Jennings forsook the stage to play his first screen role. He has appeared since in a number of different characterizations and has come to consider the movies as his real field. His most recent important role is in F. B. O.'s epic of the U. S. Marines, "The Great Mail Robbery," to be shown at the Breed theatre, starting tomorrow for a run of two days. Jennings' role in this production is entirely different than anything he has ever attempted before, but his performance is lauded by critics as most praiseworthy.

Burton's Agency Sells Another.

Wilfred and Ada White have sold to H. Earl and Elizabeth DeWolfe their farm located on the Gardners Lake road in the town of Montville.

The place contains 60 acres and a ix room cottage with outbuildings.

The sale was negotiated through the real estate agency of Mrs. Ross E Burton.

A woman doesn't like to be flattered because she thinks she needs it.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

McEnelly's Orchestra.

The appearance of the McEnelly Orchestra at the State armory which has been definitely fixed for Monday, April 30, is expected to create a great deal of lively interest among the lovers of dancing in this community as well as among the masses of people who enjoy hearing modern syncopated melodies rendered by a first class orchestra. The work of this orchestra is not confined to dance music but includes vocal solos and choruses of musical hits which are said to be rendered in a distinctive manner which edify imitation. The McEnelly Orchestra is well known throughout the country as celebrated recording artists for the Victor Phonograph company, and its dance records have been played in thousands of homes. As broadcasting artists over WBZ, this orchestra has also played to vast audiences and its popularity is attested by thousands of letters and telegrams which have been received from Radio fans all over the country. In addition to being splendid artists in dance music the McEnelly Orchestra is said to be all that could be desired in the field of fascinating and absorbing musical entertainment. In presenting this popular attraction it has undoubtedly been the purpose of the management to provide an entertainment of such variety and excellence that those who come to hear or those who come to dance to their music will be well repaid.

So. N. E. Telephone Co.

To provide adequate facilities reasonably well in advance of the increasing demand for telephone service in this city, the Southern New England Telephone company will spend about $155,000 on plant extensions and betterments in the Norwich exchange during the current year. This announcement has been made by Exchange Manager H. S. Lyon.

The growth of Norwich's population and the consequent increase in the commercial, industrial and social uses of the telephone is indicated by the announced plans of the company to enlarge the local plant. Generally speaking, telephone development is a splendid barometer of the business activities of any community and it is evident from the way in which this city has grown telephonically that it is also expanding in other ways, notably as a trade center for those who live in nearby towns.

"How Norwich has grown in the past ten years," said Manager Lyon "is evidenced by the increase in the number of telephones in use in this exchange durink that period. At the end of 1916 there were 3,487 telephones in the Norwich exchange, while at the close of 1926 there were 6,000 telephones in service here. This is a net gain of nearly 100 per cent. during the ten year period and that, as reflecting our growing business activity, is something of which the city has a right to be proud. There are about 6,400 telephones here now and the estimated net gain for 1928 is 280.

"And Norwich people use their telephones, too. On an average day there are about 27,700 orginating calls, made up of 26,400 local calls, 700 A-B calls, which are calls between different cities that are handled like local calls, and about 600 toll calls.

"The management has made plans to undertake construction work in the Norwich exchange this year, which will involve an expenditure of about $155,000. This will be distributed as follows: Exchange aerial and underground cable, $77,000; subscribers' station equipment, $24,000; central office equipment, about $15,000; toll cable, $18,000; wire and miscellaneous jobs, $36,000.

"These expenditures represent only the cost of material and the labor of construction and do not include any amount to be spent for the maintenance of existing plant.

"Norwich is growing rapidly and the telephone company not only wishes to grow with it, but by keeping a jump or two ahead of the city's telephone needs, it seriously tries to help the city to grow."

Because of the icy condition of the sidewalks one morning in Marlboro, which made people late for work, a manufacturing company there posted a notice to the effect that in the future under such conditions the plant would not open until 10 o'clock.

Terrible Eczema Goes Quickly

Strong, Powerful Yet Safe. Surgeon's Prescription Called Moone's Emerald Oil Has Astonished Physicians.

Here is a surgeon's wonderful prescription now dispensed by pharmacists at trifling cost, that will do more toward helping you get rid of unsightly spots and skin diseases than anything you've ever used.

In skin diseases its action is little less than magical. The itching of Eczema is instantly stopped, the eruptions dry up and scale off in a very few days. The same is true of barbers' itch, salt rheum and other irritating and unsightly skin troubles.

You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle at any modern drug store. It is safe to use and failure in any of the ailments noted above is next to impossible. All druggists can supply you at any time.

World's greatest Value and Outselling all sixes

The world's largest sale of 6-cylinder cars' name an Essex achievement solely because of merit.

All 6-cylinder sales records are swept aside in the enthusiastic reception everywhere accorded the New Essex Super-Six. Many communities report 100%, 200%, even 300% greater sales than for the corresponding period of last year, which was the former all-time Essex record.

In all ways the New Essex Super-Six is engineered to the lowest operation and maintenance costs. And increasing thousands of owners rolling up thousands of miles of service prove that these qualities which delight you on your first ride are just as lasting as they are brilliant.

NOTICE AND WARNING OF SPECIAL CITY MEETING OF THE CITY OF NORWICH TO BE HELD APRIL 26, 1928.

MAYOR'S OFFICE

City of Norwich, Connecticut

The electors of The City of Norwich in the State of Connecticut are hereby warned to meet in Special City Meeting in the Town Hall in the Court House Building in said City of Norwich, Conn., on Thursday, the 26th day of April, A. D. 1928, at eight o'clock in the evening, standard time, for the following objects and purposes, viz:

1. To determine whether or not the Court of Common Council of said City shall be authorized to appropriate a sum of money not to exceed thirty thousand dollars for the erection of a city barn and buildings for the Public Works Department of the City on land owned by the City located on Brook and Baltic streets.
2. To determine whether or not the Court of Common Council of said City shall be authorized to appropriate a sum of money not to exceed thirty thousand dollars out of the Gas and Electrical Funds of the City for the purchase by the Gas and Electrical Department of the City of the present City Barn real estate of the City, for a City Gas and Electrical office building or building site, such sum to be paid into the general funds of the City to meet any appropriation made by the City for a new city barn.
3. To determine whether or not said meeting will authorize and sanction the borrowing by the City on or after May 16, 1928, from time to time in anticipation of taxes, of a sum of money not to exceed sixty thousand dollars, on notes or certificates of indebtedness of said City for the purpose of raising the money necessary to meet the necessary expenditures of the City during the coming fiscal year of the City until after the annual City Meeting and the council meeting to be held in June, 1928, and to determine the time within which repayment shall be made of the sums or sums so to be borrowed; and to determine whether or not the Court of Common Council shall be authorized to appropriate a sum not to exceed sixty thousand dollars for the necessary expenditures of the City during the coming fiscal year of the City from May 16, 1928, until after the annual City Meeting and Council Meeting to be held in June, 1928.
4. To determine whether or not the Court of Common Council of said City shall be authorized to appropriate a sum of money not to exceed six thousand dollars for the purpose of an investigation and study of the question of the disposal of the City's sewage in view of the laws and policy of the State concerning the pollution of waterways.
5. To determine whether or not said meeting will authorize and sanction the borrowing of a sum of money by the City to be determined by said meeting, but not to exceed the sum of six thousand dollars, on certificates of indebtedness of said City for the purpose of raising the money necessary to meet the appropriation that may be authorized by said meeting for the purpose of an investigation and study of the question of the disposal of the City's sewage in view of the laws and policy of the State concerning the pollution of waterways; such sum so authorized to be borrowed, to be borrowed upon such terms and conditions as the Court of Common Council of said City shall determine.
6. To determine whether or not the City shall take all necessary steps for the enactment of a new charter for said City.
7. To determine whether or not the meeting will authorize and direct the Court of Common Council of said City to enact a suitable building and plumbing code and ordinance for the electric wiring of the buildings of said City.
8. To conclude and determine whether or not said City shall petition the next General Assembly of this State for the annexation of any or all of the Town of Norwich to said City, making the City lines co-extensive with the town lines with an equitable and fair adjustment of taxation by the creation of tax districts or otherwise with due and proper credits for all public utilities and public improvements owned by private corporations within the Town.
9. For the discussion and action by said special city meeting of any subject matter or thing touching its government, the health of its citizens, the administration of its affairs, the preparation of its annual budget and its general welfare.

Dated at Norwich, Connecticut, April 18th, 1928.

The Dandelion

Gay little dandelion
Lights up the meads!
Swings on her slender foot,
Telleth her beads,
Lists to the robin's notes
Poured from above;
Wise little dandelion
Cares not for love.

Cold lie the daisy banks
Clad but in green,
Where in the May agone
Bright hues were seen.
Wild pinks are slumbering
Violets delay,
True little dandelion
Guileth the May.

Brave little dandelion!
Fast falls the snow!
Bending the daffodils
Haughty head low;
Under the fleecy tent,
Careless of cold,
Blithe little dandelion
Counteth her gold.

Meek little dandelion
Groweth more fair,
Till dries the summer dew
Out of her hair.
Bright rides the thirsty sun,
Fiercely and high;

WELDING

The Modern Metal Surgeon

A welded part is as strong or stronger than a new one and the cost for welding is always nominal. There is no delay. Welding requires no enforced idleness while broken or worn parts are being replaced from a long distance. Everything of metal can be repaired. Small parts are re-made while you wait. Large and heavy equipment can usually be welded in place often without dismantling the machinery.
No job is too big or too small to be economically welded.

DOES YOUR AUTO LOOK AS BRIGHT AS WHEN PURCHASED

There is no need to drive an automobile these day that does not look as bright and shiny as the day it was purchased. Right here in Norwich is a place where your car can be refinished and made to look as good as new.

The General Auto Paint Shop at 384 West Main street, telephone 762, makes a specialty of putting a perfect lacquer finish on automobiles and hundreds of automobile owners have patronized this shop since it was opened in 1913. In 1913 it was the policy of the General Auto Paint Shop management to do excellent work. This same policy is being followed today. No car leaves this shop without first passing the inspection of the management and the job must be correct or it will be refinished to make it so.

Besides specializing in refinishing automobiles the shop also has men expert in straightening and repairing automobile bodies and fenders. With such a shop located in Norwich there is now no need for any automobile owners to drive cars which do not look their best at all times.

Call 762 and let us tell you about our work or drive over an see us. We will be pleased to look your car over, offer suggestions, and, if you so desire, quote you prices on the work necessary to bring your car back to that brand new appearance.

IS YOUR LAWN SHOWING THAT FINE SPRING APPEARANCE

At this season of the year the lawns about your house demand attention. Spring days are the ones best suited for repairing and replanting those "bald spots" that ruin the looks of your lawns.

The Eldredge Hardware company of 65 Water street carries Velvet Lawn Seed, the seed which is guaranteed to make your lawn one to be envied by others. There is nothing about your property which tends more to enhance its beauty than a good velvet-like lawn. A poorly planted lawn gives trouble continuously and is an eyesore to you and your neighbors. Lawns planted with Velvet Lawn Seed look like velvet and are things of which to be proud. Why not drop in some day soon and let us tell you about this splendid lawn seed.

Of course the Eldredge Hardware company sells all kinds of hardware and the prices for first class tools, etc., are always reasonable. If you need implements or tools of any kind why not let us quote you prices before you purchase. It costs you nothing to get our prices, but it may be the means of saving you dollars.

Money once invested in poor equipment is as good as thrown away. Everything we sell has the Eldredge guarantee back of it. This alone means much to you and when a company backs its goods it means only one thing—that it has pride enough in the things it sells to make its reputation on giving satisfaction.

Where Quality and Service are the Watchword

WHY NOT TRY THE NEW CHANDLERS BEFORE YOU BUY?

At this time of the year the thought uppermost in the minds of many people is the new car they are going to buy during 1926. We do not claim to have all the automobiles for sale that there are on the market, but the Dolco Garage of 110 West Thames street, phone 2365 has the popular and well liked Chadler cars to offer for sale.

When you are considering the purchase of a new automobile there are many things which should be taken into consideration other than the looks of the body or the many fancy and pretty trimmings within the car. The most important thing about any automobile is the mechanism, the moving parts. These things are out of sight underneath a beautifully finished exterior.

The Chandler motor has been built for service. It has been built to give the maximum of service with the minimum of attention and repairs. Here is the point the Dolco Garage uses to gain the confidence of its patrons. Of course we realize that outside appearances must also be neat and in keeping with the latest improvements in the motor industry. Chandler cars are noted for their beauty of lines, but they are also noted for the famous motor that gives service unseen.

Do not buy a car from outside appearances alone. Be sure that you get a demonstration, a real test of the car. This test is the guarantee of the Dolco Garage and if we fail to convince you that the Chandler is the car you should buy at least we have the satisfaction of knowing that we have demonstrated our car and have given you a real chance to judge its ability.

Phone 2365 and ask for a demonstration and a representative of this company will be pleased to show you why the Chandler sells so well in Norwich, and why Chandler repeat orders keep this company to the fore among agencies in Norwich.

IF YOU NEED ANY SAND OR GRAVEL CALL O. H. MAIN

At this season of the year when many new house owners are planning to finish grading their properties, O. H. Main of Hamilton avenue, Phone 2767, is the man to get in touch with. Mr. Main will be only too glad to quote you prices on sand, gravel, stone or wood.

If you have not already built your home but find that there is filling in to be done Mr. Main can supply you with the needed gravel or sand.

Perhaps you have cement work to do and need a good grade of sand for the work. This is the place where Mr. Main can serve your wants. Good sand and prices that are right will be furnished those who need the materials mentioned.

Before purchasing sand, gravel, stone or wood for your work why not put in a call to 2767 and secure his prices. You will save money by doing so and in the bargain you receive the best quality of materials with which to do your work.

THIS NORWICH FIRM CAN HANDLE YOUR MOVING JOB

If you are planning to move in the near future perhaps it would be well for you to get in touch with John H. Ford, Phone 80 Norwich. This company makes a specialty of moving work, another large and modern moving van having only recently been added to the fleet. Whether it is a short haul or a long distance job the Ford company stands ready to quote you prices and also to guarantee that the moving job will be done in excellent manner, your goods handled wit the utmost of care and delivered at your new home without the least sign of damage.

Besides light work, John H. Ford does machinery moving and carting. Why waste your time trying to crate things securely. It is the work of a practiced crater and moving man and can best be handled by them. Machinery runs into money fast and a poorly crated piece of machinery may be badly damaged because of poor crating. Crating by a Ford representative means real crating and it is a stamp of security on your merchandise or machinery.

Local and long distance moving and light and heavy teaming are also carried on by this company and their word stands back of every moving contract. There are many people who have had Ford do their moving work for them and these people will be only too glad to recommend the John H. Ford company to you.

ROTHMAN-MOPSIK ARE EXPERT LADIES' TAILORS

Rothman and Mopsik, expert ladies' tailors and furriers of 177 Main street, are prepared today to begin work on summer costumes for women.

Rothman and Mopsik measure every patron. Each line of the garment is figured in advance and cuts are made for that pirticular person. As the suit progresses more measurements are taken and when the garment is finished it is for that one person and for no one else.

For the lady who would be well dressed this feature cannot be ignored. Ill fitting suits do not bring out the beauty of the figure. Tailor made suits do bring out the beauty of the figure and that is why they are in demand by women who are well dressed.

Besides the tailoring of suits and garments Rothman and Mopsik also are expert furriers. They suggest that you bring in your furs and let them look them over and make necessary repairs. Slight rips or worn places now, may soon become too large to repair and thus a valuable fur piece is destroyed. A slight alteration or repair now may be the means of saving many dollars.

GREENEVILLE

ACCEPT RESIGNATION OF REV. J. REES JONES, RECTOR

At a special meeting of the wardens and vestrymen of St. Andrew's Episcopal church Wednesday evening in the parish house the resignation of Rev. John Rees Jones, rector, was accepted by them. His resignation was presented to William J. Banfield, senior warden of the church, Wednesday, April 18th. Rev. Mr. Jones is to leave Greeneville within a short time for his new pastorate in Danielson and Brooklyn.

Rev. Mr. Jones has for the past two and one half years been the rector of the church and has been invited to become the rector of St. Alban's church, Danielson and Trinity church, Brooklyn, Conn. As a result of the call Rev. Mr. Jones has handed in his resignation which was acted on last evening.

Rev. Mr. Jones will succeed Rev. Leonard L. Richards, the latter having accepted a call in Pomfret. Due to the fact that the church at Danielson is only a short distance away from the church at Brooklyn the people of that section have only one rector for both churches. Rev. Jones, his wife and two children have made many friends in the Greeneville section since he has assumed the position of rector of St. Andrew's church. Rev. Jones and his family came here from Canada.

Mrs. William Mallon has returned to her home on Convent avenue after spending a few days with relatives in New London.

The Greeneville H. I. club of the Ladies auxiliary, No. 18, A. O. H., held its third annual banquet in the Buckingham Memorial Tuesday evening with a record attendance. The banquet room had been decorated with streamers of red, white and blue and the tables were trimmed very beautifully with the colors of the auxiliary, green, gold and white. As the members were about to be seated Miss May Nolan presented to Mrs. Mary D. Sullivan in behalf of the members present a basket of flowers in which was concealed a pair of kid gloves. Mrs. Sullivan while greatly surprised thanked the ladies in a very fitting manner. She then called on Miss Mary E. Hartee, the former president, to ask grace and she complied in her usual gracious way. Mrs. Berkoff catered and the following delicious menu was provided.

Fruit Cup
Tomato Bisque with Whipped Cream
Crackers
Celery Radishes Rolls
Roast Turkey Mashed Potatoes
Mashed Turnips
Peas with Carrots
Ice Cream Assorted Cakes Coffee

After dinner, Miss May Nolan took charge of the games and dances which followed. All took part in the Virginia Reel. Mrs. Catherine Keenan and Mrs. Edward Sullivan danced an Irish jig and Mrs. Marguerite O'Shea and Mrs. Mary Sabourin gave an exhibition of the black bottom. Songs were rendered by Mrs. Sullivan and Mrs. Quinn and several recitations were given by other members. For the marching and dancing Miss Nellie Gleason was at the piano and accompanied the singers. The evening came to a close at a late hour, the members voting it one of the most pleasantest gatherings ever held. The arrangements were in general charge of Miss Mary K. Carroll assisted by Mrs. Mary McNally and Mrs. Anna Niles.

TAFTVILLE

Napoleon J. Benoit, of Merchants avenue, has accepted a position with a Norwich sign painting concern.

Leon Solomon, of New London, was visiting friends in the village on Wednesday.

Miss Mary Nolan presided at the weekly meeting of the members of St. Veronica's T. A. and B. society held Wednesday evening at the society's rooms on Providence street. There was a large attendance and several routine business matters were considered.

Mrs. Peter Feld, of Paterson, N. J., is the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Heibel, Jr., and family, of Blissville.

Postmaster Edward Adams has posted in a conspicuous place in the local postoffice the American Forest week proclamation of President Coolidge.

It was stated Wednesday by a prominent member of the Taftville Rod and Gun club that the members were having a great deal of success with trout in the large, wide open brooks but well wooded brooks are not yielding such catches to the angler. Because of the state's activities in stocking the nearby streams, trout are very plentiful, and fishermen are beginning to experience the lack of that thrill that comes with the swish—the vicious tug—the taut line—the merry whir—the vibrant bending rod—and the racing ripple. Where at one time expensive outfits, scoopnets, baskets and all were necessary for a trout fishing expedition accompanied by all the skill of an experienced angler to land the fish, it has been remarked that many a youngster of the town is bringing in full strings of the speckled beauties. The days when landing a trout was a job for the expert seem to have passed into the discard.

Why are there trout aplenty? "How come" that the zealous conquests of licensed fishermen year after year have not depopulated the brooks? The answer is the great number of trout liberated in local waters by the state board of fisheries and game. Connecticut is a pioneer in introducing the innovation of the control and development of trout streams for public benefit.

NEW MASONIC TEMPLE

FIRST CONTRACTS AWARDED FOR ERECTION OF MASONIC TEMPLE

The general contract for the erection of the new Masonic temple and the plumbing contract were awarded Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of the directors of the Masonic Temple corporation at which President Howard L. Stanton presided. The vote of the directors was in accordance with the recommendation of the building committee, awarding the general contract to William S. Spencer on his bid of $249,136 and the plumbing contract to John Morton on his bid of $5,280. Both the successful bidders are Norwich business men and received the awards as they were the lowest bidders.

Contractor Spencer is to begin work at once on the new building, which is to be erected on the lot on Washington street at the corner of Sachem street, where formerly stood the home of the late Frederick L. Osgood, a former mayor of the city. The contractor expects to get the building all closed in by the time cold weather arrives in the fall.

Others to bid on the general contract were Archibald Torrance, Peck-McWilliams company and P. F. Sweeney, all of this city; H. Wales Lines company of Meriden, Manchester Construction company of South Manchester, Eastern Construction company of Woonsocket, Central Engineering & Construction company of Pawtucket, O. & S. La Vigni of Providence.

Others to bid on the plumbing contract were Elmer Johnson, Williams Brothers, J. A. Fitzgerald and Harold C. Dahl, all of this city; Frank Kay of Meriden, M. J. Daly & Sons of Waterbury and F. A. Shaffer of Bristol.

Contracts on the heating and the electrical work are still to be awarded, this being postponed at the meeting Wednesday.

The new temple building will be placed diagonally on the lot facing Chelsea parade, according to the plans of the architects, Cudworth & Thompson. It will be constructed of rough texture brick and limestone, will be strictly fireproof throughout and the exterior design in the classic architecture of Greece and Rome will be a monument to the best principles of Freemasonry. The building will be 150 x 100 feet and rise 55 feet above grade. The facade shows two entrances, one serving lodge rooms proper and the other accommodating the auditorium, both units entirely separate, but adaptable to being used together when occasion demands.

On the main floor is the Doric room, a lodge room 38 x 60 feet, seating 150. This room will have vaulted ceiling, will be lighted with concealed lighting, and is entered through smoking, coat and tyler's rooms. The organ and choir will be located in a balcony and necessary dressing and toilet rooms are convenient.

The auditorium located on the main floor is spacious, 100 feet wide, 75 feet deep, and 38 feet high. To the right and facing Chelsea parade is a lounge room, 17 x 40 feet with a mammoth fireplace. Two entrances to the lower level and two stairways to the upper level will give easy access to the auditorium. The 1,100 seats are to be arranged in long curves which give each one a commanding view of the large stage, with its 44-foot wide opening, floor space 25 x 60 feet. Convenient to the stage are dressing, robing and candidate rooms.

The banquet room, located in the basement will seat 400 at tables with ample kitchen and serving space. This room is 40 feet wide and 100 feet long, has stage and commodious coat and toilet rooms, making it available for entertainments and dances, while at the east end are located bowling alleys, card, billiard and lounging rooms for club purposes.

The Ionic lodge room is located on the second floor and is 38 x 67 feet with additional balconies at one side and rear, and its ceiling is 22 feet high. This lodge room will seat 285 and has the necessary rooms adjoining, including an armory 25 x 80 feet. On the mezzanine floor are located the ladies' parlor and coat room.

SUES FOR INJURIES BY FALLING INTO HOLE

Claiming that he fell into a hole on property of the Atlantic Coast Fisheries, Inc., dug by the Arthur Jackson Co. of Groton, Ernest Post of New London seeks $10,000 damages in a suit brought in the superior court.

Post alleges in his complaint that he was employed as a fish cutter at the fisheries concern and after finishing his work in the fish cutting room, about 8:03 p. m., and walking out upon the property of the fisheries company, he was suddenly precipitated into a hole, eight to ten feet in length and four to five feet in depth.

Post claims that he received a sprained back, lacerated wounds on right hand and left leg and double hernia. He also claims to have lost several weeks work at $25 a week with additional overtime wages and to have expended large sums for medical care and attention.

FR. KUSTER'S CONFIRMATION CLASS HAD A TOTAL OF 407

At Deep River at St. Joseph's Catholic church, Sunday morning at the conclusion of the 10 o'clock mass, a class of 407 children was confirmed by Rt. Rev. John J. Nilan, bishop of the Hartford diocese. The children were all from the parish under the direction of Rev. Francis J. Kuster, a former Norwich and Jewett City curate, in the towns of Ivoryton, Centerbrook, Essex, Deep River, Chester and Haddam. Bishop Nilan was assisted by Rev. Father Charles H. Corcoran of St. John's school.

Brings Suit on Note

To recover on a note, The Winthrop Trust Co. has brought suit in the superior court for $1,500 damages against Abraham W. Silverberg, this city and Sydney Symon, of New Britain.

The plaintiff alleges that on April 28, 1924, the defendant, Symon, gave a note for $1,250, endorsed by Silverberg. The trust company claims that it is due and payable.

TWO SUITS BROUGHT OVER AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Harry M. Land of this city is made defendant in two separate auto-negligence actions for damages aggregating $7,500 brought in the superior court for this county. One suit is brought by Mary Stewart of New York for personal injuries, asking damages of $5,000, while the other suit is brought by Zedkiah Stewart, of New York for $2,500 damages for injuries to his person and to his car.

The suit arose out of an automobile collision on June 11, 1927, when Zedkiah Stewart was operating his automobile with Mary Stewart as a passenger, on the speedway of Harlem division, so-called, near 155th street, New York city. The plaintiffs claim that Land was negligent in the operation of his car, which he allowed to swerve suddenly into the plaintiff car.

Suspended For "Wet" Driving.

A list of operators whose licenses to drive automobiles in Connecticut have been suspended for one year for driving while under the influence of liquir was given out Wednesday at the state motor vehicle department as a part of the effort to reduce this highway menace.

The list includes Elmer Dahlenberg of New London and John Bernal of Versailles.

ADDRESSED MEN AT RICHMOND RADIATOR PLANT

At the weekly shop meeting under Y. M. C. A. auspices at the plant of the Richmond Radiator Co., Monday, Rev. Charles H. Ricketts gave another interesting talk. The topic was, "The Beautiful Gates of Life," and Mr. Ricketts spoke in part as follows: My thoughts today are taken from the incident where Peter and John came in contact with a beggar at the beautiful gate of the temple. This man was probably in middle life and had never walked. He had no means of support; his family were poor. Begging is painfully common in the east. This poor fellow asked for a small pittance to buy bread, but he received the bigger thing, namely, the strength and ability to earn his bread. 'Tis often so that when we ask for little things bigger things are given us. Peter said to this beggar: "Silver and gold I have none," and this probably disappointed the needy man, but Peter continued by saying, "but such as I have, give I unto you." Even if we have little or no money, yet we are able to help others.

Peter reached down in helpfulness and said to this man, "In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, rise up and walk," and the man got up, walked, leaped and praised God. In our lives there are many beautiful gates. There is the gate of opportunity. Usually, the things that I could do, I can do if I will. If God gives me a task to do, He will give me the strength to do it. Sometimes it may be hard, and it will take all the strength and wisdom I can muster, but I can do it if it is my task. We can do much good in the world if we but have our eyes open. Every day we can find opportunity to help others which will prove beautiful gates to them. But we must have the power within ourselves before we can do much in the line of helping. This Peter, was not the old Peter, but the new Peter. You will recall that Peter denied his Lord, and he showed other weaknesses, but he was commissioned to tarry until he had received the power, and then he and the others went out to carry out the commission. God was patient with Peter, and He saw the great possibilities in him. God is patient with us because He sees the possibilities within us. There are so many opportunities to help others. We can do a good deal of heaven right here on earth of our eyes are open to the opportunities all about us. The difference in people is largely in the way they use their opportunities; the story of the Good Samaritan is a good example. This story contrasts the using and the failure to use opportunities. The priest and the levite saw the splendid opportunity to help the unfortunate man who was bleeding by the roadside, but they passed by on the other side; they miserably neglected their opportunity. The good Samaritan, who was greatly despised by the other two, saw this rare chance to help another man, and he quickly took advantage of his opportunity, and ministered beautifully unto the unfortunate man. This kind man had a heart, and God looks upon the heart.

The difference between these two attitudes toward opportunity is as wide as the distance between heaven and hell. We are not only to see the opportunity, but we are to accept it and serve. All through the ages there have been those who have seen and seized their opportunities, and there were never so many as there are today. This healed man showed great gratitude. Nothing gives us more satisfaction than gratitude shown us when we have tried to be helpful. The sin of ingratitude is awful. We need more and more to have strong faith and we also need to be much in prayer; in this way, we can open many beautiful gates for those about us.

BROWN MUSICAL CLUBS GAVE SPLENDID CONCERT

The Brown University Musical clubs entertained an audience of nearly 500 people at Slater Memorial hall Wednesday evening under the auspices of Robert O. Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion. Their attractive programme of vocal numbers, banjo selections and readings was finely given and was heartily applauded by the delighted audience. Commander Charles Colt of Fletcher post welcomed the large audience and introduced the musical clubs. Their programme was as follows:

The committee in charge of the concert comprised Imbert F. Fellows, chairman; Carl G. Johnson, F. Russell Smith, Harry Powers and Clarence Lucia. The ushers were Harold T. Robinson, F. Russell Smith, Harry Powers, William Douglass and Charles Colt. The musical club members numbered about 30.

COLUMBIA WOMAN DELEGATE TO DEM. NAT'L CONVENTION

Nominations for women delegates-at-large and for vice-chairman of the state central committee were made at a special meeting of the executive committee of the Connecticut Federation of Democratic Women's clubs held in New Haven recently. These names will be submitted to a special meeting of the members of the federation in Hartford Wednesday, May 2, the day the state convention opens. The four women nominated were Mrs. Joseph Whitney of New Haven; Mrs. J. L. Rebach of Stamford; Mrs. Fanny Dixon Welch, Columbia and Mrs. Mahoney of Shelton. Mrs. Curry of Hartford will be presented to the meeting as the federation's nominee for vice-chairman of the state central committee. As the delegates to the national convention elect the two members of the national committee, it was voted to place the name of Mrs. Fanny Dixon Welch before the delegation as being the woman best fitted for the position in the estimation of the executive committee of the federation.

SUES TO STOP TRESPASS ON NEW LONDON LAND

Claiming that Menghi street in New London is not a public highway and that Hiram A. Morgan and Murray Cash go upon it and threaten to do so in the future, Genaro Menghi has brought suit in the superior court seeking nominal damages and injunctive relief against future trespassing.

The plaintiff claims that he is owner in fee of the land, a part of which is known as Menghi street.

BOZRAHVILLE DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE AT SPRINGFIELD

The Bozrahville Section National Council of Jewish Women will be represented at the North Eastern Regional Interstate conference held at Hotel Kimball, April 24 and 25 in Springfield, Mass., by the following delegates: Mrs. N. Gilman, president, Miss J. Zachs, and Mrs. Miller. The alternates are Mrs. I. Telzonsky and Mrs. G. Herman.

The program will begin Tuesday afternoon with invocation by Rabbi Price. After a business meeting the guests will spend a half hour in a drive through Springfield.

In the evening a dinner will be served to the delegates and Springfield hostesses at Hotel Kimball. Walter B. Marsh will give a vocal selection and Dr. Mordecai Kaplan of the Jewish Theological seminary, New York city, will give an address on "The Status of the Jew in America."

On Wednesday, April 25, each president of the different sections will report on the work and activities done by her particular group. There will be a "question box" followed by discussion.

In the afternoon Miss Florence Martinelli will render some vocal selections. Rev. J. Burford Perry, Hope Congregational church, will deliver an address on "The Lights and Shadows of the International World."

This without doubt will be a very interesting, instructive and inspirational conference to all who attend.

GROTON WOMAN SUES FOR DAMAGES TO AUTOMOBILE

For damages to her car as the result of an automobile accident in Thames street, Groton, Mabel E. Lamb of Groton seeks $200 damages from The Spicer Ice & Coal Co., of Groton in a suit brought in the court of common pleas.

The plaintiff alleges that the car, being operated by Raymond Lamb, was in collision with a truck owned by the defendant and driven by Frank Locke on Feb. 25, 1928.

James Guardacosta of New London seeks damages of $100 from Sarah Moutran, of New York. The suit is based on the common counts and alleges that on March 27, 1928 the defendant was indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of $100.

Damages of $175 are sought by Ruth S. Ford against George J. Kiley, both of New London. The suit, based on the common counts, alleges that on Jan. 9, 1928, the defendant owed the plaintiff $140.

Gussie Gingold and Sarah Gildenblatt of Montville are made defendants in a $1,000 damage suit brought on the common counts by Paul Gingold, also of Montville.

On the common counts, C. V. Pendleton of this city seeks damage of $500 from Carl Moton also of Norwich, claiming that on April 10, 1928, the defendant was indebted to the plaintiff in the amount of $260.

CHARGES CONTRACT BREACH SUES FOR $10,000

The Marvel Underwear Co., Inc., of New London is made defendant in breach of contract suit for $10,000 brought in the superior court by Bernard Sinnerg of Allentown, Pa., who claims that the firm hired him for five years as superintendent at $100 a week and fired him on the same day he entered its employ.

The plaintiff alleges that on and before June 11, 1927, he was employed by the Penn Manufacturing Co. of Allentown at a weekly salary of $50; that he read an advertisement in a New York publication by the local concern; that he came here and interviewed Abraham Quint, the president, and was engaged by oral agreement for five years as superintendent of the local company at a weekly salary of $100. He claims that he came here and started in on July 18, 1927 and was discharged without cause that same day.

The plaintiff further claims that he was out of work for 12 weeks and finally became superintendent of the National Underwear Co.

CREW OF THE BREMEN HAS ARRIVED AT STE. AGNES, QUE.

The Three Men Were Brought From Greenly Island in a Tri-Motored Ford Air Liner—At 6 A. M. Today They Are to Take-Off For Washington, With Miss Junkers, Where the Party Will Attend the Funeral of Floyd Bennett, Who Died of Pneumonia, Contracted While Flying to the Relief of the Marooned Men.

LAKE STE AGNES, Que., April 26—(AP)—The crew of the monoplane Bremen came back to civilization today in the tri-motored Ford air liner which had taken them off Greenly island where they were marooned 13 days ago.

After a conference with the fliers, Miss Herta Junkers, daughter of the builder of the Bremen announced that, weather permitting, the Ford plane would take off at 6 a. m., tomorrow and would fly direct to Washington, D. C., where she and the crew of the Bremen would attend funeral services for Floyd Bennett, who died of pneumonia at Quebec on Wednesday after he and Balchen had flown the relief plane here from Detroit.

Upon its arrival here the big airship swooped down upon the frozen lake which serves as a landing field for the improvised airport and a hundred newspapermen and photographers surrounded the fliers.

With Bernt Balchen at the controls, the Ford plane had made a quick trip from the barren island off the tip of Labrador. Several times it circled over the lake while those below set off signals that the surface was safe for a landing.

Once the ship was down eager welcomers surrounded Baron Von Huenefeld, Captain Koehl and Commander Fitzmaurice. Motion picture cameras began to grind and the three airmen posed with Balchen for still photographs.

One cameraman had an airplane tuned up for a quick take-off and as soon as he had snapped his pictures he climbed aboard and was in the air, bound for New York. His plane took off four minutes after the Ford liner landed.

Miss Junkers greeted the baron and Capt. Koehl in German and shook hands with Fitzmaurice and Balchen

WOMEN SIDETRACK BIRTH CONTROL AND PROHIBITION

CHICAGO, April 26 (AP)—The League of Women Voters today disposed of its two most troublesome issues, birth control and prohibition, by refusing to accept either as a subject for study

The proponents of birth control legislation, because of the bitterness that might be injected through a discussion of the subject, agreed not to continue their fight on the floor of the convention. They had lost in committee. As a result birth control was mentioned only once during the day's activities and then incidentally.

Prohibition, however, brought about a spirited discussion. A special committee which recommended that the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act not be included in the study program was sustained by the delegates.

The league added farm relief to its study, and reiterated its support of governmental development of Muscle Shoals and the eight hour day for the working women.

Farm relief was altered in its title to read "agricultural depression." Delegates from the middlewest gave that issue the greatest support.

After a committee recommended league support of sterilization of the unfit, the delegates voted to continue the study of it, hesitating to give the project a full indorsement.

Sterilization has been on the league study program for years.

ALLEGED VIOLATION OF FRANKING PRIVILEGE

WASHINGTON, April 26—(AP)—Postmaster General New was asked today by the house naval committee to investigate alleged violation of the congressional franking privilege of one of its democratic members, McClintic of Oklahoma, by Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War.

The request was tendered in a letter by representative Andrew, republican, Massachusetts, on behalf of the committee, which yesterday voted to refer the matter to the department rather than conduct an inquiry itself

Andrew said that the investigation was desired in view of the misuse "indicated in the affidavit and accompanying documents." He explained that an affidavit sworn to by Harold M Weeks of Wellesley Hills, Mass., was to the effect that Weeks had received in an unstamped envelope bearing McClintic's frank a report opposing the new warship construction program by McClintic, which was frankable, and five other documents which were not frankable.

STEPS FOR THE FURTHER PROSECUTION OF STEWART

WASHINGTON, April 26— (AP) — While vacating its order of arrest against Robert W. Stewart, wealthy Chicago oil official, the senate today took steps looking to his further prosecution by certifying to the district attorney of the District of Columbia exracts from his testimony before the Teapot Dome committee for study to determine whether a perjury charge should be lodged against him.

Moreover, it specifically declared its insistence upon the prosecution of the chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana on the contempt charge brought against him after his refusal to answer certain questions before the committee when he appeared here on February 2 and 3. That indictment is set for trial on May 21.

READING TAKES STAND IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

BOSTON, April 26—(AP)—Attorney General Arthur K. Reading by taking the witness stand today personally took up the fight to prove to the special legislative committee investigating his condition in office that his activities of the past year have been above criticism.

It was the statement of Hugo B. Monjar, ousted president of the Decimo Club, Inc., of New York, that the club paid Reading $25,000 to act as its counsel that started the present investigation. Reading told of the overtures made him by Joseph D. Webster and his brother, David A., both officials of the Decimo club, to have him become counsel. He said he asked, "Are you trying to get official sanction for your club because I am attorney general?" Assured that they were not, Reading finally accepted it with the understanding that Herbert L. Barrett, Boston lawyer, was to appear in his place should the club become engaged in any litigation.

He then told of the payment of the retainer at the club offices in New York. He said the check was made out to Barrett and when he protested Webster reminded him that he had asked that his name not be used. Reading replied, "I didn't say it couldn't be used in any proper way," and explained that he asked that his connection with the club not be used as a means of advertising. He then told of Barrett's cashing the check and giving him the money, $24,000 of which he put in the Murray Hill Trust company. He said he gave Barrett $200 on the way home.

During the afternoon, after explaining the many changes he recommended he made in the constitution and bylaws of the club, Reading told of his troubles with Monjar. He said soon after becoming counsel he learned that Monjar was getting $5 of each $20 initiation fee and the members did not know it. He said he broached the subject to Monjar and told him there were grounds for civil if not criminal action in the matter.

He denied telling Monjar to take a vacation to escape testifying before the New York state official.

New York state officials.

The hearing will continue tomorrow morning.

PHILO T. PLATT ENDORSES CONN. CHILD HEALTH DAY

HARTFORD, April 26—(AP)—Hearty endorsement of the Connecticut child health day, May 1, was given by Philo T. Platt, state commissioner of agriculture, today. He urged that the program outlined for safe-guarding the health of the next generation not only be followed out in the cities but also in the rural districts as a means of building a stronger, healthier manhood and womanhood in the state.

"Child health day coming as it does on the opening day of Connecticut egg week gives the people a double opportunity to learn about the necessary foods in a child's diet," said Commissioner Platt. "Eggs, I believe," he continued, "have a distinctive place in the diet. Like meat, their protein content is high. Like milk, they contain most of the essentials for growth and repair of the body tissues."

WALB FOUND GUILTY OF DEFRAUDING A BANK

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 26—(AP)—Clyde A. Walb, former republican state chairman and head of the Walb Construction company of Lagrange, was found guilty today of defrauding the First National bank of Lagrange of funds.

Walb and Valentine D. Weaver, president of the bank, who entered a plea of guilty Wednesday to defrauding the bank, will be sentenced tomorrow.

It was charged that notes amounting to several thousand dollars were forged, the funds being taken from the bank, which failed, and being used to help save Walb's Construction company from failure and also for Weaver's personal benefit.

HISTORY OF THE SCHOOL FUND IS REPRODUCED

HARTFORD, April 26—(AP)—A reproduction of the original "History of the School Fund," written by Henry Barnard, a native of Hartford, state superintendent of education from 1850 to 1855 and first United States commissioner of education, has been printed by the state for its records, it was announced today. Only three copies of the original history are now in existence, as far as is known, and as it is the most complete resume of the founding and establishing of the Connecticut school fund, state officials wished to preserve it. About 150 copies were printed, and will be distributed to various libraries throughout the state.

PROPOSAL FOR OLD TRAILS ROAD ACROSS CONTINENT

WASHINGTON, April 26—(AP)—Creation of a national old trails road, reaching across the continent from Washington to Los Angeles is proposed in a resolution introduced today by Senator Capper, republican, Kansas.

Through the work of the National society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, old trails followed by American pioneers in their journeys westward have been placed end to end to form units in the highway

The trail will extend from Washington and Baltimore across Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, and California to Los Angeles.

SENATE COMMITTEE VOTES FOR $203,000,000 TAX REDUCTION

WASHINGTON, April 26—(AP)—The house $230,000,000 tax reduction bill was remodeled completely today by the senate finance committee in voting a $203,000,000 reduction schedule into the measure to meet the limitation set by the administration.

The republican majority of the committee pared down the total cut within range of the treasury deadline of $200,000,000 over the votes of the democrats, who had advanced a $325,000,000 plan.

To win the support of the western republican independents, whose support of the western republican independents, whose support is necessary for the party in the approaching fight on the floor, the republicans abandoned the proposal of the treasury for repeal of the inheritance tax.

The $203,000,000 program voted into the bill today is the same as announced on behalf of the republicans Tuesday by Chairman Smoot with the omission of the provision for repeal of the inheritance tax.

18 RADIO STATIONS HOOKED UP FOR THE BENNETT FUNERAL

NEW YORK, April 26—(AP)—Eighteen radio stations in the Columbia broadcasting system will be hooked up to broadcast the funeral services for Floyd Bennett, North Pole flier, at Washington tomorrow, the company announced tonight.

It also was planned to have the three members of the crew of the trans-Atlantic plane Bremen speak into the microphone at the conclusion of the services. The fliers for whose relief Bennett made his last flight were expected to arrive in Washington tomorrow afternoon from Murray Bay, Que.

The hook-up will include stations of the Columbia system at New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Providence, Syracuse, Buffalo, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Akron, Columbus, Ohio; Cincinnati, Detroit, Chicago, Fort Wayne, St. Louis, Kansas City, Council Bluffs, Ia., and Washington.

MAY BE ONE OF THE PISTOLS USED BY LALONE OR RAYMOND

SPRINGFEILD, Mass., April 26—(AP)—Finding of what may be one of the pistols used in the battle here with Motorcycle Officer Ray Gallagher and later with State Trooper Irving H. Nelson in Pomfret, Conn., was reported today to Springfield police.

The pistol, a new automatic, had been wrapped with several cartridges in a handkerchief, placed inside an old tire and evidently hurled out of an automobile by someone who expected it to land in a pond on the road between Grafton and Upton. The tire instead had lodged in the branch of a tree, where it was found by Raymond Temple, of Westboro.

Roland Lalone and Albert Raymond, of Worcester, held here in connection with recent bandit activities, are charged by the Connecticut authorities with the murder of Trooper Nelson. Their cases will be brought before a Connecticut grand jury tomorrow.

MARSHALL A PRISONER OF NICARAGUAN REBELS

WASHINGTON, April 26—(AP)—American Minister Eberhardt, at Managua, advised the state department today that the manager of La Luz mine had confirmed the report that "G B. Marshall," assistant manager, had been made prisoner by a band of Nicaraguans, but that no other prisoners were taken.

He reported that 150 men raided the mine on April 12 and took money, gold, supplies, eleven mules and other equipment. The band was said by the mine manager to consist of young men, most of whom were not Nicaraguans.

SLIMY RAIN CONVERTED DAY INTO BLACK NIGHT

CERNAUTI, Rumania, April 26—(AP)—The whole population was panic-stricken today when a heavy, slimy rain converted the day into black night. People knelt in the slime-covered streets to pray for mercy.

The phenomenon was attributed to lava dust from the Balkan regions which have been repeatedly shaken by earthquakes during the past week. The dust was believed to have been precipitated by mixing with rain. Similar occurrences have been reported from Bessarabia.

Final Mil[illegible]ors For [illegible]d Bennett

Navy Firing Squad Will Salute the Body With Three Volleys Across the Grave.

WASHINGTON, April 26—(AP)—Solemn, final tribute will be rendered tomorrow to one of the navy's greatest aviators when a navy firing squad salutes Floyd Bennett with three volleys across his grave in Arlington National cemetery.

With all military honors, the pilot of Commander Byrd's north pole plane will take his place among the nation's heroes, close to the resting place of one with whom he shares polar fame—Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary.

Funeral services for the aviator who ranked high in the regard of his comrades in contrast to his official rating as naval machinist will be held at 3 o'clock, immediately after the body reaches the capital from New York.

Preparation for the interment went forward today as a lone Negro grave digger made ready the last resting place. His labors were interrupted by a visitor who declined to identify himself other than as a friend of Bennett, and who asked permission to assist in preparing the grave.

After working for several minutes the man, leaning back on the handle of the spade, said:

"So this is the end." He then climbed out of the grave and drove away.

Rear Admiral Moffett, chief of the navy bureau of aeronautics, and Assistant Secretary of War Davison will be among the officials who will meet the funeral party upon its arrival from New York, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Warner will attend the funeral as acting secretary in the absence of Secretary Wilbur.

Both Commander Byrd and Mrs. Bennett will arrive with the group bringing the body from Quebec.

At Arlington, on a flag-draped army caisson, and followed by a navy escort, the body of the man who flew to the pole will be carried through the cemetery to the grave.

The funeral procession, which will form at Arlington gates, will include three squads of blue jackets, from the president's yacht, the Mayflower, a navy firing squad, and a bugler to sound "Taps."

Honorary pallbearers will be Navy Lieuts. John Perry, C. M. Huntington Lloyd Harrison, A. Soucek, S. W Reichelderfer, and W. S. Diehl.

The casket will be carried at the funeral by a detail of navy enlisted men.

At the request of Mrs. Bennett, bureau of navigation officials here have requested the Rev. L. E. Smith, pastor of the Christian church at Norfolk, Va., to officiate at the funeral service. A navy chaplain also will be present at the services.

QUEBEC PAID HOMAGE TO AVIATOR FLOYD BENNETT

QUEBEC, April 26—(AP)—This ancient city paid homage and bade farewell today to Floyd Bennett, the north pole flier who died because he put the welfare of fellow airmen before himself.

Through twisting streets lined with mourners the United States naval flier's coffin was borne on a gun carriage from hospital to railway station. With bowed heads the people stood as the cortege headed by a detachment of the Royal 22nd regiment, passed. And then they fell in behind to swell the slow procession.

Overhead airplanes circled in honor of the man who refused to consider his own health when others were in need.

So dense were the crowds in all the streets that the funeral procession moved at scarcely more than a crawl and it took almost an hour and a half to move from hospital to station.

Behind the gun carriage was the widow in a closed carriage and walking with bared head close to the body of his best friend was Commander Richard E. Byrd.

Before the procession started there were brief services in the chapel of the hospital where Bennett died. Only a handful of people had been invited to attend but hundreds came. The services were conducted by the Very Reverend Archdeacon Scott, who eulogized Bennett as a "prince of men."

Toward the close of the service Mrs Bennett broke down and was led to her room.

LETTER OF APPRECIATION TO JOHN ROCKEFELLER, JR

NEW YORK, April 26—(AP)—Dr. Alvan L. Barach, New York specialist who attended Floyd Bennett during the aviator's fatal illness at Jeffrey Hale hospital, Quebec, today sent to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., a letter of appreciation for his help in efforts to save Bennett's life.

High praise was given Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who flew through snow and rain to Quebec with pneumonia serum furnished by the Rockefeller foundation, and Dr. Barach explained that although he might have obtained sufficient serum in Montreal, he was "particularly anxious to get serum from New York city department of health since it "had many advantages over that available in other quarters"

War Weapons For the Defense at Coal Mines

General Manager Ireland Declared It Was Their Policy of Preparedness.

WASHINGTON, April 26—(AP)—Testifying in the senate committee investigation of the bituminous mining industry, R. L. Ireland said today that certain coal companies affiliated with the M. A. Anna company, of Cleveland, maintain machine guns and other war weapons in a policy of "preparedness" for possible attack on their properties.

He appeared as general manager of the bituminous mines of these concerns, including the Pittsburgh and Eastern Coal comany and the Newfield By-Products Coal company, with mines in Pennsylvania; the Boomer Coal and Coke company, with mines in West Virginia and Ohio; and the Wheeling and Lake Erie Coal Mining company and the Massillon Coal Mining company, with mines in Ohio.

After the completion of the operator's direct statement in which he assailed the United Mine Workers—John L. Lewis, president of that organization, asked about machine guns.

"Yes," replied Ireland, "we have machine guns, riot guns, rifles, tear bombs and pistols which fire gas shells. We have all those things, and hope that we will never have to use them to protect our property.

Ireland said that all such weapons were kept under lock and key, with no intention to use them except in cases of extreme emergency

This testimony followed attacks on the United Mine Workers by W. L Robison, vice president of the Youghiogheny and Ohio Coal company and H. E. Willard, secretary of the United States Coal company, both of Cleveland. Their statements coincided with that of Ireland to the effect that numerous lawless episodes had racked the Ohio coal fields, following the 1927 opening of some mines on a non-union basis. Many instances of violence were cited by date.

Each witness hailed the injunction issued by Federal Judge Hough, at Columbus, as having prevented much lawlessness in the eastern Ohio territory. Senator Wheeler developed that the court had been paying deputy sheriffs to assume observance of the injunction around mine properties.

Criticizing this practice, he contended that it was beyond the court's function "to pay guards for protection of private property."

394 AUTO ACCIDENTS IN THE STATE LAST WEEK

HARTFORD, April 26—(AP)—Eleven people were killed in seven fatal accidents in Connecticut during the week ending April 21, with a total of 394 motor vehicle accidents reported, it was announced today by the state motor vehicle department.

Of the accidents throughout the state, 264 occurred in the 14 principal cities. In comparison to the corresponding week in 1927, the record showed an increase of 19 accidents and four fatalities.

The people killed in motor vehicle accidents last week were: Greenwich, James Rourke; Milford, Wilfred Stockwell; New Haven, Lawrence Scantlebury; New London, Mr. and Mrs. George Billings, and William Clark; Norwalk, Edward V. Simpson; Norwich, Harold Raucher; Stafford, William, Vincent and Brendon Cunningham.

CHILEAN AMBASSADOR HAS ARRIVED AT HOUSTON, TEX.

HOUSTON, Tex., April 26—(AP)—Announcing himself as "a good will envoy," Carlos G. Davila, Chilean ambassador to the United States, arrived here today by airplane from Montgomery, Ala., to address tomorrow the 1,000 delegates attending the 15th annual Foreign Trade convention.

Ambassador Davila, publisher of the largest newspaper in Chile, will tell the delegates, who represent 30 foreign countries and 32 states, about trade possibilities in Chile.

Almost the first statement the ambassador made upon alighting from the plane was a denial of report of ill will in South America for the United States. The reports, he said, were due to "jingo" activities.

CENSUS SHOWS POPULATION OF CHINA TO BE 485,000,000

TORONTO, Ont., April 26—(AP)—Most recent census figures show the population of China to be 485,000,000, an increase of 10,000,000 a year for the past four years, the Right Rev. W. C. White, Bishop of Honan, China, said today at a luncheon of the Empire club.

He said the people are leaving the cities for the less densely populated rural sections.

A MERGER OF BIG DAIRY CONCERNS UNDERWRITTEN

CLEVELAND, O., April 26—(AP)—Financing has been underwritten for a merger of the National Dairy Products company of New York and the Telling Belle-Vernon company of Cleveland, a combination which would make National Dairy the largest company of its kind in the country. The two concerns have assets approximating $100,000,000.

POLITICS IMPREGNATES FARM RELIEF DISCUSSION

Presidential Candidacies of Lowden and Dawes Permeated Discussion of the Bill in the House—Representative Aswell Asserted That Lowden's Friends Are Using the Measure to Get Lowden Into the White House—Representative Clarke Declared That the Dawes Supporters Have Side-Tracked Lowden After Using Him as Long as They Wanted to and Turned to Dawes.

WASHINGTON, April 26—(AP)—Farm relief and the presidential candidacies of Frank O. Lowden and Vice-President Dawes became intertwined in the house today as it began debate on the McNary-Haugen relief bills.

Two members, Aswell, of Louisiana, a democrat, and Clarke, of New York, a republican, asserted that Lowden's friends were using the measures to get him into the White House and Aswell added that the same use of them was being made in Dawes' behalf.

The Louisianan branched into Dawes-Lowden politics with the assertion that the vice-president's supporters "have side-tracked Lowden now after using him as long as they wanted to and turned to Dawes." The vice-president, he said, "represents the international bankers and they are behind him to cancel the war debts."

Clarke who, like Aswell, is a member of the house agricultural committee that framed the Haugen bill being considered as a substitute for the McNary measure, already passed by the senate, declared the "politician was in the saddle" in effort to enact one of the bills, which he described as "built upon the shifting sands of political expediency."

He added that Lowden had been a good friend of the farmers up to the time he "got politics in his veins," and that the politician had "cornered Lowden and made him accept the equalization fee." He also declared that the bill had been "framed and supported by paid political propagandists."

Aswell and Clarke took the floor after Chairman Haugen had opened the discussion with an explanation of the bill during which he reviewed a number of changes effected by the agriculture committee in an effort to meet objections raised by President Coolidge in his veto message of last year's McNary-Haugen measure.

Haugen declared the need for relief still was as great as when the farm problem first was brought before congress several years ago. He also covered many points set forth in his lengthy report filed with the house endorsing the bill and urging its enactment, and which, in detail, took up the revisions made in the new measure.

Aswell said that an "organized lobby," called the "corn belt lobby," wanted the bill vetoed to make it appear that they had given Lowden an issue on which to run for the presidency. He declared that this lobby had sat outside of the agriculture committee room door to keep watch on the committee during its deliberations in executive session.

The lobby also threatened to hang "the skins" of members on a "fence rail" at home if they refused to support the equalization fee, he continued, adding:

"If there is one thing that could draft President Coolidge, it would be another veto of this measure."

Aswell said that democrats had been urged to vote for the bill to put the president in a hole but that Mr. Coolidge had "dynamited the hole" and that his veto had swept "like wildfire across the continent."

"It appears to me that after spending four years studying agriculture," he continued, "that it is a vain, childish thing to pass this bill when we know it never can become a law. This measure was written and driven through the committee by organized farm representatives. It does not represent the intelligence of the committee nor the views of the American farmer."

MONTHLY REPORT OF NEW HAVEN RAILROAD

NEW HAVEN, April 26—(AP)—The gross income of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company for March, was $2,509,369 as compared with $2,448,391 for the same month last year, according to the monthly report issued today. The net income after fixed charges was $936,803, or $243,717 more than in March, 1927.

Non-operating income for the month showed an increase over March, 1927, the road receiving $474,431 as compared with $431,536 last year. Deductions from the gross income for the three months ending March 31 were lower than for the same period last year. From Jan. 1 to March 31, the deductions were $4,831,323, deductions in the same period during 1927 were $5,267,170.

Payment of guarantees and preferred dividend requirements for March amounted to $357,836 and since January the road has paid out to stockholders more than $1,000,000, or $1,072,354. Last year in the same three months period the requirements were only $243,630. The income last month after payments of guarantees and preferred dividends totaled $578,967, or $32,909 less than in March, 1927.

Operating revenues were $11,116,902 and were $11,711,965 in March, 1927. The decrease for the month is $595,063. The road paid $7,946,338 in railway operating expenses last month, or $536,530 less than the $8,482,868 that operations cost in March, 1927.

Among income items, the net revenue from railway operations also declined, with $3,170,564 being received as compared with $3,229,097 in the same month last year, resulting in a decrease of $58,533.

NORTHERN FORCES STILL HOLDING TIENTSIN, CHINA

SHANGHAI, China, April 26—(AP)—The important news of the day in Shanghai is confirmation that the report of the occupation of Tsinan, capital of Shantung province by the Southerners, was premature. Reliable reports from Tientsin and also from the Associated Press correspondent at Tsinan show that the latter city still is in the hands of the Northerners. The city is calm and train service is working normally, without any sign of overcrowding, these reports say.

The Northern forces claim to be holding the line—Tingyin, Feicheng and Taianfu, considerably to the south of Tsinan. A conference of Northern generals held at Tsinan decided to confide the supreme command to Sun Chuan-Fang.

FALL IN ASHAWAY WAS FATAL TO STEEPLEJACK

WESTERLY, R. I., April 26—(AP)—James Berry, 35, a steeplejack, of Hartford, died today of injuries received when he fell 75 feet while repairing a chimney at the plant of the Ashaway Line & Twine company. Berry with another workman was operating from a swing suspended from the chimney top when a rope broke. His companion saved himself by hanging onto a rope until he could be lowered. Berry leaves a widow and five children in Hartford.

RATHER BE AN AMERICAN CITIZEN THAN A BARON

LOS ANGELES, April 26—(AP)—A youthful studio film cutter announced to friends here today that he was cousin and next of kin to the late Baron Peter Wrangel and that he would accept the title of the late leader of the Russian white army, if that acceptance would not endanger his aspirations to become an American citizen.

Basil Wrangel, 22, for several years employed as a cutter in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, said: "I have filed naturalization papers to become an American citizen. If, by becoming the baron, my Americanization is prevented, then the deuce with being a baron. I'd rather be an American citizen with a good job than a Russian baron without any."

AVOWAL BY SPELLACY ON GOV. SMITH'S CANDIDACY

HARTFORD, April 26—(AP)—Democratic National Committeeman Thomas J. Spellacy today reiterated his statement of a week ago, in which he declared that he was interested only in the election of Governor Smith for president, and his answer to the claims of re-organization democrats that all of the counties of the state, excepting Hartford, are lined up against him.

"I have made no canvass of the delegates and have asked no one to vote for me," Mr. Spellacy said. "They are more generous than they have been in the past, however, in conceding to me the delegation from Hartford county."

Mr. Spellacy's attention was called to the activities of the so-called reorganization faction of the democratic party a week ago when ex-Senator Archibald McNeil, of Bridgeport was projected as a candidate to oppose Mr. Spellacy for democratic national committeeman from Connecticut. The group also launched opposition against Chairman James J. Walsh and Secretary A. S. Lynch. Mr. Spellacy declared his position in the following statement:

"I am for Governor Smith for president and I am for whatever will aid him most in Connecticut to bring about his election. I have never requested anyone to vote for me as a delegate to the national convention nor to support me for national committeeman, and if it is desired to have some one else as national committeeman they are welcome to do so. For the past twenty years I have been working in the interests of the democratic party and I shall continue this work. Just now I am interested in the election of Governor Smith and I will support any man I think will carry the state for Smith."

FLOOD IS RECEDING IN THE SOUTHERN STATES

ATLANTA, Ga., April 26—(AP)—Although the freshet flood waters generally were receding after a four day rampage through the lowlands of Georgia, Alabama and northwest Florida, fresh alarm was felt in some sections tonight because of weather bureau predictions of more rain.

With the streams either bank full or overflowing the wide bottom lands, additional heavy rains would prolong serious conditions or bring about virtual repetition of the deluge, with untold loss to farmers who must now replant a large part of their crops.

Seven lives have been taken by the floods since torrential rains sent streams out of their banks last Sunday. Many persons have been injured or suffered exposure, thousands made homeless and the property and highway damage will aggregate many millions.

The latest casualty came today when a Negro fireman was killed as his train went through a trestle weakened by the flood near Sylvester on the Georgia, Ashburn, Sylvester and Camilla railway.

EPIDEMIC OF SPINAL MENINGITIS IN HAITI

PORT-AU-PRNCE, Haiti, April 26—(AP)—Haiti is suffering from an epidemic of spinal meningitis, which heretofore has practically been unknown in the island. There have been 65 cases reported since the outbreak three weeks ago—confined to Haitians in the vicinity of Cape Haitien. The mortality rate is ten per cent, which is low, and the medical services are concentrating to fight the disease.

Dances, cockfights and other assemblies are banned.

HUGHES SCOFFS AT IDEA THAT THE U. S. SEEKS TO DOMINATE LATIN AMERICA

WASHINGTON, April 26—(AP)—Charles Evans Hughes, head of the American delegation at the Havana Pan-American conference, told the American Society of International Law tonight that any idea that the United States is seeking to dominate Latin America "seems fantastic" to one who knows the sentiment of the American people.

Hughes' observations on the conference, made to the society, of which he is president, came at the close of a day marked with an address by another noted jurist, Chief Justice Taft, who praised the American Law institute in convention here for its efforts to codify criminal law "so that it can be quickly and properly administered."

The institute also heard George W. Wickersham, its president, place the blame squarely on congress and the state legislatures for "the delays and miscarriages of justice which characterize American criminal law." He deplored "their failure to build up a courageous judiciary as is necessary to withstand the popular clamor of the moment and maintain such a vigorous and impartial enforcement of the criminal law as will make justice both sure and swift."

Hughes described the achievements of the Pan-American conference at length, praising the spirit of the meeting, and emphasizing the common sentiments drawing the American continents together.

"Fortunately, in this hemisphere, we have a common political inheritance in our devotion to the ideals of liberty," he said. "We are all sons of the American Revolution. We have all revolted against tyranny. We have erected throughout the American continents the standards of national freedom and independence."

NEARLY 100,000 EGG CLUSTERS TAKEN IN MANSFIELD

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, April 26—The final figures of the tent caterpillar contest staged by Earl W. Greene post No. 83, American Legion of Coventry and Mansfield, disclose that when the contest ended April 11, 94,429 egg cluster masses had been collected by the pupils of the two towns. Mansfield pupils gathered 51,409 and Coventry pupils 43,020. This gratifying total was achieved by 98 of the 239 pupils of Coventry schools and 94 of the 299 Mansfield pupils. The committee regretfully made the announcement that the big meeting at the state armory scheduled for next Saturday when prizes would be awarded the children getting recognized for their excellent work, would have to be omitted owing to a renewed outbreak of scarlet fever in Mansfield. The Willimantic Merchants' association was cooperating with the legion committee to make the gathering a suitable one. Prominent speakers had been obtained and the Boy Scout band had been secured to lead a parade and play for a concert. It is now planned to distribute the many prizes directly to the schools and a list will be published of the children who have done such valuable work in the preservation of natural beauties of trees and shrubs.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO INVESTIGATE FACTORY SITES

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, March 26—Chamber of commerce activities being directed toward industrial expansion are gaining momentum, it is indicated in a report of present matters now directly in the hands of the members. President Frank P. Fenton has appointed a committee consisting of James B. Fullerton, John F. Carr and Charles W. Tryon to investigate and report on the prospective location of a new manufacturing concern. Conferences have been held this week with representatives of this concern and it is understood that the company is considering taking over the former S. C. S. Box company plant on Moulton court. Another committee is to be named to represent the chamber in sponsoring Clean-Up and Paint-Up Week while still another committee is to make a study of park facilities and report to the city authorities. Another important movement that is under consideration is the affiliation of the Merchants' association as a subsidiary to the chamber, without however, interfering with the election of officers and present activities of the association.

A waiting list has already been established in the registration of boys and girls for the free swimming lessons to be given at the Y. M. C. A. next week according to a recent announcement of the chapter of the American Red Cross. Director Eric H. Lind, graduate of the Red Cross Life Saving corps stated that the limit of 210 registrations had already been received. Director Lind will have two assistants in the pool and several Rotarians will assist in clerical capacities during the week. Secretary Albert B. Smith of the "Y" said today that a second class may be arranged for to accommodate the surplus of children.

Miss Mary J. Casey, native of this city, died at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Annie Herbert in Springfield, Mass., Wednesday. She leaves two brothers, Edward F. and Lawrence S. Casey of this city; four sisters, Sister Philomena, a nun at the Academy of the Holy Family Convent in Baltic, Mrs. John Chronley of Springfield, Mass., Mrs. George Anderson of Plymouth, Mass., and Miss Katherine Casey of Lowell, Mass. The deceased had been a life long resident of this city. The remains have been taken to the home of her brother, Edward F. Casey of 147 Church street.

Walter Mahus, seven years of age, of 7 Jackson street, was quite badly hurt shortly before noon today when he was struck by a coach driven by Leroy G. Hallahan of 55 Prospect street. The boy was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital and treated for lacerations on the scalp and contusions around the right shoulder. Witnesses said that Hallahan was proceeding slowly in an easterly direction on Union street, near Temple street, when the boy ran from the sidewalk in the path of the car. Hallahan turned his car to the extreme right in an attempt to avoid striking the child and in doing so the right mudguard of the machine collided with the fenders of a sedan parked near the curbing. The left front section of the coach struck the boy. Traffic Officer Arthur Hurley conducted an investigation.

Sheriff Charles A. Gates completed the work of summoning a grand jury which will receive a charge in the superior court chambers here Friday from Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin of Hartford. State's Attorney Howard C. Bradford has ordered the grand jury summoned to hear evidence which the state has collected against Roland Lafone and Albert Raymond of South Worcester, Mass., for the killing of State Policeman Irving H. Nelson at Pomfret on Friday evening, April 6. There are 13 men on the jury, including one lawyer and an hysician. Local witnesses in the case were summoned this afternoon by a member of the Danielson state police barracks. The grand jury and witnesses have been notified to appear in the superior court rooms at 11 a. m.

An informal reception to members and friends was given by the Ladies' Aid society of the South Coventry Methodist church Wednesday evening in the vestry Mrs. Cora Nye of this city, with Mrs. Charles H. Beebe Mrs. George Williams and Mrs. Carl Rice, also of this city, furnished musical entertainment. Refreshments were served. The hostesses were Mrs. Clara Wood, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs Mary LeDoyt, Mrs. Mary Burgoyne and Mrs. Grace Danielsons.

At a session of the Mansfield town court held before Justice of the Peace Albert M. Gilman Wednesday, Wasyl Dzwonczyk of Mansfield Hollow, was fined $25 and costs, amounting to $37, on a charge of reckless driving. A demurrer had been entered by Attorney H. S. Gaucher, for the defense, and an appeal to the court decision was taken. Bonds of $200 were furnished. The case resulted from a collision on the Mansfield road, just outside the city limits, on the evening of February 12, between a car driven by Dzwonczyk and one operated by William Tracy of Mansfield Hollow.

Teachers of four towns attended a teachers' meeting held in the Center school at South Coventry this afternoon in charge of Supervisors Levi T. Garrison and Miss Jessie LeRoux of this city. There were 11 teachers from Coventry, five from Hampton, four from Bolton and two from Chaplin.
